VASAR GIRL WAITRESSES.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Unable to get help enough to wait on the tables, the students at Vassar act as maids and members of all classes have offered to serve one or more meals each day. The girls will probably have to continue their volunteer help during the winter, as no aid is in sight.

GAVE WIFE $250 IN 19 YEARS

London, Eng., Oct. 15.—Deserted by her husband nineteen years ago a lonely woman accidentally met him in the street. He gave her $250, all she had received from him in that time. He was ordered to pay her $5 a week.

Death Dream Came True.

London, Eng., Oct. 15.—Two brothers, named Sewell, drowned while fishing. When their mother was informed of the accident she said: "I dreamed last night that I was attracted to the river side by a big crowd, and when I got there I saw two bodies pulled out, and they were my sons."

Women Again Beat Men.

Paris, France, Oct. 15.—French women have been beating the male candidates at most of the public examinations this year. In the entrance examination at the Paris University out of thirty candidates, nine girls passed, while the men all failed.

ELECTRO CUTTING MICROBES.

London, Eng., Oct. 15.—William Howell has invented a new method of treatment in dental surgery. By means of electricity the medicament contained in cotton wool placed on the gums is driven into them by the current and the poisonous microbes killed. The operation is painless.

First Joy Ride at 91.

London, Eng., Oct. 15.—Four widows, whose ages totalled 380 years, the oldest being 91, had their first motor trip the other day. They were taken for a joy ride by a resident of Glyn Ceirion, who returned to his home town after being away fourteen years.
