

THE WORLD OF SPORT

REASON FOR EXONERATION OF PLAYERS MADE PUBLIC

O'Connell's Story Does Not Jibe With What Actually Happened.

ALL THREE CLEARED

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Oct. 15.—Frank Frisch, George Kelly and Ross Young, New York Giants veterans implicated by Jimmy O'Connell in the latter's attempted bribery of Heinie Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, were exonerated of all connection with the scandal by Commissioner Landis because O'Connell's story did not jibe in any respect with the circumstances at the time of his action.

This was disclosed today by a source close to Commissioner Landis, and established for the first time the reason why, apart from their own denials, Frisch, Kelly and Young were cleared in the investigation which preceded the world's series.

According to this source, O'Connell's story of what happened before and after he approached Sand during the game at the Polo grounds on Sept. 27 was diametrically opposite to that related by Sand, and also the accounts given by the others called before Commissioner Landis.

Asked by Landis what he did after offering Sand $500 to "throw" the game, O'Connell was said to have related that he was going to the batting cage, and there told Kelly what had happened. Then, O'Connell said, he took part in batting practice.

According to Sand, however, O'Connell did not approach any other player at once, but went to the bench and sat alone in one corner.

Western Grid Dates Changed

Local Collegians To Play Twice Next Week.

Two switches have been made in the local intercollegiate group, which gives Western university two stiff games next week. The game which O. A. C. was to have played here yesterday was played in Eugene on Wednesday, Oct. 22, and on the following Saturday, Oct. 25, the Aggies will have on the O. R. F. U. Unless the dates are not known yet. The intercollegiate dates are not known yet. The intercollegiate dates are not known yet.

From a Giant standpoint the outstanding development of the world series was the rise of young Lindstrom. Tossed into a breach that would have ruined the nerves of most boys of his age, he thrived on it. He had looked in earlier trials in the Giant infield, none could foresee the heights to which he would climb in this one. He hit the ball well, touching the peak in the final game in New York, when he made four hits off Walter Johnson in five times at bat, and he fielded magnificently. In this set of seven games he made secure his place among the Giants and laid the foundation for a brilliant career.

Other players more seasoned than Lindstrom added to their reputations. Among these were Art Nehf and Hank Gowdy. Nehf hung up a victory and sustained one defeat, but in the game he won he was not quite as good as in that which he lost. He has taken a place among the great world series pitchers of the past, not in the matter of victories and defeats, but for his four victories are balanced by as many defeats, but in the matter of hits and earned runs, Gowdy, the old war horse of the Giants, was as splendid in defeat as he possibly could have been in victory. He caught every inning and caught them well.

Stanley ("Bucky") Harris has entered the world of finance. The manager of the world's champion Washington Senators has signed a contract to sell bonds for Redmond & Co., Wall street investment banking house, with branches in Washington and in other cities.

Harris will tackle bond salesmanship immediately after a short hunting trip on which he shortly is to embark, and plans to continue at it until it is time to take his squad of players to Tampa, Fla., for spring training next March. The terms of his contract were not made public.
