

EMIGRATION TO NORTH AMERICA AND AUSTRALIA. 9

Emigration, and the good intentions of His Majesty's Government, and which could not have escaped the notice of your Lordship; I, however, trust your Excellency will continue to afford me that protection which is so necessary to success, and from which such signal benefits have already been experienced, and that I may be enabled to persevere with renewed energy, the ensuing season, in a faithful discharge of the important trust confided to my management by His Majesty's Government.

I shall now conclude by again entreating your Lordship's consideration of the various subjects to which I have on this present occasion taken the liberty to address you.

Soliciting the honour of your Excellency's transmitting this Report to the Right honourable Viscount Goderich, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonial Department,

I have, &c.
