

God will love all them that fear him, and they who look for help from him will find it.

Ye sons of men, how long will you love what is bad, and hate what is good?

Know that you have one to do with, O men! who made you, and who will be just to all.

They are good, who live in thy fear, O Lord; them only thou wilt keep.

A good boy will love God, and fear him all the days of his life; he will put his hope in him, he will call up-on him, he will love his name, and his word.