

REPLICA OF GOWN QUEEN MARY WILL WEAR AT THE CORONA- TION

A REPLICA of the gown QUEEN MARY will wear when she and KING GEORGE V. are crowned is to be shown in our centre window To-morrow afternoon.

THE gown proper is a Princess robe of crimson velvet, close fitting, with high neck and a train of medium length. The entire front from neck to feet opens over the filmy front like a coat—the edges describing scallops finished by ermine. The sleeves are of three velvet puffs separated by narrow bands of ermine, and below the final band is a velvet point beneath which a frill of white lace falls over the arm and hand. Around the throat is a frill of plisse mousseline which stands out like a small edition of an Elizabethan ruff. This is the gown simple without court train.

THE court train is fastened on at the shoulders under a deep cape of ermine, is edged with ermine and embroidered at intervals with royal crowns in gold to the full length of its fifteen feet. It falls in graceful folds widening as it lengthens. It is embroidered with ermine and lined with white satin. This robe is very costly and gives an excellent presentment of what the Queen's appearance will be at the Coronation on June 22nd in Westminster Abbey.

Campbells'

"The Fashion Centre"

1008-1010 Gov't Street

DEMONSTRATION BY SUFFRAGETTES

Over Forty Thousand Women
Parade Through the Streets of London

London, June 19.—The procession of suffragettes which traversed the streets of London on Saturday evening prior to the coronation, was a most impressive sight. The women, dressed in white, marched in a single file, carrying banners and flags. The procession was led by Mrs. Pankhurst, who was seen in the front ranks. The women were accompanied by a band of music, and the procession was a most successful one. The women were seen in the streets of London, and the procession was a most impressive sight.

combined on this occasion, all question of caste was put aside and queens of those garbed to represent such characters as Boadicea and Aragona, Mary, Queen of Scots, and Queen Victoria, rubbed shoulders with fellow workers in the suffrage cause from the sweatshops of Whitechapel. Hundreds of historic characters from the early ages down to the famous Victorians, like Grace Darling, Jenny Lind and Mrs. Browning, were portrayed. Seven hundred women who had been imprisoned for the cause formed a striking feature of the pageant. They carried many banners with banners and the suffragette colors. There were many Americans in the ranks. Miss Inez Mulholland rode at the head of the brigade. Gertrude Elliott, the American actress, was another parader. Miss Bryce, daughter of John A. Bryce, a member of the House of Commons, was at the head of one contingent. Other prominent women included Annie Besant, president of the Theosophical Society; Princess Duple Singh, Mrs. William G. Cavendish-Bentinck, Lady Francis Balfour, sister-in-law of the Unionist leader, Mrs. M. G. Fawcett, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Miss Sylvia Pankhurst. One brigade was made up of women pipers in Highland costume, who played a stirring march at the head of the procession. The leaders were jubilant at the demonstration, pointing out that for the first time the militant suffragettes and constitutional agitators had made common cause. The meeting at Albert hall was enthusiastic. Mrs. Pankhurst, who presided, elicited loud cheers by the declaration that the demonstration proved that victory was close at hand.

WASHINGTON TRAGEDY.

Walla Walla, Wash., June 19.—The motive for the Tragedy at Milton Wednesday, when Mrs. Myrtle Kyle shot Joseph Harper and then killed herself, is set forth in letters left by the dead woman. But these letters are sealed to the public and the cause of the shooting may never be known. Coroner Folsom of Umatilla county, admitted over the telephone to-day that he had secured each letter, and turned them over to the county treasurer at Pendleton where they would remain and that they would probably never be made public. One of the letters, it is said, was addressed to the wife of the murdered man.

FATAL QUARREL OVER GAME OF CARDS

Miner, Reprimanded for Making
Mistake in Play, Shoots
His Partner

Fairbanks, Alaska, June 19.—After a trivial quarrel over a card game, Goris Bakosovich, a Slavonian miner, Friday, suddenly drew a revolver and sent four bullets into the body of Fred Sellers, champion lightweight wrestler of Alaska, killing him almost instantly. Bakosovich was arrested and was bound over to await the meeting of the federal grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree. Bakosovich came in from a wood choppers' camp yesterday, and last night engaged in a game of solitaire in the Imperial store. During the progress of the game the Slavonian made a lead that was not in accordance with the best rules of the game and Sellers, his partner, reprimanded him for it. The Slavonian became angry and threw the chips in Sellers' face. Sellers reached across the table and struck at Bakosovich. The Slavonian walked toward the door, pulling a gun from the scabbard as he went. Suddenly whirling around, he fired four shots, every one of which hit its man. With three bullets in him, Sellers jumped behind a door for protection when another leaden missile came crashing through the timber and lodged in his right side just above the stomach. Bakosovich was disarmed and arrested by the others in the game.

ANTI-CORNER REGULATIONS.

Chicago, June 19.—A more drastic anti-corner rule than ever has been in force here was adopted by the Chicago board of trade. The rule is the outgrowth of the recent investigations by the board into the alleged manipulation of wheat. The rule provides that the event of a default a committee appointed by the President shall determine as near as possible the real commercial value of the grain as a basis for settlement.

ELECTRICIAN'S REVENGE.

Alleged to Have Attempted to Electrocute Foreman Who Criticized His Work.

New York, June 19.—Arthur Van Riter, foreman of the General Electric Company, Harrison, N.J., Saturday accused James M. Finnegan, an electrician, of trying to electrocute him. He says he criticized Finnegan's work last Thursday and alleges that the subordinate threatened then to get even. Later he says, he went to get a drink and got a shock which paralyzed his right arm and crippled his right leg so badly that he is hardly able to walk. He is just out of the hospital. Upon making a search he found a wire connected with the water faucet. Finnegan protested his innocence, but was held under $300 bail for the grand jury by the justice of the peace.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

Ottawa, June 19.—M. Andrew, of Victoria, was successful in passing the preliminary civil service examinations for outside service, held May 2.

CARDINAL GIBBONS SCORES SUFFRAGETTES

Declares the Proper Place for Women is in the Home

Baltimore, Md., June 19.—Cardinal Gibbons scored women suffrage in an address here. At the commencement of the exercises of St. Joseph's college, he said: "I think the place for women is in the home. Women should not want to vote, but if they took proper interest in affairs of their husbands and brothers they could easily have them cast their ballots right. By doing this women will be the champions what is right." Recent experiments in France indicate that mushroom poisoning can be cured by a serum prepared in a similar manner to diphtheria or rabies anti-toxins.