THE WOMAN'S CORNER

DOMESTIC HINTS

Fasten a wire hook to the handle of a pasket containing clothes-pins. Hang over line when hanging out clothes and push along before you, thus saving much

Your discolored table may be greatly improved by this treatment: Scrape a little brickdust over the table, especially on the stained parts, and then scrub in the ordinary way.

When lighting turn on the gas for a few seconds, then hold the match one linch above the chimney. It is through applying the match too quickly that so many mantles are destroyed. A capital cleanser for varnished and stained woodwork is tea-water. This may be made by pouring boiling water on spent tea leaves, straining the liquid afterwards through a cloth or muslin.

After whitewashing a ceiling there are often stains of whitewash on the furniture and windows. These can be easily removed by rubbing with a soft cloth, on which a few drops of paraffin have been To test pure milk, dip a clean knitting needle in the fluid, then withdraw it, and if the milk clings and drops slowly from the needle, it is unadulterated. If it off, it denotes the presence of water. Ivory which has become yellow with age may be whitened by boiling it in a solution of alum and water for an hour. Another method is to rub it with burnt powdered pumicestone moistened with a little water.

Add about half a cup of sweet milk to the blue water in which clothes are to be rinsed, before bluing is put in. This will positively prevent the bluish scum which always forms on top of the water, from getting on the clothes.

An ingenious woman darns all her stockings over shoe trees. She says that as the stockings are held in the shape in which they are worn, the darns are more comfortable to wear, as they conform to the shape of the foot. To make apple pancakes, take one cup To make appie pancakes, take one cup flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, two eggs, one and a half cups finely-chopped apples, milk to make a thin batter. Serve with powders are a server of the control of dered sugar. Flannelette bags made to fit the brooms are most useful. A string should be run n each and tied around the handle of the broom. Thus covered, the broom will be most useful for sweeping down walls, high wardrobes and even polished floors.

Tea made with milk: Boil half a pint of milk and pour it on a good teaspoonful tea-China for choice-and after three four minutes pour this milk tea off e leaves. This kind of tea is recommended to persons suffering from insomnia or dyspepsia.

Tablecloths will last much longer if when they are washed they are folded one week in three and the next in four. If they are folded exactly the same way each time the folds will wear into holes, while the rest of the cloth is quite good.

To make a good polish for brass and copper, get one pennyworth of oxalic crystals, put it in a wine bottle and fill with water. Put some whiting into a pot, add sufficient of the oxalic acid solution to make a thick cream, and then solution to make a thick cream, and then nended to persons suffering from insom-

Carrot Pie—One cupful cooked carrots mashed fine, one-half cupful of sugar, two eggs, one pint of milk, two table-spoonfuls of molasses, one-half teaspoonful of ginger, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon. Bake in one crust. It is better than numbkin pie ter than pumpkin pie.

An egg that is cracked can be boiled When the paper becomes wet it adheres to the egg and prevents it from coming through the shell. This process should through the shell. This process should be successful in every case where the crack is of a moderate length.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS BEAUTY PATTERN COMPANY.

CHARMING PARTY DRESS THE LITTLE MAID—GIRL'S ONE-PIECE DRESS.

While this design is shown with low neck edge, the pattern provides for high neck finish with or without collar, and if a simple "every day" dress is desired, Lawn, nainsook, chambray, gingham, galatea, linen or cashmere may be used for this design. The pattern is cut in four sizes—4, 6, 8, 10 years. It requires 3 yards of 44-inch material for the 4-year A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT OF THE ADVERTISER.

Please send above mentioned pattern, as per directions given below, to Measurement-Bust...... Waist.....

Age (if child's or misses' pattern).....

CAUTION.—Be careful to inclose above fillustration and send size of pattern wanted. When the pattern is bust measure, you need only mark it 32, 34 or whatever it may be. When in waist measure, 22, 24, 26 or whatever it may be. If a skirt, give waist and length measure. When misses' or child's pattern, write only the figure representing the age. It is not necessary to write "inches" or "years." Patterns cannot reach you in less than one week from the date of order. The price of each pattern is 10 cents in cash or in postage stamps, in postage stamps.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT. LONDON ADVERTISER,

Mrs. Winslow's Soothles Syrun has been used for over THIRTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their children with Erething, with Perfect Success. It soothes the Gums, Alliand is the best remedy for diarrhoes. Sold and is the best remedy for diarrhoes. Sold lover the world.

Questioningly at his host.

"I mean about that Russell fellow who into a state of temporary panic. The thieves had vanished with several thousand pounds' worth of plunder.

"A gentleman, and a most estimable promptly.

"A gentleman, and a most estimable promptly.

"A nobody!" scoffed the Honorable have with Mrs. Varden before the real fun begins. You are expecting the older talks later on?" He lowered his voice.

"I mean about that Russell fellow who into a state of temporary panic. The thieves had vanished with several thousand pounds' worth of plunder.

"I have a duty needing my attention," he told Miss Lynn, "but I shall be back here with Mrs. Varden before the real fun begins. You are expecting the older talks later on?" He lowered his voice.

"I have left your father asleep in the severywhere. 100 Doses One Dollar.

CYNTHIA GREY'S

Dear Miss Grey: Which of these two sentences is correct: "He writes like me" or "He writes like I"? G. "He writes like me." "He writes as I do" is a better way of expressing it. "As" is a conjunctive word and calls for the nominative "I" to follow.

Dear Miss Grey: How can one tell his breath is offensive? CONSTANT READER.

-Ask the opinion of two or three of his family or friends. Dear Miss Grey: Is it the proper thing for a young man to send flowers to a girl before taking her to the theatre? If so, what kind? A GREENHORN. A .- Perfectly proper, but not customary. A gift of flowers in season is, however, a welcome attention at any Dear Miss Grey: 1. I have brown eyes and yellow hair. What is my most becoming color? 2. Should a girl marry a man with eyes the color of her own 3. Please give me a recipe for fudge. BROWN-EYED MARY. -1. Brown. 2. If she loves him. 3. Boll together a cup of sugar, a cup of grated chocolate, half a cup of milk, and a quarter of a cup of molasses. Stir often. Remove from the fire when a little dropped in water hardens; beat in a teaspoon of vanilla, stir for a minute and turn into a buttered dish.

Dear Miss Grey: Give recipe for picking small onions and cauliflowers G. C. D. A.—Boil onions in salt water for ten ninutes. In separate vessels boil broken pieces of cauliflower fifteen minutes Drain both carefully, and minutes when cold place in jars. Pour over them hot vinegar, in which has been scalded whole cloves, pepper, allspice and white mustard seed, tied in a bag. For each quart of hot vinegar add two tablespoons French nustard and half-cup white sugar. Cover pickles with vinegar and seal.

Dear Miss Grey: I am 17 and am very fond of a girl of 16. Would it be all right for me to call on her? If so, now can I arrange it?

BASHFUL BOY. A .- Tell her you would like to call if her mother does not object.

DAILY MENU

BREAKFAST. Oranges. Cracked Wheat and Cream. acked Wheat and Apple. Fried Bacon and Apple. Coffee.

LUNCHEON. American Chop Suey. Beet Salad. Preserved Pineapple. Chocolate.

DINNER. Vegetable Soup. Halibut Steaks. Mashed Potatoes.

Caramel Pie. Cafe Noir.

RICE MUFFINS-Boil one-half cupful of rice until soft; while still hot add a piece of butter the size of a walnut. The beat the egg whites and yolks separately, add cup of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one cupful of milk. Beat all together thoroughly and fill muffin rings about three-fourths full and bake in a moderate oven for about twenty minutes.

AMERICAN CHOP SUEY-Put one cupful of onions, fried until brown, one cup-ful of celery cut in two-inch pieces, and then shredded and stewed in vegetable stock for half an hour, one cupful of fried mushrooms and two cupfuls of boiled rice in a saucepan with a cupful of thin brown sauce. Let all heat together for ten minutes, and season with salt

CARAMEL PIE—Line your pie pan with a rich crust and bake. Filling—One pint sweet milk, one cup brown sugar, yolks of two eggs, one heaping table-spoonful flour, one teaspoonful vanilla, small piece butter. Scald milk and sugar together, then add the beaten yolks of the eggs mixed with the flour and enough cold milk to make a smooth paste. Soon as it thickens remove from fire and add as it thickens remove from fire and add butter and vanilla. Beat the white of eggs stiff, add a little sugar and vanilla and spread over pie and brown.

Hot water should be poured into a think glass in preference to a thick one. For the inside of the latter expands before the heat has time to reach the outer surface, and a breakage occurs.

in the trees, and its breath was tragrant of the rolling meadows that stretched away to the distance.

The little feast in honor of Miss Lynn's birthday had been a notable success. Two score of people had sat down to dinner in the evening, and the Honorable Harry in the evening. Sunshine is destructive to mirrors.

The glass assumes a milky appearance and cannot be restored to its original appearance. Place the mirrors in position so that the direct rays of the sun do not fall upon them. Colored stockings are fashionable, and the question of washing them has cer-tainly to be considered. Put a good handful of common salt in the washing water to set the color.

By Bertha M. Clay, Author of "The Ironmaster's Daughter." Etc.

CHAPTER I.

The Prodigal and the Woman.
Vera Lynn's pretty home was known as Hazlebank. It was an old-fashioned, rambling place, surrounded by a large garden. The walls were covered with ivy, and the great stone portico was embowered in clematis and roses. The embowered in clematis and roses. The house was a huge pile of nooks and gables, arched doorways and dlamondpaned windows. Unlike most old houses, it contained handsome and airy rooms, a it contained handsome and abroad balcony mother. Calls himself an engineer. Don't forget that my daughter is an aristocrat, and that I have made a snug little nest egg for her, slaving in the city at trade. Mind you, sir, this is in strict confidence. I made my will yesterday, as I am bothered with heart trouble. Might pop off at any moment. Excuse me, I am going indoors; I must have forty winks in the shade. So many confounded the diles and things out here."

He staggered to an open French window, and the vicar looked after him sor-life. Were mind, darling. Your father is gratified, at least. I wonder," he added, to the wailing of the band has silenced the nighting less.

"Never mind, darling. Your father is gratified, at least. I wonder," he added, to the wailing of the band has silenced the nighting less."

"Never mind, darling. Your father is gratified, at least. I wonder," he added, to the wailing of the band has silenced the nighting less."

"Never mind, darling. Your father is gratified, at least. I wonder," he staggered to an open French window, and the vicar looked after him sorit contained handsome and airy rooms, a lofty entrance hall and a broad balcony that ran around half the building. Like the house, the furniture was solid, antique and beautiful. Some of it was several centuries old, for the Lynns were one of the oldest families in the county.

several centuries old, for the Lynns were one of the oldest families in the county. But if the house was picturesque, one of Hazlebank's greatest charms was the garden. There were no ornamental beds, no smoothly-shaven lawns whereon it was sacrilege to walk. The winding footways led into mazes of bewildering beauty, for here sweet and bountiful nature had been left unrestrained.

a wealthy brewer.

He rose, and thrusting his hands behind him, and underneath the tail of his clerical coat, began to pace up and down the verandah. Once he peeped through the French window and shook his head. The Honorable Harry Lynn was lying on a couch and breathing stertoriously. Near to his hand was a half-empty brandy bottle.

CAN'T BE SOLDIER

WILL BE NI

Beyond the garden of roses and lilies, of fragrant wallflower and mignonette, beyond a belt of shady woodland, where myriads of violets bloomed, the trees grew closer together, the foliage became denser, until scarcely a ray of sunlight found its way through, even when no cloud dimmed the blue of a midsummer sky. The nut-grove of Hazlebank was the wide law to John Russell," he decided. "This engagement between him and Miss Lynn is nearly three months old, and her father must be told the facts. He cannot complain. He is so rarely at home. Tomorrow—tomorrow."

anniversary of Vera's birth. Hazlebank was making merry in a small way. Vera's handsome, good-for-nothing father had forsaken his club and his cronies in town, and was endeavoring to be hospitable on credit and borrowed money. A flag was flying bravely in the scented breeze, and a score of people, young men and girls, were scattered about the grounds. There was to be dancing on the lawn in the evening, to the strains of the village band, and under the light of swaying Chinese lanterns, assisted by

At the present moment the Honorable Harry Lynn was sprawling over two chairs on the verandah, very much bored, and not exactly sober. His dissipated face was still handsome, despite the irresolute chin, even those who condemned his follies were fain to admit that he was kind-hearted and lovable. He was conversing now with the vicar, who was re-posing in a deck chair not far from his

"The weather is all right; vicar—always go together.

"Why give you pain?" said he.

"The vanished years are recalled, my dear fellow. When I came of age, by Jove! there was cannon—twenty-one salvoes—and just a few other things, different to this. Confounded shame that my daughter should not enjoy the advantages that I had—and she the grandchild of

"Miss Lynn is satisfied, sir," the vicar said gently.
"She is young, and does not realize the "She is young, and does not realize the injustice of it all," the Honorable Harry grumbled. "She does not know how I have to slave and torture my brains to keep this little place going." I don't think I can ever forgive my brother the earl for his indifference. My father quarrelled with me as you with me, as you know, for marrying against his wishes, but forgave everything when Vera was born. Then my poor wife died and my cup of bitterness was full indeed. Never be born the younger son of a peer, vicar, by Jove!"

Mr. Varden was not interested. He had heard the story before, with variations. The June day was deliciously warm and he wished west devictions. warm, and he wished most devoutly that the Honorable Harry Lynn would leave him in peace."

"Your daughter is perfectly happy," he murmured. "Why worry yourself upon this day of all days?"

"A fool's paradise, vicar." He lowered his voice. "I am in trade in London, I have to work very hard to keep the wolf from the door, and I would not have my disgrace known for worlds. That's why I am here so little-gan't get away. Never I am here so little—can't get away. Never be in trade, vicar, by Jove! I want you to speak to Vera; I've lost all authority."
The vicar raised himself and looked questioningly at his host.
"I mean about that Russell fellow who is dancing after her overwylene."

mother. Calls himself an engineer. Don't brandy bottle.

sky. The nut-grove of Hazlebank was famous for its sylvan beauty, and in the yond. Now and then he caught the flash arbor which nestled where the path enddarbor which hested where the path ended, how many fond lovers had breathed their vows?

It was an ideal June day, and the 23rd anniversary of Vera's birth. Hazlebank was making merry in a small way.

Vera's handsome, good-for-nothing father the day of the path his global part had been described by the group in the group and the group of the group and the group of the group and the group of t of swaying Chinese lanterns, assisted by golden future, when he had made some

"The weather is all right; vicar—charming, charming, but this affair gives me pain rather than pleasure."

Mr. Varden nodded drowsily. He was a kindly-faced, middle-aged man, with a kindly-faced, middle-aged man, with have not neglected my devotions." There have not neglected my devotions.

"Ah!" exclaimed the vicar. He raised

I want you to pilot me out of this maze of trees and paths which lead to nowhere. I came through the gate in the lane; just to look at the flowers, and "You have no business here at all,"

Mr. Varden said coldly.
"That's all you know about it!" flashed

The vicar stared at her curiously. Her black eyes met his with a challenge, while a sneer played about her full red

"My name—it doesn't matter what my name is, but you can find out by going to George Grant's cottage. You know George Grant, the railway porter? I've got a bed sitting-room for the present. Don't trouble about me any more. I'll follow this path and be my own pilot. If your ministrations are needed at any time, Mr. Parson, I'll send for you."

The vicar stood aside to let her pass, his mouth and brows drawn into severe lines. At a distance of twenty paces or so he followed her along the winding way, determined to keep an eye upon her movements till she was clear of the place. He now felt positive that the creature had been drinking, and decided that it was his duty to make inquiries that it was his duty to make inquiries about her. During the last winter several daring and successful burglaries had thrown the wealthy people of Glastonlee into a state of the several daring and successful burglaries had thrown the wealthy people of Glastonlee.

golden future, when he had made some sort of a name.

By this time he had passed through the little wood, and was about to return to the house by another way, when he heard his name spoken. He started around, and found himself face to face with a lady of uncertain age. She was a stranger to the vicar, and he was immediately conscious of a very disagreeable sensation. The lady was rather over-dressed.

There was a suggestion that she had been good-looking, but the snappy, malicious expression in her dark eyes now was far from pleasing.

was a note of sarcasm in the woman's

An: exciaimed the vicar. He raised his hat. "Yes, I remember you now, madam. You occupied a pew near to the door last Sunday, morning and evening."

The woman nodded and laughed coarse-don't seem to be able to get out again without disturbing somebody's love-making."

lips.
"My name—it doesn't matter what my hibrary. By the way, did you observe a strange lady prowling about?"

"No," Vera said, surprised. "Wo," Vera said, surprised.
"Wandered in here by mistake. Well, will trot."

Mr. Varden was a wiry, energetic man, and notwithstanding the heat of the June day, he accomplished the two and a half miles which lay between Miss Lynn's home and the railway station within two-thirds of the hour.

thirds of the hour.

Trains were few at Glastonlee, and and from three to six o'clock not one deigned to stop at the picturesque little station. Two or three dashed through, shricking contempt, but they were not taken into account by old Grant, the solltany porter. solitary porter, who performed every duty in the absence of the station master. He was now reclining on a hand-truck, a small, wizened man, with twinkling, intelligent eyes. There was no other human being in sight, and the platform seemed to shine in the radiance of the un. Grant jumped up at sight of Mr. Varden, and touched his cap.

"Powerful warm today, sir," said he.
"Yes, but don't disturb yourself, Grant. If you don't mind I'll sit on the truck also. I've walked from Hazlebank at a smart pace to have a few words with "With me, sir? The porter looked up puzzled; then, conscious of a life of recti-tude, he waited for the clergyman to go on.

"It's about the lady who is lodging at your place, Grant. I won't beat about the bush. I discovered her prowling about the grounds at Hazlebank today, and I became suspicious. The burglaries of last winter are still a mystery, and the woman is an insolent sort of person."

Grant rubbed his chin. "She ain't tongue-tied, sir, and that's fact, but I don't know neither good nor bad about her. She took the room a fort-night since, and pays handsome." The old man hesitated, and his eyes twinkled. 'She do say that she's likely to settle

"She do say that she's likely to settle in Glastonlee, being as she's a relation of the Lynns."

Mr. Varden jumped.
"Nonsense, Grant. I thought that I knew—" He pulled himself up with a jerk. "Oh, if that's the case I'm meddling where I'm not wanted. What is the lady's name?" where I'm not lady's name?" "Mrs. Violet Carradice, sir."

"H'm! I'll make a note of that."
He repeated the name over and over again, so that it might not escape his memory.

CHAPTER II.

Love and Reason.

A perfect night followed a perfect day. The skies were filled with stars, and the moon beamed like burnished silver. A gentle caressing wind murmured dreamily n the trees, and its breath was fragrant in the evening, and the Honorable Harry Lynn had pulled himself together in that miraculous manner only known to very experienced drunkards. He made a witty speech, and his guests regretted that so little of his time was spent at Hazlebank. The man was really charming.

After dinner the guests dispersed according to their inclinations. There was dancing on the lawn, to the execrable manifest of the village hand; lovers' walks dancing on the lawn, to the execrable music of the village band; lovers' walks and lovers' talks, and the sheen and glimmer of dresses in the mazy ways.

Vera Lynn had danced once with her father and once with her lover, and now she and John Russell were strolling in the direction of a tiny garden of roses, sacred to themselves alone.

"Sweetheart," said John, caressingly, "I believe that your happiness is a pre-believe that your happiness is a pre-The girl turned upon him with a direct and level glance, her brown eyes misty and resentful.

"I wish there was an end to it, John; it is all so tawdry and make-believe."
She snatched a Chinese lantern from an overlanging bough, and dashed it to the ground. "These wretched things! And the fireworks has gone astray! [To be Continued.] WILL BE NURSE

Army Officer's Daughter Is Determined To Be With Soldiers.

New York, Nov. 22.-"I can't be a oldier, so I'm going to be a nurse on the battlefield." Gladys Amy Graham. 12 years old, daughter of James Graham, a retired officer of the Second Royal Munster Fusiliers, and for 27 years a British soldier, made this statement when she arrived today on the Anchor liner California, en route to Toronto, Canada. There she is to enter a convent to complete her education. The girl travelled alone, but, before the liner was well under way, she counted almost half of the passengers among her friends. She said her uncle John M. Cruse, of Toronto, would take her to that city.

WOMAN ELECTED MAYOR OF AN ENGLISH TOWN

Mrs. Charles E. Lee, Chosen by Oldham, May Appoint Her Daughter Mayoress.

London, Nov. 22.-By electing Mrs. harles E. Lees to the mayoral chair for the coronation year Oldham has the distinction of being the first of the great towns of England to place a woman at the head of its municipal

Mrs. Lees has taken a leading part in the educational work of Oldham, and was instrumental in forming the Beautiful Oldham Society, which has relieved the sombre appearance of the town. In the opening of playgrounds she has played a useful part, and gave leven acres of land to the Hope Sunday school and another large estate as a pleasure resort. As president of the National Union of Women Workers Mrs. Lees has long pressed the laims of her sex, and is satisfied that there is plenty of scope for women in housing and sanitation matters. Those points will have particular attention during her mayoralty.

Although the act debars her from acting as chief magistrate and so sitting in the police court, she will have the option of appointing her daughter, Miss Lees, as mayoress, and will also have a capable assistant. The new mayor will attend Hope Congregational Chapel, which was built by her late usband's grandfather, Samuel Lees.

Rheumatism

Is A Constitutional Disease.

It manifests itself in local aches and pains,-inflamed joints and stiff muscles,-but it cannot be cured by local It requires constitutional treatment, and the best is a course of the great Kood's Sarsaparilla which corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the system. Get it today. Sold by all druggists

KIRT SALE THURSDAY

150 Serviceable, Stylish Skirts Manufactured Especially for Us

$ 4.00 Value for $2.49 $ 5.50 Value for $3.95 $10.00 Value for $5.00

This sale is a clearing of all our COLORED SKIRTS. We have taken Skirts worth up to $4.00 and marked them at $2.49, worth to $5.50 and marked them to $3.95, and the better lines priced to $10.00 we have marked down to $5.00.

60 Ladies' Dress Skirts, worth to $4.00 for $2.49 48 Ladies' Dress Skirts, worth to $5.50 for $3.95

AGENTS FOR THE HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS.

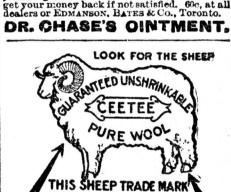

GRAY & PARI

whom the freedom of

Mrs. Lees is the only man town councillor in Lancashire. She has large interests in the local Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every for m of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

been conferred, and was the first wo-

THIS SHEEP TRADE MARK IS ON EVERY GARMENT OF CEETEE

THE ONWARD Sliding Furniture Shoe Throw away those old fashioned carpet-tearing, floor-scratching Casters. Put shoes on your Chairs, Couches, Tables, Fianos and Beds.
ONWARD SLIDING SHOES save money for you and make housework so much easier.

Here's Our Special Offer

For 50c. we will mail you, postpaid, a set of four Glass Base Shoes (regular price 70c.) suitable for Morris Chair, Couch, Table or similar weight Furniture.

When buying new Furniture insist on having it fitted with Onward Sliding Shoes instead of Casters.

ONWARD MFG. CO., Berlin, Ont. Factories at Berlin, Ont. and Menasha, Wis.

Makes silverware look better and last longer The constant rubbing of paste lasting beauty to your silver, gold or plated-ware. Try it to-day.

At your dealer's. 25c. package.

Your owe it to your family to buy

St. Lawrence Granulated

150 DUNDAS AND CARLING STREETS.

It would not matter so much if you only used sugar in one or two articles of food. But when you think how many of the dishes and drinks you serve, owe much of their goodness to sugar, you see how important it is to get the very best sugar.

By actual analysis St. Lawrence Granulated is 100 per cent pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever. Being cane sugar, it is much whiter and sweeter than the ordinary beet sugar you so often get.

Because it is all sweetness, St. Lawrence Granulated goes farther and is most economical. Choicest Choicest

Purest Best

THE ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO., Limited

MONTREAL

is for Infants and Invalids for those whose digestive and powers have become weakened by illness or advancing age.

If the digestive functions, however weak, can do any work at all they should be given work to do to the extent of their powers. In the easy process of its preparation the digestibility of Benger's can be regulated to give this work with extreme nicety.

The "British Medical Journal" says—"Benger's Food has, by its excellence established a reputation of its own." Benger's New Booklet deals with the most common doubts and difficulties which mothers have to encounter. It is sent post free on application to Benger's Food, Ltd., Otter Works, Manchester, England.

Benger's Food is sold in tins by Druggists, etc., everywhere.

HEALTH IN PURE SUGAR Sugar is one of the best, and most widely used foods. Would you risk your health for the sake of a few cents

EXTRA GRANULATED SUGAR Its Purity and Quality cannot be questioned, Compare it with any other and note the difference in color.

PARIS LUMPS When buying Loaf Sugar ask for Redpath Paris Lumps sold in RED SEAL dust proof cartons, and by the pound

The Canada Sugar Refining Co., MONTREAL, CANADA.

Established in 1854 by John Redpath

TEACH YOUR BOY TO SAVE Start a bank account for your boy. Let him form the saving habit while young, and there is little likelihood he will turn out a spendthrift later on. We pay 21/2 per cent interest, according to agreement, and offer you $2,000,000 assets as security. 3 1/2 % Agricultural Savings and Loan Co., 109 Dundas St., London, Ont

Was there ever a better example of character of a neighbor, sententious-Limited 2701 the witty and concise form of expression than the answer of the grim much about him, but my impression man, who, when asked about the is he'd make a first-class stranger.

and powder polishes will eventually wear through the plating and spoil its beautiful lustre. WONDER-SHINE cleans without rubbing. Just dip articles in WONDER-SHINE, rinse and dry with a soft cloth. Removes all tarnish instantly and adds lustrous and

Household

Convenience Co.