

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE.

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

EASTERN BAPTISTS "HAPPY DAYS."

Held Meeting at Pettit-R. K. Y. C. Boys on the Grand Lake.

Reports from Women's Missionary Society—Rev. Mr. Gullison Thirsty Cow—And Many Kinds of Weather.

PETTITCODIAC, June 18.—A largely attended meeting of the Women's Missionary Society in connection with the Eastern Baptist Association was held in the F. C. B. church of this place on Monday afternoon, beginning at 2.30 o'clock. There are in the Eastern Association fifty-nine churches, twenty-five aid societies, and fifteen mission bands.

The first half-hour was given to devotional exercises, led by Mrs. Nobles. Mrs. Cox, provincial secretary, spoke briefly at the opening of the meeting, referring feelingly to the changes in the society during the past ten years, and of the many dear to her that used to meet in the society that have passed over the river. She wished every society and individual could bury their discouragements today. John's disciples when in trouble went and told Jesus, and we never hear that they ever unthoughtfully forgot again.

Mrs. McIntyre, superintendent of mission bands, gave an excellent paper, telling about the aids, aims and plans of the mission band work. The children are the hope of the future. A careful preparation of the soil, looking for a good harvest later on. So we should train the children in early years so the later years may be crowned with glory. Dr. Stock-Judson and Mrs. Sarah Boardman Judson were interested in mission work in early life. To interest mission bands we should first of all believe in the promises ourselves, and then we should endeavor to lead the children to believe in them. We should be discouraged. We should be punctual in attendance. If we are enthusiastic with missions others will be, too. There are 20,000 Baptist children in New Brunswick, and what we want to do is to impress that they may all be brought into service for the Master.

Mrs. Crandall, mission band treasurer, gave a statement of the total amount received during the year up to present date, the amount being $1,617.23. Following were reports of the aid societies, mostly all of which were very interesting and encouraging. Miss Minnie Colpitts read a letter from Miss Flora Clark, missionary in India. Rev. Mr. Gullison, returned missionary, was then introduced, and told in an interesting manner about the conditions in India. They expect soon to have a home for lepers in connection with the hospital. There is an anti-class in India whose physical condition calls for our sympathy, support and prayers. It is the leper. He wished to bring home to every one the great need of sending out some one to help those who are working out there.

He felt thankful and glad for the great and noble work being done by the Women's Aid Society. Work among the children in the boys' and girls' school was attended with much encouragement and success. In closing, he told of a boy in India, who one night fell into a deep water tank. Mr. Gullison went to him as soon as he could, and plunged in with him. After the boy was rescued and as soon as he could speak he asked, "Why did you wait so long?" And the speaker stated that will not be the cry from the perishing millions in India when their spiritual vision is cleared: "Why did you wait so long?" A letter from Miss Archibald, missionary, was then read by Miss Annie Eastwood at the meeting closed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Ferry.

ST. J. ETHERSBURG, July 20, 3.45 a. m.—The Zemstvo congress at Moscow is exciting keen interest in St. Petersburg, but the newspapers have received strict orders not to mention it. The St. Petersburg, however, defies the prohibition and this morning prints a dispatch of several thousand words covering the proceedings of the congress.

MOSCOW, July 19.—The congress was attended by 225 delegates. Count Heyden, leader of the deputation representing the congress recently received by the emperor, presided.

M. Golovine, president of the organizing committee, had barely started a statement dealing with the obstacles placed in the way of the congress announcing that Governor General Kolofo had promised that there would be no recourse to extreme measures, when the chief of police with numerous commissaries and officials entered the room. The chief announced that the prefect had prohibited the meeting of the congress and ordered the seizure of the documents. Count Heyden protested against the proceedings, but the policemen began taking the names of the delegates. Then cries were raised of "write down the whole of Russia." Many persons present who were not delegates to the congress, requested that their names also be taken. The police then departed in order to draw up summonses and the sitting was resumed.

The scheme of a national assembly on the basis outlined by the commission presided over by M. Boulignin and minister of the interior, was minutely and critically discussed, and denounced as totally inadequate to remove Russia's internal grievances, because, including a property qualification, an electoral system by classes, it prevented the assembly from truly interpreting the will of the nation, while the exclusion of numerous categories of citizens from the franchise was a contradiction of the principles of equity and reasonable state policy.

Numerous resolutions embodying the foregoing criticisms were adopted unanimously, as were also resolutions complaining of excessive administrative and police control of elections, and insisting that publicity be given to the proceedings of the proposed assembly, which should be in direct relations with the people without interference from the council of the empire.

After the police had drawn up a report of the visit and had taken the names of those present they took no further action but returned and listened to the debates as interested spectators. When the afternoon session adjourned until evening each delegate as he passed out handed his visiting card to the chief of police.

It is expected that the congress will sit for three days.

LONDON, July 20.—The Moscow correspondent of the Times says that one of the topics of conversation during the proceedings of the Zemstvo congress was the alleged discovery of a military plot against Emperor Nicholas.

On the front there will be a large bow window, on the parlor, running up one story, and on the upper part two English gable windows. The lower floor will be several feet above the street level and this will necessitate a short flight of stone steps.

Inside the front door there will be a vestibule opening into a roomy and pretty hall. On the left will be the sitting room, sixteen by thirteen feet, and on the right the parlor, sixteen by twelve and a half feet. In rear of the sitting room a pretty stairway, with double landing, leads to the next floor. Beside the staircase a cloak room and back of it, in the rear corner of the house a cosy den with an open fireplace. The dining room will be in the rear of the parlor, and back of all the kitchen.

On the upper floor there will be three large bedrooms, a servant's room, a bath room and several commodious closets. From the back of the upper hall a second stairway will lead to the kitchen.

Tenders for the house have been called and the contract will be awarded in a day or two. F. Neil Brodie is the architect.

ANOTHER NEW HOME ON THE AVENUE. A. B. Holly Will Have a Brick Residence. Work Will Probably Start Next Week. It Will Be a Cosy House.

A. B. Holly will be the next to have a new home on Douglas avenue, and it will be a very cosy and comfortable place. Plans have been prepared, and work on the residence will probably begin next week. Unlike most of the avonue homes, this one is to be a brick, two stories high with basement, and after the old English style of architecture. The building will be forty-five feet deep, thirty-six feet frontage, and about thirty feet high. The kitchen will form an ell in the rear.

The house will be built on a lot of land on the left side of the avenue going out, which was formerly owned by N. C. Scott.
