DISTRICT AND GENERAL

Edmonton daily papers have gone up to $8 a year.

Fire almost totally destroyed the Butler woollen mills at Strathroy.

Chicago city council has designated this as Canadian week to celebrate one hundred years of peace and uninterrupted social and business intercourse.

The annual report of the Odd-fellows shows that there are 403 lodges in the province with a membership of 62,625, a gain of 792 members during the past year.

Dutton Advance.—There has been a large flow of sap the past few days, resulting in a reduction in the price of syrup, which is now quoted at $2 to $2.50 a gallon. The sap is exceptionally sweet this spring.

The habit of carrying "strike anywhere" matches loose in the pocket results in many serious fires. In taking something out of the pocket a match drops out on the floor of barn or other place, is stepped on and results in a fire.

When a negro bandit entered a store at Homestead, Pa., the proprietor invited him to help himself. The man rifled the cash drawer, but was so intent on watching the storekeeper and his wife that he did not notice that all he was stuffing his pockets with was soap coupons.

An aged man from West Lorne applied at London police station for a night's free lodgings. As is usual with men of the type, he was searched before being allowed to sleep in the building, and he produced a roll of $2,000 in cash. Under the guardianship of an officer he was registered at a local hotel for a room and bath.

Daylight saving is apparently to be the bone of contention in the present session of Parliament. Fred Kay, Liberal for Mississquoi, has given notice of a resolution that in the opinion of the house it is desirable that legislation be introduced during the present session to prohibit the adoption of daylight saving time in any part of Canada.

Pensions paid to veterans of the Fenian Raid of 1866 now number only three, according to the annual report of the Board of Pensions Commissioners. To men who suffered disabilities in the Riel Rebellion of 1885, 80 pensions are still paid and 13 dependents also draw an allowance. Under the Pensions Act of 1901, in connection with the South African War, 450 men who served received pensions during the last fiscal year, and some 25 dependents.

The venture of the United Farmers of New Brunswick into the business of running co-operative stores has not been successful, and a re-organization with a change of policy is now being affected. Owing apparently to an unwarranted ambition for expansion of their activities, the head office of the organization will require about $90,000 to straighten out its affairs, while over half of the 32 branch stores will have to raise additional capital in order to carry on.

"Quo Vadis"

The mightiest motion picture spectacle of the century, revealing the religious significance of the wonderful drama of "Quo Vadis," adapted from the world famed romance of Henryk Sienkiewicz's novel, tells a most thrilling, sensational and dramatic story.

The various scenes of pagan pomp to Christian simplicity make the picture story a most appealing one. Added to this is a most powerful love story, interwoven throughout—the love of a pagan for a Christian girl.

Among the thrilling scenes is that of Ursus, in the Arena at Rome, twisting a gigantic bull by the horns until its neck is broken. The hero, after killing the animal, releases a beautiful maiden—the Christian girl—who has been bound to the animal's back and begs the Roman audience to grant her life.

SATURDAY, APRIL 8th.

Tanlac is the result of years of study, experimentation and research by some of the world's greatest chemists. Hence its merit.—P. E. Lumley.

Great Damage by Storm

Damage which will run into millions of dollars, the extent of which it is impossible to estimate, was caused by a two-day sleet storm, which was general over the whole of Western Ontario Thursday and Friday. Dozens of cities, towns and villages were isolated, and the majority of these were in darkness for two days on account of the damage to electrical service, while in some the service has not yet been restored.

The power services, telephone and telegraph companies suffered the heaviest losses. Miles upon miles of wire and hundreds of poles are down throughout this part of the province, and it will require months of work to put the various services on their pre-storm footing.

Many roads throughout the country districts were rendered practically impassable on account of the entanglement of trees and wire.

The fruit orchards were damaged to a considerable extent by breakage, due to the weight of ice. It is said that the buds were not far enough advanced to cause any considerable loss through freezing.

In Glencoe and surrounding country the chief damage done was to the hydro and telephone lines. While the hydro lines in Glencoe did not suffer to the extent they did in most towns, the service has only been restored in part. At Alvington, where the storm was accompanied by considerable wind, the hydro lines, just completed, were almost totally wrecked. Thamesville and Watford also suffered severely in this respect.

Between Glencoe and Strathburn nearly one-half of the Bell Telephone poles and wires are down, and similar conditions are reported on the Longwoods Road both east and west of Strathburn.

The streets were littered with brush and limbs broken off shade trees, and the work of cleaning this away, which is now going on, will take days to accomplish.

The high tension wires of the hydroelectric service were restored by Sunday evening, and it is expected that in Glencoe at least the system will be in full operation again by the end of the week.

Russian Famine Far Worse Than War

War, famine, pestilence are associate evils which have reduced the people of Russia to a condition bordering on despair. The war, horrible as it was, accounted for the loss of two million lives; the after-math of famine and pestilence threatens the existence of more than thirty-three millions of people.

Christian nations, however charitably disposed, will never accomplish the complete relief of so great a number. Millions must die, and many more must suffer pangs infinitely worse than death. Our appeal is for the children, that they who are innocent of any of the responsibility for the present chaotic condition of the country may survive.

Many Canadians have been touched by the events that are transpiring in Russia. They have responded nobly to the appeal for aid. But what of the others, who have not yet heard the moans of the dying?

It is a sad commentary on our boasted civilization that we have corn and grain a-plenty in the bins while 33,000,000 people in Europe are dying for want of something to eat. Is this right?

A generous donation of money will start some of our idle grain in the form of flour, flowing into the empty bins of Central Europe. Send your contributions to Sir George Burn, Treasurer of the Save the Children Fund, Elgin Building, Ottawa, or if you prefer to do so, send it through your church or other local organization or bank. The Transcript Office is also receiving and forwarding subscriptions, which will be acknowledged in these columns.

Oratorical Contest

On Friday afternoon the preliminaries of the first annual oratorical contest of the Glencoe High School were held.

Ten contestants took part, and of these six were to be selected by the judges, to compete in a final contest to be held in the Town Hall on April 12. The judges, Miss Evelyn McLachlan, Miss Fern Graham and C. George, finally selected the following students:—Ella McLean, Catherine Lawrence, Jessie Currie, Gladys Bechill, Marion Campbell and J. D. Gillies. Besides these, Harry McLachlan, who was unable to compete on Friday, will also speak.

Just Among Ourselves

The first of April had it on most of us more than once when from force of habit we turned the switch for hydro juice.

We cannot recall how March came in this year, but we'll never forget how it went out.

Some say the trees were weeping over the sins of the people.

There are some things Glencoe needs worse than a—well, we mustn't say what; but take a look at that Main street sidewalk for a short ways south of the track after a heavy shower, for instance.

Now that we have gotten the business section out of the mud, the problem of combating the dust nuisance confronts us more than ever.

The sleet storm has suggested a law to compel the topping of all shade trees.

Glencoe is about equally divided as to whether to raise chickens or cultivate flower beds. A bad division. Why not all agree to alternate say every five years with chickens and flowers?

Someone makes quite an innocent and meaningless remark about somebody else. Then the mean, meddlesome cuss of the village comes along and twists things about and rubs it in till the best of friends are sworn enemies. And the smaller the town, the greater the cussedness.

We have no quarrel with the U. F. O., but we would like to know what business they have to cell honey. Isn't that a job for the bees?

They say there is good fishing in the Thames. Will the sure thing promoters, the embezzlers and the gold brick artists please take notice and give the land suckers a rest?

Glencoe has its faults, but it has not yet gone in for amateur dramatics.

In the hurry to get to press last week the printer's d— got the types mixed a bit, and the preparations for Easter music and the horrors of housecleaning were made to appear synonymous. Apologies to the choirs.

Yes, there are compensations in life. Just as the miners were going out on strike, nature was preparing a lot of timber for fuel.

Wheat Not Damaged

At the office of District Agricultural Representative R. A. Finn it is stated that the sleetstorm has not done any damage to the wheat so far as can be learned. The heaviest damage in the district appears to have been done to fruit trees. Many of these have been so badly broken that they are almost totally destroyed. This damage will run into thousands of dollars. The greatest loss has occurred, it is stated, in orchards that were not pruned during the winter.

Pre-war conditions have arrived along Main street. You can get a good-sized crowd to block the sidewalk for every dog fight these days. Two teaspoonful of Tanlac in a little water taken three times a day just before meals will make you eat better, feel better, sleep better and work better.—P. E. Lumley.
