permitted to be present. Hon. Hobert Beaven made a statement on behalf of the trustees of the es- adjourned. tate. The object for which the creditors had been called together was, he said, to consider what should be done with the city real estate in the hands of the trustees. He remarked in passing that the appointment of a committee of creditors assist in the winding up of the estate had been very satisfactory in its results and he only wished such a provision were made statutory. One of the first difficulties in ad inistering the estate had been the lamentable condition in which the books of Green, Worlock & Co. were found. It was almost impossible to get at the bottom of them. For instance, there was a difference of some $21,000 in the amount shown in the ledger and the amount in hand. Then the $70,000 borrowed from the Crown Insurance Co. on the lots on which the bank premises were situated never appeared in the books. He went on to read the terms of partnership entered into between Mrs. Green and Mr. Worlock in January, 1892, by which Mrs. Worlock was to receive 75 per cent. of the net profits and Mr. Worlock 25 per cent. besides his salary of $250 a month as manager. One of the great defects in keeping the books after this partnership had been arranged was that every month the interest due on over drafts was entered to the credit of profit and loss, whether the account was good or bad. Mr. Beaven then went into a mass of figures, reading out the amounts owed by a number of the larger debtors to the estate. The list of all the notes and overdrawn accounts, footing up $250,000, was laid before the meeting. Among these was a sum of $45,000 which in these was a sum of $45,000, which investigation and on the authority of several witnesses would seem to have been settled by a compromise in March, 1893, though Mr. Worlock said he had not released one of the members of the firm interested. There was little on the books to show how the buying out of the Garesche interest had been settled for prior to the partnership of Mrs. Green with Mr. Worlock. It would eorner of Government street and Trounce avenue. The amount of this mort-gage became due in April of this year, but there seemed to be Crown Insurance Company, to which the property was mortgaged, to allow matters to remain for the present. At present the buildings on the property are bringing in $325 a month, while the payments for interest, taxes, etc., amount to $500 a month. The difficulty of renting the banking property was the condition that the trustees would have to impose, for they were unable to give a lease, and everyone who desired to rent the prethe premises occupied now by Mr. who yesterday completed organization as Behnsen Temple, No. 30, of this now would be a reduction of $50 a month. Mr. Beaven proceeded to say that on January 1 $2,100 interest would have to be paid on the property. It had occurred to him that it would be a good plan if a company from among the creditors were formed to buy the property from the other creditors. It would be easy to realize $50,000 on the property, so that it would only be necessary to raise the difference between that and the price which the other creditors wished the premises to be sold at. There were $13,-000 in the hands of the trustees, and about $10,000 of this might be available for helping to pay off the mortgage if thought advisable. He then proceeded to read off a series of figures which showed that since May 22 last, when the last statement was made to the creditors, the receipts by the trustees were $85,000 and $72,000 paid out, leaving $13,000 on | hand. The Denman island property, will be given at Castle I which had been valued on the books of the bank at $10 an acre, had been sold for $5 an acre or $21,670. As to the
