They have returned to Lynn.

their homes, after a pleasant vacation spent at the home of Mr. Otis White.

Mr. Irvin Sarty, of Granville Ferry, was a recent guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. Edmund Dent. He was accompanied by his friend, Miss Halliday, of Hillsboro.

Rev. D. W. Dixon spent a few days with us last week and held evening meetings which were greatly appreciated. We hope that a similar occasion may not be far off.

Some vegetable curiosities have made their appearance among us this fall. Mr. Alton Bent had some corn in which the usual "flower" on the top of the plant produced some kernels of corn. The "flower" was branched in the usual way and had no husks as the main and side branches, but a considerable number of kernels of corn, fairly well formed, as well as some of the scaly, staminate blossoms. Another ear of corn, growing on the side of the plant and having the usual husks, proved to be "twins."

It consisted of two ears of corn grown together at the bottom and separate at the top. A double plum was found in a box of plums that came from Hampton. There were two well formed plums grown together side by side. There were two distinct pills lying with their edges nearly together and these edges were not rounded quite as much as the outer edges.
The stem was missing but there had evidently been only one. Mr. Harley Farnsworth raised a beat that measured twenty-three inches around and weighed six and one half pounds. Mr.
Edmund Bent had a potato that was literally a "mess of potatoes" grown together. It was about equal to six or seven fair sized potatoes grown into one. W. K. Crisp had three abundant crops of rhubarb from plants set out last spring. We wonder if these are dry-weather freaks

THE EMPIRE SUPPLY OF TIMBER

Even if we do not accept the idea of a world timber famine, we must admit that never was there a time before in which the Empire depended more on its own efforts for its supply of timber, nor has there ever been a time more favourable than the present for urging the examination of our Empire resources and, if thought advisable, the definition of an Empire forest policy.—Lord Lovat at Empire Forestry Conference.

Ground Hog

A teacher was telling her class stories in natural history, and she asked if any one could tell her what a ground hog was. Up went a little

"Well, Tommy, you may tell us what a ground hog is."
"Please, ma'am, it's a sausage."

Zam-Buk
WONDERFUL IN PILES

Mr. WILFRED
AMEY
42, Lyall Avenue,
TORONTO, writes: "On active service with the R.F.C. I contracted piles through sleeping on damp ground.
Treatment by the M.O. brought no relief and various 'piles' medicines" tried proved equally hopeless. Shortly after my discharge from the service a friend strongly advised me to get Zam-Buk. One box of the balm brought such benefit that I determined to continue the treatment. In a few weeks Zam-Buk caused the piles to completely disappear. All other sufferers should know of this wonderful herbal healer."

MOUNT ROSE

Mrs. K. Sabsons, of Port Lorne, spent Friday at Mr. Edward Marshall's.

Miss Wynona Brown, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Harry Hines, has returned to Brooklyn.

The many friends of Capt. J. D.
Brinton, of Port Lorne, will be glad to know that his condition is improving after a serious illness.

Recent guests at Mr. Walter Healy's were: Mr. and Mrs. Lester Snow, Summerville, Mass.; Mr. George Snow, Hampton, and Mr. and Mrs.
Lewis Sabsons, of Port Lorne.

The sudden death of J. E. Shaffner, of Lawrenceport, came as a shock to this entire community, and Mrs.
Shaffner and family have the most heart-felt sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

Mr. Leverett Bezanson, of Milton, Mass., was visiting his aunt, Mrs.
Asahel Whitman, for a few days last week. Mr. E. Bezanson and son Lloyd, of Bridgetown, were also guests at the same home on Sunday.

GROWING FUEL IN SIX YEARS

Many of the species which can be used on the prairies are very rapid growers, for example, cottonwood, willow, Russian poplar, and Manitoba maple. It is safe to say that wood large enough for fuel can be grown from any of these trees within six years. After that time a plantation will increase in value and productivness year by year and will prove one of the best investments on the farm.

On the Nursery Station at Indian Head, Sask., a plot three-quarters of an acre in extent was planted out to Russian poplar in 1906. Trees spaced four feet apart each way. In 1913 the average height of these trees was twenty-three feet. In the fall of 1913 half the plot was cut down and yielded six and three-quarter cords of quite fair fuel. This is at the rate of about eighteen cords per acre in eight years. The soil was a medium clay loam. The labour cost of planting was $5.86 per acre and cultivation for two years about $6.00 per year.—N. M. Ross, Supt. of Tree Planting, Dominion Forestry Branch, Indian Head.

TREE SEEDS FOR GREAT BRITAIN

At the request of the Forestry Commission for the British Isles the work of securing tree seed of Pacific Coast species was again undertaken.
It was found impossible this year to obtain the seed of Douglas fir as the crop was a complete failure. The Sitka spruce, however, bore heavily, and 600 sacks of cones were collected along Masset Inlet on the Queen Charlotte Islands in what was the centre of the airplane spruce industry during the war. A temporary kiln and extracting plant were erected at Port Clements and a yield of about 1,000 pounds of seed was obtained.
Seven hundred pounds of this seed were shipped to the Forestry Commission and the remainder sold to the Belgian Government.—Annual Report, Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

Not A Centipede

An official who was making up an assessment roll because of some recent street improvement called at each house on the improved streets to learn the names of the property owners. At one house he climbed out of his car, went to the door and knocked.

"Who owns this property?" he asked. "Why, I do," the woman answered.
The official got her name and put it down in his book. Then he took a squint at the size of the lot.

"How many feet?" he asked.
"Two, of course," the woman snapped, wondering whether he thought she was a centipede.

LITTLE BELGIUM GROWS TIMBER

Belgium is one of the most thickly populated parts of the earth's surface.
With a population of 652 persons per square mile it has (or had just before the war) about 18 per cent. of its area under permanent forest, and this forest area was increasing, showing that the limit of what land it was deemed advisable to keep under forest had not been reached. Compare this with different parts of Canada. Manitoba has a population of a little more than two persons to the square mile and about two per cent. only is set aside as permanent forest reserves.
Saskatchewan has about two and a half persons per square mile and about five per cent. only under permanent forest. Ontario, with a population of six persons per square mile, also has only five per cent. of its area set aside as permanent forest.
It will be seen from the above that thickly populated countries of Europe are setting aside a much larger proportion of land to grow timber than are communities on this continent, with immense areas and scant population. If such a course is wise in Europe with its expensive land it must be doubly wise in the Western Hemisphere, with its vast areas of cheap land, much of it unsuitable to any other purpose than of growing timber.

I'LL BE SWITCHED IF I KNOW

Where can one find a cap for his knee.
Or a key for a lock of his hair.
Can his eyes be called an academy.
Because there are pupils there?

In the crown of his head, what gems shine forth.
Who travels the bridge of his nose?
Can he use, for shingling the roof of his mouth.

The nails from the ends of his toes?
Has he dual nature like Jekyll and Hyde.
Because each foot has a sole?
Does his heart beat the blood because it is bad.
Will it stop when it's good as gold?

Has he eye teeth to see what food is best?
Do dates grow on his palms?
Does he keep his clothing in his chest?
Do his ear drums call to arms?

Will the calf of his leg grow into an ox.
If fed on the corn of his toes?
Will the heel of his foot cure the rent in his socks.
Or the broken rib of his nose?

Can the crook of his arm be sent to jail.
And if so, what did it do?
Where can he sharpen his shoulder blades.

I'll be switched if I know, do you?
LOOKING BACKWARD

I'm the chap that got high wages; now I get it in the neck!
I'm the chump that bought potatoes at a dollar ten a peck; I indulged in rump of sirloin, say at ninety cents a pound, And I paid a half a dollar for the bottom of the round.

I blew in about three dollars for a simple cotton sheet.
And I have paid eighteen-fifty just to decorate my feet;
I recall I had to dig up seven dollars for a hat.
And I paid the darned old landlord forty dollars for the flat!

I've had money, seas of money, and I tell you it seemed good.
And I flung it out regardless, as a drunken sailor would.
Just how long 'twould keep on coming —huh! I didn't know or care.
All I knew was I was living like a blooming millionaire.

But to-day I need a dollar, and I haven't got a dime.
And the boss has told me coldly there'll be no more overtime.
I've had money, and I've spent it, and I don't know where it went;
All I know is I've been wealthy, and I haven't saved a cent.
