Photos of Soldiers Wanted.
The officer in command of the Canadian War Records has asked us to make known that it is desired to compile a complete history in photograph of the Canadians' share in the war in the same way that all other belligerent countries are compiling similar records. It is particularly desired to obtain photographs of all officers, N. C. O.'s and men who served or are now serving in the overseas forces. As it may be difficult for the men serving to send in their photographs their relatives are especially appealed to to send in their photographs for them.

By preference the photographs should be unmounted and printed on bromide paper in order to secure permanence. Each photograph should be accompanied by a concise record, not exceeding 200 words, of the subject's military career, including date of enlistment, promotions, distinctions, and so on.

All photographs, which will be acknowledged, should be addressed to the Canadian War Records, 14 Clifford St., London, Eng.

It's all right daring to be a Daniel, and all right to stand alone, but sometimes it gets rather lonesome.

Oil Fire in Mosa.

About nine o'clock on Monday night three oil tanks on the Secord farm in Mosa were destroyed by fire, caused by a lighted lantern carried by Dan Campbell, who was in charge of the place, igniting the gas arising from one of the tanks. Mr. Campbell had his left arm and face terribly burned and is under a doctor's care. Besides the tanks about fifty barrels of oil, the property of Mr. Carman, were destroyed.

Death of P. E. Watterworth
Percival E. Watterworth, well-known traveller for the Maxwell firm, died at his home in London on Monday night from blood-poisoning, aged 52 years. A carbuncle which developed on his neck three weeks ago started the trouble, and his condition had been very critical for some days. Mr. Watterworth was born in the township of Mosa and leaves his wife and one daughter, Theo. The remains were brought to Glencoe yesterday and the funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Hiram Lumley to Oakland cemetery.

The family were all present for the occasion with the exception of one son in Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson were the recipients of many gifts, including several gold pieces.

WOODGREEN
Miss Hatty Grover returned from the West last week after spending the summer with friends there.

Alfred Wheeler of Placemore, Sask., is visiting at Chas. Grover's.

Roy Watterworth of Hamilton spent Christmas under the parental roof.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Winger on Thursday when about forty of their friends gave them a surprise in the form of a miscellaneous shower. The presents were of a varied and useful character, including several presents in money. We all join in wishing the young couple every happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. F. McKibbin of Picton, Ontario, arrived at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Moore, and on Friday evening a large number of the young friends of the bride spent a very pleasant evening with them. The number of presents received shows the great esteem in which the bride is held by the young people of this vicinity. We wish them both a very happy future.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dawn spent Christmas at Sebringville.

The Woodgreen Dramatic club presented the play entitled "My Wife's Relations" at No. 5 Literary Society entertainment on Friday evening.

John and James Thomson of Hamilton were visitors here at Christmas.

Deep Breathing for Colds.
A person remarked to us that everybody seemed to have a cold these days, and the afflicted ones generally testify that they have had them for a long time and can't get rid of them. For the incorrigible cases we have nothing to suggest, but we have for those who are just taking a cold, and it is this:—Breathe deeply, energetically and repeatedly till the cold retires.

This seems very simple and rather bold in us to suggest it, but many people have tried it and say it works like a charm. Many will say the cold would leave anyhow. We don't think our friends, the doctors, would urge this objection. The remedy has its reason. The cold is generally located in the capillaries, where the blood, made sluggish by drafts or other exposures, becomes clogged up and interferes with the circulation, which is really the deflusion of a cold. Now, deep breathing oxidizes the blood, puts pep into it, and it goes down the veins with a rush, breaks through the clogged capillaries and restores the circulation.

If this explanation is not scientific, we don't ask anything for it, and if it doesn't cure you, it is because the capillaries are stuffed full before you try it.—Ohio State Journal.

Corns cripple the feet and make walking a torture, yet sure relief in the shape of Holloway's Corn Cure is within reach of all.

Reycraft-Telfer.

Newbury, Dec. 10.—A pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at the home of John Telfer, Mosa, when his youngest daughter, Carrie, became the bride of Richard Reycraft, also of Mosa.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. James Malcolm of Newbury, in the presence of a few of the immediate relatives.

The bride, who was daintily attired in a gown of white crepe with pearl trimming, carrying a bouquet of cream roses, entered the parlor on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by her sister, Miss Alena Telfer, and took her place by the groom under an arch of evergreens. Their only attendant was a little nephew, Master John C. Telfer, who looked sweet as he carried the ring to the groom in a basket of paper-white narcissus.

The presents were beautiful, testifying the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold pin set with pearls and to the little page a ring. The bride's couple left for the evening train for a short trip to Detroit, after which they will be at home to their friends.

GOT TOO MUCH NURSING.
Then the Wounded Man Rebelled and Had Some Comfort.

There was no Red Cross in the old days, and women nurses were not admitted to the field hospitals, but women were frequent visitors to the stationary army hospitals in the cities, bringing food delicacies and always anxious to assist in relieving the sufferings of their sick or wounded heroes.

James Morgan in his reminiscences of the "Lost Cause" relates a story incident to his visit to a Richmond war hospital to see his friend, Captain F. W. Dawson, who was very seriously wounded. The day was hot, and he found his friend lying on a cot near the open front door so weak that he could not speak above a whisper. The poor fellow whispered in his ear, "Jimmie, for mercy's sake make them move my cot to the back of the building."

Morgan assured him that he had been placed in the choicest place in the hospital, so that he could get any little air that might be stirring, but he still insisted that he wanted to be moved, giving as a reason that every lady who entered the place washed his face and fed him with meat jelly. The result was that his face felt sore and he was stuffed so full of jelly that he was most uncomfortable. As he was so weak that he could not speak above a whisper, the women would not listen to his protests.

At Morris' request the head surgeon pinned a notice on Dawson's sheet to this effect:—"This man must be washed and fed only by the regular nurses."

DAYLIGHT AT MIDNIGHT.
And Also Baseball Games and Shooting Matches in Alaska.

Two events of annual occurrence in Alaska are the shoot of the various territorial gun clubs at Seward and the midnight baseball game at Fairbanks.

June 22 being the longest day in the year, there is no hour of the entire twenty-four when a newspaper cannot be easily read out of doors, and in consequence dealers in artificial light and lighting supplies have no business but to dream of the coming winter months, when people light lamps at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and keep them going in the forenoon until 10 o'clock or later.

Eight o'clock in the evening is the hour at which the ball games usually begin, but so far as adequate light is concerned 12 o'clock midnight would do equally as well.

The Seward 12 o'clock midnight shooting tournament is invariably attended by all sportsmen from the United States who chance to be visiting near there at the time, and the participation of such gentlemen is frequently a source of chagrin to themselves and of amusement to the initiated, as the shooting records of even the crack shots take a sad slump at these events. This is due to the peculiar light, with which visitors are naturally not familiar. As Alaskan sportsmen do much of their summer shooting after 6 o'clock in the evening and are used to these conditions, there is little variation in their marksmanship whatever the hour.

Why Metals Rust.
Gold does not tarnish like other metal because it is not acted upon by oxygen or water. It is the moisture in the atmosphere which causes other metals to tarnish owing to their oxidation. Water contains a large proportion of oxygen. It is the oxygen in the moist air combining with the surface of the metal that covers them with rust. Platinum, like gold, resists the influence of oxygen and moisture and when pure neither rusts nor tarnishes. Aluminum also does not rust, neither hot nor cold water having any action upon it. Silver tarnishes on exposure to the air, the agent producing this effect being the sulphur. Iron is the metal which tarnishes and rusts most easily, its oxidation proceeding until the metal is completely eaten or burnt away with the rust.
