There were probably a thousand p cople present. The meeting was called by the friends of Hon. The stable article of discussion at all political spectings now-a-days in Ontario is the boundary award and the streams bill. Of course political orotors will never tire of it as long as it serves for a party cry, no matter on which side of the fence they huppen to be. The only desire of the orator while he has the floor is to get his audience to take the same view that he does. (To the Editor of The World.) SIR: I trust I possess as much commis seration for and am as much disposed to help suffering humanity as most people havopposed on principle to indiscriminate charity and approve cordially of organized efforts such as that initiated by Dr. Goldwin Smith for the relief of those in real need. I shall not, therefore, in the remarks I am about to make be charged with hardheartedness like that displayed by Mr. Scrooge until, one memorable Christmas, he relented and became good and sympathetic and charitable ever after. It nothing more nor less than public nuisances to be got rid of just as effectually as though they were dead cats or dogs in the public thoroughfares. The question is how to do the difficulty at once becomes apparent. The beggars would give up accosting people on the sewing machine agents, the picture of pedal and the same may be said of those who practice the art at house doors, but the sewing machine agents, the picture of pedal rivs, the religious inquisitors, and the getters up of philanthropic schemes for converting sinders by giving them a Sunday breakfast, can only be stamped out by a general expression of disgust at their intrusion, and a general shutting of doors in their faces when their errand is made known. This can only be brought about by the aid of the press and it is to help towards doing so that I address you this letter. I may add that in nearly every case these nuisances decline stating their errand to the domestic who answers the bell and insist on seeing the lady of the house or if he be at home, the gentleman. To an old miner the question of timbering is one of the most important, but right the timber necessary for heavy mining and fuel at a cost of cutting and hauling alone.
