Lo! The Light

Above the manger stood a star,
A star all wonderous white;
And all about His lowly bed
There welled a flood of light.

It bathed the stable in its glow,
It shone 'round Mary's head;
And on the kneeling shepherds' cloaks
Its radiant beams were shed.

Star of the world! Through time and space
It flames in glory bright
To make man's pathway through the years
A pilgrimage of light.

It shines for us — that light still shines!
No cloud can dim its spark;
Its radiance blossoms bright with joy,
A beacon in the dark.

The path leads on, the path leads up;
We walk it mile by mile,
And lo! the light His love has lit
Grows brighter all the while.

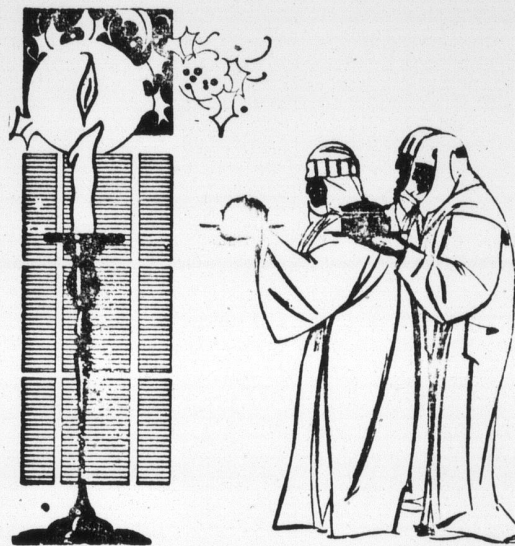

Oh, never doubt it shines for you,
Though skies seem dark and low—
Keep looking up, keep lifted up,
Somewhere a star will show!

Let not your heart be trouble filled,
The darkest night must clear,
And life be glad and life be sweet,
For lo- The light is here!
