LINCOLN WAS EXTRADITED BY ADMIRALTY

Magistrate Gave Him Wide Latitude in Conducting His Own Defence.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, June 20.—Ignatius T. Lincoln, the former member of parliament who is on trial in the Bow Street police court on the charge of forgery, established the fact today that it was the British admiralty which indirectly was responsible for his extradition from the United States.

Lincoln questioned Rowntree regarding what he was told at the admiralty concerning Lincoln's transactions. The witness replied he had been informed Lincoln had told the admiralty he had been at Rotterdam where he had obtained by purchase certain information which might be valuable and that Lincoln had made extravagant demands for payment for this information.

Lincoln questioned Rowntree regarding what he was told at the admiralty concerning Lincoln's transactions. The witness replied he had been informed Lincoln had told the admiralty he had been at Rotterdam where he had obtained by purchase certain information which might be valuable and that Lincoln had made extravagant demands for payment for this information.

"It is a lie," Rowntree continued that the admiralty considered Lincoln's general conduct as suspicious.

During the proceedings the magistrate, Sir John Dickinson, said to Lincoln, "The preliminary examination is being made to determine whether you had any knowledge of the charge of forgery. Political matters have nothing to do with the hearing of this case. If you choose to go into them I am not going to prevent you from thinking it in any way advantageous to your case."

"I FEEL LIKE A NEW BEING"

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought The Joy Of Health After Two Years' Suffering

MADAM LAPORTE 35 St. Rose St., Montreal, April 4th. "For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant headaches, and had palpitation of the heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the constipation was dreadful. I suffered from pain in the back and kidney disease."

I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-tives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no headaches, no palpitation, no heart trouble, no constipation, no pain or kidney trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-tives" that gave me back my health."

MADAM ARTHUR LAPORTE. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ALSACE-LORRAINE TO BE ABOLISHED

Will Likely be Absorbed, Think Germans, Into Rest of Empire.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Berlin, June 16, via London, June 19.—(Delayed by censor.) The province of "Reichsland" (state of the empire) undoubtedly will cease to exist after the war. "It is now being virtually decided that the annexed provinces will be absorbed in some manner into the general unity of the empire and no longer administered under the abnormal conditions prevailing since the war of 1870, according to high administrative officials here. What form this change will take is as yet uncertain. The discussion of the problem was one of the reasons for Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's recent visit to the south, Germany's states and Prussia being the most important of those visited."

The project at present most favored is a division of the province into three parts with annexation to Bavaria, Baden, and Prussia. Bavaria will receive the lion's share. The chancellor's discussion with south German rulers led to no decision however and while it may be stated that a change has been determined upon in principle, no details are yet available.

Bavaria, whose province of the Palatinate borders Alsace Lorraine on the north, probably would receive the northeastern section, including Lorraine, Baden, and Prussia. Baden, a kingdom and inhabited by the same stock as the Palatinate, would be joined to Baden, while Prussia would receive that portion of Lorraine which adjoins the Prussian Rhineland.

While this is considered the obvious solution, certain strong objections have made themselves manifest, not the least of which is the reluctance of the Baden Government to have added to the Grand Duchy, a population of which is largely evangelical and moderately liberal, a province overwhelmingly Catholic and largely social democratic.

Military considerations also figure to a certain extent in the consideration of the subject. Military circles here are opposed to the fortress town of Strassburg passing from their direct control. Everyone, even the Prussian leaders, is united in this conviction, however that some change must be made. The negative results of the chancellor's conferences at Munich, Karlsruhe, and Stuttgart leave the question "up in the air" for the present.

Greek Riots

Much Unrest in Greece Over Continuance of Blockade.

Athens, via London, June 20.—Bread riots are reported at Patras, Argina, Malais and Agrinion. Greek general strikes have been unable to change must be made. The negative results of the chancellor's conferences at Munich, Karlsruhe, and Stuttgart leave the question "up in the air" for the present.

GALLIENI WAS SHOT AT BY A FRENCH OFFICER

And as a Result His Death Ensued, is the Story Out Now.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, June 19.—The death of General Joseph S. Gallieni, former minister of war of France, was due to the result of a murderous attack by a French army officer of high rank under charges of treason, and not to natural causes, according to stories told here today by passengers arriving on the French liner Lafayette. Gustave Heslouin, an attaché of the French War Office, here for the second time, said that a government mission could neither affirm nor deny the tale.

General Gallieni was shot and fatally wounded in his Paris office. He was closeted with the officer, according to their story when attendants on guard at the door heard a shot and rushed in to find the "savior of Paris" by himself standing over him, a smoking revolver in his hand. The general arrived here under a doctor's care, and died in a hospital at Versailles on May 27.

General Gallieni's assassin was arrested. The Lafayette's passengers said his fate is unknown. He had been promoted to the office of his chief, it is reported, to answer the charge of having negotiated with the Germans for the surrender of a fortress.

LIKE PRE-WAR DAYS

Danger from Submarines Has Pretty Well Died Away

New York, June 19.—Danger of submarine attacks along the French coast have been so minimized that ships enter and leave the port of Bordeaux now with only normal precautions, according to passengers who arrived here today on the French Line Steamship Lafayette. Passengers said the liner left port with her lights burning and so far as could be seen was not accompanied by war vessels.

The Lafayette brought 150 passengers, the majority of whom are businessmen and officers and soldiers of Canadian regiments returning home on short furloughs.
