

TO DEVELOP CLAY DEPOSITS

N. B. Coal, Iron and Clay Company will start immediately to work Queen's County Areas.

Fined for Assault.

In the police court on Saturday, Philip Hebert was fined $30 or six months in jail for being drunk and assaulting I. C. R. Policeman Smith. Annie Ougle and Fred Nason were remanded on a charge of indecent conduct. Jack McInlay was before the court charged with unlawfully supplying liquor to John Curry, an interdict. The case was adjourned till Tuesday afternoon.

Lumber Conditions Satisfactory.

Robert Connelly, manager of the Peapack Lumber Company, was in the city Saturday. He reported that the company's mill at Salmon River has been running since April 15, sawing wood for pulpwood. Five million feet of logs are in the booms there, and they expect to start cutting long lumber on Monday. He expects that the drive at Martin Head will be taken out successfully.

New Editor of Educational Review.

The Educational Review, which for many years was conducted by the late Dr. G. U. Hay, will be continued with Miss Eleanor Robinson as managing editor. The paper will remain under the control of Mrs. Hay. Miss Robinson has for several years conducted a private school for young ladies. It is understood Miss Jessie Lawson, of the High School staff, is to resign from the school, and establish a private school for girls.

Delegates Well Pleased.

The local delegates from the St. John Council of Women to the convention, recently held in Montreal, returned to the city on Saturday. They were Mrs. Robert Thomson, Miss Mabel Peters, Miss Evelyn Peters, Mrs. J. H. Doody and Mrs. Chisholm. Mrs. Chisholm said that the convention was very successful. All of the sessions were largely attended and a great deal of important business was transacted. The entertainments provided for the visitors were very pleasant and were thoroughly appreciated by all who attended.

Paving Contracts Awarded.

On Saturday the Commissioners decided to accept the tenders of B. Mooney & Sons for paving a section of Sydney street, and A. C. Clark & Son for the paving of the North side of King square. The prices include the cost of laying the foundation and the entire work, with the exception of the asphalt surface of the concrete pavement on the North side of King square, the vitrified brick between the rails, and the granite blocks on Sydney street requiring no additional surface. The asphalt will be laid by the city. The estimates provided for the visitors were very pleasant and were thoroughly appreciated by all who attended.

To Develop Clay Deposits.

The New Brunswick Coal, Iron and Clay Co., Ltd., at a meeting held Saturday in the office of Innes and Hazen, decided to engage an expert to proceed with the investigation of the company's properties in Queens county. A crew of men will also be engaged and the necessary equipment purchased and they hope to make a start on the work this week. The survey and tests will take about three months. The mining areas are located on the western side of the St. John river between Gagetown and Welsford. A brief investigation commenced late last fall showed the existence of a twenty-five foot deposit of fire clay and also seams of coal of greater thickness than any far to be discovered in the Grand Lake district. Analysis and tests will be made to determine the quality of the coal and clay. The directors of the company are: H. W. Woods, M.L.A., Welsford; Geo. B. Jones, M.L.A., Apohaqui; Hon. Geo. J. Clark, St. Stephen; J. Willard Wilson, C.E., Welsford; J. Duff Mitchell, St. John.

Was Troubled With His Heart.

HAD TO GIVE UP WORK.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitate and throb, skip beats, and sometimes seems to almost stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm. Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through this unnatural action of the heart. To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief. Mr. Alfred Male, Elmdale, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my heart for two or three years. I thought sometimes that I would die. I went to the doctor, and he said I could not do anything for me. I had to give up work. My wife persuaded me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. The first box relieved me, so I kept on until I had taken seven boxes, and they cured me. I would not be without them on any account, as they are worth more to me than gold. I advise my friends and neighbours who are troubled with heart or nerve trouble to try them."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents a box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Founded 129 Years Ago Yesterday—Rev. Dr. McIntosh, of Edinburgh, Preacher at Special Services.

The 129th anniversary of the founding of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was celebrated yesterday when Rev. H. R. McIntosh, professor of Unity College, Edinburgh, Scotland, conducted both the morning and evening services. Special music appropriate to the occasion was rendered, while in point of attendance and the general success of the event nothing was left to be desired.

St. Andrew's church was founded in 1784. The present church was officially opened in 1817, with Rev. Dr. Burns, who continued in the pastorate for 29 years, officiating. Since that date the church has had eight pastors, under all of whom much progress has been made, Rev. Dr. J. H. MacVicar being the present pastor.

At present St. Andrew's has the largest membership of its history and holds an important position in the community. Its revenues have been steadily increasing, and last year the total income amounted to over $10,000. In his sermon last evening, Rev. Dr. McIntosh took his text from Samuel 2nd, chap. xxi, v. 15: "And David gave me drink of the water of the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate." He said in part:

"This pure story that has so touched the imagination of the world, dates back from a very shadowy period. At the time David's headquarters were in the cave of Adullam, the Israelite soldiers had been defeated and the whole country was overrun by the Philistines. In his misfortune David's mind went back to the past when he used to water his sheep at the well of Bethlehem. Perhaps he was thirsty, or perhaps the day was hot, that caused him with the recollection of cooled him with the recollection of What is it that casts such a charm over an old home, when the wanderer returning walks from room to room and looks out of the windows over the familiar prospect, every portion of which has its own happy memory that fall to reveal themselves to the stranger?"

"Shall it be said that this is sentimentality and nothing more, and why should he be recognized? How dreary life would be if it were resolved to cherish only rational and essential things. Life would be a mere struggle between the rational and the irrational. The whole country was overrun by the Philistines. In his misfortune David's mind went back to the past when he used to water his sheep at the well of Bethlehem. Perhaps he was thirsty, or perhaps the day was hot, that caused him with the recollection of cooled him with the recollection of What is it that casts such a charm over an old home, when the wanderer returning walks from room to room and looks out of the windows over the familiar prospect, every portion of which has its own happy memory that fall to reveal themselves to the stranger?"

"We must have more!" the landlords cried. "Our just claims must be satisfied; For labor knows its power today And who shall dare to tell us nay?" "We must have more!" the merchants next. Complained, by rising freight bills. "Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy." "We must have more!" the clerks averred. And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too. Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

Vital Statistics.

Eleven burial permits were issued by the Board of Health last week.

Letter of Appreciation.

Commissioner Schofield on Saturday morning submitted to his colleagues a copy of a letter written to the Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, on behalf of the committee which recently visited Ottawa to urge the needs of St. John harbor, stating the need for extra harbor equipment in St. John, and thanking him and the other members of the cabinet for the courteous treatment accorded the St. John delegation while in the capital.

Rev. Dr. Raymond Chosen.

Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond has been appointed in succession to the late Dr. G. U. Hay, to conduct the services examinations, which are to be held in the Centennial school exhibition from Tuesday to Friday of this week. About thirty-five candidates, including seven ladies, will write the examinations.

Assistant to Rev. F. S. Porter.

The services of Sterling Stackhouse, brother of Rev. J. P. Stackhouse, have been secured for the summer months to assist Rev. F. S. Porter, pastor of German street church. Mr. Stackhouse will have charge of the missions in connection with German street church, at East St. John, North End, and Golden Grove. Mr. Stackhouse is expected here about the twenty-fifth of May.

FOUR NEW YORK POLICE CAPTAINS IN JAIL FOR CONSPIRACY

JOHN B. STANCHFIELD JAMES E. HUSSEY JAMES R. THOMPSON JOHN J. MURTHA DENNIS SWEENEY

The above are some scenes sketched at the first day's proceedings at the Supreme Court at New York against four police captains, Sweeney, Hussey, Thompson and Murtha, who are charged with conspiracy. They were all remanded to the Tombs Prison.

Arthur H. Scribner, of the publishing concern, and Albert Gallatin, a descendant of the famous Secretary of the Treasury, are members of the jury which is trying the case.

THE UNIVERSAL CRY.

"We must have more!" the tralamen cried.

"Our just claims must be satisfied; For labor knows its power today And who shall dare to tell us nay?"

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

"We must have more!" the railroads said.

"Or dark disaster looms ahead; These rising payrolls sound our knell Unless we raise our rates as well."

"We must have more!" the merchants next.

Complained, by rising freight bills.

"Tis only air, you can't deny. To pay us more or what you buy."

"We must have more!" the clerks averred.

And myriad voices were heard; Each trade took up the loud refrain And shouted "More!" with might and main.

"I must have more!" the city spoke; "For me this question's not a joke; 'Twill cost me more to live, that's clear; So taxes will increase this year."

"We must have more!" the landlords too.

Protested; "what else can we do? If higher taxes we must pay. To raise the rents is but fair play."

And so proceeds the merry game. Each class in turn asserts its claim; But when we've gone the circle round The millennium have been found? Or shall we be, as I misdoubt. Precisely where we started out?

—R. H. Titherington in N. Y. Sun.

SOCIALISTS CONTINUE TO HAMMER CAPITALISTS

At the meeting of the Socialists last evening Com. Askins discussed the high cost of living as it affects the poor, and Com. Taylor drew a doleful picture of the effect of the cost of high living upon the rich. Reference was made to the conference on farm credits at Chicago and to an address delivered by B. R. Yockum, manager of the Frisco Railway Lines, in which he made the startling assertion that the farmers of the United States lost the enormous sum of $7,785,000,000 a year through their inability to get their crops to the markets, or because it did not pay them to harvest their crops. The railway magnate pointed out that in 1912 the value of the farm crops of the States was 51 per cent. greater than in 1905, though in the same period the population had only increased 16 per cent. showing that with the rapid increase in the nation's food getting efficiency there was no good excuse for poverty.

The great trouble, according to the railway man, was that railway construction during the same seven years had fallen off forty per cent. making it impossible for the railways to carry the increased farm production to the consumers. Com. Askins thought the capitalist system was the source of the whole trouble. Com. Taylor said that poor people were told to be content with their lot, because the rich were not happy. He wanted to know why they should maintain a system under which neither the rich nor the poor were happy. This interesting question was not answered.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. Catherine A. Fleming. The funeral of Mrs. Catherine A. Fleming, wife of Captain R. H. Fleming, harbor master, took place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late residence, 11 Pagan Place. The burial services were conducted by Revs. Drs. J. H. MacVicar and J. A. Morrison, after which interment took place in Fernhill. The pallbearers were: Lieut. Colonel Andrew J. Armstrong, Capt. E. C. Elkin and Frank White, James A. Estey, R. B. Emerson and Frank Rankine. The funeral tributes were both numerous and beautiful and testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Mrs. Richard E. White's funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the residence of her father, Allan Carson, 49 Military road. Burial services were conducted by Rev. Wilfred Gaetz, and interment took place in the Methodist church burying grounds.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

The death of Joseph R. Carey of Lancaster Heights, occurred yesterday at the General Public Hospital. He had been ill only a few days, death being due to pneumonia. He is survived by mother, five brothers and one sister.

REV. J. J. M'GASKILL AT THE EVERY DAY CLUB

Gave an Instructive Address on Importance of Training the Youth for Good Citizenship.

At the Every Day Club last evening the last regular Sunday meeting of the season was held, at which an interesting programme was carried out.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. J. J. McGaskill. He dwelt on the value of developing and training the young boy to follow the channels to manhood.

The training of the boy so that he may become a good citizen, no community can afford to neglect.

C. S. Humbert spoke briefly, encouraging the boys to follow industrious practices and acquire good and sound habits.

Walter Brindle delivered an address in which he dealt with the opportunities the boy had for doing good and accomplishing much during the summer, and urged them to take advantage of these opportunities.

During the evening vocal solos were rendered by E. A. Belding, A. H. Belding and Miss Wilcox.

The indoor work of the club has been practically completed for the season, and henceforth the activities will be carried on in the open.

Baseball will be the chief activity during the summer. Three senior and two junior teams have already been formed, and it is the intention to organize more teams.

OBITUARY.

Henry L. Foren.