The least of convenience of persons needing the ar-ifiele. Two sizes are manufactured is large one, calcu-lated for pogger; and a smaller, designed for the hand. They are entirely different from any Corn Sheller heretofore known, and being contracted with great simplicity and durability, are not lable to get out of repair—an important consideration. The large machine, driven with power, is capable of shelling, in a superior manner, 500 bushels in a day, acting on twoive ears at once. It is only ne-cessary to keep the hopper supplied, but of no con-equence how promjectionsly the cars are thrown in, as it feeds itself with regularity and precision. Thus one man may casily attend several machines; and in case the corn is deposited in an upper loft, and the skeller on a lower floor, with a feeding trongh of proper dimensions, it night run for hours without any attention. The nucline is compact, occupies but small space, and requires but little power.

occupies but small space, and requires but little power. The small machine, intended to be worked with the hand, shells three cars at once, feeding itself, &c. in the same manner as the large one. A more minute description of both is degmed unprecessary, as purchasers are invited to, and no doubt will, ex-mine for themselves. The prices are fixed at the lowest rate, $50 for the large, and $20 for the small sheller, the inventor reliving on extensive sales for a fair remuneration. Letters desiring information may be addressed, (post paid.) to J. MAXWELL, Machinist and Dealisman, £50 Bowery, New York. BTJ.
