

KILLED FRIEND AND WIFE AND SUICIDED.

Ten Years of Constant Quarreling Culminates in Murder and Suicide.

The Triple Tragedy Followed the Filing of a Divorce Suit.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 1.—A startling triple tragedy, the result of domestic unhappiness and divorce proceedings, was enacted at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the boarding house conducted by Mrs. Victoria Rutherford at 81 Washington avenue, J. B. Rutherford wielded the pistol that snuffed out the lives, and when the bloody work was concluded there lay upon the floor of the room the dead bodies of E. P. Peete, former county clerk, of Tipton county, and Rutherford himself, while over the body of the latter lay his wife gasping for breath, with a mortal wound in her abdomen. A fourth man by the name of Luther, who witnessed the tragedy, and who is supposed to have also been shot, has escaped, and cannot be located by the police.

Peete then came to this city and took up his residence at the home of the Rutherfords. He began to drink heavily after his arrival here. Some months ago Rutherford had his wife arrested on the charge of malicious cutting, alleging that she threw a plate at his head and cut him so severely that he came near bleeding to death. Yesterday afternoon Rutherford, who had been drinking, went to the home of his wife and asked her to withdraw her suit for divorce and return to him. This the woman refused to do, declaring that she had determined to quit him forever. A few angry words passed and the noise of the quarrel attracted Peete and the man Luther to the room just as Rutherford was drawing the pistol from his pocket. "Well, if you won't live with me you can't live at all," declared Rutherford, as he flashed the weapon. Peete tried to grab the pistol, but Rutherford was too quick for him and sent him to the floor dead, with a bullet in his heart. Quick as a flash he turned the weapon on his wife and shot her through the body. Luther ran from the room and Rutherford fired at him as he went out of the door. With cool deliberation the murderer placed the pistol in his own hand and sent a bullet crashing through his brain, expiring immediately. When the police arrived the room presented a ghastly sight. Mrs. Rutherford was in a dying condition and although she was rushed to the city hospital she hardly lived to reach that institution.

FACING MILL FIRE.

Damage to the Extent of $2000 Done Yesterday.

Yesterday morning the Fire Department were called to the Hamilton Facing Mills, on Bay street north. When they arrived the whole of the first floor was in flames, which were attacking the floors above with fierce vigor. A number of streams were thrown into the heart of the fire, which was soon quenched. The damage will amount to about $2,000, it is thought, as the first floor was the only one damaged. The walls of the mill are composed of corrugated iron, and this was invulnerable to fire, thus preventing a great loss. It is not known what caused the blaze, but it is thought it started in the rear of the building. Last night the men were recalled to one such smouldering flames in the woodwork.

CHURCH WEDDING.

Hamilton Young Lady Weds a Toronto Man.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place on Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Annie Nellie Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Conway, was married to Mr. Samuel Ashfield Fitzgerald, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed at 2.30 in St. George's Church by Rev. F. E. Howitt. The bride was given away by her father, and was beautifully gowned in Brussels net over white silk, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Retta Fitzgerald, of Toronto, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and wore a lovely gown of pale blue silk. Miss Fitzgerald carried pink roses. Mr. Fitzgerald was attended by Mr. R. F. Conway, of Dundas.

COME AROUND AND SEE THE GAME.

It is just like seeing the game to hear it called off, every play in detail, just as it takes place. Come around to the TIMES Office at 3 o'clock to-morrow and hear it all from the balcony. LIBERAL MEETINGS.

Hon. A. G. MacKay Will Be Here To-morrow Night.

To-morrow night the Liberal leader in the Ontario Legislature, Hon. A. G. MacKay, will be in Hamilton, and will give an address in the large hall of the Liberal Club, Arcade building, to which all Liberals of Hamilton, and all others who would like to hear this able man speak on political subjects of the day, are very cordially invited. A good deal of importance is attached to Hon. Mr. MacKay's visit, on account of his recent selection as leader, and the fact that this will be his first visit to Hamilton. It is expected that he will speak about one hour. He will be accompanied by Mr. G. F. Inwood, the Liberal organizer, who will speak probably ten minutes. There will also be local speakers—Mr. Adam Zimmerman, M. P., and one or two others. The Association expects a large gathering. The meeting will begin about 8 o'clock, and it is intended to bring it to a close about 10. On Tuesday evening next the Liberal Association will hold its annual meeting in the large hall. Thursday evening next is the night for the Liberal Club opening for the season. The programme will be a good one. On Thursday evening all the township Liberal associations will meet to appoint delegates to the convention to be held here on Saturday, the 9th, to select a candidate for the Dominion House.

BANDMASTERS ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. Geo. Robinson Took Charge Thirty-Eight Years Ago.

Fully 500 Musicians Have Passed Through His Hands.

Band Maintains Its Place in the Front Ranks.

To-day Mr. George R. Robinson, the veteran bandmaster of the 13th, is celebrating his 38th anniversary as conductor and head of the renowned band of this city. Mr. Robinson has seen many changes in the personnel of the band, of which he holds the honorable position as the oldest bandmaster in Canada, and perhaps on the continent, but he still directs its proud course with a firm and steady hand as he has done during the 38 years of his charge. There are few men, indeed, who can point to such a record as the venerable and popular bandmaster. During the time Mr. Robinson has been at the head of the band, it is pretty safe to estimate that 500 men have passed through his hands, and many of them to-day are holding responsible positions, as a result of the careful and conscientious training that was given them by him. There are very few of the present bandmen who have been with Mr. Robinson since he took charge of the band, but it would not be out of place to mention Mr. William Addison, the veteran euphonium player, who at the time he joined the 13th, 38 or 39 years ago, was one of the leading cornet players of this city. Others of the old members are Gilbert Hutton, J. Birns and J. McKenzie, and others have also served almost a lifetime in the 13th. At the time Bandmaster Robinson took charge, in 1869, the 13th was equipped with the old German instruments. A year or so later Mr. Robinson was able to secure the Besson instruments, and they have been used ever since—not the same instruments, of course, but by the same maker—and that in itself is a testimonial as to what the bandmaster thinks of good instruments. Thirty-eight years ago there were a good many regular soldiers in the band. They have all passed away now, and the bandmaster is almost alone in that respect. The band, with Mr. Robinson at its head, has travelled extensively all over the continent. Among the places visited are St. Louis, Denver, Washington, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester, Oswego, Baltimore, Cleveland, Chicago, Saratoga and many places in this Dominion. St. Bernard Commandery, of the Knights Templars, of Chicago, have always retained the band to go with it to the big conventions, and the 13th has always sustained the high reputation it now holds as the premier military band of Canada. Time has dealt kindly with the veteran bandmaster, and he is still active, and it is sincerely hoped that this well-known figure in musical circles will be spared for many years to lead the 13th, and also be identified with musical interests in this city.

The Man In Overalls

Were you thankful? Boys will be boys, especially on Halloween. At $1.50 per we may wish the doctor's visits to be few and far between. Hear MacKay to-morrow night. We had reason to be thankful for the fine Thanksgiving weather we got. Times advertisers have many good stories to tell their customers this evening. Don't miss them. As usual a lot of people spent yesterday making things snug around the house for the winter. After all, the other turkeys are apt to get their necks twisted before Christmas. The Times makes no pretensions to be a Labor paper, but it was the only paper in Hamilton that shut down yesterday, and gave its men a holiday. The men who handle Longboat should not ask him to do the impossible. Kicking is the game in football—kick and follow up. It looks as if the people didn't think it necessary to go to church on Thanksgiving Day to give thanks. To-morrow week my county friends will meet here to choose a parliamentary candidate. A full attendance is expected. Of course it would never do to have a quarry in a public park. Foreman Nelligan talks as if he had something up his sleeve ready for that investigation. The Capital team is capital, but it didn't make much capital out of the Tigers. It doesn't need a doctor to tell us that Hamilton is football crazy. Now for Christmas. It seems that some of the 13th and 91st didn't know that they were dead when they were killed yesterday. Now, if the Toronto soldiers had stuck to the rules of the game, Col. Gibson would have won a famous victory. Three cheers for our brave defenders, any way. On being asked this morning about yesterday's military work, Colonel Gibson replied, "Yes, our forces got here, and we are in possession of Hamilton. I am considering what to do with the place. Probably the first thing to do is to entirely change the form and personnel of the city government."

WOMAN BADLY BURNT TWO FIREMEN HURT

In a Fire in a Small House on Hess Street North This Afternoon.

Miss Sheehan Taken to the City Hospital—Firemen Gilbert and Hottrum Injured.

There was a rather bad fire just after noon to-day at the residence of Mrs. Wilson, 183 Hess street north, as a result of which Miss Mary Sheehan is in the City Hospital suffering from severe burns, and Captain Gilbert, of the Central fire station, and Fireman Hottrum, of the same station, were taken to their homes, suffering from bruises and cuts sustained in a fall when the stairs or the roof of the house gave way. Miss Sheehan was in the summer kitchen and doing something with a lamp, which was probably knocked down and the flames ignited her dress, and quickly set the place on fire. The firemen were called, and immediately turned several streams of water into the place. The fire was not all out till close to 2 o'clock. The ambulance was on the spot early and carried Miss Sheehan to the City Hospital, where she was unconscious at press time. Gilbert and Hottrum are not supposed to be seriously injured, but will not be on duty again for some time. Had it not been for the timely aid of Mrs. Halstead, who lived next door, Gilbert and Hottrum might have been seriously burned. She was standing at the back door of her place when she saw them fall. She ran and gave the alarm to P. C. Duncan, who ordered the ambulance.

OUR INDIANS.

A Prosperous Year—Increase in the Population.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 1.—(Special).—The report of the Indian Department for the last fiscal period was issued to-day. It shows that for the nine months ending March 31st last, the Indians not only escaped abnormal hardship but enjoyed no small measure of prosperity, as evidenced by the fact that their earnings for the nine months were very nearly as large as for the previous year. There were 2,274 births and 2,065 deaths, leaving a net gain of 199. All the provinces show gains, except British Columbia and Alberta. The loss was 62 in British Columbia, 5 in Alberta. On March 31st last the total Indian population was 110,345, compared with 109,394 on June 30, 1906, an increase of 951. Nova Scotia is the only province that shows a decrease, there being 34 for nine months. Earnings from all sources, wages and industries were about two millions and a quarter, $1,239 less than for previous fiscal year.

THE CANADIAN FLAG

Roused the Patriotism of a Chicago Lady For Old Glory.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—A whole Canadian convention and the manager of the Chicago Beach Hotel were brought to a recognition of U. S. patriotism last night by Miss Emily Foster, of the hotel, who advised Manager Gray that if he was to fly a British flag over his hostelry he must fly an American flag from the same staff. Gray held out in favor of the Canadian convention until night when two detectives from Hyde Park police station called to investigate a number of complaints that had been telephoned about the flag. They capitulated and hauled down the flag. Chicago Beach hotel is at present the headquarters of a big convention of Canadian manufacturers. Out of courtesy to the guests the Union Jack with the Canadian emblem, was ordered unfurled.

ABUSE OF THE FLAG.

Attention of Daughters of Empire Called to it.

Hamilton Municipal Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, met this morning. Mrs. P. D. Crerar, the regent, presiding. The meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. Reports from two chapters were read. A letter was read from Mr. Acton, editor of the Canadian Home Journal, in which he spoke of the abuse of the flag in Canada. He complained that it was being put to such common use, such as advertising, that people of Canada would not respect it. He asked that the ladies take the matter in hand and see what could be done. Mrs. Crerar, who will attend the meeting of the D. O. E. in Toronto next Wednesday, will bring the matter up at that time.

WILL BE TIE UP.

General Strike of Employees of British Railways.

London, Nov. 1.—The Executive Committee of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants to-day adopted a resolution to call a general strike. The British railway employees and the companies have been at loggerheads for some time past as to whether the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants would strike to secure recognition of the organization and a new scale of wages and hours, and finally it was decided by the employees to reach a decision by ballot.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The Provincial Board of Health was to-day notified of one case of smallpox at Aurora, two cases at Newmarket and one at Sutton, in York county. In each case the local medical health authorities have taken all necessary precautions. There are a number of suspected cases in several townships on the south shore of Lake Simcoe.

THE VITAGRAPH.

There was a large attendance at the vitagraph shows in the Association Hall both afternoon and evening, and the programme was simply magnificent. The laughter of the audience at some of the films was heard a block away. "The Liquid Electricity Film" was extremely funny, and will not soon be forgotten. The company is putting on the greatest pictures it has ever shown in this city. Complete change of programme is on for to-night and to-morrow shows. See display add.

TRAVELLED FAR.

Paris, Nov. 1.—A toy balloon, one of the many released by the newspaper The Eclair has been found in Finland. It travelled a distance of 1,350 kilometers from Paris, this beating by 25 kilometers the long distance balloon record by Count de la Vaulx.

CAID IN CHAINS.

LIEUT.-COL. W. C. MACDONALD, Who commanded the forces which defended Hamilton yesterday.

THE MISSING ACTOR.

Report That He Was Heading For the City of Hamilton.

New York, Nov. 1.—The latest police theory regarding the whereabouts of Raymond Hitchcock, who disappeared on the eve of his indictment and probable trial on charges made by several young girls, is that the fugitive has gone to Canada. A railroad conductor, who is sure his train took Hitchcock and two companions as far as North Adams, Mass., yesterday, furnished the clue.

A despatch from New York said that Hitchcock was believed to be on his way to Hamilton, Ont.

MOLTKE'S CASE.

Was He Harshly Treated?—To Sue Herr Hoaden.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Harden-Von Moltke has entered on a new phase. It appears that the States Attorney has receded to take up the matter and bring suit against Herr Hoaden, editor of Die Zukunft, before a bench of five judges. This decision is apparently due to the widespread opinion that General Count Kuno Von Moltke was harshly dealt with in last week's trial of the suit for libel against Herr Hoaden.

Love and Crime

"No!" she hisses, sharply. "I mean it is not heavy," she adds, in a sort of curt apology, and she clutches it more tenaciously, as if she fears he may try to take from her custody the possession she so evidently values. "I have lost all the rest of my luggage, I suppose," she remarks, presently, when they are in the train which carries them on to St. Cray's. "My dressing bag is all I have left. If I lose that I shall be quite destitute," I mean, answering, as if compelled by the silent power of Rydall's steadfast, penetrating eyes, "until I can write to my bankers in London, to send me some money."

"That reference to my bankers," Rydall decided, with swift, unerring instinct. "Does she think that is sufficient as a warranty of respectability, I wonder?"

"If you will give me your name and address and describe your luggage to the station inspector, you can have it tomorrow morning. I have no doubt," he says, aloud, as the train "slows" into St. Cray's station. "If you will tell me, I shall be happy to see the inspector myself and have it forwarded to you."

"Thank you," the stranger says, "but I am to fill this evening to be able even to recollect or describe properly all my luggage."

"Queer enough!" is the doctor's mental comment again: "a woman not being able to describe her own trunks, and not seeming very anxious to recover them even!"

As if the woman's small, gray, glittering eyes, which are turned restlessly on him continually, read his thoughts, she says, hurriedly:

"There are two large, dress baskets and a large, leather trunk, with my initials painted on them, and a white star at each end."

"And what are those initials, if I may ask?" Rydall says, very dryly.

"She is getting out of the car as he speaks, and she turns on him at the question, with a curious, spasmodic defiance in her manner."

"The same as these," she says, holding up the dressing bag: "L. S., for Lydia Surtees."

"Then you are Miss Lydia Surtees?" Rydall says, deliberately.

A spark of light seems to flash up at him from the woman's eyes as she says, white lids and pale lashes half hid them once more, and her reply is hissed out through the closed lips.

"Yes, I am Lydia Surtees!" she answers.

CHAPTER V.

"You drove to his hotel that gentleman whom Dr. Gerry was attending, I suppose, Sparrow?" Lady Christabel says to the groom, who is standing at the horse's head when his mistress appears, but who has been enjoying himself immensely for the last ten minutes in watching all the injured people being carried away to the hospital or to their homes.

Lady Christabel's voice is calmly indifferent, and Sparrow answers, briskly:

"No, m'lady. Gentleman said he'd prefer to walk, so he and Dr. Gerry went away together, m'lady."

"Oh," Lady Christabel says, with coldness now in the indifferent tones: "very well." But the pulses beating high in her warm young breast sink down, chilled and quieted at the reply she receives. "Is it—because he has heard who I am that he would not accept anything more at my hands?" she whispers to herself, with trembling lips. "Well, I am sorry. You might have been friendly with me, Cousin Roderic Lindsay; I never injured you."

"Where to, my lady?" Sparrow asks, touching his hat, as Dr. Rydall and his companion reach the brougham, Miss Surtees carrying the heavy dressing bag herself, as Sparrow notices, with wide-open eyes, and putting it carefully into the brougham before she gets in herself.

"Home to the abbey," his mistress says briefly, and is about to follow her strange guest, when Dr. Rydall touches her arm.

"One word, Lady Christabel," he urges, in an undertone, and they move away a few feet distant, and, from the dark aperture of the carriage window, a small, white, triangular face appears, stealthily peering after them with eyes that glitter in the moonlight with a greenish lustre, like a cat's eyes.

"She was watchin' and listenin' her best! Reglar vulgar pryin', I call it!" Sparrow says, severely, in retelling the anecdote to his mother afterward.

"Will you pardon me if I take the liberty of offering you one brief bit of advice, Lady Christabel?" the doctor is saying. "I am an elderly man, knowing the world very well, and you are a very young girl, knowing the world very little."

Even in the wan moonlight the doctor notices the flush of warm color that tinges Christabel's fair face, and sees how the girlish figure grows taller and more haughty.

"Certainly you may advise me, Dr. Rydall," she says, gravely. "What is it?"

"Are you not acting with an over-energetic impulse of kindness in taking this stranger, this lady of whom you know nothing, absolutely nothing, the doctor repeats firmly, "into your home?" My advice is that you do not harbor this woman in your home longer than you can help. I speak in the absence of your father's advice and guidance," he adds, so quietly that no one could detect the irony with which he speaks concerning the selfish, gentle, refined selfish who has never distressed himself to advise or guide anyone in his life.

"I believe I am acting under better guidance than even my father could give me," Lady Christabel says, meekly. "I do not think I can be doing wrong, Dr. Rydall. She will go very soon. Only a day or two to rest and recover from the effects of this dreadful accident."

There is a momentary pause, and then Lady Christabel speaks again, in an altered, faltering voice:

"I should like to see a list of the injured passengers, doctor, if you can get it for me. Their names, I mean, and each one's injury specified. I feel anxious."

"I will get it for you, certainly, Lady Christabel," the doctor replies. "But I can relieve your mind as far as anyone belonging to St. Cray's is concerned. Only poor Mrs. Hassall and her daughter are seriously hurt. The others are a few people with trifling cuts and bruises. And, by the way, speaking on this subject, hasn't this lady—Miss Lydia Surtees she tells me is her name—hasn't she asked a question about the other poor woman in the carriage with her who was killed?"

"Hush, doctor!" Lady Christabel says, in a low tone, rather reproachfully; "she doesn't know she is dead!"

"Oh, she doesn't know she is dead," Dr. Rydall repeats, slowly, with a puzzled air.

"No, not at all," Lady Christabel says, decidedly. "Miss Surtees asked me if the other lady was much hurt, and where had she been taken to, that was all."

"Did Miss Surtees know the poor lady?" the doctor asks, quietly.

"Yes, slightly," Christabel says, briefly, a little resenting a certain cold suspicion in these questions. "They had been staying at the same hotel together, I understood her to say. Miss Surtees told me the lady's name, too, but I have forgotten it."

"Ah, well, she will have to tell the coroner's jury all she knows," Dr. Rydall says, quietly.

But Dr. Rydall and the railway station, and the lights of St. Cray's, have all been left behind and the brougham is bowling softly along the smooth, damp road toward the abbey gates before Miss Surtees utters a word: though Lady Christabel has heard her drawing long, convulsive breaths two or three times in the gloom of the carriage.

"What did he mean by saying I should have to tell the coroner's jury everything. What did he mean?" she demands, in quivering tones of fear and anger. "I am a stranger—I do not know the English law—I have lived on the continent, and in America, all my life, and I do not know why my word cannot be taken without going into a court of justice before a judge. Oh, why should I be tortured! save me from them. You are an English peeress; they will let me alone if you bid them not annoy me!"

"My dear girl," Lady Christabel says, with a touch of ridicule in her voice, "you have large ideas of the privileges of the patrician order. An English jury would make me go into a witness box if it were necessary, if I were a peeress, which I am not, or even if I were a princess of the blood royal. Besides, Miss Surtees," Lady Christabel continues, rather wonderingly, "I was alluding to the accident by which the train went over the embankment not to any individual case or injury."

"Oh, I see!" Miss Surtees interrupts, in an enlightened tone. "Yes, of course! I forgot! I scarcely know what I am saying, Lady Christabel. My mind is wandering continually!"

"I dare say! Poor thing!" Lady Christabel exclaims, with tender pity. "Well, here we are at the abbey now, and you must be and forget your alarms and terrors, dear," she says, with sweet cordiality, "and remember only that you are safe and with friends!"

"Yes, I will think only that I am safe!" the other repeats, in a tone of exultant relief that jars vaguely on Christabel. "At last!" she repeats, in low, intense tones, "I am safe, safe, safe!"

There is a long pause; then the woman who calls herself Miss Surtees, says plaintively:

"Was she much hurt, Lady Christabel. The—the other lady—poor Miss Scrope, I mean. Much hurt? Yes, said, you feared she was. Do you think she will die?"

"I fear her injuries were fatal," Lady Christabel says, reluctantly. "Do not speak of these dreadful things any more at present, dear. His lordship has not been very anxious about me, I hope, Sparrow?" Lady Christabel asks, anxiously, as the groom opens the carriage door.

"Well, no, my lady, not his lordship," Sparrow replies, with perfect truth; "but poor Lady Flora is always prophesying evil, and not good, concerning me!" Christabel says, lightly.

Lady Flora is an elderly spinster stepmother of Lord Cardonnel's, resembling an automatic "walking lady" on the narrow stage of her daily existence.

"Yes, my lady," Sparrow says, eagerly. "She—oh, my goodness, there she is again! It's reglarly awful this evening to hear her howling, my lady. Every time the stable-yard clock chimes the twelve hour she begins, with her paws stretched out, and her head thrown back—"

"Sparrow. What are you talking about?" Lady Christabel demands.

"The mastiff, Berenice, my lady. Hark at her now! She's been going on that way ever since the moon arose!" Sparrow says, very agitatedly.

"And Lady Flora's gone to bed; she says she could not listen to it, my lady. She says it's an omen!"

"I wish Lady Flora would not say such things!" Lady Christabel says, in a tone of much displeasure; "it is very foolish and very wrong. I dare say the maids are all upset and hysterical now. Come, dear Miss Surtees," she says, turning to her stranger guest, with outstretched hands, in the sweet grace of hospitality, "I am sure you are longing for rest and refreshment. I can see how weary and ill you are; you shall go on to my own room."

And as she leads Lydia Surtees across the threshold, again the mournful howl arises through the silence of the half-deserted yards and outbuildings of the old abbey—the long-drawn howl, thrice repeated, of the old mastiff Berenice!

It is 9 o'clock when Lady Christabel goes to her father's study to apologize for her non-appearance at dinner.

Lord Cardonnel listens to her story in a rator bored fashion, and dismisses the matter with a warning not to set herself up as an ultra-heroic philanthropist.

It is not till two days later that the subject is broached again between father and daughter, and it is the occasion of Lord Cardonnel's return from town, when Lady Christabel comes into his study again to give him his afternoon copy of tea, as she has done every day of her life, when at home, since she was twelve years old.

"NIBS" WITH SENIORS
Harrison and Loftus Will Play Against Rough Riders.

The Hamilton Football team, or rather part of it, left this morning for Ottawa, where the Tigers and the Rough Riders meet to-morrow in the big Interprovincial Rugby series.

A number of the players missed the train and they will go on the evening train, along with Manager Thompson and a number of followers of the champions. Gordon Southam, the clever centre back of the Tigers, was more seriously hurt in yesterday's game than was first supposed and he will not be able to play to-morrow; in fact, he may not be able to play again this season.

One of his feet is so badly swollen that he is unable to get his boot on. His absence will be keenly felt by the team. As the Tiger second's opponents to-morrow should be easy for the home team, Nibs Harrison has been induced to go to Ottawa with the seniors to-morrow. Harrison is a good punter and has more than once rendered valuable service to the champions. Loftus will likely be in the game to-morrow, too. He and Zimmerman, Climie and Burton will go along with the regulars.

The Tiger team will practise to-night at the Cricket Grounds at 7.30. All players are urgently requested to be on hand, as it is necessary for a full practice, as Berlin, who defeated Aura Lee, Toronto, yesterday, 56-0, play here on the 9th. It looks now that Berlin is the strongest team in the Junior O. R. F. U. this year they will certainly have to get and if the Cubs want to win the honors down to practice. This game on the 9th will be the first of home and home in the semi-final O. R. F. U. The winners will play off with Toronto on the 23rd, and the winners then will play with the winners of the eastern district.

Fancy Roller Skating.
Lovers of roller skating will have the last opportunity this evening and to-morrow, at three sessions, of witnessing what can really be done on rollers in the way of intricate and fancy movements. The El Rey children have been at the Alexandra all week and have drawn large crowds of every performance. They are undoubtedly one of the best teams in the business and their fancy skating in single and couple movements brought forth rounds of applause. They are very pretty children, and neat and graceful in their actions, and do all their acts with great exactitude on heels and toes alternately—an exceedingly difficult trick—and as an encore give a beginner and instructor turn which is very amusing and never fails to provoke a good laugh. The little girls appear at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning at a band at this session and will be a band at this session and no extra charge of admission.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The recovered seat plan for the special lecture on Health to be given by Mr. Barton in the Association Hall, is now ready at Northumberland. Members are again requested to call and secure their tickets at the Y. M. C. A. office.

Paterson, of Calcutta, India, Charles S. Paterson, of Quebec, is in the city, and will address a meeting of ladies at 2.30 on the 12th inst. The boys of India, and this afternoon on the 22nd of each month is at 4.30 hrs will be served to all men who come, after which Mr. Paterson will speak at 5.30 p. m. Mr. G. A. work in India. Mr. J. Loyd of Murray will also be present, and speak on some of his interesting experiences in India. Any man interested will be kindly welcome.

LATE CHARLES LENZ.
Body Was Interred in Hamilton Cemetery This Afternoon.

After a diligent search of two days the body of Mr. Charles Lenz, drowned on Monday, near Magill Island, was recovered about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The bay in the vicinity of the drowning had been literally covered with boats up to the time of the finding of the body.

Mr. Lenz was a member of the employees of the Whip Company, were out working hard with irons and about 5 o'clock their efforts were rewarded when the body was raised about 500 feet from the shore in front of Station 9. It was brought to this city and prepared for burial. Coroner Woodworth, with Attorney General, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. It is thought that the deceased met his death shortly after 4 o'clock as his watch, which was in his pocket was stopped at 4:18.

A fact that has not been stated before was that one not only was in the boat—the other being in the water. It is now believed that Mr. Lenz had either lost an oar and was trying to recover it, or was trying the depth of the water when he fell overboard.

The Sewers Committee will meet tonight to deal with considerable important business. City Engineer Barrow will report on repairs required at the Wentworth street disposal works, and the committee will consider the continuing of the Ferguson avenue and Catharine street sewers through the revetment wall. Other business includes the following:

T. D. J. Farmer, for sewer accommodation for two houses on Main street. Westinghouse Company, asking that they be advised as to motors for new disposal works.

Schultz is forwarding formal agreement to be signed by all parties residing outside the limits of the city before connections with city sewers is permitted.

George Lynch-Staunton, for permission to reopen drain across the road from the bottom of Marshall's lime kiln, opposite the Mountain View Hotel, and running into James street sewer.

The Parks Commissioners have decided to offer $2,000 for the Gage property, east of the Wentworth Street Incline, which is wanted in connection with the mountain drive scheme. The owner wants $3,000. If he refuses to accept the Board's offer expropriation proceedings will be begun at once.

Dr. Roberts, Medical Health Officer, says he expects to raise the quarantine on the Birch avenue, in which a hospital patient has been confined, to-morrow. The patient has entirely recovered.

The total value of building permits issued this year was $102,800, as compared with $122,575 last year, a falling off of $19,775.

Pretty Thanksgiving Day Wedding in This City.
A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Robbins, 164 Locke street south, on Thanksgiving Day. Miss Hazel Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robbins, was united in marriage to Mr. George Rowat, of Flos. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. MacLachlan, B. A., of St. James Presbyterian Church, this city, at 11.30 o'clock in the presence of a few of their friends and acquaintances. After the ceremony all present sat down to a most enjoyable dinner. The bride was Miss Jeanette Rowat, of Elmville. The bridesmaid, Mr. William Rowat, brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton took an afternoon train for points west.

SAVED LIVES OF PUPILS.
Waved Large Union Jack in Faces of Runaway Horses.
Saskatoon, Oct. 31.—A serious accident was narrowly avoided on Wednesday afternoon by the timely action of a young man, who, at the moment of the accident, was in the school at the Alexandra School in Saskatoon West, a team of runaway horses was noticed heading towards the school building. The driver of the group of school children, Mr. Irvine, at once seized a large Union Jack which one of the pupils was carrying, and pushing his way towards the horses, vigorously waved it before the animals with such good effect that they swerved around and headed in another direction.

The horses had almost reached the children, when the prompt action of the principal there is not the least doubt but that there would have been a dozen or more seriously and perhaps fatally injured, if not killed.

INFLUX OF JAPS.
Boarding House Keepers Have Contracts With Railways.
Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 31.—W. L. Mackenzie King, of Elmville, the grocerman, who is investigating the claims of Japanese arising out of the recent riots, has secured evidence showing the existence of a system employed by boarding-housekeepers to bring Jap laborers into the country.

Four organizations here, who have contracts with the railway companies and others to supply laborers, deal with similar companies at Japan. The immigrants are taken care of by boarding-housekeepers here who supply them with wages, and take about ten per cent of their wages as long as they are on the job. The men have also to pay the companies in Japan.

MOTHER'S RASH ACT.
Attempts to Poison Two Children and Commit Suicide.
Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Henry M. Leonard, 25 years old, the wife of a man of this city, attempted to kill herself and two small children yesterday afternoon by taking bichloride of mercury, giving some of it to the children and then turning on the gas in her room.

The return of her husband from work frustrated the woman's attempt in part, at least. Marie, a four-year-old daughter, seems greatly unaffected, but the mother and a ten-month-old daughter are in the city hospital in a critical condition. Ill-health is given as the cause for the woman's act.

SIX KILLED.
Berlin, Nov. 1.—A mixed freight and passenger train was derailed to-day on the Rhenish railway road, near Bingen-on-the-Rhine. Six persons were killed and fourteen others were dangerously injured.

THE HAMILTON TIMES

FRIDAY, NOV. 1, 1907.

THE HOLIDAY.

Yesterday was a great day in Hamilton. No need to go from home for amusement or excitement. Plenty of it here. The sham fight drew a large crowd out in the fore part of the day. The road race had also its usual crowd, and the football match in the afternoon was witnessed by about five thousand people, a record attendance. The theatre were well patronized, all places of amusement being crowded at the various performances. Towards evening some of the rougher element took advantage of the Halloween custom to play pranks, but altogether the day passed off pleasantly.

THE SHAM BATTLE.

Yesterday's sham fight was a highly successful affair, viewed from almost any standpoint. It was an ideal day for such an event, the plan of battle was carried out without a hitch, the troops were enthusiastic in their work, and the citizens showed great interest in the manoeuvres, turning out in large numbers to watch them. The battle may be described as a drawn one, although Gen. Otter was inclined to give the attacking force the advantage because it cut Col. Gibson's connections before he had been able to throw sufficient troops into Hamilton to save it from capture. He, however, had nothing but praise for both officers and men of both sides. The fight gave the officers and troops an inkling of what the "real thing" would be like, and it is pleasant to think that they showed up to such good advantage.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER.

Contrary to expectation no official announcement was made yesterday by the Ontario Government as to its power policy, and as yet the whole thing, so far as the public is concerned, is very much in the air. The Globe had, however, yesterday what looked like a semi-official announcement to the effect that the Government had decided not to ask the municipalities interested to become jointly responsible for the cost of the transmission lines required to carry Niagara power through the region tributary to the Falls, but will build the lines as a public enterprise. There will be a main pole line from Niagara to Hamilton, and from Hamilton a loop line will circle the western part of the Province, touching Guelph, Galt, Stratford, St. Mary's, Woodstock, Brantford and other points in its sweep, and a special line from Hamilton will provide for Toronto. The construction of these lines, however, is contingent upon the municipalities in the district voting to contract for power. Their action, of course, will be determined by the nature of the offer made them by the Government, and until that is known no opinion can be expressed as to how they will act. The situation may be described as follows: The Government will build the transmission lines if the municipalities interested will contract for power, and the municipalities may do so if the Government's offer of power is attractive enough to make them enter into a contract. In the meantime the latter is waiting for the Government's figures. Our Fire and Water Committee is still in a quandary as to its electric pumps.

The Globe, which has apparently some inside information, states to-day that the building of the transmission lines by the Government does not mean that the work is to be done at the general expense of the Province. On the contrary, we are told, the municipalities entering into contracts with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for supplies of power eventually assume the cost and recoup the Government for its outlay.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Go out and hear MacKay at the opening of the Liberal Club.

The sharp frosts of recent mornings have not damaged the overdrift.

But we hope you did not exhaust your gratitude by one day of thanksgiving.

After looking at the portraits of three of Toronto's controllers in the News we have ceased to wonder at the kind of city government Toronto gets.

Copper prices are climbing upward again. The metal is pretty well under control of the ring, and is not likely long to remain at present figures.

That attacking force may be thankful that the sand-sucker was on invalid leave. If we had turned it on them one shudder to think of the consequences.

Ferrows deepen in the classic brow of Mayor Stewart. It's worrying to be unable to sleep without having somebody gallop a huge three-legged nightmare over one's darling second-term boom.

Leader MacKay, who will speak in Hamilton to-morrow evening, declares that the Liberals in Ontario are in fighting trim, and he is anxious to have the candidates early in the field. He is already in the fight himself, and believes that Whitney has no sure thing of it in the coming struggle.

There is no denying the fact that this city is football crazy. The Tigers are to blame for this. The way in which they trounced Ottawa yesterday shows that they are right in line for the championship. Another victory to-morrow will bring them one step nearer to the goal, which all Hamiltonians wish they will reach.

MR. FLATT'S PARK OFFER.

Had Sold Portion of Property to Stuart & Long.

Before and Not After the Offer Was Made to City.

The Offer of Flatt and Stuart Stands Good Until Nov. 15th.

The following correspondence explains itself:

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir—Your paper contained an article on Wednesday last referring to the land which I offered to the city for park purposes west of Garth street. The article was somewhat misleading, and would make the reader believe that I had disposed of a portion of the land after making a proposition to the Parks Board, which is not so. In order to make this matter plain, I herewith enclose the letter written to the Parks Board and also enclose its letter to me. You will see by the correspondence that my offer was based upon about eighteen acres. The land extends from Garth street to the golf links on the west, and from the Hamilton & Brantford Electric Railway to the mountain brow, thus taking in a portion of Chedoke ravine. Before these negotiations took place I disposed of about five acres to Messrs. Stuart and Long, lying next to my southerly line in Chedoke ravine. This sale was made owing to the fact of there being a large quantity of loose stone in this portion of the ravine, which we require for foundations in building up the southwest portion of the city. This stone can be removed without destroying the trees, and the property will be much more valuable to the city after its removal, and the necessary roads constructed in getting them out. I may say that it was only on my solicitation that Mr. Stuart agreed to value this property at $3,900, and he (Stuart) much prefers to remove the stone, after which, he assures me, the city can purchase the land, at a reasonable price. I am in a position to know that I could realize a very handsome sum on the land I offer. My desire has been to make a gift to the city of this land, and in settling forth the conditions, the principal one being the macadamizing of Garth street, the Board of Works will agree that this street will have to be macadamized at an early date in any event. The offer from Mr. Stuart holds good until November 15th. I have advised the Parks Board also that my offer will be withdrawn if not acted upon by November 15th. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, yours very truly, W. D. FLATT.

City Clerk's Office, Hamilton, Aug. 13, 1907.

W. D. Flatt, Esq., City Clerk.
Dear Sir—I am directed by the Board of Park Management to communicate with you regarding the proposal made to Mr. F. C. Bruce to donate some eighteen acres on mountain side west of Garth street for a park. Mr. Bruce was given to understand that there were some conditions attached to the proposal, and the board would be pleased to be made aware of them. Yours truly, A. P. Kappel, Secretary.

Hamilton, Aug. 19, 1907.

A. P. Kappel, Esq., Secretary, Board of Park Management, City.
Dear Sir—Replying to your favor of the 13th inst., I will agree to donate the land west of Garth street for park purposes on the following conditions: 1. That a cement walk be constructed along the west side of Garth from Aberdeen avenue south to the Hamilton & Brantford Railway. 2. That Garth street be macadamized from Aberdeen avenue south to the mountain, this work to be completed by Sept. 1, 1908. 3. That the city expend at least $300 per year for ten years in beautifying this property, said property to be kept for park purposes for all time. I would like the matter dealt with at your earliest convenience. I trust your committee will find it convenient to name a date that we may go over the property together. It has been my desire to donate the property in question to the city without any remuneration, given to understand that there were some conditions attached to the proposal, and the board would be pleased to be made aware of them. Yours truly, W. D. Flatt.

MARSHALL IS THE NEW MAN.

Appointed Superintendent of Parks On Terms Previously Named.

Caretaker Weaver Wanted Chance to Defend Himself

But Board Refused Request of His Solicitor.

The Parks Board on Wednesday afternoon, after refusing the request of J. G. Farmer, solicitor for Samuel Weaver, caretaker of Dundurn Park, whose dismissal followed charges made by Commissioner Wild, to defer action until his client had an opportunity of appearing and putting in a defence, appointed Harry Marshall, 643 King street east, superintendent of parks. The appointment was unanimous, and dates from Jan. 1. Mr. Marshall will receive a salary of $1,000 a year, free house, light and fuel, what he asked for in his application.

After the names of the applicants and their credentials had been placed before the board, Mr. Farmer secured permission to speak. "I would like to say a few words on behalf of Mr. Weaver," he said. "I have been asked by some of his friends and by Mr. Weaver himself to request you to defer making an appointment until he has an opportunity of presenting his case to the board. Mr. Peebles, one of those who asked me to appear, says he could have a deputation of 500 people here if necessary. Mr. Weaver's friends feel that he has been rather harshly dealt with. He has been in the city's employ several years, and has not been getting high wages. His friends feel that some arrangement might be made, with winter coming on, so that he would not be thrown down altogether. They feel that he should at least be given a chance to defend himself against the charges made against him. If there is anything in the charges or if he has been delinquent, he might be reprimanded and given another chance. Mr. Weaver denies these charges, and of being drunk on duty. Mr. Wild denied that he had said the caretaker was drunk on duty. "He said he had been told that you said that," explained Mr. Farmer. "He is liable to say anything," replied Mr. Wild. "He has said lots of things, but he cannot prove them. He has had a chance all summer to do better. "Has he ever been drunk on duty?" inquired Mr. Farmer. "No," said Mr. Wild, and added: "The trouble is he had such a swelled head he thought he was there for life, and that he could not be put off. That is the trouble. He has been warned, and again, and would not do right then." "It seems on British fair play that he should be given a chance to come here and defend himself," persisted Mr. Farmer.

"I move that the matter remain as acted upon," said Commissioner Leck. "I don't see any necessity for resigning before any action," observed Commissioner Bruce. "If you do not feel satisfied that you should have a chance it is no trouble to me. I can step off this board at any time," added Commissioner Wild. "I would not put up with it another week. I would not have that man in my employ one day and the goings-on up there." Mr. Farmer argued that he was not asking the board to retain Mr. Weaver, but simply to give him a hearing and afford him an opportunity of putting himself right before the public. Dismissing him in the manner they were charging him to do would be a disgrace. Commissioner Wild argued that forty Grand Trunk employees had been discharged recently without any explanation. "Other men have been discharged without any explanation," commented Commissioner Bruce. "I know it would be $150 in my pocket to get off this board," said Commissioner Wild. "I think it is impossible to rescind the action we have already taken," observed Commissioner Hope.

Mr. Farmer retired and without further delay the Board took up the appointment of the new superintendent. There were nine applications as follows: J. A. Coleman, city. George Dowler, Grimsby. A. Wilson, city. Charles Hall, Cobourg. Harry Marshall, city. T. K. Robertson, Beamsville. J. W. Pinder, city.

Charles C. Wood, Welland. Michael McKay, city.

Several of the applicants had flattering recommendations. Mr. McKay was employed for years as chief gardener by the Earl of Glasgow and the Earl of Selkirk in the old country. Mr. Robertson had recommendations from Hugh Guthrie, K. C. of Guelph, and Senator Gibson. Mr. Marshall had excellent references from J. Turnbull, manager of the Bank of Hamilton; A. G. Ramsay; C. D. Grant; W. A. Bolton, E. D. Cahill, John Proctor, and others. Commissioner Hope thought Mr. Robertson would be a good man, but after considerable discussion no objection was offered. When Commissioner Bruce, seconded by Commissioner Kavanagh, moved that Mr. Marshall be appointed on the terms mentioned above. Caretaker Weaver lived in part of the Dundurn Castle. The Board agreed that the new man would occupy the battery, leaving the castle entirely for sight seeing purposes.

BURNING ACCIDENT.

Mrs. A. Robinson, who drove out from this city to Cayuga with her young daughter, Dorothy, last week, to spend a couple of weeks, the guest of Mr. A. Bird, was badly burned while there. Mrs. Robinson went into the store and lit a match to start the gas fire, but the gas had previously been turned on and burst out suddenly burning her severely on the hands and arms. She returned to the dining-room, where the members of the fire department were assembled, and although she was badly unconscious, medical assistance was hastily procured, but it was fully twenty minutes before she regained consciousness. Her burns were soon dressed and she is progressing favorably.

A BAD EXPLOSION.

Principal Neyland of the Art School Badly Injured.

On Wednesday evening a very serious accident happened to Principal Neyland, of the Art School, while he was out in his auto on the Dundas road. Mr. Neyland was in a party of friends driving his fine big aluminum-colored car when he noticed that it was not working right. He opened the hood in the front and was arrested by an explosion of gasoline that might have killed him. He was blown from the car and thrown some distance, and his face was badly burned. He was removed to the home of Dr. Wickens, on James street south, as quickly as possible, and medical attention was given him. Dr. Wickens, who has been in constant attendance on him, stated this morning that Mr. Neyland's right eye was the only thing he is now afraid of, and he hopes to save it. The front part of the machine, which was one of the best in the city, was blown to atoms, and the engine was irreparably damaged. It is not known what caused the explosion, unless it was that the gasoline feed pipe was leaking and that a spark reached it when the hood was opened. The other members of the party were not injured.

COL. GIBSON BLAMES CITY.

Says If Crossing Was Appropriated by Grand Trunk

City Was Responsible and Should Pay Part of Cost.

Matter Will Be Threshed Out by Board Later On.

The chief matter of interest to Hamilton dealt with at the afternoon session of the Dominion Railway Board on Wednesday was the Grand Trunk's application for an order confirming the building of the switch across Barton street at Ferguson avenue. This was the case in which the Grand Trunk began building the switch across the Street Railway's tracks, when that company interfered, and had an injunction issued. It was agreed then to have the Railway Commission settle the matter. Hon. J. M. Gibson, who represented the Street Railway Company, said that if there was a deal of the crossing by the Grand Trunk it was done at the instance of the city and under the direction of the city, and the city should be made a party to the order, compelling it to pay part of the costs of protecting the crossing. The Board directed the company to apply for an order for protection at the crossing. Edward Kenrick, on behalf of Ancester, asked to have an order compelling the railway to put an electric bell on the crossing at the village. Mr. Kenrick was instructed to keep tabs on the traffic over the crossing, so that the Board can decide if an order is necessary. Judgment in the various other matters, including the following, was reserved: The city's application for an order authorizing the construction of Trolley street across the T. H. & B. spur. The Niagara & St. Catharines Railway's application for an order approving its plans and profiles for a proposed line in Brantford. The Brantford & Hamilton Railway's request for approval of the location of its railway from Cainsville to Market street, in Brantford, and the crossing with its transmission lines over the Grand Trunk tracks at Cainsville.

John Was Huffed.

In the olden time a woman in the north of Scotland went to visit her husband, who was condemned to be hanged on the following day. The doomed man began to give his last instructions to his wife preparatory to bidding her farewell, when all at once she broke in upon the conversation, and exclaimed: "By the by, John, what will I plant the tatties this year?" The unfortunate man, as may be imagined, grew exceedingly indignant at the indifference of his wife, and exclaimed, angrily: "What need I care what ye plant them? I'm no likely to need any o' them." "Hech," replied the woman, turning to the warder with a wag of the head, "poor John's huffed because he's gann to be hanged the morn." and marched out of the cell.

Her Little Ruse

Billy Brass, office boy, stood with his back to the office fire, his hands deep in his trousers' pockets, and regarded the clerks with a patronizing air.

"Have you heard the latest?" he asked, in the tone of one who is in possession of a secret and longs to have the pleasure of sharing it with some one.

"Ethel has given notice!" he announced. The effect was immediate and pronounced.

Twelve heads were raised simultaneously and twenty-three eyes—Capper had a glass one—looked inquiringly at Billy.

Perhaps the flush that mounted to the cheeks of Harry Wilmore, a blonde good-looking young giant, was more pronounced than any of the others, but in the general consternation no one noticed that.

Ethel, it should be explained, was Miss Anson, the pretty typewriter, who had condescended to brighten the dull city warehouse with her charming presence during the past three months.

"Ah!" said Billy, with a grin, "I thought that would make you sit up. Look at Capper; he's going to faint. The news has been too much for him. Capper was well with Ethel till I cut him out."

"Barnes," said Capper, in quiet, earnest tones, "will you kindly hand me that ruler? I've got writer's cramp and I understand exercise is good for it."

By a strategic movement Billy got between Capper and the door, where he stood grinning.

"I'll kill that boy some day," said Capper, resuming his seat.

"He needs a good thrashing," said Barnes. "There's been no holding him since he got into long trousers."

"Oh, hasn't there?" explained Billy. "Look here, Barnes, you needn't put your ear in. Everyone knows you tried to court Ethel, but she told me she declined having anything to do with a fellow who parted his hair as you do."

"This allusion to Barnes' scanty locks raised a laugh and had also the effect of putting that gentleman into a rage."

"He made a rush at Billy and caught him just as he reached the door. Lifting the boy, he flung him on the counter, face down, heels up."

"Hold his feet, Gregson," yelled Barnes, an alert, bright-eyed youth, complied.

"Now, hand me that ruler, Capper!" cried Barnes. "I've got writer's cramp, too."

Capper did as requested, and Barnes applied the rod in orthodox fashion.

"How do you feel, now?" inquired Barnes, when the operation was over.

"It's a capital joke, ain't it?"

Billy glared at his chastiser, not knowing whether to laugh or cry.

"You coward!" he said. "Three of you to one!"

"Why don't you sit down, Billy?" said Gregson, winking at the others.

"There's a cool seat over there," indicated Capper.

Billy walked to his desk, remarking that they would one day find them selves in a place where cool seats are at a premium.

Just then Watson, who had gone on with his work as if nothing unusual had taken place looked up from his desk.

"Now that we've got all the preliminaries over," he said, "perhaps Billy will tell us how, or where, he got his information about Miss Anson?"

"Billy will see you," said Gregson, "he doesn't know any more than we do."

"Oh, doesn't he, though?" said Billy scornfully.

"He'll be telling us next," went on Watson, "that the governor consulted him about the matter."

"The boss might do worse than that," said Billy. "But I didn't get any news from him."

"Who told you?" asked Barnes.

"The dear, adorable Ethel herself," said Billy, now feeling himself again.

"She goes about the end of the month."

"Why is she leaving?" said Capper, unable to conceal his curiosity.

Billy looked across at him and grinned. Then in a stage whisper he said:

"She's getting married! Don't faint, Capper; added he in a louder tone.

Capper laid his hand on the ruler, and Billy thought his glass eye looked fiercer than the other one.

"I'm awfully sorry for you fellows," said the boy, quite seriously.

"That's very kind of you," returned Watson. "Look out! Here's the Governor!"

A moment later every unit in the small army of clerks was industry perfumed, but it was with sad hearts that they applied themselves to the columns of figures, for their minds were otherwise engaged.

When first Miss Anson had presented her dainty self at the door of the counting house all observed with joy that the girl's left hand was unadorned with jewelry of any description, and the general jealousy that arose in the matter of paying her attentions must have been highly gratifying to the lady's vanity.

She accepted them all, but appeared to favor no one in particular.

For reasons of his own, however, Harry Wilmore cherished a secret hope—indefinite, perhaps, but still a hope. He had gone on cherishing it until the moment when Billy condescended to detail but now it was nailed down to detail.

Next morning Miss Anson walked through the counting house unobscured, and holding her left hand in a manner calculated to display to its best advantage an engagement ring, which glittered and twinkled cheerfully on the correct finger.

Wilmore gazed at it, first, sorrowfully, then resentfully, and finally in a fit of desperation, came to the decision that, ring or no ring, he would ask Miss Anson to meet him that evening after office hours.

Somewhat to his surprise, she consented. They met, and, having cleared the outskirts of the town, the attractiveness of a seat beneath some trees suggested itself to them.

They sat, and thereafter for some moments there was silence.

Wilmore fidgeted uneasily on his end of the seat, and pulled out his handkerchief.

Not being quite sure what he wanted to do, he put it back and coughed apologetically.

"Thank goodness," said Miss Anson, fervently.

"I beg your pardon."

"I thought you were never going to utter another sound," she explained, with an amused look at his troubled face. "It's quite a quarter of an hour we've met, yet you've scarcely said a word."

"I removed her gloves, and from where he sat the offending ring was plainly visible.

"He glanced at it furtively.

"I do wish you'd say something," she observed, plaintively. "If I'd thought you were going to be so moody and sulky as this, I'm sure I'd never have consented to favor you with my company to-night."

"You look upon it as a favor," hinted Wilmore.

"Of course," she said. "Wouldn't any of the others have jumped at the chance, don't you think? You ought to feel flattered instead of moping there like an owl!"

"Yes," answered Wilmore, listlessly.

"Then, why do you do it?" she demanded. "Why don't you say something pleasant?"

Wilmore was silent.

"He wanted to say something very badly, but the ring kept it back.

Miss Anson grew desperate.

"Do you know?" Mr. Wilmore," she cried. "I am dreadfully tired of office life."

"Are you, Miss Anson?"

"Yes, and I sha'n't be a bit sorry when my month is up."

Wilmore winced, then braced himself for the ordeal.

"That, I suppose, is only natural," he said. "Er—I hope he is in a—er—good position, Miss Anson?"

"Yes," she said, slowly, "he's in a good position—good enough for me; but he's awfully dense."

"Dense?" echoed Wilmore.

"Yes," she replied, "wofully dense and stupid. Considering the encouragement I've given him, I wonder he hasn't—didn't ask me weeks ago."

"Some fellows don't know when they're lucky," assented Wilmore. "Er—do I know the chap?"

"Why, yes."

"He's employed in the counting house with you."

"That Wilmore's face expressed amazement first and then disgust.

"What's his name?" he demanded.

"Really, I don't feel at liberty to disclose that," she answered, naively.

"But I must know," he burst out. "I have a right to."

He stopped abruptly and felt utterly disgusted as she burst into a musical peal of laughter.

"Oh, dear!" she gasped, "this is killing!"

"It will be in the end," said Wilmore, mournfully, looking at her joyous features, and thinking of his own sad fate.

His doleful countenance, however, only seemed to stimulate Miss Anson's laughter, and her pretty shoulders heaved convulsively, and her cheeks dimpled.

"I never saw anybody look so sorrowful as you," she jerked out. "Your face is funny!"

Miss Anson nodded feebly, and her laughter increased.

"Yes," she said, weakly. "Your face is funny—awfully funny!"

"I shall hate you soon," he observed, vindictively, "if you don't stop that sniggering."

"You could never do that," she said, nodding her pretty head confidently toward him.

"A man never hates a pretty girl. He thinks he does—that's all."

"Who told you that you were pretty?" he asked.

"No, but lots of other fellows have," she asserted warmly. "But that's enough about it," she added. "When I met you to-night, Mr. Wilmore, I had no idea that you would quarrel. I always thought you a nice fellow, but now I firmly believe that you are nasty tempered."

"And you're nothing better than a heartless flirt!" he burst out angrily.

"You, being engaged to another fellow, have deliberately encouraged me to love you, and then I am idiot enough to show it you—you simply laugh in my face."

"Laugh! Oh, dear me! You—you're too ridiculous!" and after one or two gasps she once more gave way to uncontrollable mirth.

Wilmore rose to his feet and stood looking down at her wrathfully.

"I'll leave you to finish your laughter in solitude," he remarked, with angry sarcasm. "And—and—I'm hanged if I won't find out the chap that you are engaged to and get him the sack."

"This awful threat, far from subduing Miss Anson, made her laugh more than ever.

"Who put that ring on there?" he demanded. "I'm going to know before we part to-night."

Miss Anson struggled with her mirth and became suddenly serious.

"If you'll promise not to fulfill your threat of getting the person dismissed I'll tell you."

"I promise, I didn't mean it," he pleaded anxiously. "I wouldn't play such a trick."

"Then," she said slowly, "the person who put the ring on my finger was—"

"Yes!" he queried eagerly, "as she paused and seemed on the point of laughing again.

"My—oh, dear—myself," she gasped.

"You—you put it on yourself?" he repeated dazedly. "Why?"

"I do."

"Well, then," she said, moving back along the seat and looking at him roughly, "I will tell you. When I first came to the office I thought they were such a nice lot of fellows, and I didn't really know that I liked one more than the others. Consequently, I tried them all, and managed to make them all so fond of me that I saw I was going to get into hot water. Then I found out that I liked one better than all the rest, but he was so dense and bashful that I was afraid that I should receive the proposals of all the others before him, and—and I didn't want them. So, to make a long story short, I gave out that I was going to be married, and put on the ring in self-defense—to keep them at their proper distance. I knew the one I liked was safe enough, and that I could draw him out whenever I wished, but I thought he deserved to be tested a little longer for being so stupid, and—well I believe that's all."

"Except his name," said Wilmore tensely. "You haven't told me yet who he is."

Miss Anson lifted her head and smiled winningly in his direction.

"Don't you think you are silly not to guess?" she said.

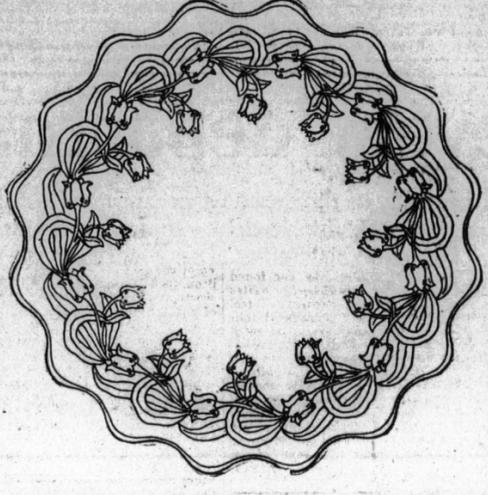

Next morning Billy Brass bounded into the office in a state of great excitement.

Neither Miss Anson nor Wilmore had arrived yet—a fact of which he was perfectly aware.

"I say you fellows," he burst out, "what do you think I saw last night?"

COURTS MAY BE GOOD,

But an Old Fashioned Faction Fight is Better.

Brampton, Oct. 31.—In the Police Court here yesterday Neil McCallum, a well-known farmer and dealer in horses, was committed to stand his trial for alleged fraud in connection with a note given in a horse deal. The complainants were John McBride, Belfountain, and his son, Deputy Reeve McBride, well-known farmers of Calodee township. The latter with friends were at the C. P. R. station waiting for the 6.30 p. m. train to go home when McCallum and his two sons, young men, made their appearance.

A hot dispute arose, followed by blows, and the waiting-room of the station became the scene of the worst row seen in that town for years. When the battle was over the elder McCallum was unconscious, and remained so for half an hour. Reports came down town that he was dead, but an hour and a half later he had recovered sufficiently to admit of his being driven home.

The Caledon party took the train for the north, some of them bearing wounds received in the encounter. The row is the talk of the town.

Paris, Oct. 31.—Robert McKee, aged 17, lost his right hand this afternoon from a shooting accident. He and a couple of other boys were out shooting and sat down for a rest. In moving about one of McKee's companions struck the hammer of the gun with his boot, causing it to go off. The charge carried away part of McKee's right hand and wrist. He was hurriedly brought to town, and it was found necessary to amputate the arm above the wrist.

BLACHFORD & SON

FUNERAL DIRECTORS 57 KING STREET WEST Established 1840. Private Mortuary. Branch Office—Corner Barton street and Birch avenue.

BATTLE OF ANCESTER WAS VALLEY WAS DECLARED TO BE A DRAW.

Col. Gibson, In Command of the Invading Forces, However, Succeeded In Getting Eight Companies Into Hamilton.

The Battle Covered a Widely Extended Territory and the Ground Was Well Chosen--Some Incidents and Accidents.

The big sham fight west of the city yesterday, when over three thousand soldiers engaged in mimic warfare, thundering at each other across hill and dale, made old Dundas valley echo and re-echo with the booming of big cannon and the crashing fire of musketry, was a draw. This was the decision of Brigadier-General Otter, C. B. A. D. C., umpire-in-chief. Colonel Gibson, commander of the grey force, supposed to have reached Brantford unopposed the night before, and to be sweeping on to Hamilton, which he was to occupy and defend, succeeded in getting part of his troops into the city, but General Otter held that he had not been successful in maintaining communication with Brantford. This, in his opinion, was the pivot on which the whole outcome depended.

Colonel Gibson contended that his troops had succeeded in checking the red force at the mountain brow until the main body moved on to Hamilton, and against the argument that his base of supplies at Brantford had been cut off, declared that before starting out he had changed this to the Caledonia road, making Port Colborne the base.

Colonel Macdonald, in the red force, admitted that while the Queen's Own and Grenadiers were unable to gain the crest of the mountain at the outset, that the main attack on this point, directed by Colonel Mason, finally resulted in part of his force reaching the top and extending in a semi-circle east of Brantford's road, in the direction of the fourth concession. His eastern column had carried into effect orders, taking up a position at the church, where it got into contact with the enemy's cavalry. Another section had moved along the Hamilton and Dundas road, three-quarters of a mile easterly, and then went up the mountain top. The west force went along the Governor's road, and while meeting with a temporary check, made a detour to the left, entered Ancaster while the cavalry pushed on to a point on the old Indian trail, cutting communication with Brantford, by rail and wire. The engineers destroyed the electric railway at Ancaster before 2 o'clock.

General Otter's Impression. General Otter, after hearing the reports of the commanding officers of the opposing forces, and chief umpires at the conference held at the Rifle Range clubhouse, after the battle was over, gave his impressions. "I have seen a good deal of the work today," he said, "and the conclusion I have come to is not a very satisfactory one; rather I think myself that Colonel Gibson succeeded in getting into Hamilton with eight companies, but his line of communication was cut and I do not think he was justified in not defending Ancaster and keeping off that part of the red force. I think it was going to be held, but it was not, and weakened the position, allowing the right flank to get in and cut communication. In connection with that comes up the question of the base of the Grey force being changed.

General Otter argued that in changing the base all the conditions were changed and while it might be possible in actual warfare he intimated it was not customary in field day tactics. By cutting communication its basis of supply was cut off. "The line there with the intention of changing it," said Colonel Gibson, smiling. "The general scheme," continued the General, "was fairly well thought out. We worked hard to make the conditions for both sides equal and yet hard for either side to win. It must be a question of cutting the line of communication otherwise Colonel Gibson could easily have marched into Hamilton without any one stopping him. The cutting of the communication was the gist of the whole scheme in my mind, otherwise the march from Ancaster to Hamilton was comparatively easy, as the Red force would have to climb the mountain, which would take much time. After watching the orders being carried out and hearing the evidence, I may be wrong, but it would take a good deal of time to convince me that I am of the general trend.

"I would like to add that nothing but satisfaction can be found in the good spirit and interest manifested in the whole thing. The orders of both commands were thoughtfully prepared and with a view to every contingency that might arise. All the forces had a chance to come into action which does not always happen. I am very much satisfied with the result of the day."

Great Ground for Operations. The officers were unanimously of the opinion that as a ground for tactical operations the military manoeuvres yesterday were the best since the shaftings of this district have been in progress. They were conducted as near as possible on the lines of actual warfare. The idea of holding the battle near Hamilton this year was somewhat of an experiment, and it more than justified expectations. The ground was new to nearly all the officers and its peculiar nature of hills and valleys, made it particularly well adapted for such manoeuvres as those held yesterday. It required considerable strategy to move the troops about and for the first time in many years all the troops participating saw some of the fighting and were in action most of the time during the three hours that it was in progress.

Was a Spectacular Scene. The line of march was the line of battle and the crowd that followed the troops, to see them charge and stand advance and retreat, found keen enjoyment in watching the different divisions swept back and forth by victory or defeat as the tide of battle flowed or ebbed. When a report would reach one would that there was to be something going just as such and such a place a charge would be made on it. By the time the spectators reached the line they found empty fields and roads, filled to overflowing shortly before, deserted. Another minute a squad of cavalry would go rattling past with a clatter and rush and taking it on the whole it was a good show from the spectators' viewpoint. It was a fine day too, and a bigger crowd would have been there had it been definitely known just where the main fighting was to be. Thirtieth Troops Off to Battle. The Hamilton troops paraded at the Drill Hall at 7.30, and an hour later were on their way to the scene of the battle, marching up James street to Main street, where they entrained opposite the Federal Life building, being transported over the Brantford & Hamilton Railway to Ancaster, a short distance from the base of operations of the attacking force. Big crowds saw the troops march up James street, arrayed in all the panoply of war. No. 12 Field Ambulance, Col. Rennie's command, left early and marched the full distance. The artillery, a section of the 4th Field Battery, also trekked to the scene of operations. The 13th men were the first to entrain, being shipped off to the front, as quickly as the companies arrived. It was nearly 9 o'clock before the Highlanders were on their way, although the last detachment left the city before 9.30.

WAS SHE POISONED?

Thamesville, Ont.—The wife of a prominent citizen of Thamesville was the heroine of a mysterious case which has just been successfully solved. About a year ago, Mrs. J. W. Dulong began to suffer with headaches. There was no apparent cause for them. After trying the ordinary headache remedies, and failing to get relief, Mrs. Dulong consulted several physicians, who pook-pooed the idea of anything out of the ordinary and told her she "would be all right."

Vague hints became rumors. Was Mrs. Dulong being poisoned. Yes, she was—and stranger of all, by herself. Not intentionally—or with drugs—but nevertheless, she was slowly poisoning herself. Headaches are always a sign of blood poisoning. Bowels, skin and kidneys should rid the system of tissue waste. If one of these organs are weak or not acting properly, this waste stays in the system—is absorbed by the blood and irritates the nerves and makes the headaches. "I have tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and found them splendid for headaches," writes Mrs. Dulong after her recovery. "I feel so much better since I commenced taking them. I think they are a splendid medicine and" (note this) "I am recommending them to my friends. Every body, who takes Fruit-a-tives, is grateful for the cures they affect. It is wonderful how quickly 'Fruit-a-tives' give relief in all cases stomach, liver, kidney and bowels trouble. If you suffer, get a box to-day; 50¢, 6 boxes $2.50. were brought up over the same road. The outposts had been reinforced by this time by two or three more companies of the Red force, and made a determined stand. When the Q. O. R. got into action the fighting became quite heavy. The Q. O. R., with the assistance of the Grens, succeeded in flanking some of the 13th companies, and forcing them back farther into the woods.

The peculiar mix-up occurred at this juncture, which caused nearly half a battalion of the 48th Highlanders, of the Red force, to be put out of action. Three companies of the 48th, under Major Henders, had been sent by Colonel Macdonald to go to the western limits of Hamilton and there try to head off the Grey forces from entering the city. The companies did not obey orders, however, and everyone was quite surprised to see the white coats of the Highlanders appearing over the brow of the mountain, and promptly opening fire on the attack and the defense. These were the companies which went over the railway tracks of the B. & H., which was forbidden in the orders, and had climbed to the brow of the mountain, in hopes of surprising the outposts of the Grey forces, attacking them from the church yard. They were caught like a lot of sheep, and promptly captured by the outposts. This weakened the Red force considerably, but to overcome this mistake the St. Alban's Cadet Corps were brought up and were put into the thick of the fighting.

awful task, but orders were orders, and the Highlanders obeyed. They got the heavy gun half way up, when the cease fire was heard. "Oh, we've been up on the mountain and we won't go there any more," said the Forty-Eighth men as they marched back to the train.

Colonel Cruickshanks, one of the umpires, had a funny experience with one of the Thirtieth companies. When a big troop of Q. O. R. men surrounded the Hamilton squad, he put the latter out of action. The Hamilton men refused to die though, although they were fired annihilated by the Grens and Q. O. R. Even after the enemy had passed through their ranks the Thirtieth men held their position and fought on.

General Otter graciously declined on behalf of the Toronto officers an invitation to a dinner at the Royal last evening by the Hamilton officers. The Toronto officers were obliged to leave too early, and this was the reason. Several of them were entertained however, in the officers' quarters at the Drill Hall.

Colonel Gibson's forces composed about 1,200 men, horse, foot and guns, consisted of the 13th of Hamilton, 91st of Hamilton, 38th of Brantford, 77th of Wentworth (two companies), half a squadron of the 9th Mississauga horse, one section of the 4th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, and No. 12 Field Ambulance. Major Meuburn was Col. Gibson's chief staff officer.

Lieut.-Col. W. C. Macdonald's staff consisted of Orderly Officers Capt. J. F. Ussher and Lieut. S. L. Thorne; Major J. C. Chabwick, chief staff officer, and Lieut. Denison, Major T. Fenton and Capt. C. H. Mitchell, intelligence officers. The force was about 1,800 strong, being made up of the Queen's Own Grenadiers, 48th Highlanders and Royal Rifles of Toronto, 19th of St. Catharines, B-Squadron of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, 1 Co. Royal Canadian Regiment, St. Alban's Cathedral School Cadet Corps, No. 10 and No. 11 Field Ambulance and 2nd Field Company Canadian Engineers.

The Buffalo officers admired the manner in which the officers handled their men and commented favorably on the trench shown by Gen. Welch, noticed, however, that the opposing forces did not seem to realize the danger they were in, theoretically, when they exposed themselves at short range. He considered the fighting was altogether at too close quarters.

With the exception of a painful accident which befell S. G. Vincent, of G Co., 48th Highlanders, there was little to mar the pleasure of the day. Through the accidental discharge of his rifle, upon which he was leaning, a blank cartridge had been blown clean through his right hand, which was resting upon the muzzle. The injury was given prompt attention by Dr. Carter, and Vincent was taken in a wagon to the Hamilton Asylum Hospital, where his index finger was amputated. He is now in the General Hospital at Toronto. Vincent's home is at 420 Parliament street.

Apart from this unfortunate mishap, the "first aid" contingent had little or nothing to do, though a brace of Highlanders received cuts and bruises from a small avalanche of stones down the mountain side.

POST OFFICE NOTICE. During the month of November, British and foreign mails will be closed at the Hamilton general post-office, one hour earlier than usual, this being the period during which postal union statistics will be taken. Dates and hours of closing of these mails may be obtained from the local official postal guide to be had at the enquiry window of the general post-office.

It was getting on toward 1 o'clock by this time and the Q. O. R. and the Grens were still forcing the 13th Companies back toward the city along the brow of the mountain. Several times the 13th men made a determined stand, only to be ousted by the larger force of the Reds. Right along the brow of the mountain, about a mile from the Horning road, was a bit of forest, and a company of the 13th made a last stand in it. They kept up a steady fire against the opposing troops, but in doing so did not observe that a company of the Queen's Own had deployed to their right, and succeeded in flanking them. The umpire face of Lieut. George Fuest, was among the captured, and he seemed heartbroken at being taken in such an easy manner. From that time onward these 13th men kept steadily retreating, at the same time maintaining a desultory fire.

The Grenadiers by this time had fallen out of sight, either having dropped back in reserve of the Q. O. R. or having gone out on a skirmishing tour of their own. The St. Alban's Cadet Corps was doing good work. It was nearly 2 o'clock when some of the 13th made a desperate stand, to hold the Sanitarium from the hands of the invaders. The Q. O. R. was making a flanking movement to the right when the cease fire whistle sounded.

The Umpiring Staff. The umpiring on the whole was much better than in previous years, the information being better received and with more despatch. Brigadier-General Otter, C. B. A. D. C., was umpire in chief, with Lieut.-Col. Shore, D. S. O., Indian Army, staff officer.

INSANITY THE PLEA. Harry Thaw's Next Trial Fixed for December 2.

New York, Oct. 31.—Announcement was made to-day that insanity is to be the plea in the defence of Harry Kendall Thaw, whose second trial for the slaying of Stanford White will begin on Dec. 2 next. Martin W. Littleton, chief counsel for Thaw, it is stated, has decided on this course. He is said to be convinced that Thaw is insane. Ever since he took charge of the case, it is said, Mr. Littleton has given the question of Thaw's mental care study. He has traced the Thaw family tree, and, it is said, has decided that the insanity of Thaw may have been an inheritance. Every time some men do a good act they manage to get caught at it.—Chicago News.

GREAT SPORTING WORLD

COLEY, TORONTO I.-C.A.C., WON THE BIG ROAD RACE.

Simpson, an Indian, From Peterboro Was Second.

Harry Lawson, of the Toronto West End Y. M. C. A., Was Third—The Winner Was Only 42 Seconds Behind the Record, Which is Held by Sammy Mellor.

The Irish-Canadian Athletic Club, of Toronto, the young, but lively organization of Flanagan, O'Rourke & Co., supplied the winner in the round-the-bay road race, held under the auspices of the Herald Printing Co. He was Tom Coley, an Englishman, who has been in this country only a few years. He resided at Thorold for a time and got in the sporting limelight by winning some races around St. Catharines, and was given further prominence by being placed under the ban by the American Athletic Union, which will bar all the United States athletes who competed against him yesterday from competing in events sanctioned by it. Coley ran a great race, his time being only 24 seconds behind the record, which is held by Sammy Mellor. The winner of yesterday's race would surely have made a new record had he not made a mistake near the finish and left the course; he turned south on Park street and ran a short distance before being told that he should have kept on York street to the west. He turned back and went over the course, finishing in 1:49.07. He had a good margin on the second runner, on this mistake might have cost him the race. Coley was well played in the books by the Toronto contingent, and he was backed from 5 to 1 to 3 to 1, notwithstanding the bundles of money that went in on Lee, the Boston man. Twenty-seven of the forty-two runners entered started, and fourteen finished. Those who finished and their times were: Thomas Coley, I. C. A. C., Toronto, 3 to 1, 1:49.07; Fred. Simpson, Y. M. C. A. Lee, Somerville, Mass., even, 1:55.43; Edward Cotter, Burlington, 10 to 1, 1:57.40; Hilton Grene, I. C. A. C., Toronto, 4 to 1, 1:59.07; *Thomas B. Walker, Hamilton, 25 to 1, 2:30.00; Geo. Adams, Hamilton, 8 to 1, 2:30.00; The principal officials in the race were: Referee and starter, J. M. Harris; associate referee, W. C. McMullen; judge at the finish, Charles Crowe, Toronto, secretary of the C. A. A. U.; timers, D. M. Cameron, Alex. Dunn and A. J. Taylor.

The race was an ideal one for the race, but the roads were not in the best of condition, which made the performance of the first runners all the more creditable. The going on the Beach road, between Truman's hotel and Fitch's hotel, was heavy, but the most of the runners kept up a fast clip in the early stages of the journey, and the first three kept it up throughout. The biggest surprise of the race was that not a Hamilton man was in the first three, something that has not occurred since the big race was inaugurated by Billy Carroll in 1894. The first local man to finish was Ellis, who was eighth, about five minutes ahead of Jack Caffrey, the winner of the race in 1898 and 1900. The only other Hamilton boy to finish was George Louth. A lot of interest was centred in Caffrey, who had returned to his old form, his handlers said, having shown trials better than 1:56. He ran well to the twelve-mile rest, but before Dynes' crossing was reached he was in trouble, and he began to fall back; he dropped from the first division to the ruck, but after he got past the sandy going he revived and moved up, passing quite a number of the runners that had slipped by him on the sand strip. That he finished not only ninth, but at all, was a big surprise to many students of form, who declared he could never run his old race again. Adams was the only Hamilton boy that a great deal of confidence was felt in; but the distance was too great for him; in fact, he ran well to the twelve-mile rest, but he quit after going two or three miles further. Adams led at the ten-mile post.

Up to Hendrie's farm, about fourteen miles, the race was a good one, and looked to be an open one. About this point Coley began to show his class, and he got ahead of the rest, and he was never in danger afterwards. Up to this point Lawson was a right up with the winner, and after Coley left him he was joined by Simpson, the Indian, who backed him near the high level bridge, but the race had for some distance, but the Indian had the most reserve force, and gradually forged ahead, and not start. As Coley's price was always short they did not take the play of more than one of these to pay off on him. A local hotelkeeper bet $1,000 on Lee in the books and made a few side bets besides. There was not nearly so much interest shown in the race this year as in former years, for the reason that there were no real good local men in the field. Another reason, perhaps, was the action of the police in stopping open betting on the event. Fewer persons followed the runners this year than in former years. The prizes—cups donated by the Herald Co.—were presented at the Savoy Theatre in the evening by Mayor Stewart.

Following is a list of former winners of the round-the-bay race: 1894—Marshall, 2:14; 1895—Wood, 2:10; 1896—Donald, 2:12.25; 1897—Bates, 2:09.20; 1898—Caffrey, 1:54.06; 1899—Sherrington, 1:53.20; 1900—Sherrington, 1:51.37; 1901—Le Barre, 1:54.31; 1902—Mellor, 1:52.31; 1903—Sherrington, 1:51.37; 1904—Mellor, 1:48.43; 1905—Spring, 1:50.18; 1906—Longboat, 1:49.25.

LONGBOAT FAILED. Tom Longboat failed to establish a record between Hamilton and Toronto on Tuesday, as his feet gave out before he reached the Queen City. He quit after passing Mimico. Longboat covered the fifteen miles to Bronte in 1 hour 44 minutes and 30 seconds, and this included a delay of three minutes to change shoes and his first period of faltering. He did to Long Branch, a distance of 35 miles, in 4 hours 24 minutes and 58 seconds, and this included 22 minutes of rest and delay, which shows an actual running well over eight miles an hour. Longboat's time was: Left Hamilton, 12:40.30; Burlington Jet, 8 miles, 1:28.00; Burlington, 9 miles, 1:53.35; Bronte, 14 miles, 2:25.00; Ar. Oakville, 20 miles, 3:07.02; Lv. Oakville, 20 miles, 3:07.02; Lorne Park, 28 miles, 4:23.36; Ar. Port Credit, 30 miles, 4:37.53; L. Port Credit, 30 miles, 4:42.35; Long Branch, 35 miles, 5:15.08; Ar. Humber, 38 miles, 6:05.57; Lv. Humber, 38 miles, 6:18.15; Quit half mile east of Humber, 6:20.

OXFORD MARATHON. Woodstock, Nov. 1.—Garnett Elliott of Ingersoll, won the second annual 10-mile Oxford Marathon here yesterday afternoon in 58:05. There were 23 entries. The following are those who finished: Elliott, Ingersoll, 58:05; Wm. Law, Tillsonburg, 58:40; Joe Bryce, Woodstock A. A. A., 60:30; Moore, Woodstock College, 62:05; Willie Fritz, Woodstock, 62:24; Daniels, Ingersoll, 63:10; Coxy, Woodstock, 67:24; Jordan, Woodstock, 68:05. The Marathon was inaugurated last season by Mr. Alby Robinson, of this city and the cup was last year landed by Daniels, who finished sixth. Daniels did the course in 59:25 last year. RACE AT PETERBORO. Peterboro, Nov. 1.—Ernest Wilson, of Peterboro, won the Examiner's ten-mile road race here, the time being 55 minutes 15.3 seconds, 2 minutes 36 seconds better than that made by Ray Best last year. Ben Howard, the Indian runner, late of the Irish-Canadian, was second, finishing a foot behind Wilson. William Moss, of Hawke's, was third. There were eighteen entries and the course was from Lakefield to Peterboro. Wilson and Howard ran together all the way.

MONTREAL HERALD RACE. Montreal, Nov. 1.—D. A. C. Woods of the Gordon Harriers won the second Herald road race, which was run off to-day under splendid conditions, the weather being magnificent and the course, which was around the mountain, being in fine shape. Over 200 runners, including many local runners, were in the race and all finished. Wood, who won, distanced all the other competitors and completed the course in 59 minutes 44 seconds, or nine seconds faster than the time made by Shippam in the first race last year. Cote of the M. A. A. A., finished second and McCaig of the M. A. A. A., third. It was easily Wood's race from the start. BRANTFORD'S HOLIDAY RACE. Brantford, Nov. 1.—Eight competitors entered the Y. M. C. A. road race around Tutela Heights, distance 7 3/8 miles, yesterday. The runners made good time and attracted a great deal of attention. The course was in excellent condition. The race is now an annual event. The first three home were: W. Wood, 41 min. 15 sec.; G. Markie, 44 min. 10 sec.; E. Adams, 44 min. 50 sec.

BOXING BOUTS. Interesting Card at the Toronto Tournament. Toronto, Nov. 1.—Probably the best preliminaries ever contested in Toronto were those last night in the city amateur boxing tournament, when 12 bouts were decided, several of them more like finals. Two went extra rounds and three were won by the knockout route. The middleweight bout between Rogers and Hickman, and the heavyweight battle, Day vs. Banks, were especially interesting. Following is the summary: 135 Pounds Class—E. Bailey, Strathcona, stopped T. Smith, I. C. A. C., first round. W. Tinley, Y. M. C. A., first round. 112 Pounds Class—G. Godwin, unattached, won from H. H. Smith, unattached, third round. Frank Barlow, I. C. C., stopped C. Chambers, W. E., third round. 113 Pounds Class—J. Wright, Matilda, stopped J. Dean, Elms, extra round. L. Jacobs, Dufferin, defeated B. Simpson, R. C. B. C., second round. 125 lb. Class (special)—W. Sinclair, Strathcona, won from Black, British United, in an extra round. 135 lb. Class—R. Barrett, British United, stopped E. Wilkinson, Elms, in the third round. T. Sutton, British United, won from T. Platon, West End, in the third round. E. W. Sutton, British United, beat Harry Peters, Markham, in the third round. 155 lb. Class (middle)—H. Lang, Queen City, defeated R. McGuire, unattached, in the first round. S. Rogers, Thistle Football Club, defeated S. Hickman, British United, in an extra round. Heavyweight—W. Day, Thistle Football Club, won from F. Banks, West End, in the third round. W. Tolman, British United, defeated B. Ferguson, Queen City.

HAMILTON WON.

Opening of the Basketball Season at Toronto Last Night.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The basketball season was opened at Central Y. M. C. A. last night with Hamilton. The first half was about the fastest basketball seen on Central floor for many a day, and Hamilton had to go their very hardest to make the score 12-14 at half time. At the finish it stood Hamilton 45, Central 22. Hamilton was without Bronston, but their team is just about as heavy as in past years, and at times the game looked heavier than it really was. Tomkins and Bond starred for the Central, while Grey, Mellor and Chadwick were the pick of Hamilton. Grey scored eight times for Hamilton, Mellor got six. The teams lined up as follows: Hamilton (45): Grey and Mellor, forwards; Arnold, centre; Chadwick and McCowen, defences. Central (22): Bond and Whyte, forwards; Tomkins, centre; Davis and Swanson, defences.

OLDEST MAN IN NOVA SCOTIA DEAD.

Digby, N. S., Oct. 31.—The death of Peter Killalea occurred at Coluden, near here, this morning in the one hundred and seventh year of his age. Deceased was a native of Ireland, and came to this country when a young man. He leaves a large number of great-grandchildren. Deceased was the oldest man in Nova Scotia, and up to his death was in possession of his faculties and took an interest in old country politics.

MANY ARE RELIEVED.

Tremendous Popularity of a Simple Home Recipe Here.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. Most of these folks naturally bought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism. Another well-known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can't be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought. The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first-class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for any person can be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

RACES TO-MORROW. List of Entries for the Riding Club Steeplechases. Everything is in readiness for the Hamilton Riding Club steeplechases, to be held on the farm of John Yeo, to-morrow afternoon, and the prospects are bright for a successful meeting. The course will be about three miles long, and will start and finish on Mr. Yeo's farm, which is situated on the Town Line about half a mile east of Ryckman's Corners. An extra race has been added, so that visitors to the course will likely see four rattling steeplechases. First race, ladies' cup, for thoroughbreds—Harlo Lewis's b. m. Dilas; W. W. Hammond's b. g. Land's End; J. W. Hammond's b. g. Officer; J. A. Thompson's b. g. Virtuoso; John Gardshore's b. g. Big Bear; Murray Hendrie's b. g. Ruth's Rattler, and Gordon J. Henderson's br. g. Thomond. Second race, the Geo. Hope Cup for half-breds—George Shubryoke's Romeo; R. O. Mackay's The Kid; G. P. Crawford's Kingsmill; J. J. Crawford's C. of G., and Geo. J. Robertson's Harvey. Third race, Farmers' Cup, of two miles—Fred. Yeo's Molt; Marshall Bros.' St. Enoch; Marshall Bros.' Dolly; McNevin Bros.' Prince; A. Calder's Jennie. A horse will leave the Mountain View at 2:15 o'clock, and the first race will take place at 3 o'clock sharp.

In Honor of Grand Master Cameron, Wednesday Evening.

The A. O. U. W. lodge of this city held a banquet on Wednesday evening in the Arcade Hall, in honor of Mr. C. E. Cameron, Grand Master of the lodge. The banquet was held at 7:30 p. m. and about 200 people sat down to a sumptuous repast. After the good things had been disposed of, Aid. John Peables took charge of the proceedings and introduced a splendid programme of toasts and music, which was as follows: "The King"—National anthem; solo by Mr. Mocco. BUFFALO GIRL

Fatally Burned at a Halloween Party. Buffalo, Nov. 1.—Margaret Dissett, 15 years old, daughter of John Dissett, a lake captain, was fatally burned at a Halloween party at her home, No. 281 Fargo avenue, last night while entertaining a score of girl friends. She was pouring alcohol into a basin to carry out the effects of a Halloween setting that had been designed. The alcohol exploded and her clothing caught fire. The other girls became panic-stricken and the Dissett girl ran terror-stricken about the house. No one had presence of mind enough to throw something about her body to smother the flames. The father was not at home at the time. Finally the girl, her clothing burned entirely from her body, and while the house was on fire, was carried to the McPherson home next door, No. 379 Fargo avenue, by Patrolman Arthur Whelan. There Doctors Candee and Constantine attended her. She insisted upon returning to her home, rather than to a hospital, and her request was granted.

TO THE EAST.

Fred Meyers Becomes Y. M. C. A. Assistant Secretary. East Hamilton Y. M. C. A. has chosen one of Central's best boys as an assistant. Mr. Fred Meyers has been an active member of the Boys' Department for the past four years, and entered upon his life's work today as an Assistant Secretary in the East Hamilton Association. Mr. Meyers is a young man of sterling worth, and has proved himself most reliable in the boys' department. He has a most of friends, and the boys of East Hamilton may well congratulate themselves for having a young man who Meyers is just the kind of a young man that the Association needs. He is ever ready to set a good example. There is no doubt that he will prove most valuable to the East Hamilton Association, and develop into a strong secretary. Mr. Meyers leaves Central rather reluctantly for a field of larger usefulness. He goes with the best wishes of the department and prayers of all for his success.

POLICE WERE AT CHURCH

On Account of Menace Made Against Father O'Donnell. Toronto, Nov. 2.—In consequence of a threat made by an Italian against Father Macdonnell and overseer by Mrs. Nell McAllen, 356 Wilton avenue, police were in attendance at St. Paul's Church yesterday. Mr. McAllen heard the Italian, who is a brother of what he would do to Father Macdonnell, who some time ago married him. She at once informed Mr. E. Gardner, 115 Wilton avenue, and he communicated with Inspector Gregory. Two police officers were sent down to St. Paul's Church, where Father Hand was celebrating the twenty-fifth year of his service, and where Father Macdonnell would be present, but the Italian did not appear.

IN THE WORLD OF AMUSEMENT

"The Wizard of Oz," merriest of musical extravaganzas, now in its seventh season and still the most popular in its class, comes to the Grand to-night and to-morrow afternoon and evening. It is not difficult to understand why "The Wizard" retains its hold on theatre-goers. It possesses many of the essential features that go towards making up a really enjoyable entertainment of the light and frivolous kind which a vast majority prefer. Its comedy is execrably funny, its characters unione, its music delightful and its scenes beautiful. Quaint roles are taken by George Stones, who plays the Scarecrow, and Frank Hayes, as the man of tin, both clever comedians, dancers and singers, as well, invokes the wrath of the fairy spirit upon them, directing that they be forthwith turned into icy bodies. The transformation is one seldom equalled in point of scenic beauty, and never fails to draw enthusiastic applause.

Bennett's Was Crowded.
Bennett's theatre was crowded at both performances yesterday. To-morrow there will be another special matinee for children, known as "The Tiger and Buster" matinee. "Motoring," the com-letes in action at the Olympian games proved a popular feature.

For next week the management announces the appearance of Al Shean & Company in a travesty on "Quo Vadis" and the Yocary Trio, one of the greatest comedy acrobatic acts in vaudeville.

"The Social Whirl"

It is a fact perhaps not generally known that the manuring establishment on Broadway where news found its origin which caused the recent expose of a certain society journal's methods, is copied to the smallest detail for the first act of "The Social Whirl," which will be presented at the Grand on Tuesday night, under the Shubert management. "The Social Whirl" is a burlesque on the methods of such publications.

The leading musical numbers will be "Just Kids," "Old Man Manhattan," "Bill Simmons," or "I Can't Keep Still When the Music Plays," "Don't Be So Angry," "A Rainy Day," "We'll Blow the Jolly Horn," "Can You Keep a Secret?" and "You're Just the Girl I'm Looking For." Seats will be on sale to-morrow.

Between the Acts.

The Grand Opera House played to capacity at both performances yesterday. The bill was "Way Down East," a fine old play of the New Hampshire type that has been seen here several

FRANK HAYES.

As the Tinman in "The Wizard of Oz," which will be presented at the Grand this evening and to-morrow.

dy hit of the season, is making all kinds of friends with its laughable situations and clever puns. The company is particularly clever, and anyone who misses seeing the act will have reason to regret it. Della Fox is making good with music-lovers in her beautiful singing act, and the only regret is that the audience cannot get enough of her singing. Zeno, Jorjoo and Zeno, wonderful trapeze performers, are undoubtedly the cleverest in their line. In addition to their skillful exhibition of acrobatic work they introduce a lot of clever fun making, which provides an interesting combination.

Crowds at the Savoy.

The Savoy played to record business at both performances yesterday. The entire house was sold out several hours in advance for the evening performance and many were turned away. "A Night in a Police Station," the one act musical comedy by Joe Maxwell and his clever company of eleven people, made a great hit with the big crowd, and several encores were insisted upon. The three Ernesto Sisters, in their novel aerial act, was another attraction that made a solid hit, while the bill throughout was enjoyed with the keenest delight. The pictures of Billy Sherring and the ath-times, but which always pleases. The play was well put on, the company being capable and the scenic effects good.

Mr. W. H. Hewlett, organist of Centenary Church, gave a recital in St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, last night.

The melodrama, "The Power Behind the Throne," was presented at the Grand on Wednesday night before a fair-sized house. The presenting company was not as good as the one that appeared in that thriller before, but the audience appeared to enjoy the show.

Mr. W. H. Hewlett will play the following selections at the monthly organ recital in Centenary Church to-morrow afternoon: Sonata No. 8 (Gulmann), first movement; Romance and Scherzo from Symphony in D minor (Schumann); Peer Gynt Suite No. 1 (Grieg); Andante Cantabile (Debussy); Serenade (Heller); and Canonetta del Salvatore Rosa (Liszt). Madame Laguerre-Reynolds, an English contralto, will contribute several vocal selections to the programme. "Downie's" big production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be given at the Grand on Monday afternoon, and no other announcement is necessary to fill the house. The drawing powers of the famous old play seem to be inexhaustible. Seats are now on sale.

WANT TO MOVE

Tenants of the Marquis of Claurcorde Anxious to Quit.

Dublin, Nov. 1.—All the present occupants of farms on the estates of the Marquis of Claurcorde, from which previous tenants have been evicted during the past twenty years, having signed a petition to the estates commissioners, requesting to be provided with farms elsewhere. They declare also their readiness to surrender their present holdings to the old tenants.

HANDS TERRIBLY CRACKED

ZAM-BUK HEALED THEM

Over and over again the value of Zam-Buk for chapped and cracked places has been demonstrated. Mrs. Yellen, of Portland, adds her testimony, and says: "My hands were so sore and cracked that I could not put them near water. When I tried to do so they would smart and burn as if I had scalded them. I seemed quite unable to get relief from anything I put on them until I tried Zam-Buk, and the balm succeeded when all else had failed. It closed the big cracks, gave me ease, soothed the inflammation, and in a very short time healed my hands completely."

Hands that are chapped may be restored to the smoothness of health by judicious application of Zam-Buk. The value of Zam-Buk, either as a protective or a corrective, cannot be overestimated. A box should be on every dressing table.

Zam-Buk heals sores, cures eczema, skin eruptions, ulcers, ringworm, itch, barber's rash, blood-poison, bad leg, salt rheum, abrasions, abscesses, cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. Of all stores and druggists at 50 cents, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 3 boxes for $1.25.

HOME WEDDING.

Marriage of Wm. E. Stone and Miss McMaster.

A very pretty though quiet house wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Joseph McMaster, 13 Pearl Street north, yesterday afternoon, when Miss Mabel May, the twin daughter of Mrs. McMaster, was united in marriage to William E. Stone, of this city. The ceremony took place at 2 o'clock, and was performed by Rev. Dr. B. Nelson, of Knox Church, of which both are members. The wedding march was played by Miss Ethel Stone, sister of the groom. The bride looked charming in a beautiful costume of white baptiste, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Both bride and groom were unattended. About 75 friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present, and all sat down to a sumptuous repast, at which toasts to the bride and groom were given. The happy couple left on the evening train for Buffalo and points east, amid showers of rice and confetti from the hands of well wishers for a happy and prosperous future. Mr. and Mrs. Stone will reside in the city on their return. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents from admiring friends, shown of the esteem in which she was held. The bride's going away gown was a brown tailor made travelling suit with hat to match.

TO ECONOMIZE.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad met at 9.30 a. m. today, and declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 3 1/2 per cent. In answer to an inquiry about the possible requirements of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for 1908, President McCork said that it was in his judgment unnecessary and prudent for the company to continue its policy of not beginning any new work or committing the company to any capital requirements except those absolutely necessary.

To cure a cold in a night—use Vapo-Cresoline; it has been used extensively during more than twenty-four years. All druggists.

GRIMSBY WEDDING.

Miss Hand Becomes Bride of Mr. W. H. Talbert.

A pretty wedding took place in St. Joseph's Church, Grimsby, Wednesday morning, October 30, at 9.30 o'clock, when Miss Agnes May Hand, youngest daughter of the late John Hand, of that place, became the bride of Mr. William Henry Talbert, formerly of New Brunswick. Rev. Father Cruise, parish priest of Grimsby, officiated. The church was filled at an early hour. The bride entered leaning on the arm of her eldest brother, Frank. The wedding march was played by Mr. Henry Dougherty, of Stoney Creek, brother-in-law of the bride. After the ceremony the party repaired to the beautiful residence of the bride's sister, Ontario street, where guests to about the number of 30 sat down to a beautiful wedding breakfast, after which toasts were given and the party repaired to the parlors, where they were entertained with music and singing until time for the departure of the bride and groom. The bride was becomingly attired in a suit of white silk, and her travelling dress was blue Panama cloth with white hat. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, showing the esteem in which they are held. They took the afternoon train for Toronto and other eastern points, and when they return they will reside in Grimsby, where the groom is employed by D. Marsh & Sons, contractors and builders.

CHINA GOT BUSY.

Pekin, Nov. 1.—Japan to-day began entrusting the transportation of the Japan-Pekin mails to the care of the Chinese posts, which is an outcome of China's coercive action in refusing Japan the use of the imperial railways for her mail couriers. China's action was induced by Japan's postal aggressions.

DUNDAS BUDGET.

Funeral of Henry Nichol—Many Thanksgiving Day Visitors.

Dundas, Nov. 1.—The event of yesterday in Dundas was the Rugby game in the park, between the Dundas team and the Tigers II, of Hamilton. It was one of the cleanest, keenest and most exciting games seen here for a long time. The best of all was that Dundas won.

The funeral of the late Henry Nichol took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, to Grove Cemetery. There was a large attendance, the local lodge of I. O. F., of which he was a charter member. The burial services were conducted by Rev. E. J. Irving. The pallbearers were James Brown, Wm. Marle, Winslow Martin, Thomas Wilson, Robert Curran and Wm. La Marsh.

Yesterday evening about seven o'clock the police arrested a man on the market square in an almost nude state. He was in an intoxicated condition and apparently thinking he was retiring for the night, had undressed himself for that purpose.

CAN EAT MEAT.

New York, Nov. 1.—The Tribune this morning says: Through a dispensation from the Pope, Roman Catholics will be permitted to eat meat to-day, a fast day, at the feast of All Saints. Yesterday was ordered to be the day of fasting. Only once before has the church permitted the eating of meat on Friday, and that was at the golden jubilee declaration of the dogmas, when Christmas came on that day.

CONVENTION OF BROTHERHOOD

Excellent Meetings in Gospel Tabernacle Yesterday.
Organization is Growing and Has Great Possibilities.
Excellent Addresses Given at the Evening Meeting.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip held its fourth annual convention yesterday in Gospel Tabernacle. Delegates arrived from Toronto, London, St. Catharines and other points, to the number of 60. After the examination and approval of credentials the business session opened at 2.30, with the President, Mr. W. J. C. McCrear, of Toronto, in the chair. Pastor Philippott, who is chaplain of the order, gave the delegates a hearty welcome on behalf of the Hamilton chapters.

After the minutes of the last convention were read and adopted, the president, in his annual address, suggested that extension work should be undertaken throughout the country and that funds should be raised to meet this object. He also thanked the members for their co-operation during the past year. The secretary's report showed a gratifying increase throughout the country, presenting the work to the churches. The Treasurer's report also showed a considerable increase, financially, with a balance in hand of officers then took place, resulting as follows: President—W. J. C. McCrear, Toronto. First Vice-President—F. Chorley, Hamilton. Second Vice-President—Rev. A. J. Bowen, London. Third Vice-President—J. A. Mirris, Toronto. Chaplain—Rev. J. M. Copeland, St. Catharines. Treasurer—John Rodgers, Hamilton. Secretary—Silas A. McFadden, Toronto.

Under the heading of new business, a proposal to raise $1,000 for extension work was referred to the individual members, to be reported on. After the business meeting the ladies of Gospel Tabernacle served tea in the school room. They provided a splendid repast, the best of home-made delicacies being provided. The tables were decorated with flowers, and after tea half an hour was devoted to five minutes address by representatives of the different chapters. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the ladies.

The evening session opened at 7.30 and was, without doubt, the best in the history of the Canadian Council. The church was occupied by President McCrear. On the platform with him were Rev. Alexander Eiler, of Cooke's Church, Toronto; Rev. F. W. Hollinrake, of Zion Tabernacle; Rev. D. W. Phipps, Rev. Charles McFadden, Rev. J. C. Copeland, St. Catharines; and Rev. Alexander Gibson, Toronto. The ladies were struck with inspiring address by the delegates and Mr. Bowler, of Hamilton, sang two solos splendidly, and the "Eye is on the Sparrow," by the choir.

portance to the spiritual. When a man got God in his soul he then got a true perspective of life, Mr. Hollinrake said. He outlined what the mission of life should be. Rev. Alexander Eiler was the chief speaker of the evening, his subject being "The Brotherhood." He spoke of the great possibilities which lie before it. He had been in touch with the work in other places and had found the men engaged in it to be the ministers' right hand men. The mission of the Brotherhood was not self-propagation; not to increase membership; not to develop fraternalism; not philanthropy; not temperance; not political work, but the great chief aim and end was the winning of men for Christ, one by one. The reports presented at the convention showed: Chapters in Canada, 22; members, 790; amount contributed, $900.

GRIMSBY AND BEAMSVILLE.

NEWS AND NOTES FROM NIAGARA FRUIT SECTION.

Exhibition of Fruit Grown by School Children at the Rittenhouse School—Judgment Reserved in Liquor Case, Beamsville and Vicinity.

Grimsby, Nov. 1.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. John Hewitt have gone to their Chicago home for the winter. W. W. Kidd has returned home from a trip through the grain belt of the west. Ridley College junior football team will play Lake Lodge on the latter's grounds next Wednesday afternoon. George E. Smith, of Caledonia, spent a couple of days visiting friends in town this week.

Special Thanksgiving services were held in St. Andrew's Church and the Methodist Church on Sunday. Rev. T. W. The funeral of the late Frank Book took place from the home of his brother-in-law, J. M. Lawrie, on Friday afternoon to Queen's Lawn Cemetery. E. W. Ellis, of Toronto, was in town on Tuesday.

Quite a crowd were at the rink for the first masquerade of the season on Thursday evening. Some of the outfits showed a good deal of taste in the make-up. Roller skating has certainly lost none of its attractions in Grimsby.

It is yet undecided whether the usual popular dance that have taken place in Winona Hall during the past two years will be continued this winter. Little Miss Evelyn Gibson, who was severely ill from a recent operation on her throat, is doing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McArthur and family went to Dutton on Wednesday. Curtis House, of Almonte, was home over the holidays. Miss McKean has gone to her home in Paisley for a few days. John and Mrs. Amis spent Thanksgiving with relatives in Hamilton.

Mrs. Herron gave a small birthday party for the friends of her little niece on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Hunter, of St. Catharines, was the guest of Mrs. Brine, on Thursday. Ed. Osburn, Imperial Bank, Toronto, spent the holiday at the Cottage. Mrs. J. H. Beatty and Walter Beatty, of Woodstock, were visiting friends in town on Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. C. McCrear, who went to Hamilton for a year ago to reside, are coming back to Beamsville in a short time, and will live on the Montgomery property. Dr. C. J. Freeman was in Burlington on Wednesday. Judge Carnan reserved his decision on the Louis Kerr liquor case in the divisional court.

The young ladies who have the McCann benefit in charge are getting great encouragement from many old pupils and friends of the now helpless teacher in the form of donations.

Mr. H. Gayman is to be congratulated on the showing of fruits and vegetables made by his pupils in the basement of the Rittenhouse School on Friday last. The products on display were all grown by the children.

The Young Men's Union of the Methodist Church held their first meeting for the election of officers on Friday evening and elected John Trotter, President; Harry Perkins, Secretary; and a committee, consisting of Charles Allan, Geo. Finbow, Clarence Buck, and Sam Jordan. Dr. Hamilton, formerly of Smithville, has started a new practice in Campden.

The funeral of John Honsberger, who died on Wednesday, at his home, Jordan Station, was held this afternoon. Mr. Honsberger was in his 60th year, and a well-known and highly respected resident of Louth township. Messrs. Ross, Cline, Boughner, Woodland, and Pritshaw left on Tuesday evening for a couple of weeks' shooting in the Haliburton district. A broom factory has started operations in Campden.

Mrs. C. E. Higgins is spending the week with relatives in the Garden City. Hugh Sinclair was in Buffalo on Thursday. The Swastika Club's dance on Thanksgiving night was a most jolly one. A large number of guests were present from outside points.

The court also wiped off the business assessment of $3,360 against W. G. Dunn & Company, whose premises on Main street, near Park, have been closed.

Vienna, Oct. 31.—A remarkable case in which the effects of mediæval superstition and suggestion are curiously mingled has come under the notice of the doctors of the Rudolf's Hospital in Vienna.

A Hungarian tradesman named Weiss was recently admitted to the hospital suffering from an illusion which caused him continually to lament the loss of his salvation. It appears that some weeks before Weiss was sitting with friends in a coffee-house in Pressburg, when the conversation turned on religion as a future life.

Weiss declared that there was no such thing as a future life or salvation, and added: "I would sell my chance of salvation for 10s."

A Jew named Kraus accepted the offer on condition that the transaction was put in writing. A regular deed of sale conveying Weiss' salvation in the next world to Kraus was drawn up and signed by Weiss and duly witnessed. Kraus took the deed and handed over the 10s to Weiss, who boasted that it had been easily earned.

A fortnight later Weiss lost his wife, who was killed in a carriage accident. He regarded this accident as a sign of the Divine anger with his impiety, and the idea so preyed on his mind that his reason gave way and he was taken to the hospital.

Professor Obermayer, who had charge of the case, on hearing this story from the man's relatives, decided to try the effects of counter-suggestion, and advised Weiss' relatives to recover the deed of sale.

Kraus, however, declared that since he had bought the other man's salvation his own business had prospered exceedingly, and he refused to give it up under £40. Weiss was unable to pay this, but finally the chief rabbi of Pressburg, to whom the matter had been reported, induced Kraus to hand the deed back to the sick man on receipt of £20. The effect was most marked. Weiss, reassured as to the fate of his soul, immediately improved. A new deed was drawn up, in which Kraus solemnly reconveyed the other man's salvation to him. This was witnessed by two doctors and Weiss has now been discharged cured.

TWO ACCIDENTS.

William Orr Lost Fingers—Load Fell on William Wilson.

While working at a machine at the International Harvester Co's. plant, where he is employed, William Orr, Lorne avenue, had his left hand so badly crushed on Wednesday afternoon that it was found necessary to amputate all the fingers at the City Hospital, to which institution he was removed. He is progressing favorably, and no bad effects are feared.

William Wilson, 70 Napier street, was driving a lumber wagon on Wednesday afternoon, when the load toppled over and fell on him. He was removed to the City Hospital in an unconscious condition, but a short time after arriving there he recovered consciousness, and is improving.

LED DOUBLE LIF. Boston Physician Suicides Through Fear of Exposure.

Boston, Oct. 31.—That fear of exposure of the dual life he was leading caused the suicide of Dr. Albert Cushman Day, of Brookline, N. Y., this afternoon, was the opinion of the Boston City Hospital, to which institution he was removed. He was shot himself in the woods at West Roxbury, Friday, two days after his clandestine marriage to Miss Estelle Auld Callahan, of Edgewood, R. I., a trained nurse, was made certain to-night by the discovery that the young doctor had already a wife who was about to bring proceedings against him upon the announcement of his illicit nuptials.

It was learned that Dr. Day was married on March 18, 1894, at Brookline, by a justice of the peace, to Miss Marjorie Thompson, 18 years old, a daughter of William A. Thompson, of West Roxbury, where Dr. Day made his home. The marriage was kept secret, and Dr. Day stated he wished to complete his medical course and hospital work before having his marriage made known to his family.

SOLD HIS SOUL.

SCIENCE BROUGHT TO BEAR ON STRANGE INSANITY CASE.

A Hungarian Shopkeeper Sold His Chance of Salvation and Became Insane—Recovered When It Was Brought Back.

Vienna, Oct. 31.—A remarkable case in which the effects of mediæval superstition and suggestion are curiously mingled has come under the notice of the doctors of the Rudolf's Hospital in Vienna.

A Hungarian tradesman named Weiss was recently admitted to the hospital suffering from an illusion which caused him continually to lament the loss of his salvation. It appears that some weeks before Weiss was sitting with friends in a coffee-house in Pressburg, when the conversation turned on religion as a future life.

Weiss declared that there was no such thing as a future life or salvation, and added: "I would sell my chance of salvation for 10s."

A Jew named Kraus accepted the offer on condition that the transaction was put in writing. A regular deed of sale conveying Weiss' salvation in the next world to Kraus was drawn up and signed by Weiss and duly witnessed. Kraus took the deed and handed over the 10s to Weiss, who boasted that it had been easily earned.

A fortnight later Weiss lost his wife, who was killed in a carriage accident. He regarded this accident as a sign of the Divine anger with his impiety, and the idea so preyed on his mind that his reason gave way and he was taken to the hospital.

Professor Obermayer, who had charge of the case, on hearing this story from the man's relatives, decided to try the effects of counter-suggestion, and advised Weiss' relatives to recover the deed of sale.

Kraus, however, declared that since he had bought the other man's salvation his own business had prospered exceedingly, and he refused to give it up under £40. Weiss was unable to pay this, but finally the chief rabbi of Pressburg, to whom the matter had been reported, induced Kraus to hand the deed back to the sick man on receipt of £20. The effect was most marked. Weiss, reassured as to the fate of his soul, immediately improved. A new deed was drawn up, in which Kraus solemnly reconveyed the other man's salvation to him. This was witnessed by two doctors and Weiss has now been discharged cured.

THE HORROR AT KARATAGH.

RELIEF EXPEDITION HELD BACK BY TANGLES OF RED TAPE.

Non-Interference Policy Prevents Sending of Assistance to Karatagh.

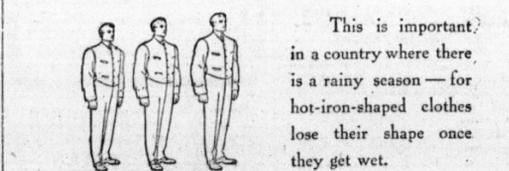

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—No further information has been received here regarding the disaster at Karatagh, in the province of Bokhara, which was almost completely destroyed by a landslide following the earthquake of October 21, resulting in the majority of the inhabitants losing their lives. A despatch from Tashkent to-day says that the total population did not exceed 5,000 as a rule, though the number of inhabitants was somewhat larger in the summer, in which district of Bokhara the stricken town is situated.

The Russian Government is taking no steps to send a relief expedition to Karatagh. To do so would be contrary to the Russian policy of non-interference in the internal affairs of Bokhara, and it would involve a journey of over five hundred miles through the mountains, from the nearest Russian point. It is not known here what steps the Bokharan Government is taking to send relief, but it would appear to be acting with the usual and characteristic Asiatic fatalism and procrastination. Newspaper correspondents at Samarqand, Tashkent, Bokhara and Kokhand have not been able to supply further details of the disaster.

RUSSIAN EXILES COMING. Vancouver, Oct. 31.—Russian agents purchased 4,900 acres in Kootenay Valley, on which will settle 2,000 Russians, mostly prisoners of war and exiles. Many will arrive in Vancouver in December.

The Salvation Army is bringing a special shipment of 250 girls to Vancouver.

Moulded permanently into the cloth by needlework the shape of a Semi-ready Coat is permanent. Each Suit has a pliant grace and symmetrical appearance.

This is important in a country where there is a rainy season—for hot-iron-shaped clothes lose their shape once they get wet.

It the style of Semi-ready Coat is right when you buy it from us it will be right until you want one of the later styles.

Look for this "Sign of Safety." It is your signet of surety—never let any dealer persuade you that his clothes are "Semi-ready" unless this label is machine sewn on the inside pocket of the coat.

POLICE HAD BUSY TIME.

And a Very Long Court This Morning the Result.

Smith House on Cannon Street Raided Again Last Night.

Two Months for Interfering With Officer Yesterday.

Yesterday morning Constables Duncan and Emmerson had a pitch-in with the crowd watching the road race at the corner of MacNab and Market streets, and the general opinion is that they got the best of the struggle.

People refused to go with the constable, and Duncan tried to handcuff him and a struggle ensued. Emmerson went to his assistance, and the two were buffeted about by the crowd, but all the time retaining their prisoners.

One man, who was very lively, and landed several kicks on Emmerson, was arrested by that officer. People pulled away from Duncan at this point, but the wagon came along with Constable Brannon then, and the men were rushed to the cells. The second man arrested was a Welshman named Thomas Ellis, who lives on Arthur avenue. A. W. Logie appeared for People, who pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly, and was fined $5. He was committed for trial on charges of assaulting Constable Duncan and escaping from custody.

Ellis denied striking Emmerson, and said that he only tried to persuade the officers to let People alone and see if he would go quietly. The Magistrate found him guilty, and sent him to jail for two months.

Oswald Haird, Brantford, was arrested by Constable McLean, and when searched at No. 3 Police Station he yielded up a revolver. The Magistrate fined him $20 for carrying it, and allowed the drunk charge to drop.

The case of Thomas Gallagher, Toronto, charged with the theft of $63, a watch and a chain, is before the court. George Parris was the complainant. Geo. S. Kerr, acting for Gallagher, pleaded not guilty, and elected to take a summary trial. Parris said he met Gallagher on the street, and having known him before he came to Hamilton, they went uptown to get a drink. They had two drinks and then went to the Wentworth Club. Gallagher asked Parris to get him a drink, and he brought Parris for his money, as he seemed to be getting drunk, so witness handed over the $63 and the watch and chain. Later Gallagher decided to leave, and witness he was given them, but he was asking for it. When he got to the Chinese restaurant on King William street, witness said he searched his pockets for his money, but could not find it, and he straightaway accused Gallagher of stealing it. Gallagher started for the door, and he hit him and called the police. Gallagher started to run, but Sgt. Pinch and Constable Campaign caught him and searched him. A gold chain was found on him, which was identified as the stolen one, by the witness.

Gallagher admitted that he had asked for the money, and had got it, but said he gave it all back. The reason he ran when the fight started in the restaurant was that he had been in "chink joints" before when fights started.

The Magistrate found Gallagher guilty. He said it looked to him as if he had started out to drug the complainant and get his money.

The prisoner was remanded a week for an examination as to his past. William Doyle, charged with being a vag, was sent to Central for six months. Ed. Smith, 127 Cannon street west, charged with vagrancy, was remanded till Monday, and bail was fixed at $100 cash. He was arrested last night in a raid on his wife's establishment at the above address.

Margie Smith, Pearl Lyons and Violet Smith were gathered about 11:20 last night by a squad of police under Sergeant Pinch.

At court this morning M. J. O'Reilly appeared for Mrs. Smith, and pleaded not guilty. She was found guilty, and remanded till to-morrow for sentence. The inmates will also appear to-morrow.

James Henderson, Macklin street, was fined $5 for being drunk and disorderly. A charge of assault preferred against him by William Elliott was dropped.

William Knapman was fined $2 for distributing advertising bills to school children.

John McElroy, 136 Cannon street west, was tossing a coin to see if he could kick all policemen at once. It turned out only one, and he got so sore that he called Pete Brannon names. He was fined $5.

Tom Longboat, the famous runner, was in town on an awful bender yesterday, and was arrested by Constable Myers. He dug out and his $5 bail was estraited.

Grafton's Big Values. The men of Hamilton will be interested in the announcement made by Grafton & Co. in this issue. To-morrow they are giving extra value, and have anticipated the needs on all for fall and winter wear. Their handsome overcoats will sell from $8.50 to $25 and a Grafton garment means highest quality and lowest price. The men's furnishing department will also be a great attraction on Saturday and they will introduce a new hat to sell at $2.

The Clothing Business is Peculiar. Advances in prices are well known, however, because of our relation with certain of the best manufacturers, who give us first opportunities to secure special lines, we are able to make attractive price reductions on goods which are in demand. Boys' overcoats at $3.50. Men's overcoats $12.00. From where we get these look dollars better than anywhere else.—Fralick & Co., 13 and 15 James street north.

FATAL FALL. Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Do Alton S. Brooks, who for many years conducted hotels in the Adirondacks, died to-day from a fractured skull. He was looking over some repairs to his home last night, and fell down a flight of stairs.
