THE DAWN OF TOMORROW

Louisiana Has School Trouble

"It appears that a similar effort will be made this year. Therefore, the Government is asking for a court ruling to prevent such interference with the orders of the court."
Mr. Kennedy said the petition did not question the authority of the state to permit students to withdraw from the public school system.

"This petition challenges the action of the State in shifting students from schools subject to court desegregation orders to other schools being operated in the same unconstitutional manner which the court orders had enjoined," Mr. Kennedy said.
The Department of Justice brought its action as a friend of the court in the original suit filed by Negro parents to desegregate schools in New Orleans.

The court last November 30 authorized the Department to initiate such action as might be appropriate to maintain the administration of justice and the integrity of the federal judicial process.

The William Franz and the McDonogh No. 19 elementary schools were desegregated last November. Three Negro first-graders enrolled at McDonogh and one enrolled at William Franz.

All white students boycotted McDonogh and all but about 15 boycotted William Franz.

The Government's petition asserted that some white parents withdrew their children from the schools and organized the "Franz-McDonogh Parents cooperative Association" for the purpose of providing racially segregated education for their children.

They organized the Arabi Annex School in St. Bernard Parish. It opened December 7 1960, the petition said, with enrollment limited to white children from the first three grades at McDonogh and William Franz.

Although the school was privately organized, the petition said the St. Bernard Parish School Board assumed responsibility for its operation.

Consequently, "the Arabi Annex School has ceased to be and is not a bona fide private school, but is instead a part of the public school system of St. Bernard Parish and of the State of Louisiana," the petition asserted.

The petition also said that the State Legislature encouraged the Arabi Annex plan and appropriated $300,000 to reimburse the St. Bernard Parish School Board for funds spent and to be spent in providing school facilities for students assigned to desegregated schools in Orleans Parish.

The St. Bernard School Board has made preparations to continue operating the Arabi Annex School in the coming school year in the same manner as last year, the petition said.

Kate: "I can't. A moth has been eating my bathing suit."

Nate: "The little rascal! He must have been on a diet."

Negroes Get Representation On Los Angeles Commissions

LOS ANGELES — Living up to his campaign promises to give all areas of Los Angeles community life a voice in city government, Mayor Sam W. Yorty has named an unprecedented number of Negroes to important city commissions since he took office July 1.

The mayor's first key appointment was Atty, Everette M. Porter as a member of the Board of Police Commissioners. Porter, a former member of the California Adult Authority, was chairman of the

Singer Lena Horne Has Favorite Joke

Songstress Lena Horne likes the "off the beaten path" story about the pilot who had to take to his parachute because of engine trouble. On his way through space he met a woman floating up.

"Hey," he shouted. "Have you noticed a Spitfire going down?"

"Mercy no," replied the woman. "Did you by chance see a gas stove going up?"

Yorty Central Campaign Committee.

This volunteer organization played a positive role in swaying the Negro vote to the new Mayor.

Other Important appointments made by Yorty include Mrs. Ethel Bryant as field secretary; Mrs. Celestus King, Library Commission; Mrs. Marguerite Moore, Social Service Commission; Henri O' Bryant, Fire Commission; Norman B. Houston, Civil Service Commission; Dr. D. O. Gray, Health Commission.

The appointments of Mrs. Bryant, Mr. Houston and Mr. O'Bryant are "notable firsts" in Los Angeles' political life.

Mayor Yorty has indicated there will be additional appointments made in the immediate future. With the exception of Mrs. Bryant's position which pays nearly $8,000 per year, the commissioner's are non-salaried. They are paid per meeting, plus expenses.

However, they act on important policy matters concerning the city, and on contracts involving expenditures of millions of dollars each year.
