FOLEY—BAILEY

Miss Alice Foley, daughter of Mr and Mrs Chas. Foley, Eloids, became the bride of Mr Floyd Bailey of New York State, at Ogdensburg, on April 26. Miss Foley did not acquaint her parents of her matrimonial intentions and some uneasiness was felt for a few days by friends and relatives, but letters of explanation and forgiveness have been exchanged and Mr and Mrs Bailey, who are at present visiting Mr Bailey's people at Syracuse, will soon pay a visit to the bride's parental roof.

Miss Foley's many friends will join in wishing her many happy, prosperous years as Mrs Bailey.

DEATH OF MRS. H. B. BROWN

The death occurred at the residence of her husband at Addison on Friday night of Mrs H. B. Brown, a native of Brockville, and a well known and respected resident of the township. She had been ill but a few days with pneumonia.

The late Mrs Brown was the eldest daughter of the late Thos. Price of Brockville, and was in her seventy-second year. The greater part of her life was spent in the township. Her husband, one son, Thomas, and one daughter survive, also two sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs John Galbraith and Mrs Chas. Marquette, and the brother, Mr Alex Price, of Brockville.

The service was conducted from her late residence, to the church, where a very impressive sermon was preached by Rev W. W. Weese after which the remains were interred in the family cemetery at Elba.

The family have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement, though knowing that their loss is her in finite gain.

The statutes of Ontario are revised and consolidated every ten years. The last consolidation was due to be made in 1907, but up to the present no statutes have been issued. Of course, the staff of well paid lawyers who are engaged in the work of revision are in no hurry to complete it, but the inconvenience caused to all having to do with the laws of the province is such as should cause the Attorney-General to force the work to a finish. Having to wade through fourteen books to learn a particular law and amendments thereto is no joke.

ADDISON

Mr John Quinn, is gaining slowly and his many friends have hopes of his recovery.

Mr H. S. Moffat and lady of Jasper spent Sunday last in our village.

Mr A. Blanchard is erecting a lawn fence in front of his lot on Selma street.

ALFALFA FOR DAIRYMEN

Clark Hamilton, writing on the subject of alfalfa growing, says: I think I may say that there is no section in Canada where this crop could prove of greater worth than to we dairy farmers of Eastern Ontario.

We are farming rather extensively; we demand a large yield from our soils. Alfalfa gives this and makes the soil grow more of a succeeding crop than it ever grew before. Our stock require in the large production of milk and butter-fat desired, largely, nitrogenous food, of the best quality, nutritious and palatable, not only in winter dairying and feeding is this essential, but in summer as well the same applies, and in this instance as green feed or the soiling crop, nothing fills the bill better than alfalfa. Briefly stating it, alfalfa is the richest in feeding value, in the one element we are always striving to supply and that costs to buy in our feed stuffs, viz, nitrogen or protein, of any field crop yet introduced while as a growing plant it gathers and stores in the soil the greatest amount of that one element of fertility, nitrogen, and improves to the greatest extent the physical condition of the soil by adding humus from the residue of the crop, and loosening the sub-soil by the action of its deep feeding tap roots, than any other field crop grown to-day.

Aside from the high feeding value of alfalfa, the crop would be one of our best, considering the large yield realized, as three and not infrequently four cuttings are cut each season, making a yield of from seven to eight tons per acre in many instances, while a stand that is worth leaving should produce at least five tons per acre on the average. We have briefly explained its beneficial effect on the soil, it is the greatest soil improver of all; and in many instances has reclaimed soils that could not be made produce other crops successfully.

Solid Gasoline

Automobilists in England to-day—they call them motorists over there—are much interested in the success of an invention known as solid "petrol," or gasoline in little bricks. Its exact composition is, of course, a secret. It contains fifty per cent. of ordinary gasoline, a percentage of soupy matter and one per cent. of a foreign substance which gives its solidity. A small block of it is said to be equal to a gallon of liquid motive power and its inventors say that enough to propel a car 1,200 miles can be carried in a little box on the running board of the machine.

LESSON VII.—MAY 14, 1911.

Isaiah's Vision and Call to Service.—Home Missionary Lesson.—Isa. 6: 1-13.

Commentary.—I. Isaiah's Vision (vs. 1-4). 1. In the year that King Uzziah died—This apparently marks the date of Isaiah's introduction into the prophetic office, and was relating his own religious experiences (Isaiah) and the Lord—The earthly king (Uzziah) has passed away, and now Isaiah sees the true king in his glory.—Cam. Bible. The vision occurred that the temple in Jerusalem. Isaiah saw more than the material temple and its appointments. He looked into the most holy place, the veil being withdrawn, and with his spiritual eyes he saw the Lord in his majesty, sitting upon a throne—An attitude of authority, high and lifted up—The throne is here referred to, his train filled the temple.—The folds of his garments, resplendent in glory, filled the whole space. 2. Above him—"Above him"—R. V. stood the seraphims—The seraphim (probably "fiery beings") are mentioned nowhere else in the scripture as angelic beings. Their function in this vision is purely symbolical. They are the attendants of Jehovah's court or the ministers of the invisible sanctuary; they reflect the glory of God, and by their presence and actions suggest newer and fuller conceptions of his ineffable majesty. (twain)—The first pair of wings was used to veil their faces, for even they were unable to look upon the glorious face of God. The second pair alone was used in flight, and the third, or lowest pair, covered the entire lower part of the body, including the feet, "a practise usual in the presence of Eastern monarchs, in token of reverence."

3. One cried unto another—If there were more than two they were arranged in two rows on opposite sides of the throne, and some began the ascription of honor to God and others responded. The holy, holy—repeated for emphasis, but some think it was the times to symbolize the Trinity. The word holy expresses the essence of the divine nature, and "those positive attributes of God which constitute true divinity, and call for the religious emotions of awe, reverence and adoration." It calls out the infinite purity of God in contrast to man's moral corruption. "In God is found the final degree of exalted, limitless, inexhaustible excellence in the whole universe."—Robinson. Isaiah is full of his glory—One translation is "The fullness of the whole earth is his glory." There may be a prophecy of the final and complete triumph of the gospel. 4. The posts of the door moved.—The foundations of the house of God shook.—R. V. The voices of the fourfold choir struck the chord of the foundations of the thresholds, and they were set in vibration, filled with smoke.—Some regard this as meaning that the intense burning upon him, filled the place with smoke. Some regard this as meaning that the intense burning upon the altar filled the holy place with smoke; others that it was the incense of praise, kindled on the altar of incense by the seraphim songs."—Still others think it was the reaction of Jehovah's nature against sin, and that it answered to the prophet's consciousness of his own moral impurity.

II. A vision of sin and its removal (vs. 5-7). 5. Woe is me—At sight of this display of divine holiness the prophet is dismayed. The fire of purity, he fears, will not cleanse, but consume him, conscious as he is of impurity.—Whedon. (Undone)—Helpless and almost despairing of unclean lips.—The defilement of his moral nature found expression through his lips. The angelic beings had sung the praises of Jehovah, but the prophet's impurity forbade his joining with them. A people of unclean lips—Not only was there impurity within him, but there was defilement from contact with the people among whom he dwelt. Isaiah had a vision of the divine glory, and through it, saw his own sinfulness as well as that of others. Mine eyes have seen the King—He felt both his impurity and the danger that it might bring upon him, having beheld the King (Judg. 6: 22, 23). 6. Then flew—Isaiah's cry of need brought a quick response. A live coal from the altar was taken away, and he was cleansed and hence was officious. "As earthly fire burns away external impurity, so the heavenly fire burns away the defilement of sin, first from the lips. But through them from the whole man."—Dillman. The sin of his whole nature had seemed to him to be concentrated in his lips. 7. This hath touched thy lips.—The efficacy of the altar had been conveyed to Isaiah. His lips were touched, not simply that his impurity might be taken away, but also that he might be empowered to bear with effectiveness the message given to him.

III. The call (vs. 8). 8. Heard the voice of the Lord—Isaiah had seen the glory of the Lord and heard the voice of the seraphim, but he had not yet heard the voice of the Lord. Whom shall I send—A great inquiry which Jehovah is ever making; namely, for preachers and missionaries to a dying world.—Whedon. Who will go?—The divine will and the human will must coincide. God has in his mind those whom He desires to send, and it remains for them to be willing to go. The Lord still reserves to Himself the prerogative of particularly calling men and women to preach the gospel and to work as missionaries. For us—The phrase may be used to denote the divine ministry or it may include the hosts of heaven, Jehovah and his attendants. Here it is said to be the man who a few minutes before was "undone" and a "live coal" had been ready to respond to the divine call, the who had sacrificed at the presence of Jehovah, dare to speak to Him, and to undertake a mission for Him.

IV. The Commission (vs. 9-13). 9. go, and tell this people—With the call to go comes a commission. There were those to whom Isaiah had been offered, and he was called to be a home missionary for he was sent with a message to his own people, hear ye, indeed, but understand not.—The Lord directed the prophet to declare the truth to the people even though the hardness of their hearts they would not accept. "Light enough to give in revelation to guide those sincerely seeking to know in order that they may do, God's will; darkness enough to leave to confirm the wilfully blind."—J. P. A. B. make the hearer, etc. The truth revealed to Isaiah is that the unbelief of his countrymen amounts to an incapacity for divine things, which can only be intensified by the further disclosure of the truth of God.—Cam. Bible. When the heart is hardened resolutely against God's truth, the presentation of that truth has the effect to still further harden the heart. God does not make the heart fat, nor the ear heavy. The attitude of the man or woman toward the truth determines whether there shall be a perception of the truth and a reception of it. convert.—"Turn again."—R. V.

11. how long—Isaiah had no disposition to shun the mission given him. He desired to know how long this condition would continue, until the land be utterly desolate—Until the kingdom of Judah should be taken into captivity by Nebuchadnezzar one hundred fifty years later. God's policy toward his people was to deal with them in mercy, sending them to constrain them to faith and obedience, but determined opposition to his plan could not bring dire calamity in the end. 12. removed men far away—Into Babylon, "and the forsaken place be many in the midst of the land" (R. V.). 13. a tenth—Only one in ten of the inhabitants of Judah would be allowed to remain. "The captain of the guard left of the poor of the land to be vine-dressers and husbandmen" (2 Kings 25: 12). as a tell tree—A terebinth, or turpentine tree, clove is in the Revised Version expressed the thought more clearly. When the tree is cut down there is vitality in the roots and stump sufficient to cause new shoots to spring up, so the holy seed is the stock thereof (R. V.).—The ruined Israel contains the indestructible germs of the kingdom of God.—Cam. Bible.

1. A vision of God's holiness. Vision of himself are the means which the great God has ever employed to restore man. Every man's course is shaped by the view that he forms of the supreme Ruler. A personal contact with God will ever leave its mark on the soul. The source of all inspiration for Isaiah lay in the profound conception that the heart of the Infinite and Eternal is holiness, and such a vast conception has vast unfoldings. Holiness was the attribute upon which the seraphim dwelt, and they called to the Lord whom they adored. Their message was important because it was clearly a message for Isaiah's own heart, the message that was intended to be the keynote of his own teaching. The fuller and richer the conception of God, the nobler and stronger will be the religious life. It was not until the earthly king was taken away that Isaiah saw the King of kings, "high and lifted up," a limited interest replaced by a larger one, a local monarch stepping aside to reveal the universe-King. Isaiah's vision taught him that the true centre of gravity for national greatness and greatness and greatness, but God. This was a critical time for the young Isaiah when King Uzziah died. His faith was either die or be reborn. God had put out the secondary light that Isaiah might see the eternal light. The vision of the glory of God which he saw before the throne filled him with reverence, humility and fear. He recognized the divine life as being everywhere.

II. A vision of personal depravity. Where there is no vision of excellence there can be no pang of self-reproach. A vision of God's holiness created in Isaiah a sense of his own unworthiness, and gave him a sense of his own defects and vileness. Until then the blots and blemishes of his soul seemed small, but under the light of heaven, with God's eye resting upon him, every spot of sin within him, every defiling stain seemed an insult inflicted on the holiness of God. Both personally and as a representative of the Jewish nation, Isaiah was convicted of sin. To prevent him from sinking into despair, divine consolation was given. The sense of remission of sin was as real as the sense of sin itself. The sin recognized and repented of was burned away. This vision was an anticipation of the incarnation of our Lord. Isaiah was purged from his iniquity that he might proclaim the love, the sacrifice which takes away iniquity. Isaiah's attitude of worship brought to him a vision and revelation which had an immediate and transforming effect on his whole life. Special preparation is necessary for a special work of grace whether it be in the individual heart or in the church, and the blessed results of his work will be largely proportioned to the character and degree of the preparation. Isaiah's preparation resulted in his great commission as God's prophet.

III. A vision of the world's need. Isaiah mentioned his own sin first, and then the sin of his people. He who has not been humbled under a sense of his own unworthiness before God has no preparation to carry God's truth to others. It was when Isaiah felt the exceeding sinfulness of sin that the burden of his people's sins weighed upon his heart. It was in that very experience that his preparation for service began. Those who go into the work of the Lord are not humbled under a sense of his own unworthiness before God, but are prepared to carry God's truth to others. AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waukau, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctor treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well." Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 81, Waukau, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman London, Ont.—I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Brooding Chicks Without Artificial Heat

The cover or roof of coop is wide open all day, except in rainy weather, when it rests on a block four by eight inches, either height used according to storm. This roof is made of half inch boards ten inches wide, planned on one side for painting. On top of roof we nail cleats front and rear (1 inch by 3 inches by 6 ft.) and between these lay two ply of tar paper a half by two inch doorstop 6 ft. long is laid close to the cleat to hold tar paper down, with a few small tin washers across at ends. A ceiling of tar paper over tar paper as well as a coat of paint all over coop each year will pay.

The more modern way of caring for newly hatched chicks is by use of the fireless brooder. When the chick is hatched the circulation of blood is so positive that sufficient heat is generated to keep the chick comfortable, provided it is returned. Nature has provided a lot of downy feathers which answer as a warm wrap, so that the best given off a flock of fifteen chicks in a cotton covered box is the most healthful heat that can be used to keep them growing.

The system of brooding without artificial heat is in my mind the most economical system known, either for the hobbyist or large breeder. The needed articles are home made and are only a covered wooden (6 ft. x 3 ft.) coop and a wire-mesh covered box 4 ft. long and 3 ft. wide; a division of 2 ft. from one end makes a space 2 ft. by 3 ft., which is floored for hover-room. The run is 4 ft. by 3 ft. (no flooring), soil being squadded to retain an ideal scratching ground.

When the chicks from tumbling under the coop edge, we have nailed a three inch by one inch board on bottom of front, back, and end of run, and find this problem solved. To keep the chicks in the coop, we use a (1-inch mesh) wire covered frame built of half inch by two inch door-stop, which rests on the ends and division (division board has a 4 inch by 6 inch doorway cut at front end), which are made of eleven inch by one inch boards. The lapped half inch frame comes just even with the front and back of coop (twelve by one inch boards).

As rather slow, as buyers in some cases had ample stock on hand for the week. Opening sales of goods in general, quiet heavy and indications point to a very busy year in this connection. Provincial trade has been more active during the week. Collections too, have shown signs of improvement. Winnipeg reports say all lines of business are actively engaged three and prospect for the coming season bright such as to warrant a feeling of general optimism regarding the trade of the year. It is now seen that the increased acreage put to seed this year will be far larger than ever before.

BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW. Montreal reports to Bradstreet's say the decided improvement in the weather there and at most other points in Canada has not been without effect upon general trade. Retail trade has picked up noticeably and there has been further improvement in the sorting business, although the volume in 1911 connection is hardly yet up to expectations. Until recently spring lines of dry-goods, etc., had not been broken into to any great extent, the trade having seen only of average proportion. Toronto reports to Bradstreet's say trade generally has a very satisfactory tone. The volume of actual business moving is heavy and the outlook for the future most encouraging. Dry goods lines now seem to be moving well, and retail and the demand for sorting parlors has improved during the past week. The western demand for all lines of goods is more quiet heavy and indications point to a very busy year in this connection. Provincial trade has been more active during the week. Collections too, have shown signs of improvement. Winnipeg reports say all lines of business are actively engaged three and prospect for the coming season bright such as to warrant a feeling of general optimism regarding the trade of the year. It is now seen that the increased acreage put to seed this year will be far larger than ever before.

St. Lawrence Sugar. Most People Already Use—And Always Will Use. They know from years of experience that St. Lawrence Sugar is absolutely the best they can possibly buy. There is never even a suspicion of uncleanness about it. Its delightful flavor—its crystal purity and recognized economy—make St. Lawrence Sugar the prime favorite in every home where it is used. It contains 99.99-100 per cent. of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever. THE ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO., LIMITED, MONTREAL.

THE STORE OF QUALITY

Boy Scouts

A very interesting lecture was delivered at the United Service Institution by the Chief Scout last Wednesday on the subject of "Boy Scouts and National Defence."

Many interested in the Scout movement are worried with the laxity of discipline in certain troops. But the Chief Scout does not desire that a Scoutmaster should rule his troop with the iron hand of a Cromwell.

It is not known what the Boy Scouts think of the suggestion that they should be used as men of decorations along the route on the Coronation procession, inanimate groups of khaki or blue, like so much bunting.

A WINDSOR LADY'S APPEAL To All Women: I will send free with full instructions, my home treatment which is so successful in leucorrhoea, irritation, displacements, fainting of the womb, painful or irregular periods, uterine and ovarian tumors or growths, also Hot Flashes, Nervousness, Melancholy Pains in the Head, Back or Bowels, Kidney and Bladder Trouble, where caused by weakness peculiar to our sex.

A BIT OF HUMOR. "Do you really mean it, Mr. Spooner, when you say I am the best girl in the world?" asked a young lady of an ardent admirer.

"Indeed I do, Dora," responded the young man. "I say it again—you are the best girl in the world."

SHE WAS SURPRISED

When Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Drove her Chronic Liver Complaint

Mrs. R. Smith, of Winnipeg, Man., tells an interesting story of relief from almost intolerable sufferings: "I can hardly tell you how great my sufferings have been. Chronic liver complaint accompanied by biliousness was a daily source of trial to me. Every day I experienced the sickening effects of these ailments. I longed for some medicine that should permanently drive them away."

ARABELLA'S DARLING. "No, I wonder," thought Alphonso, "what Arabella is doing at this precise moment?" (Arabella and Alphonso were married last May, and Alphonso, being a commercial traveller, was far from home.)

A GREAT REMEDY FOR LITTLE ONES. That is what thousands of mothers say of Baby's Own Tablets. We have received thousands of letters praising them—we have yet to receive a single one condemning them.

HIS YARD OF PORK. (Youngstown Telegram.) Rev. Griffith Jones was standing in the door of a store which he conducted in his home town, when he was approached by a resident, who, knowing his fondness for a joke, asked: "Can you sell me a yard of pork today?"

UNSUGHT FOR JOB. They have a yellow-backed magazine in China with an inconspicuous name which consists of 24 columns of text, each page with seven columns.

PIN COLLECTOR'S SUCCESS. Living in a town of 4,275 inhabitants, a man in the far west undertook to pick up every pin he saw and in one year collected 4,580.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. CURE ALL KIDNEY DISEASES. GOUT, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, BACKACHE, NEURALGIA, MIGRAINE, HEADACHE, AND ALL THE PAINFUL AFFECTIONS OF THE URINARY SYSTEM.

WHEN NEURALGIA GRIPS YOU.

When you are a sufferer from neuralgia, make sure first that it is not from a tooth. There are many cases of so-called chronic neuralgia, not always facial, which never recur after a visit to a good dentist.

Sometimes it is necessary to visit more than one dentist, for the trouble may be obscure. If neuralgia is from other causes do not suffer needlessly. Take it in hand before it gets too strong a grip.

HOW LIFE LOOKS. (Life.) To the OPTIMIST. Come in. Take one. No collection. Admission free. You are invited. Strangers welcome. Ask for free sample.

HOW TO MAKE A WHATYOU MAY-CALLIT. I cured a horse of the Mange with MINARD'S LINIMENT. CHRISTOPHER SAUNDERS. Dalhousie.

THE MODERN WAY OF HOME DYEING. It is to use ONE Dye that will color either Wool, Cotton, Silk or Mixed Goods Perfectly. You will find this in DYOLA. ONE DYE FOR ALL KINDS OF GOODS.

IN THE ONE "GALLUS" COUNTRY. (Lippincott's Magazine.) A northerner asked a Cracker if he thought he could get a new pair of suspenders at the ferry store.

A JOYFUL AVERAGE. (Detroit Free Press.) In spite of all the troubles, In spite of all the woes, In spite of all the sorrows, That yearly come and go, In spite of all the heartaches, The failure and defeat, With love to compensate us, This love is mighty sweet.

That Splitting Headache will vanish if you take "NA-DRU-CO" Headache Waters. Give quick, sure relief, and we guarantee they contain nothing harmful to the heart or nervous system.

"DISTEMPER" Pink Eye, Epithelitis, Shipping Fever, and Catarrhal Fever. Sure cure and positive preventive, no matter how horses at any age are infected or "exposed."

EDDY'S "SILENT" MATCHES ARE THE MOST MODERN AND PERFECT A SURE LIGHT, THE FIRST STRIKE. They make no noise or sputter—a quiet, steady flame.

SENTENCE SERMONS. The wisdom of Maurice Maeterlinck: The past is not unchangeable; it is contained in memory, and nothing is more impressionable, less independent, than memory, which is fed and moulded ceaselessly by our mind and heart.

IS YOUR VOICE HUSKY? This is a distressing disability that to singers, clergymen, and teachers imposes a wearing burden. A very simple means of relief is found in CATARRHOZONE INITIALER.

SAYINGS FOR FAMOUS MEN. (Chicago Tribune.) Eli Whitney—"That's some gin, believe me." Charles Dickens—"Got change for American notes?"

THE CALL OF THE LINKS. (From Corning Country.) Two Scotchmen met and exchanged the small talk appropriate to the hour. As they were parting to go supperward, Sandy said to Jock:

THIS PAINT IS MADE FOR YOU. IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE ABOUT IT. IT HAS BEEN MADE IN CANADA FOR NEARLY SEVENTY YEARS WITH THE GREATEST SKILL. IT IS KNOWN AS RAMSAYS PAINTS.

We are pleased to be able to inform the bachelors of the town that there will be little change in spring fashions. Socks will be worn with a hole in the heel as usual. Henry Wallace of Micksburg is said by the Pembroke standard to have an interesting novelty in the shape of a bee tree. He discovered a hollow pine tree in the woods last winter and found it inhabited by a fine colony. Drawn home on a sleigh, a considerable section of the tree now stands in his lot; the bees pass in and out through an aperture and seem quite ready to do business when the season opens.

Queen's students, numbering about 45 from freshman to seniors, arrived in Winnipeg the other day, and left for points further west, where the majority of them have accepted teaching positions for the summer months. These students, says the Winnipeg Free Press, form the vanguard of many that annually come west to make money that will help defray collegiate expenses when next term opens. Queen's always finishes earlier in the spring than other eastern universities, and consequently are the first to arrive at their summer work.

The suggestion made by "A Citizen" in last week's Reporter, anent the systematic removal of garbage in the spring, aided and directed by the village council, has met with the approval of many citizens. It is perhaps too late now to adopt the plan originally suggested, in its entirety, but it is not too late for each resident to give necessary attention to the appearance of the street immediately in front of his home. Nothing adds so much to the appearance of the streets or well kept premises as a neat boulevard, and in providing this no doubt the Road Commissioners will direct the Village Officer to give enterprising citizens all necessary assistance.

Some people harbor the belief that newspapers are eager to publish derogatory things. It is a mistake. There isn't a newspaper that could not spring a sensation in the community by merely telling what it knows. There is not a newspaper that does not keep under the lock of secrecy scores of derogatory things which never meet the public ear. Deciding what not to print is the most troublesome part of newspaper work.
