> Many accounts of the battle of Omdurman have been published, of varying merit, but for graphic brevity the following, written by a private engaged, must take the palm: "Dear Father and Mother,-I am very glad to tell you I came out of the battle all right. And it was a battle, too. It was nothing but pure butchery, the way we killed them. There were 30,000 of them killed besides a lot wounded. It was horrible to see them, and it made I was a little frightened at first. but I was all right in about a minute and then I got settled down to it, And then we did give it them. They were four to one, but we shifted them. We had a good 51 hours' fighting, and it was terribly hot, and we had no water. We kept on chasing them over the des-Then at night we marched inte Omdurman, just opposite to Khartoura. and slept there."
