RANDOM HOUSE TO PUBLISH
CREEKMORE NOVEL

Most of the great novels of recent years dealing with the Negro fight for social justice have come out of bitter first-hand experience. To stand with these in literary merit—but unique in that its author is not a member of the race about which he writes so perceptively—is THE CHAIN IN THE HEART, by Hubert Creekmore, published on July 27th. Presenting The Chain in the Heart as a highlight of its summer season, Random House believes that the book will emerge as one of the important novels of the year.

The Chain in the Heart is the story of three generations of a Negro family in a small Southern town. The Murchisons are individuals, not symbols. Using as weapons their own honesty and integrity, the Murchisons fight doggedly, day by day, inch by inch, against the violence, evil and prejudice that surround them. Touching on aspects of the Negro struggle for true emancipation hitherto unexplored in novels, the book closes on a note of high hope and promise.

Hubert Creekmore, a resident of Jackson, Mississippi, is the author of two previous novels, "Fingers of Night" and "The Welcome," and the editor of "A Little Treasury of World Poetry."

The people of Great Britain have burned their ration books. But many foodstuffs still are expensive or hard to get. A CARE Holiday package, containing such luxuries as sliced pineapple, raisins, a canned whole turkey, as well as bacon, butter, sugar, beef, lard, egg powder, prunes, and milled white rice, will make Christmas jollier for your friends and relatives in Britain.

The price of a CARE Holiday package is $17.50. Mail a cheque or money order to CARE, 116 O'Connor Street, Ottawa.
