The "Picnickers" Keep Mum.

The Government is in no haste to explain why that sale of cattle at the Government farm was not advertised. Out of that well advertised energy of the Premier's, surely some little can be spared to let the farmers know why they were ignored, and why a number of best-bred cattle selected to attend the sale, were not there.

One farmer, in the vicinity of the farm, assures us that he had been examining some of the stock on behalf of some others with a view to the latter purchasing, and that word was sent to him about the sale half an hour before it commenced, but too late to communicate with his principals. Another farmer who was told that the sale was on, as he was passing along the road and went there and purchased a cow. But the great body of farmers, who are told, know nothing whatever of the sale, and these included farmers in the neighbourhood of the Government farm. If the Premier's energy cannot compass these things perhaps he will instruct the Minister of Agriculture to report on the sale, and inform the public how much the cattle, 15 head we are informed, cost the Government up to the time of sale, and how much they realized. On Saturday we were told that $12 was the lowest price paid at the sale, since that time we have been told that one beast was sold for $5, and further that a cow went for $19 which was worth twice as much.

If neither the Premier nor the Minister can burden their mind with the compilation of a statement of the facts of the case, they might instruct Commissioner Downey to tell all he knows and what he can find out about these matters, and also direct Secretary Simms to co-operate with the Commissioner, as we are informed both officials were present at the sale. They are handsomely paid and do well out of the Department of Agriculture, and it will hardly be argued that either of them is so overburdened with official duties that he cannot find time or energy to report in detail on the Government's venture in cattle-jobbing. So far, our Government cattle-jobbers have absolutely ignored the request for light in these matters.

FORCED TO SELL, COMPELLED TO SACRIFICE COMPLETE STOCK!—The C. L. March Co., Ltd., are forced to sell their entire $75,000 Stock of Dry Goods and Furniture at any sacrifice that will dispose of the goods as quickly as possible. The amazing sacrifice of entire stock is now going on in full blast, and the big loss they are compelled to sustain owing to being FORCED TO SELL, is to the people's great gain. So everybody these days are going to "MARCH". No one can afford to do otherwise, for you reap golden dollars from the faithful transactions of buying winter needs now at the FORCED SALE of the C. L. MARCH CO., LTD., entire stock. Come! Get your share of the amazing sacrifice bargains.

proceedings. They are acting apparently on the same principle that guided them when inquiries were put to them about the cost of the branch railways. They declined to furnish information as to the cost, actual and prospective, of the building of the Bonaville Branch. They would not say whether the completion of the Bonaville and Trepassey branches would eat up what was realized from the 1910 Railway Loan. They kept mum about Railway expenditure, just as they are keeping mum about the cattle-jobbing venture.

On these matters the Picnickers are mum, and speak not a word. But a time will come when they must speak, and in the meantime silence is whetting the edge of the curiosity of the people, who are preparing to turn them out neck and crop at the General Election.

Stacking Wheat With Sleighs.

Novel Sight as Result of Sudden Western Winter.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 15.—People arriving in the city from the Arcola district and other east Saskatchewan localities tell of a novel sight that is very common at that district just now, which is nothing less than farmers employing sleighs in stacking wheat. The grain growers had depended on getting threshing done from the stock but winter breaking in so suddenly made that impossible.

An Inhuman Driver.

New York, Nov. 15.—Boxing enthusiasts hurrying through the first snowstorm of the season to the Fairmont Athletic Club last night, saw a small boy seated on a pile of building material across the street. Some one shouted to him the warning that he would freeze to death there, and when he did not answer, another man climbed upon the pile and found the lad dead. His back was broken, his body crushed, and his skull fractured. The police believe that he was run down by an automobile or a heavy truck, and that the guilty driver had propped the mangled form up against the lumber and driven off without so much as calling aid. The lad was identified as Howard Mangold, the six-year-old son of Charles Mangold.

The Ladies of the Congregational Church intend holding their Annual Sale of Christmas Novelties on Thursday next, Nov. 23rd; 20 cent teas will be served during the afternoon, and from six o'clock delicious meat teas for 30 cents; candy, etc., for sale. The concert will commence at 9 o'clock. Admission, 10c. Doors open at 5.30.—nov18,41

Heroic Rescue by Montreal Man.

MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—The heroism of a young man, Joseph Welland, and the ability of two Dominion Transport Company employees to change a tarpaulin into a life-saving net were responsible for the saving of three lives when fire broke out yesterday in a boarding house at 81 St. Hubert Street.

The fire started on the second floor and a Mrs. Bailey and two children on the third story were too terrified to attempt to escape down the stairs. Welland dashed up through the smoke and flame and brought the two children down, calling to the mother to follow. She was overcome with terror, however. Welland then drenched his clothing with water and made another trip upstairs. He reached the woman's room but their escape was cut off by fire. Going to the window he called to two men to stretch their tarpaulin as a net, and he and Mrs. Bailey jumped into it. The tarpaulin partly broke their fall. Mrs. Bailey suffered spinal injuries, while Welland dislocated his hip.

Power of Persuasion.

"No," said the strong-minded, iron-willed, stern-upturned man to his wife on Monday morning, "you can't, dear! That's definite. Please don't say another word."

"It's ridiculous—preposterous, dear!" said the strong old cetera man on Tuesday. "Really, I—I—"

"You're most unreasonable, dear!" This came on Wednesday. "Too expensive altogether! It would send me bankrupt. I can't—don't think it possible."

"Haven't I told you, dear?" he asked; and there was a touch of sadness in his voice. It was Thursday. "I'd like to do it, if only to please you; but you see, dear, it—"

"Well, what will it cost?" said the strong-willed man on Friday. "I'm very doubtful, you know, if I can manage it."

"Of course, dear! I quite understand." This was on Saturday. "You go ahead and order it. I'll pay for it!"

It was not until some days later, when the paper was about to be thrown away, that some one discovered its strange power of absorption. Needless to say, the operator was taken on again and rewarded for his mistake.

Schooner Lost.

TWO MEN ADRIPT ON A RAFT.

A message was received by Hon. J. C. Crosbie from the captain of the S. S. Fogata, saying that the schooner Riscover was lost on Muddy Shag, near Musgrave Harbor, yesterday. The crew of six men made a raft, got on it and managed to steer it clear of the rocks out into deep water. They guided the raft for Peckford's island where four of the men jumped ashore and were picked up by the S.S. Fogata this morning. The other two men had not time to jump ashore and were driven to sea. The Fogata has been ordered on by the Government to search for the men on the raft.

The Beginning of Blotting Paper

How many of us, when using a piece of blotting paper, have ever pondered on its introduction as a useful absorbent? The origin of blotting paper is of peculiar interest, as its discovery was the result of a careless accident.

Early in the last century an operator in a paper mill in Berkshire forgot to put the size into his pulp. When the paper was rolled, it was thought, on account of this omission, to be useless. Then the unlucky operator was dismissed.

It was not until some days later, when the paper was about to be thrown away, that some one discovered its strange power of absorption. Needless to say, the operator was taken on again and rewarded for his mistake.

Previous to the discovery of blotting paper, writing was dried by having sand sprinkled over it. In small country places, until quite recent years, millers have been in the habit of drying their occasional clerical efforts by means of flour sprinkled over the writing.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Mr. Editor:—As an agriculturist I was interested in reading in the local papers that the Premier has been making much enquiry about the growth of buckwheat in this country, and as a result that we are to have imported some one hundred bushels of this grain for next year's seedling. Now, Mr. Editor, I am one, like many others, who could make a trial of this new-to-us grain if I knew just the requirements necessary for the proper handling of it. I wish to ask the Premier, or some of the officials of the Agricultural Board, to publish a short article in the daily papers as to the kind of soil required for the successful growth of this grain; the treatment the soil would need; a drill or sowing machine; and the best kind of seed to use. It will be too late to write on this subject when we should be sowing the crops, for we will have to

Chafed and Aching Feet
