

What Causes the Blues

London, Eng., Aug. 12.—Doctors have discovered that the "blues" or "mental depression and irritability" is really a disease caused by defective circulation in the cells of the brain. The "British Health Review" says "by improving the circulation, there is an immediate improvement in the mental outlook."

If this is the case, we Canadians do not have to wait for the foreign scientists to pursue their investigations any farther. We have the cure for the "blues" in those wonderful fruit liver tablets called "Fruit-a-tives."

It is doubtful if the greatest physicians abroad will ever discover anything to equal "Fruit-a-tives" to purify and enrich the blood and improve the circulation. They go straight to the root of the trouble, stimulating the torpid liver and kidneys and regulating the bowels. Thus they cleanse the whole system and renew vitality, mental as well as physical.

Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25 cents. At Dealers, from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

BUNCH OF DRUNKS LACKED THE CASH

They Couldn't Raise the Price of Freedom and Will Reside at Castle Carter.

There was a decided scarcity of cash among the bunch of drunks that faced Magistrate Love this morning, and as a result Governor Carter will be busy entertaining guests for the next few days.

Wm. Johnston, alias Noble, the first man called, comes from St. Marys, and is apparently on a glorious celebration. He was arrested first on Tuesday night and yesterday morning was allowed to go as a first-time. This morning, however, he was in the cage again, and the court decided on a $10 fine to restrain him. Mr. Johnston had not the ten, and was sent down for three weeks.

John Murphy, another drunk, was assessed $5. Not having the wherewithal to pay he will have a ten days' vacation in jail.

Edward Charles, an Indian, was very drunk last night. When asked this morning where he got his liquor, all he could say or would say, was "White man." As the magistrate has many palefaces in the court thought this was too indefinite, and decided to let Charles go with a warning.

PLAN TO REBUILD HANLAN'S POINT

Toronto, Aug. 12.—From the ashes which mark like a chart the scene of the big fire at Hanlan's Point there will arise a new and greater home of amusement. That was to be expected, and it is what Mr. Lawrence Solman promises. At a meeting of the directors of the Toronto Ferry Company the promise will become a definite decision, and before the week closes Mr. Solman will probably have entered upon a preliminary investigation of the property. The ultimate result of which will be a plan to rebuild Hanlan's Point reconstructed on a scale of grandeur far surpassing that of the carnival swept out of existence on Tuesday. Not only will the new pleasure resort be more imposing and attractive in character, but it will be built on lines of greater stability, with every reasonable provision for the comfort and safety of its patrons.

GOLD IN NOVA SCOTIA

Rich Strike Reported in Halifax County.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 12.—The report of another rich strike of gold in the eastern part of Halifax County reached the city yesterday. The strike has been made at Meagher's Grant, near Musquodoboit.

For some time it has been known to certain parties that a rich body of arsenic was situated near Meagher's Grant. About three weeks ago Otis Mills, of Meagher's Grant, Captain Richard Williams and Ernest Hill, of Dartmouth, took up a number of claims and started working for arsenic. A good deal of this quartz was struck and an assay was made which showed $12 per ton arsenic, and $3 per ton gold. Men were engaged to work the claim, and it was not until yesterday that any startling discovery was made. Then a vein of quartz was uncovered which proved to be not only rich in arsenic, but also to have a far larger percentage of gold. It is stated that mining men who have seen samples of the ore pronounce it to be the best they have ever seen.

MAPLETON.

Mapleton, Aug. 11.—There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Women's Institute on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Charles Legg. Mr. Jesse Legg gave a well-prepared and instructive paper on "The Extracting of Honey," which proved very interesting. Afterward these present were treated to a delicious luncheon consisting of warm biscuits and honey.

Misses Vail and Glenn, of Delaware, have been guests of Miss Alice Warwick.

Misses Stella and Cecelia Warwick are visiting relatives in Tillsonburg.

Miss Alice Warwick has returned from visiting in Brownsville.

Miss Georgina Lenentine has been visiting at Goderich.

Miss Vera Harris, of Aylmer, who has been the guest of Miss Myrtle B. Charlton, returned home.

Mrs. Randall Cline had a successful barn-raising on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Hubert Brown has bought the farm of Mr. W. A. Barons.

A. O. F. VISITORS FROM LONDON

Entertained by Court Elgin at St. Thomas on Tuesday Night.

St. Thomas, Aug. 12.—Court Elgin, No. 5562, A. O. F., held their regular meeting Tuesday night, Chief Ranger Geo. L. Petty in the chair. A number of members from Court Elgin of the West were also present. One proposition for membership was received. The committee appointed reported that arrangements had been completed to attend divine service on Sept. 7 at St. John's Church, when Rev. W. A. Graham will preach the sermon. The Twenty-fifth Battalion Band has also been engaged for the occasion.

Walter Richards, high chief, ranger, and George Walter, district chief, were invited to seats on the platform. Bro. Walters was first called on and in a short but neat speech expressed his pleasure at being present. Mr. Richards, on rising to speak, was greeted with prolonged applause.

The spoke of the progress of the order during his term of office, of the increase in the insurance department, of the safety of the rates of insurance, of the stability of the sick and funeral funds and from statistics contended that securing new members for this or any order by giving bonuses to members was not a desirable thing to do. Mr. Richards gave an eloquent address, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him at its close. After the meeting refreshments were served by Bro. Alf. Carver at the Duke House, where short addresses were given, after which the visiting brothers took the traction car for London.

"BIG TOM" DETERMINED TO HAVE HIS REVENGE

Shot One Man Who Helped Send Him Down and Intended to "Get" Others.

New York, Aug. 12.—James McSorley, the ex-convict, who killed Daniel M. Fenton, a hotelkeeper, in Middleton, N. Y., Tuesday had started out with the intention of "getting even" with three other men with whom he was at enmity, who had a hand in sending him to prison for stealing a tray of diamonds in Newark, N. J., according to statements made by members of the New York detective force today.

The detectives said that McSorley was in this city on Friday last and when he was encountered on the Bowery was looked up as a suspicious person. He was later discharged, but not before he had made a number of threats in conversations with the detectives. The latter say they thought nothing of the threats at the time, believing them to be merely bragging. McSorley, they now say, mentioned Chief of Police Cosgrove, of Newark, Fenton, a burglar known as "Iron Gaul Kid," and another "underworld" member as belonging to the "gang that turned against me," and every member of which he had vowed to kill.

McSorley was particularly vindictive against Fenton, the detectives say. They quote him as asserting: "Fenton was my bosom friend for years. We had been 'boosters' for fake shows together. He was to be put on the jury, and it was fixed that he was to stand for acquittal, no matter what evidence was put in against me. All went well until the trial came off, when old Fenton turned on me and voted for conviction and I got five years."

McSorley is said to have had a brother in Monticello and another in Newark, the latter a man of considerable means.

McSorley's real name, it became known yesterday, is Thomas McSorley, known in the underworld as "Big Tom." His picture and pedigree are in the rogues' gallery at police headquarters and he has done two bits in prison. It was his open threat that he would "get" Fenton and that other pals who had "done him dirt," before he died.

Three men whom the police know for crooks accented headquarters detectives today, and begged a dollar to bury "Big Tom."

"What Big Tom?" asked the detective.

"Why, him that croaked Fenton yesterday," came the answer, and then the detectives knew who the mysterious "McSorley" was.

NO CLUE YET.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 12.—There is as yet no clue to the identification of the man who jumped from the ferry boat Excelsior, near the Windsor side yesterday. The body had not yet been recovered.

A MORTGAGE MIX-UP.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 12.—Hugh Fitzsimmons, of Chatham, came to Windsor, with a woman, whom he represented as his wife, and succeeded in securing a mortgage on a house and lot in Chatham from George W. Richardson. The mortgage was signed by the woman as Mrs. Fitzsimmons. A short time afterward the mortgage was repudiated by Fitzsimmons' wife, in Chatham, and an action to set aside was started, the parties subsequently agreeing to a settlement. Fitzsimmons died in Detroit some time ago. Yesterday Emily Knapp, aged 57, a resident of Detroit, was arrested and brought here to stand trial for signing Mrs. Fitzsimmons' name to the mortgage.

FIRE AT MARMORA.

Marmora, Aug. 11.—Fire this afternoon destroyed the spice and bullion rooms of the Deloro Mining and Reduction Company, and it was only through hard work of the men that the Cobalt plant was saved.

JAMES MCILLAN DEAD.

Kincardine, Aug. 11.—The death of James McMillan, aged 75 years, occurred here yesterday. Deceased was one of the pioneer farmers of Huron, and a man highly respected.

THAW SENT TO MADHOUSE

(Continued From Page One.)

The information was brought to him first in his cell in the local jail by the Associated Press representative. "Have you heard Justice Mills' decision?" he was asked.

"No," said Thaw without moving from his chair.

A copy of the court's opinion was handed to him. He read it rapidly, and without comment, until he came to the following sentence: "If those beliefs constituted delusions in his mind when he committed the homicide, they are the same now."

"That's not so," he said, and marked the words with his pencil.

Thaw was smoking a pipe when he got the news, and as he read, he puffed faster and faster until the air was a cloud of smoke. In no other way did he show any perturbation.

He referred questions as to his future plans to his attorney. Thaw's attorney, Charles Mowbray, was not in town this morning when the decision was rendered. None of the prisoner's family could be found. At that time it was said that they had locked themselves in their rooms and given orders that they would not see any one.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Justice Mills handed down a decision this morning declaring that Harry K. Thaw is insane. He dismissed the writ of habeas corpus under which Thaw endeavored to secure his release from Matteawan, and remands him to the custody of the state authorities at that institution.

After discussing the evidence Justice Mills draws the conclusion, "The insanity with which Harry K. Thaw was afflicted on June 25, 1906, at the time he committed the homicide, was known as chronic delusory insanity, or paranoia. This conclusion rests upon the facts, which appear to me to be clearly proven."

"There was in his ancestral stock a substantial but not very strong trace of insanity. By 'not very strong' is meant the fact that no one of his direct ancestors was ever insane. Up to the maternal side two uncles were of unsound mind, each at least for a portion of his life; and on his father's side an aunt was at least an epileptic and perhaps insane; and some more remote ancestors were undoubtedly insane, though as to the exact degree of insanity in one of their ancestral lines is not clear, but that there had been insanity in one of their ancestral lines not commensurate with the prisoner's own descent. As a young child he was physically weak and puny, exceedingly nervous and abnormally sensitive, and he was subject to violent spells amounting almost to paroxysms of excitement without any naturally adequate cause. He attended various schools for different periods from the age of six upwards, while at school progress in study, while at school, was in his earlier years, he had frequent outbreaks of uncontrollable excitement, in which his facial appearance was wild and staring."

Thaw's Suspicions.

Regarding Thaw's suspicions of a conspiracy against him by his early counsel, the court says:

"Such belief, as it is to the purpose, was utterly without the least foundation and a clear delusion."

"All this," continues Justice Mills, "according to the weight of expert testimony, is plainly the history of a paranoid delusion. This court concludes, therefore, that Thaw's insanity at the commission of the homicide was of the kind known as paranoia, and not at all of the brain storm, sane half a minute before and sane half a minute after variety. If any such variety really exists."

The verdict found by the jury was purely warranted by the evidence, not merely as an expression of reasonable doubt, but even as an affirmative finding of the fact of insanity.

"Harry K. Thaw has not yet recovered from his insanity above stated and defined. This determination was made up on the following grounds: First—All the experts agree that in a case of true paranoia recovery is very doubtful. Second—The court is disposed to pay great respect to the opinion of the hospital authorities here in regard to Thaw's insanity, and in having had actual charge of Thaw there. All such authorities are public officers, with no conceivable motive except to do their duty."

Evelyn's Influence.

Continuing his history of Thaw's life, Justice Mills says: "About 1901 he became enamored of a young woman, Miss Nesbit, who was then, by common reputation, well-known to him, the mistress of a mistress of Stanford White. She soon assumed that relation to Thaw and obviously, to account for the man's former position with White, told him various and grossly improbable stories of the inception of that relation. Although he, Thaw, evidently was himself far from a moral man and was then engaged in practices of a perverted character, as revealed by the testimony of the Merrill woman, which, with the corroborations afforded by other evidence in the case, appears credible, he gave absolute credence to the tales told him by Miss Nesbit about White. He obtained similar information as to White's conduct with a few other young women, either directly from them, or through Miss Nesbit, all of which information was of the same wild and improbable character, evidently to any normal mind grossly exaggerated. To all, however, he gave implicit belief. His mind became absolutely possessed with these stories. Such belief, to such extreme extent was plainly a delusion."

"In that mental condition at the roof garden he came into the presence of White, doubtless unexpectedly, and shot him to death in a spectacular and theatrical manner. In so doing he believed that he was acting as the agent of Providence and performing a praiseworthy act like that of David in slaying Goliath, or St. George in killing the dragon."

"Third: In view of leading traits of paranoia, the lay testimony given by so many entirely respectable and credible witnesses, showing rational conduct on the prisoner's part in the Tombs at Mattawan and in the Dutch and West Chester County Jails, is not of commanding force."

"Fourth: The testimony of the alienists called for the state, seems to me upon the whole, more convincing than that of those called for the prisoner."

"Fifth: Upon my own personal observation of the conduct of Thaw, his actions and speech in the courtroom, both on and off the witness stand, have impressed that he is now of unsound mind. He was exceedingly nervous and very frequently interrupted his counsel with suggestions. Upon his examination it became evident, even by his own admission, that he holds his former beliefs as to the evil practices of White, just as extremely and just as strongly as ever. If those beliefs constituted delusions in his mind when he committed the homicide, they are the same now."

Charles Proctor, of Westminster Township, who was arrested some time ago charged with being insane and dangerous to be at large, appeared before Squire Chittick yesterday afternoon to answer to the charge. Drs. Robinson and MacArthur were present at the examination and were satisfied that Proctor was not of sound mind, and as a result he was committed to the asylum.

LEFT HELPLESS.

Peterboro, Aug. 12.—Unable to lift hand or foot, as the result of paralysis, Pierre Butler, Perry street, was deserted by his wife, nothing being left in the house but the bed he was lying on. She packed up all the household effects, placed the several children with friends, and left her husband alone in the empty house, unable to toss his head on the pillow. The wife told Mr. P. W. Miller, agent for the charity board, that she intended to leave her husband by Tuesday, but he did not believe her. However, he visited the house on Monday evening out of curiosity, and found it empty but for the lone occupant and his bed, from which he was unable to move. Friends are working to help him, and he may be placed in a hospital for incurables.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and that the young shah, who is his favorite son, is downcast at the prospect of a separation from his parents. According to reports current in Teheran, the youthful ruler recently made an unsuccessful attempt at flight, and when he was frustrated in this he tried to commit suicide. The government is considering the possibility of his abdication in favor of someone else. Many complications face the new Government of Persia. Several of the nomad tribes, as well as the cities of Shiraz and Kashgar, have refused to recognize it. A brother of the deposed shah, Salar-Eddowleh, is marching on Teheran at the head of a Kurdish tribe from Luristan Province. Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the deposed shah, who has been banished, has been successful in his efforts to purchase permission to visit Teheran, before leaving the country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch received here from Teheran says that Mohammed Ali, the deposed shah of Persia, will leave the country Aug. 17, and