Florida Elks Make Arrangements For 1964 Convention in Miami

Dr. Hobson Reynolds, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, recently OK'd Greater Miami as the site of his group's 1964 convention.

Dr. Reynolds spent five days in Miami studying the facilities for the gathering, scheduled to attract more than 10,000 delegates in August 1964.

The highlight of his Miami visit was a luncheon at the Everglades Hotel attended by area civic leaders.

Dr. Reynolds and his wife also were entertained by the lodges and temples in the Miami area.

W. O. Perry, president of the Florida Elks, was chosen as chairman of the convention committee which will make the arrangements for the gathering.
