CLEARED THE MYSTERY.

Capsized Canoe Found on Yukon Has Been Identified and Occupants Located.

cleared the mystery of the caps'zed canoe and broken oars found in a log jam near Stewart week before last.

It has been found that the craft was wrecked in the log jam, but that the two men who occupied it escaped to a floating tree, and held fast until rescued by some wood choppers. perience were A. T. Chapman and J. C. McLaughlin, from Los Angeles. They came down the Yukon in a small boat bearran into a log jam six miles above Stewart and were overturned and nearly lost their lives. A floating tree, partly submerged bottom of the river, was reached by the men, and they remained there until the wood choppers near by heard their cries and came to their rescue. The wood choppers loaned them a small boat in which to finish their trip to Dawson.

The bill-of-fare given the men is as good now if not better than it has ever been; the discipline is, if anything, more moderate under Capt. Hackett than it was before that officer assumed command, and as for the men being overworked, the captain states that it is true they have to work hard at times, but for every extra hour put in allowance is made for it when the crew is given a half-hollday on Saturday afternoons, a privilege extended to

SEMI-FINALS PLAYED. Members of the Victoria club gathered large numbers at the Belcher street courts yesterday afternoon to witness the last of the semi-final matches of the handicap tourney. An error crept into these columns yesterday when it was announced 4,6, 15, bye. there being still several games to play be fore the finals can take place. Yesterday's play was undoubtedly the best of the tom nament. In the ladies' singles a great deal of interest centred in the contest scheduled to be played between Mrs. Hall and Miss Goward. Both put up a determined game, but the former held her advantage and won out after a hard fought contest by a score of 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Another close game was which the former won after a three-set

TOURNEY OPENS TO-DAY. On Monday afternoon the first of the honor of the club is decided. games of the annual James Bay handicap tournament were played, commencing at 2 o'clock, on the Kingston street courts. As the entry list is an exceedingly lengthy one there will be a series of events every afternoon during the week so that the finals may be reached by Saturday. Members of the commit-tee in charge, who held a meeting on Saturday evening for the purpose of fixing the handicaps and arranging the schedule, had some difficulty in dividing the games so that it would be possible to games so that it would be possible to the games are the same of to play the finals off on the last day of the week. It will, therefore, be necessary for all competitors to carefully follow the fixtures as announced each day in order to be present when the game in which they participate is called. Some very interesting games are look-ed for as it is reported that keen rivalry exists not only among the gentlemen members of the club, but also among the ladies. The large increase in membership which this year has seen has had a stimulating effect, and the tourney is expected to be the most successful yet

LOCALS SUCCESSFUL. The Victoria team that visited the arger. two victories, defeating both Tacoma and Seattle. In the former case the Canadians won easily on the first inning by a score of 90 runs to 49. The second match against the Seattle team was captured by Victoria with comparative ease. The thanks of the V. C. C. are again due for the very hospitable courtesy ex-tended to them by the Tacoma and Seattle clubs. Victoria is also indebted to the Seattle match. Following are the detailed scores: Victoria-1st Inning. Q. D. H. Warden, c and b Patullo ... H. G. Walker, b Dow Extras
