

the men students; there is at present absolutely no provision whatsoever of this nature. One of the lessons of the war has been the essential value of physical training, and practically all universities have made physical exercise of some form compulsory for every student. Dalhousie cannot do so, because it has no building for the purpose. A gymnasium is only one part of a building or group of buildings, such as Hart House at Toronto University, which should make provision for all the activities of students outside of the class room. A modest equipment today would cost $250,000; but for about one-third of this sum a useful beginning might be made. This would call for the immediate provision of $75,000 to $100,000.

COTTAGES NEEDED FOR THE "PROF'S"

A start should also be made in building at Studley houses for the members of the staff. The sum of $50,000 would be needed to build the first five or six cottages. The rental would pay interest on the capital outlay.

THE NEEDS IN TERMS OF DOLLARS

Recapitulating, the funds Dalhousie needs, not for any ambitious expansion, but just to do properly the work she has already undertaken, and is now doing, amount up as follows:—
