Pool & Golf Course For Paradise Farm

NEW YORK — A multi-million dollar, 5-year improvement and expansion plan is under way at Paradise Farms, famous mountain resort, owned by Mrs. Sallie Walker. The plan is expected to be completed in 1965.

The new 150-foot swimming pool will be opened this season. This is in addition to the present pool, located on the original Paradise Farms site. Also planned are a 9-hole golf course, additional parking services, a three-mile lovers lane for romantic strolling, a little theatre, improved landscaping, cabanas in the swimming areas, more indoor recreation rooms and other projects.

Mrs. Walker began Paradise Farm in 1942 as a roadside hotel on U.S. Route 209 near Port Jervis. In recent years she took over the ownership of the White Horse Lodge and Glen Terrace, two adjoining resorts.

At present, Paradise Farm has accommodations for 631 guests. A new private dining room has been added to take care of club groups and the regular dining room has been enlarged.

Co-Existence Not Perfect Observer Says in Liberia

A London mining engineer just back from 27 months in Liberia says that even in this quiet, politically stable and long established African republic the white man and the Negro still have a lot to learn about living together.

In his associations with the Negro in Africa the white man hasn't done a very good job of things," said Charles Harpur, a geologist for the Liberia Mining Co. Ltd.—a subsidiary of Republic Steel.

Coincidence

Strangely, Mr. Harpur has gone several thousand miles to help mine ore that is shipped several thousand miles back for smelting at Cleveland, a whiff and a holler from his alma mater, the University of Western Ontario class of '49.

Mr. and Mrs. Harpur and their children, Bob, 10, Bill, 14, and Victoria, 8, are home for a brief leave before returning to Liberia for another two years. Mr. Harpur leaves early in August. Bill remains in Canada to attend St. Andrew's at Toronto, there being no high school in the mining camp, near Monrovia.

The Harpurs are staying at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Jepson, friends of Mrs.

President; and Roy Wilkins, Executive Secretary of the N.A.A.C.P. The N.A.A.C.P. members above, along with 57 state directors, executive board members and other N.A.A.C.P. officials were greeted warmly by the President in the Oval Room of the Executive Mansion on Wednesday, July 12. The President reaffirmed his strong position on civil rights. Following a discussion, the President escorted them to Lincoln's Bedroom and pointed out articles of historic interest.

BOY WONDER APPLIES AT UNIV. OF S. FLORIDA

TAMPA, Fla. (ANP)—A 16-year-old Negro youth, who scored 492 out of a possible 495 on college entrance examinations, has made application to enter the University of South Florida, a white school.

The youth, Ernest Doger won a scholarship to Fisk University, in Nashville, when he was 14, but turned it down because of his age.

LAUNCH NEW PROGRAM FOR AFRICAN STUDENTS

NEW YORK — A major co-ordinated program for the education of African students in this country will be undertaken starting in September, it was announced by three large groups of American colleges and universities, jointly with the African-American Institute.

Negroes Stone Bus In Rhodesian Riot

SALISBURY, South Rhodesia (Reuters)—Negroes stoned buses and set fire to a garbage truck today in a demonstration protesting against a proposed new constitution for Southern Rhodesia.

Buses had to be withdrawn from the nearby Negro township of Highfields because of the stoning. A gasoline bomb also exploded in the area.

Police patrols were intensified and police were assigned to travel on all buses in the Salisbury area to protect those still operating.

Despite the stonings, the government reported that a general strike called for today to protest the constitution was an "almost total failure."

A government statement said that as soon as the Negroes saw "the security forces were adequate to protect them from intimidation they streamed to work."

Soldiers patrolled the African townships in armored cars and planes dropped 90,000 leaflets urging the Africans to ignore the call.

Leaflets distributed in the Bulawayo area yesterday called for a week's general strike, three days before the overwhelmingly-white electorate was slated to vote on the constitutional proposals.

The constitution for this internally self-government British colony would virtually guarantee at least one Negro to every four persons of other races in the new legislature. This has been termed inadequate by the African National Democratic Party, which is boycotting the referendum.

No Decision On Coin Wash

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Roberts said yesterday the matter of coin laundries which remain open on Sunday in contravention of the Lord's Day Act is still under study and he has not yet given his consent to any prosecutions.

He said his department is still studying requests from the Ottawa and Toronto police departments for prosecution of the laundries defying the Sunday blue law.

"I don't propose to sign any consent at this moment," he said. "There will be no blanket policy set down at this time."

Mr. Roberts said the problem was one that required a great deal of thought.

Mr. Roberts must give his consent before a prosecution can be launched. The Supreme Court of Canada has ruled that coin laundries operating on Sunday are contravening the Lord's Day Act.

If you want to get up with the lark in the morning keep away from the swallows at night.

Speaker Says Clean House

JACKSON, Miss. — Persons who would join such endeavors as Peace Corps should also consider many challenges "just outside our windows," a Tuskegee Institute administrator told a Jackson College commencement audience here.

Dr. Herbert A. Wilson, director for Institutional Development at Tuskegee, told some 360 graduating seniors here that clearing up problems in "our own backyards" is just as important as solving those abroad. When we meet the challenges at home, we meet them also in Afghanistan, Indo-China and the Congo," he said.

Nigerian Embassy Unusual Purchase

NEW YORK — The sale of a $300,000 mansion overlooking the Hudson River represents one of New York's most unusual business deals: buyer, seller and broker are all Negroes.

Buyer of the Scottish Tudor estate in Tarrytown, N.Y., is the Government of the Federation of Nigeria. Seller is Dr. P. M. Savory, secretary-treasurer of the Amsterdam News. Sales and insurance brokers are Ernesta Bowman Procope and John Procope, partners in the Albin H. Bowman Company. Straight cash sale price was $237,000.

The 24-room fieldstone residence at 548 South Broadway, on a 16-acre estate, will house His Excellency Alhaji Muhammad Ngileruma, Ambassador to the United Nations of the Nigerian Government.
