MAGISTRATE KEPT BUSY IN THE POLICE COURT TODAY

Jew Found Guilty of Assaulting a Boy—
Woman Accused of Shoplifting—
A Stealing Case.

The police court business was quite heavy this morning. Three drunks were fined the usual amounts. In the assault case in which Wm. Treacartin charged John McCann with assaulting Treacartin said that he was defending himself from a man who was fighting him on Bridge Street when McCann came along and knocked him down. Cross-questioned by McCann Treacartin said the police reported him for fighting and he then made complaint against McCann. Fred McMullin, a grocery clerk, told of seeing McCann, Treacartin and an unknown man all mixed up in a row. McCann gave evidence that Treacartin struck the stranger with the blue suit and he went to part the fight when Treacartin put up a fight with defendant. The magistrate said it appeared that three men were engaged in a street fight, and remanded Treacartin to jail with McCann. Michael Weisel charged with assaulting John Tritts by catching him by the throat pleaded not guilty. Thomas Morrow said that on Tuesday evening he saw the Jew with both hands on the boy's throat. A man came along and separated them. Alexander Gibbs, a boy who told the court that Weisel caught hold of him by the collar, and then caught Tritts by the throat. Col. Buchanan told of Tritts being a good boy, but he knew nothing of the affair. John Tritts said he saw a gang of boys throwing stones at a Jew. Witness told them to stop. Later on the defendant came across the street and accused him of throwing stones, and then caught him by the throat and held him until a man came out of a house and made the Jew take his hands off. Mrs. Jacobson said she saw a crowd of boys on the street, but could not identify the boys who threw the stones. S. Selig testified that he thought it was young Gibbs who threw the stones but he was not sure. The defendant said the small boys threw the stones and Tritts told them to keep on throwing. He then caught hold of Tritts by the arm and cast color and called for the police. The magistrate summing up said that evidence was that the boy was not guilty of throwing stones, and if he was the defendant had no right to catch him by the throat. Weisel was found guilty and fined $20 or two months in jail. Mrs. Catherine Beamish was charged with shop lifting and pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Sarah Myers gave evidence that she was in Lou Komensky's store yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Beamish who was with another woman asked to see a boy's suit. She then looked at some goods, asked for four yards and paid for it. The woman who was with her her coat. Witness asked her what she had and she dropped a parcel of dry goods and then ran out of the shop. Witness then asked Mrs. Beamish what she had under her coat and she said "Nothing," witness then opened Mrs. Beamish's coat and took from there a pair of boy's pants valued at 50 cents; piece of velvet, valued at one dollar; silk, $1.25; curtain, 45c; piece of print, 15c, with a total value of $3.45. Jacob Myers gave evidence that Mrs. Beamish offered to pay for the goods after they were found on her. He thought both women were drinking. Mrs. Beamish said that the woman who was with her gave her the stuff to put under her coat and that all the articles said to have been under her coat were not there but must have been picked up off the floor. The magistrate said that these shoplifters must understand what the penalty is. They can get six months' jail, or two years in penitentiary and they will know better than to go in peoples' stores and steal the goods. Mrs. Beamish was remanded to jail. The case against Miss Sarah Le Crowley, charged with stealing, was taken up. The defendant had to be assisted into court, being weak and nervous. Mrs. Stammers gave evidence that she resided at the Elliot Hotel. On Monday morning she missed a silk coat, and while making inquiries, the defendant went to her room and looked herself in. It was some time before she opened the door, and she was told that her room would have to be searched. A search was made and a skirt was found. Another skirt and a light jacket were also taken from witness' trunk. They were valued at about $27. Defendant arrived at the hotel on Friday and she had to pass witness' room to get to the one assigned to her. Miss Julia H. Elliott told of defendant paying her board in advance at the hotel when she arrived Friday evening. Witness told of searching the defendant's room on Monday morning and finding a brown skirt valued at $3. Defendant did not reply when asked where she got the skirt and she said she did not remember where the coat was. Sunday was a blank to her. Witness summoned Detective Killen, who asked Miss Crowley what she had done with the coat, and she asked for time to think, but did not give any satisfaction for an hour or more. She was then arrested. At noon hour witness found her trunk had been unlocked and she missed a silver glove box containing two pairs of gloves; a handkerchief box containing a quantity of lace and four Irish linen handkerchiefs. The lace was valued at $50. The gloves and some of the lace are yet missing. Witness identified a number of markings which she thought were taken from the hotel. Mrs. Minnie Armstrong, a professional nurse, and missed her nurse's uniform, a brush, pair of cuffs, collar, pair of gloves, hypodermic syringe, with needles and some bottles containing quarter grain morphine tablets. These articles were found in defendant's valise, after she was arrested. Miss Carson, who is employed in the Boston restaurant, said defendant came

LOCAL NEWS

Every child attending the matinee at the Princess tomorrow afternoon will receive a bag of candy.

The top coat is a mighty handy garment these cool evenings. You can own one for little money if you make your selection at Ridgeon's North End store.

A ladies' watch and chain found on the corner of Carmarthen and Sheffield streets awaits an owner at Chief Clark's office.

Mayor Bullock was again at his desk at City Hall this morning after an absence of several days. His Worship has been on a fishing trip to Bonny River and reports having had very good luck.

A special meeting of the Common Council will be held in the Court House at three o'clock this afternoon. Reports will be submitted by the harbor facilities committee, the ferry committee and the treasury board with various recommendations. A number of communications will also be considered.

A delegation of ladies waited on Mayor Bullock this morning regarding Riverview Park matters. A couple of lots bordering on the Park property have been acquired by private individuals with the idea of erecting tenements thereon. As this would detract from the attractiveness of the Park the ladies wish some arrangement made by which the lots can be secured and added to the Park.

The death of Mrs. Margaret Fitzpatrick occurred in Roxbury, Mass., on the 7th inst. Mrs. Fitzpatrick, who was in her 81st year, was the widow of the late John Fitzpatrick, a former St. John resident for many years. The deceased leaves three sons and two daughters. Two sisters, Mrs. Alicia McChesney, of St. John, and Mrs. Michael Kelly, of Young's Cove, also survive.

Rev. W. E. Kelly, a returned missionary from Burmah, will address the congregation of Main Street Baptist church this evening on his work in Burmah. Mr. Kelly will fill the pulpit of Main street church during the pastor's absence this summer and the lecture this evening will give the congregation an opportunity to get acquainted with him.

John Laracy, a West End plumber, who is employed by W. A. Steiger, was working on a wharf under an old building on Mill street this morning. He was attaching a pipe to the bottom of the floor, when the leg on which he was standing broke and the plumber was given a fall of 15 feet into the water. He managed to get himself out after some difficulty.

Recognizing the brilliant opportunity St. John offers for a little missionary work along his line, the representative of The Thos. Davidson Mfg. Co., of Montreal, visited the City Hall this morning in an effort to interest the civic officials in the street signs manufactured by his firm. He carries a line of enamelled signs that would be extremely useful around St. John if placed on the street corners. Of the last signs put up on the streets few remain, and they are mostly unrecognizable.

Miss Sarah L. Crowley the young woman charged with stealing is in a pitiable condition in the county jail. She is so weak and nervous from the use of morphine that she has to be assisted to and from the court. After the trial in the police court this morning, the unfortunate woman said that the whole story was strange to her. She dreaded being taken to the jail again for she said there was vermin in her cell and since she had been arrested on Monday she had not closed her eyes.

Lovers of fine music and literature enjoyed a rare treat in Mr. Sidney Beckley's recital last evening. The programme was a series of gems of song and story. Delightful as is Mr. Beckley's singing, his reading is even more wonderful and it would be hard to say whether the exquisite word painting pathos and religious fervor of Enoch Arden, the heroic grandeur of Montrose, the humor of the immortal Pickwick showed best the keen appreciation of his author and the marvellous powers of Mr. Beckley's rich flexible voice. Of the songs the brilliant Grenadiers, the weird Erikong and the dainty or ardent love songs each seemed his best as he sung it. St. John is indeed fortunate to have such an artist and instructor.

A session of the Exchequer Court of Canada opened in the court house this morning. Mr. Justice Cassels presiding. Mr. Justice Burbridge sat during the hearing of the evidence in the case of Chamberlain vs. The King, and Mr. Justice Cassels heard the argument of counsel this morning. The case arose out of the result of a fire which destroyed the plaintiff's buildings, etc., and crops at Campbellton, N. B. He alleges that the fire originated from a spark from No. 312 I. C. R. engine, which had a defective smoke conductor. Mr. L. A. Curry, of counsel for Mr. W. A. Mott, presented the plaintiff's arguments and Mr. E. H. McAlpine presented the arguments for the government.
