The Little Open.

HILLSBORO, N. B., June 27, 1888.

The little ones are poets, we sigh
And lots of trouble make us; Ere golden morning eyes are open They from our slumber wake us.

Nay, oft ere half the night is o'er,
They start us from our dreams,
And we must rise and walk the floor Until they cease their screaming.

Perhaps our rathens we deplore For crying in waking hours;
We had remained a husband While sleeping, sleep, my dear.

We would they'd take a wish, While tramping within us curled,
And think of all the life of life, A squalling babe the worst is.

But when grim death is hovering nigh (Far distant may the day be!)
"Take all we owe, O Lord!" we cry,
"But spare to us the baby."

far expressions, whenever I have case a lack of vital force, which I remedied in time; they have ple physical and nervous prostration.
Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best to vitalize the blood, build up the tissues, and make the weak strong.

"For nearly three months I was confined to the house. One of the celebrated physicians of the same failed to discover the cause of my trouble or afford relief. I consulted in a way until I had nearly given when I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
It acted like a charm, and I gained flesh and strength and feel so much better. Shall continue with the Sarsaparilla until completely cured."
—John V. Craven, Salem, N. J. admirable remedy for the cure of the work every time." — E. L. Foster, M. D.,

For him to talk or to listen to any that he would be ashamed to have say Ann or me hear. I have brought him up to think that medicine that consist in having a cigar in his mouth, and his hat on one side, and smoking and slanging phrases, and a knowledge of questionable anatomy, but in the hole of every day that came in with a brave heart and a cheerful face; to help to right the wrong and prevent the weak and make the most and the best of the mind and the soul. God gave him. In short, I have brought him up to think that purity and virtue are both feminine and masculine, and that God's angels are not necessarily all the ones.

Catarra, Catarrhal Bronchitis Hay Fever.

A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and external tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result has been a specific remedy has been formulated, which catarrha, catarrhal bronchitis, and hay fever are permanently cured if from one or three simple applications made by the patient once in two weeks.

For Catarrhal Discharges, see the enclosed leaflet, which is a specific pamphlet explaining this remedy.
It is sent on receipt of 50c per box.
