

And yet not all !
Athwart the clouds soft rays of sunlight stray ;
And where they fall
They fill the soul with never-ending day.

The flowers which grow
Within the Christain's heart nor fade, nor die ;
But bright below,
Shall brighter bloom around the throne on high..

