It is a growing custom—and a pleasing one—to have similarity of design in the favors given by the Groom to the Bride's Maids and the Best Man.

TARIFF MOTHER OF GRAFT DEMOCRATS TO REFORM IT

Movement Inaugurated in New York to Return Pledged Members to Congress.

New York, June 2.—A dinner was given by the tariff reform committee of the Reform Club to-night at the Hotel Astor to inaugurate a movement to return to congress at the next election members pledged to tariff reform legislation.

Henry B. E. Stapler, chairman of the reform committee, presided, and the speakers were ex-Gov. Wm. L. Douglas of Massachusetts, Congressman John Sharp Williams, Prof. W. G. Sumner of Yale, Congressman John T. Rainey of Illinois and John DeWitt Warner.

An invitation was sent to Wm. Jennings Bryan at Lincoln, Neb., but a reply from Mr. Bryan's brother informed the committee that Mr. Bryan would not have completed his tour of the world in time to be present.

Congressman John T. Rainey of Illinois said in closing his speech: "There is nothing in the balance of trade theory. None of these arguments appeals to American people as they did in the years they are gone."

You can look at this tariff question from a personal standpoint and you will find that it is a question not of protection but of favoritism. It is immoral in that it teaches the great dogma to support and make prosperous the individual. I am greatly interested in the reading of the letters of regret of men like Cleveland and Waterston, who have expressed an idea that has been more eloquently set forth by Wm. Jennings Bryan and should be the slogan of the next congress. The tariff is not only the mother of trusts, but the mother of graft.

ANARCHISTS BRITAIN MAY USE THEIR REFUGE

If it is Shown That Madrid Outrage Was Planned in London, Action Will Follow.

London, June 2.—The attempt on the lives of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria closely touches the people of Great Britain. The question of harboring anarchists has long been kept in the background. It is now expected that it will be presented to the government when parliament assembles after the Whitsuntide recess, and that an effort will be made to pass a law excluding anarchists from the country.

The authorities at Scotland Yard are inclined to doubt that the Madrid plot originated in London. Evidence does not warrant full acceptance of the report that this city has been used as an anarchist base of operations. If investigation established that London was so used, the demand for government action will be immensely strengthened.

There has long been a deep-rooted sentiment in Great Britain against closing the doors to any political refugees or plotters, and apparently there has been an agreement between the anarchists not to molest members of the British royal family as long as freedom of access to the country and immunity from prosecution were granted.

It has often been asserted that the British secret police had made the immunity of members of the royal family the subject of a definite pact with the anarchists, and that it was enforced by the threat of rigorous exclusion in case of the agreement being broken. If such a pact exists, it has been broken by the anarchists who have been making the matter worse the last day or two by apologizing for the necessity of any unknownly appearing like a lawyer in court that Ena ceased to be an English princess when she became Queen of Spain.

What the Law Says. A clause in the Offences Against the Person Act gives the police power to take action in a conspiracy hatched in Great Britain, but it would be difficult to obtain a conviction under that law, although it reached the case of the Herr Most in 1881 and the Whelsh and Herr Most in 1881. This clause provides that "all persons who shall solicit, encourage or persuade or endeavor to persuade, or who shall procure or attempt to procure, or who shall aid or abet, whether the subject of Her Majesty or not, and whether he be within the Queen's dominions or not, shall be guilty of an offence, and being convicted thereof, shall be liable to penal servitude for any term of not more than ten years."

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

"A Little Outcast," a splendid melodrama, which has in past seasons been presented to Toronto audiences and returns to the Majestic Theatre this week, and will be given a big scenic display and interpreted by an exceptionally capable cast. The story is one that appeals to the lover of melodrama. The action of the play is rapid and full of the exciting incidents so necessary to the success of a melodrama. Sara Brady will present the role of Bob, the newsboy, and is said to give an interesting performance that is far above any seen in the play in recent years. The engagement opens with a matinee to-day, and during the week a matinee will be given every day. The Majestic is the only theatre playing combination shows open this week.

Ben Greet and his company played at Tuxedo on Saturday and are at Lehigh University to-day. They had a most notable audience on Saturday, composed of many widely known people in the United States who have summer places at the far-famed Tuxedo. His stay in Toronto this week occupies his entire visit to Canada. The plays will be given in the residence garden at Toronto University, and will begin at 3 in the afternoon and 8 1/2 in the evening. The program is as follows: Wednesday, June 6, afternoon, "As You Like It"; evening, "The Tempest"; Thursday, June 7, afternoon, "Comedy of Errors"; evening, "Midsummer Night's Dream"; Saturday, afternoon, "Twelfth Night"; evening, "Much Ado About Nothing." The sale of reserved seats begins at Tyrrell's Bookstore this morning at 9 o'clock.

Starting this afternoon and continuing for the balance of the week, the Star Theatre presents its own big stock company, and for the first week they will present two new and original musical burlesques entitled "Our Minnie" and "Three Married Men." The company is composed of 35 artists. There will be complete changes of bill weekly, and the olio is composed of the very best vaudeville acts available. There will be another amateur contest next Friday night, and it will be even bigger and better than the first one, as already there are a number of entries in the box office. There will be two cash prizes given, the audience to be the judge. Anyone wishing to go on can do so by leaving their name at the box office.

A GUESSEME DISCOVERY.

At the present rate of progress and with the limited staff of workmen at the disposal of Street Commissioner J. Walsley, it will take about ten years to complete the sidewalks petitioned for and under construction. The following sidewalks should be laid this summer: Yonge-street, from the foot of the four men at work now; Roshampton-avenue, three men employed; and where no workmen are yet, but sidewalks petitioned for are: Balliol-street, Davy-street, Glenwood-avenue, Soudan-avenue, Eglinton-avenue, Beresford-avenue, Sherwood-avenue, Glen Grove and Park-avenue. Highway Commission is circulating a petition now, and ratepayers of several other streets will also petition for sidewalks.

"Hello! What's coming down Yonge-street?" could be heard everywhere last Saturday evening, when a one-story frame of dwelling, nose-mounted on wheels, was coming down Yonge-street, drawn by one horse.

Arthur Rutherford of Merton-street fell from his bicycle on Church-street on Saturday afternoon. He was taken unconscious to the General Hospital, where it was found that his collar bone was fractured, in addition to other minor injuries.

R. Drewhy has disposed of the house just completed by him on Balliol-street. Mr. Drewhy has more vacant property, which he says he intends converting into rentable or saleable real estate.

The Cantata "Flower Queen," which was so successfully produced at Christ Church school house, is in demand for an encore. The cantata is a new performance, and the town hall has been suggested. If another entertainment is given, the Hospital for Sick Children is being put forward as a desirable object to receive the net proceeds.

ENGINE THRU OPEN DRAW BUT NOBODY IS INJURED

Remarkable Train Accident Near New York—Bridge Tender Disappears.

New York, June 2.—One of the most remarkable railway accidents that ever happened near this city just missed being a disaster at the Pennsylvania Railroad's newest steel drawbridge over the Hackensack River, a few minutes after 2 p.m. yesterday.

The bridge tender disappeared from the river. The locomotive ran across the draw and fell into the river. Its tender, two drawing-room coaches and a dining car were wrecked on the bridge.

Not one of the persons on the train was hurt. Joseph H. Ellis, the engineer, jumped from the cab to the drawbridge and was uninjured. The nine passengers who were in the two wrecked drawing-room coaches were transferred to the day coaches and finished the trip with the eighty other passengers, with a delay of only a half hour.

The fault for the accident apparently lay with the bridge tender who opened the drawbridge before displaying the danger signal five hundred feet down the track. Ellis said later that he saw a clear signal when he was approaching the bridge and was within less than a hundred feet of the draw when he saw it start to swing open. The bridge tender disappeared after the accident.

The drawbridge had swung so far when the locomotive of the St. Louis express struck it that the locomotive track over the draw, although it approached the bridge on the eastbound track, and so did the trucks of the Indianapolis car, next in line. The St. Louis coach, which was second, and the dining car also missed the rails. Their trucks bumped over the ties a little way, the wheels on one side falling thru the opening between the two tracks of the bridge.

As the locomotive broke loose from its tender and toppled into the river, it struck the far end of the draw, drawing the trucks of the two drawing-room coaches became wedged together, while the coaches slid off and went pounding along on the bridge timbers, without any wheels under them. The dining car was raised from its own trucks on the heap of other trucks, and its rear end was lifted ten feet in the air.

Montreal, June 2.—(Special)—Discussing labor matters, F. H. McGuigan, manager of the Grand Trunk Railway System, says: "We have a good engineering staff, and Mr. Cameron, the chairman of the Brotherhood on the Grand Trunk System, is a capable, trustworthy and thoroughly conscientious man, but the most serious matter that we are faced with is the shortage of men."

At the Easter vestry meeting of St. Clement's Church it was decided to raise $300 toward paying the mortgage on the new building, and to raise $150 toward the building fund, of which the Sabbath school children were to raise the former sum. DR. W. H. GRAHAM NO. 1 CLARENCE SQ., COR. SPADINA AVE. THRU THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

In Only Hope of Ending Contrivance Says Goldwin Smith.

In First Unitarian Church yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Sunderland read a letter from Dr. Goldwin Smith, in which he expressed his regret at being compelled, thru illness, to cancel his engagement on the previous Sunday morning. Any future promises of his nature would be conditional upon his strength, which was fast falling.

Continuing, Dr. Smith expressed the belief that if the dogmas and general questions which at present divide the church were ever to be broken down and succeeded by the great truths as taught by Christ, the Unitarian Church, which claimed his warmest support.
