JAPANESE EXCITED BY ROGUS U.S. NOTE

False Impression Given in Tokio by Faked Message.

GLOOM DISPELLED

Publication of Real Document Sets at Rest All Misgivings.

Washington, June 14.—Japanese resentment over the American note to China is assuaged by officials here wholly to the publication of a garbled version in Japan. Later despatches from Tokio, indicating that the Japanese resented the sending of any note at all, were not commented upon in a Chinese paper. Whatever suspicion was aroused by the bogus note was removed when the accurate text was given.

It has previously been explained at the department that the American note was inspired simply by a desire to add the rival factions to come together.

DRASTIC STEPS LIKELY TO TERMINATE STRIKE

Dominion Commissioner Nearly Exhausts Patience Over Western Mine Dispute.

Calgary, Alta., June 14.—Altho Commissioner R. F. Green, representing the Dominion Government in the coal mine labor dispute, has little to say in respect to the progress being made, there is a general impression among coal operators that unless the strikers make a complete withdrawal within the next twenty-four or forty-eight hours, Mr. Green will discontinue further attempts to bring a settlement about, and will recommend immediate government action towards the taking over of the mines, temporarily at least.

Representatives of the men are standing firm in their latest demands without qualification or concessions, and this says the operators, has led to the impossibility of coming to any conclusion of the negotiations.

HOUSE PROCEDURE LACKING IN LIFE

Trade and Commerce Estimates Are Dealt With Languidly.

LONG DEBATE AHEAD

Knowles of Moose Jaw Asks That Vote on Conscription Be Deferred.

By a Staff Reporter.

Ottawa, June 14.—The house of commons marked time today in anticipation of the great struggle next week on the conscription bill. Sir Robert Borden remained in the chamber only a few moments and spent the greater part of the day in his office at the parliament buildings. He was busy, it is said, on cabinet reconstruction, but no announcement is looked for until the conscription bill is disposed of. The Liberals conducted only a languid attack upon the estimates of the trade and commerce department and the house adjourned at an early hour.

Question of Prohibition.
On the orders of the day, Mr. Kyle (Richmond, N.S.) said he was in receipt of many petitions and memorials from religious and temperance organizations urging nation-wide prohibition. Was the government ready to make any announcement on this subject?

Sir Robert Borden replied that he had already informed the house that the minister of justice had prepared a bill dealing with the shipment of intoxicating liquors from one province to another. The reason for his latest decision, he explained, is the new form of the bill, which he said, was better than a man in the front seat. The government would support a conscription bill and do all it can to make it a success.

Mr. Knowles (Moose Jaw) said he understood that the second reading of the conscription bill would be moved on Monday and he took it for granted that the debate on the second reading would occupy at least two weeks. A number of members, he said, would like to visit their relatives and friends with their constituents before the vote was taken. He asked if the government could not agree that the vote on the second reading be taken until, say, the week after next.

The prime minister said he was anxious to have the bill proceeded with as rapidly as possible. He said that the convenience of the house but that he would take Mr. Knowles' suggestion into consideration.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier asked if the royal commission recently appointed to investigate the complaints of the minister of public works, Hon. Robert Rogers, against another royal commission had begun its labors.

Sir Robert Borden: The commission consisting of Chief Justice McLeod and Judge Tupper is in session at Montreal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: Are the sessions public or private? Sir Robert Borden: I really do not know and the minister of justice is not here at the moment. I believe they are merely reading into the record the evidence taken before the commission. The house then went into supply on the estimates of the trade and commerce department. When the item appeared for the payment of the trade commissioners was under consideration, Sir George Foster explained that young men were being trained in Canada, Italy and Japan who were familiar with the language of the countries to which they were accredited.

Hon. George P. Graham: That looks like bilingualism, but I think it is a good thing.

South American Trade.
E. M. Macdonald (Picton) thought the department should be active in developing our trade in South America. Sir George Foster replied that the department was keenly alive to the importance of the South American trade but there were two obstacles in the way. One, he said, was the absence of direct steamship communication between Canadian and South American ports and the other was a lack of Canadian banking facilities in South America. The Germans, he said, had made it a practice to establish banks in foreign countries before attempting to develop much trade with those countries and the British were now following their example. A great trading corporation had been formed in London which was really an international banking association and had the backing of the British government. He hoped some such banking organization could be organized in Canada.

Petroleum Bounty.
When the bounty upon petroleum was under discussion, Hon. Frank Oliver complained that the Ontario producers received a bounty and the Alberta producers did not. Yet it cost three times as much to buy a barrel of oil in Alberta as it did in Ontario and the business was more hazardous.

The minister replied that the speaker was not correct. The bounty was not upon petroleum but upon the oil produced in the province of Ontario.

ent discrimination was due to the phraseology of the statute and turned upon the question of specific gravity. The object of the bounty, as he understood it, was to encourage exploration for oil but to compensate the oil producer for the absence of protective duty by giving him a bounty. If, in fact, the Ontario producer was receiving a bounty for producing oil which was denied to the Alberta producer upon some technicality, then in his opinion the law should be amended.

At the evening session, Judge Doherty, minister of justice, as acting postmaster-general, was proceeding to put thru the estimates of the postoffice department when the opposition objected on the ground that the estimates of this department had not heretofore been considered in supply and therefore could not be taken up on Thursday. The point was sustained, and Hon. Charles Macdowell asked the status of Postmaster-General Blondin.

Judge Doherty: "Colonel Blondin is still on military service."

FRENCH-CANADIAN ENLISTMENT LIGHT

Slightly Over Fourteen Thousand Joined Up to April Thirtieth.

By a Staff Reporter.

Ottawa, June 14.—The total number of French-Canadians in the overseas forces up to April 30 last, was 14,000. The French-Canadian soldiers commanded by officers speaking the French language and serving with units organized in the Province of Quebec, numbered 5442; soldiers speaking the French language commanded by officers speaking the English language belonging to units organized in the Province of Quebec, numbered 1558. French-Canadian soldiers serving in units organized outside the province of Quebec totaled 5904.

The above figures do not include French-Canadian soldiers in the first contingent. Owing to all the members of the first contingent having been re-enlisted at Valcartier, it is impossible to state their original place of enlistment. However, the total number of French-Canadians in the first contingent was 1217. The total number of French-Canadians in the overseas forces up to April 30 last were 125,346, and the number of British-born soldiers in the forces was 155,095. There are no figures available as to the number of naturalized British subjects in the Canadian army.

Information was laid on the table of the house of commons today by the minister of militia.

INDIAN FORESTRY DRAFT AUTHORIZED

Camp Borden Athletic Director Pleased With Toronto's Promise of Equipment.

Camp Borden, June 14.—Capt. R. J. Renigan has been given command of a new forestry unit to be known as Forestry Draft, C.E.F., No. 8. It will be raised from amongst the Indians and will consist of 200 rank and file and such officers as may be attached from time to time. The name of the forestry depot has been changed to the Forestry and Railway Construction Depot, No. 2. It has been this in effect for some time, and the change of name was decided on to signify the importance which is now being placed on enlistment in railway construction units. Lieuts. W. D. Cavendish and N. E. F. Allan, 9th M.H., have been provisionally appointed to this depot, to which also has been attached the new forestry unit mentioned above, of which the officer commanding of the depot will be the accounting officer.

Quartermaster S. H. Hilderson, A.M.C., has been attached to the depot, Hamilton as instructor in first aid. Lieut. A. J. McKendrick, 127th Battalion, and Pte. P. J. Levesque, 170th Battalion, having given themselves up as deserters have been pardoned and placed in the C.E.F. Company of the 10th Battalion, C.E.F.

Hon. Capt. Scholes, camp athletic director, is jubilant today despite the fact that the wind blew his tent down last night and the rain soaked his bedding. The cause of his joy is the decision of the City of Toronto to place at his disposal for the period of the war the full equipment of a supervised playground to be used at Camp Borden for the recreation of the women and children who come up to visit their soldier friends.
