Inspect the latest in automatic gas ranges. See how modern water heaters can save you money. In the service of this community for 84 years, the City Gas Company of London offers in its exhibit the most modern automatic gas ranges and water heaters.

As you are aware, the use of gas is governed by strict conservation measures. Use of gas is permitted only for water heating, cooking and refrigeration, none of which creates peak demands on zero days.

If you have an old coil-type water heater, and an old-fashioned range, come in and see the latest.

Today's appliances can save gas for the community, and save you money!

Since 1864 the City Gas Company has faithfully served the people of London. Through snow and rain, 24 hours every day throughout the year, it operates to serve you.
