

A close-up photograph of a metal joint, likely a weld or a bolted connection. A prominent crack is visible on the left side of the joint, extending horizontally. The metal surface appears rough and weathered.