ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE PIERCE BEAR.

"I'm going to eat you all up," came the fierce voice.

"I'm going to eat you all up," came the great big fierce voice again. "Oh, please don't!" begged the duck, napping her wooden bill up and down like sensors. "I-I never did anything to you, Mister Bear, did I?" "Nonsense," growled the bear. "You never did a thing to me, but that's no reason why I shouldn't eat you. I like ducks awfully and I'm hungry." "Well, if you eat the duck first," whined the red rubber dog, "you won't be so hungry, Mister Bear. Perhaps you could wait until tomorrow to eat me."

"No, I couldn't," growled the bear's voice. "Nobody could see the bear, they could just hear him." "Nobody else waits when there is food around, so why should I?" "Oh, good, kind, lovely Mister Bear!" wheedled the black patent leather cat. "Surely by the time you have eaten the duck and the dog you will be so full you won't want me. I am as old and tough as all get out, and I'm sure you would break my teeth!"

"Oh, go on!" growled the bear. "I'm not good, kind, lovely Mister Bear at all. I'm a great big fierce, ugly bear and I'm going to eat you all up. Grrr! Grrr!"

"But we never did anything to hurt you, Mister Bear," pleaded the three. "As though that made any difference!" scoffed the bear. "As though it did. What's the matter with the goose is sauce for the gander, and if you can do the things you do, I guess I can too."

"Why, what do you mean, Mister Bear?" cried all three. "We never did a thing."

"Ho! ho! ha! ha! Hear, hear!" cried the bear. "Never did anything! My, but you have short memories! Why, the tin mouse is so afraid of you old pussy cat, that he has nearly shattered his springs out; and the napkin rabbit is so scared about you, old puddle dog, that he comes untied every time you're near him and has to be rolled up and tied all over again; and the puffy cotton frog is worn to a thin shadow with worry for fear you eat him, Mister Yellow Duck! Will you tell me why I shouldn't eat you? They never hurt you either."

"Mister Fuzz Wuzz and Nancy and Nick stepped out then."

"If you three promise never, never, never to hurt the mouse and the rabbit and the frog again," said Mister Fuzz Wuzz, "I'll chase the bear away."

"We promise!" they yelled so loudly you could have heard them in China.

"Then you go away, had Mister Bear!" shouted the little man. "You can't eat these people. They are going to be good."

"Away sneaked the nice kind little Teddy Bear, laughing and laughing. He had had a good time pretending that he was so fierce 'n' all."

The Twins had a good laugh, too. "Isn't Mister Fuzz Wuzz smart!" declared Nick admiringly. (To be continued.)

THIS LADY SAYS

There's Nothing to Equal "Dr. Wood's" Norway Pine Syrup For Coughs and Colds

Mrs. David Thompson, West River St., Paris, Ont., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. For myself and children I use nothing else."

My little girl, five years old, has had bronchial trouble ever since she had the "flu" a few years ago, and now, whenever she gets a slight cold, she develops a very nasty cough, but all I have to do is give her a few doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Also for myself, and the other children, I can find nothing to equal it, in fact, it was only a short time ago that I gave it to my ten months old baby, and could immediately see the difference it made in her. Now, I always keep Norway Pine Syrup in the house, as I feel there is nothing to equal it."

FABLES ON HEALTH No Human Machine

"Daddy, what happens when we breathe?" asked the ever curious Johnny Mann of Mr. Mann of Anytown. "Don't ask so many questions," replied Mr. Mann, who invariably used this device to cover up things he didn't know himself.

But it set him to thinking. And the next time he went down to the gymnasium he took the physical director aside and got some tips.

"Same old story," sighed the physical director. "You business men get out in the world of stock tickers and market quotations and, with your mind preoccupied on providing for a family and building up a fortune, you forget the elements of physiology you learned in school; or perhaps you never learned them."

"And you don't do a thing to help impress upon the minds of your children, a lot of things that would be valuable for them to know. Every child, if properly told, can understand the simple fundamentals of the marvelous machine of the body; just the simple rudiments of physiology."

"You'd think yourself an awful duffer if you didn't know the mechanics of your automobile. And you try to get your small boy interested in a little team engine."

"How vastly more interesting and wonderful is the machinery that makes the body go. Wise yourself up."

"Don't pass the buck when your children ask questions. HELP THEM FIND OUT THINGS."

TWO FATALITIES AND TWO INJURED

Montreal, March 30.—Fatalities and casualties over the week-end included the following:

Mrs. A. Genchereau, 25, of Verdun, died at the General Hospital here Saturday night following a fractured skull suffered when struck down by a street car.

Mrs. G. Ward, 42, died in the Royal Victoria Hospital here this afternoon from the effect of a deep gash in the throat, stated to have been self-inflicted last month.

Sir Ian Hamilton, referring to immigration, said his experience was that the healthiest children with the rosiest cheeks, resembling most of the Kentish children, to be found in the Dominion were on the south island of New Zealand and Vancouver Island. Those were the places he would advise married couples to make for because perfect energy and perfect health were worth a great deal more than rubies!

TWO DROWNED IN QUEBEC VILLAGE

Quebec, March 30.—Wilfrid Chabot, 28, and William Thibault, Jr., 16, were drowned yesterday near Montmagny when they fell through the ice while repairing the dam near that town.

YOUNG IRISHMEN COME TO CANADA

Halifax, N. S., March 30.—Passengers numbering 1,394 disembarked here today from the trans-Atlantic liners Celtic, Lancastria and Frederick VIII.

Among the 679 passengers landed by the Lancastria, were about 850 young men from Ireland, some of whom declared that large numbers of their fellow countrymen are coming to Canada in search of work and homes, stating that it is now almost impossible to obtain work in Ireland.

"Pass the Kruschen, please"

The magic password to health and happiness! "Pass the Kruschen, please" — at countless breakfast tables throughout the country these simple words are spoken every morning, in just the same casual tone as "Pass the salt" or "Pass the marmalade."

But how full of meaning is the phrase! It means that every member of the family has learnt to practise the joyous habit of the little daily dose which is the Habit of Health.

Put the Kruschen bottle on your breakfast-table, and see what it does for you and all your family.

That tiny pinch you tip every morning into your cup of coffee or tea — you can't taste it, but it supplies your system with just the six salts it requires to keep your blood stream pure and your internal organs properly active. Under its gentle but persistent influence the liver and kidneys perform their duties as Nature intended them to do; all impurities and waste matter that cause tiredness and depression are driven out of the system; new, refreshed blood is sent coursing through your veins and your whole being is filled with tingling exhilarating sense of fitness and joyful energy.

Do you feel like that? Does your family? If not— Put the bottle on the breakfast table!

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must of necessity obtain these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. Normally, your system should extract these vital salts from your food — meat, bread, fruit, vegetables, milk, eggs, and so on; but when, owing to impaired digestion, errors of diet, overwork and worry, anxiety, sedentary occupation, and many other causes, your system does not extract from your food the correct proportions of these essential life-giving salts, then you suffer from depression, headaches, constipation, or disordered liver.

Kruschen Salts should be your safeguard. Besides cleansing the body of impurities gently, surely, and painlessly, they possess a wonderful power of giving new life and vitality to the countless millions of cells of which every body is composed. Fresh blood, bone, brain, and nerve are all made up of cells, and every cell requires one or more of the numerous constituents of Kruschen Salts for its healthy life.

MINERS AGAINST N. S. GOVERNMENT

Vote to Stop Work When Members Visit Collieries
—Sabotage Urged

Sydney, N. S., March 30.—At a mass meeting of 1,500 miners held at the Savoy Theatre, Glace Bay this afternoon, a resolution emanating from Phosphate Local, United Mine Workers, and presented by John MacDonald, president of that local, to the effect that the miners refrain from work during the period of the proposed visit to the colliery district of the members of the Provincial Government was passed unanimously.

The preamble of the resolution dealt in detail with the alleged sins of omission and commission on the part of the local Government with respect to its attitude during the recent industrial disputes, particularly with reference to the calling out of the troops and the alleged cruelties inflicted by the provincial police.

In this connection, a clause was embodied in the resolution to the effect that a delegation from the U. M. W. meet the Governmental party and have them interview alleged victims of police assaults.

McLachlan in Tieside.

The principal speaker was J. B. McLachlan, deputy secretary of the U. M. W., who reiterated former criticisms of John L. Lewis, International president of the U. M. W., and delivered a fiery tirade against the rejected wage contract, which he declared has been negotiated by officials who did not possess the confidence of the full membership of the organization. He also stated that the men were not morally bound to accept the provisions of the contract, and as a protest advocated a campaign of sabotage, by striking on the job.
