THE BEST AT THE LAST.

MAGNIFICENT FIREWORKS FOR FRIDAY EVENING.

The Famous Firm Which Has Given the Grand Spectacular Productions at Manhattan Beach is on Hand—Some of the Splendid Pieces to be Shown.

Everybody has been pleased with the fireworks shown during the evenings of the exhibition. The display has been artistic, and if there were not so many pieces as are expected it was not the fault of the pyrotechnists, James Pain & Sons, of London, New York, Chicago and Australia.

The directors of the Canadian International Exhibition have not felt warranted, financially in giving the firm anything like a full scope, but they asked it to "do the best it could for the money."

It is not true in these days that good wine is always saved for the last at a feast. It is generally put forward first, and the bad stuff is palmed off later, when no one is in a position to be very critical in the matter of taste.

The display on Friday night will be far and away ahead of anything yet attempted. One has only to look at the programme to be satisfied of the fact.

First of all, in the important pieces, is a rose star, brilliant enough in itself, but rendered still more attractive by the word "Stanley" in letters of fire across its face.

with the motto, "Success to the C. I. E." and "Good Night."

A set piece, the Indian star, with revolving centres, and a palm tree, with revolving centres will be worthy of special attention.

Mechanical piece, the pigeon.

Flights of asteroid rockets, with floating stars.

Flights of silver torvillions, golden fountains, forming a line of fire 30 feet long, with revolving centres.

Flights of saussions and fairy snakes.

Illumination of the grounds with prismatic lights.

Flights of jubilee batteries and colored lights.

The display will conclude with a grand flight of rockets, forming a peacock's plume.

If this programme will not satisfy the admirer of the beautiful in pyrotechnics, he will be pretty hard to suit. The fireworks are likely to be a bigger drawing card than even Sir John and the other speakers at the rink.

Indurated Fireware.

The Eddy Manufacturing Co., of Hull, P. Q., exhibit a full line of indurated fireware, an article that has speedily won a firm place in the affections of every house-keeper that has ever used any of the wares.

The exhibit consists of wash tubs, wash basins, bread pans, fire pails, milk pails, milk pails and star buckets and half pails.

The remarkable feature about this ware is its judicial indestructibility. Every article is molded in one piece, without joint or seam, without hoops, and it is impervious to the influence of benzine, kerosene, acids or hot water; neither will it shrink or swell under the influence of heat or cold, and for durability it will out last any other ware made for the same uses.

RED JIM'S TREACHERY.

MICHAEL DAVITT MAKES SOME INTERESTING REVELATIONS.

McDermott's Movements Traced from the Time He Left New York—The Betrayal of Comrades who are Now in Penal Servitude for Life.

[Special to Progress by Direct C. P. R. Wire.] LONDON, Oct. 2.—The second instalment of Michael Davitt's revelations concerning the dynamite plots will be published tomorrow. It deals largely with the exploits of McDermott. (Red Jim) tracing his movements from the time he left New York.

He reached Dublin in February, 1883, and visited the various newspaper offices as a correspondent of the Brooklyn Argus, producing letters to that effect. His blatant talk aroused suspicion and he was closely watched.

At this time Healy and Davitt were in prison and McDermott visited them, but Davitt knowing his record refused to listen to him, and called the warden to terminate the interview.

McDermott was traced that night to the office of the chief of criminal investigation in Dublin Castle, and a few days later he was arrested for being drunk and disorderly.

Among the papers found upon him was a letter of introduction from D. McCarthy, of 12 Chambers street, New York, to P. Murphy, of Cork, stating that McDermott's "purse and pen were ever at our disposal."

Another was from O'Donovan Rossa, agreeing to pay for letters from Ireland, and adding threats of vengeance for the exile he was suffering.

McDermott next went to Cork where he was interviewed by Capt. Plunkett, who was there in charge of that city, which was under martial law. The story then describes "Red Jim's" betrayal of Flannigan and Featherstone, and the arrest of Wilson, Gallagher, Dalton and Whitehead, all of whom were sentenced to penal servitude for life through McDermott's treachery.

Today's Programme. City Cornet Band in building, afternoon and evening.

Organ recital, Mr. Morley, 3.30 to 4 p. m., 7.15 to 7.45 p. m., 8.15 to 8.45 p. m.

SOME PEOPLE OF NOTE.

VISITORS WHO ARE KNOWN IN THE SHOW AND OUT OF IT.

They Represent All Parts of Canada and Other Countries—The Exhibition is One of the Sights Which They Cannot Afford to Miss.

Mr. A. W. Morrison, of the baggage tracing department, General Passenger Agent's office, I. C. R., was at the exhibition on Wednesday, accompanied by Mrs. Morrison. Mr. Morrison registered at Progress office and expressed himself delighted with all he saw.

Adam W. Smith, of St. Andrews, called at the sanctum this morning, looking even younger than when the editor last saw him, years ago. Mr. Smith is the Nestor of the New Brunswick press.

He started the St. Andrews Standard in 1833 and ran it for nearly 48 years. He is taking his ease these days, but looks good for plenty of active service yet.

David Dickson, of Moncton, agent for the Dominion of the Sparkham Roofing Company, visited the exhibition on Wednesday morning and called at Progress sanctum. Mr. Dickson was on the wrecked C. P. R. train on Monday night, and remarked that he might just as well have been killed as not, only he was not.

A. J. Babang, of Moncton, was in the building on Tuesday evening. Dr. Bailey, of the University was in the exhibition building on Tuesday, and expressed himself as being much pleased with the school exhibit.

Senator Boyd spent some time in the educational department on Tuesday afternoon, and seemed deeply interested in all he saw.

Their lordships, Bishop Sweeney, of St. John, and Bishop Rogers, of Chatham, accompanied by Mgr. Thos. Connelly, V. G., visited Progress office this afternoon, and inscribed their names on the register. Bishop Sweeney watched the printers getting the paper ready for the press, and remarked that the office seemed to be the busiest part of the building.

Among the many familiar faces in the crowd last evening, Progress was glad to recognise the burly form and bearded face of Stipendiary Wortman of Moncton, who was viewing all points of interest in Saint John's great show with judicial impartiality. Mayor Sumner, of Moncton, laid aside the cares of office for a brief space and came down to view the exhibition. When Progress saw him he was acting as a squire of dames and escorting two of Moncton belles through the building.

E. H. Balkam, secretary of the Milltown school board, visited the school exhibit yesterday afternoon, and showed great interest in the various branches of that most attractive department.

The display has been artistic, and if there were not so many pieces as are expected it was not the fault of the pyrotechnists, James Pain & Sons, of London, New York, Chicago and Australia. Pain & Sons are the men who supplied the fireworks at the Fisheries Exposition in London and made most elaborate displays at Alexandra palace and Sydenham, at which "all the world wondered." They were also the men who have delighted hundreds of thousands at Manhattan Beach, N. Y., by the brilliant spectacular productions of the Last Days of Pompeii, the siege of Pekin, and other most realistic scenes in the history of nations.

The directors of the Canadian International Exhibition have not felt warranted, financially in giving the firm anything like a full scope, but they asked it to "do the best it could for the money."

Dress Goods!

A Novelty in SILK and WOOL TARTANS, the Clan Plaids, the several Stuarts, Argyle, Gordon, McDuff, 42nd Highlanders, or Black Watch and others. Like Silas Wegg, you drop into poetry as you look at them. "The Silken Plaid" of Ellen Douglass, the Lady of the Lake, flutters before you; or fancy the piping of "The Campbell's are Coming" at the relief of Lucknow. Strange beauty in the Tartans, and they never fail to suggest the romance and reality which have made the proud owners of the plaids great factors in literature, in history, in progress. CLAN PLAIDS, 25c. to 96c.

French Serges.

24 inches, 20 cents; 42 inches, 45 inches. In all the beautiful fall and winter colorings.
