ST. JOHN'S MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

THE following Sections of the amended Municipal Act, passed March 22nd, 1910, are published for the information of those interested and the General Public:—

31. From and after the passing of this Act the construction of houses or buildings of any sort shall be commenced within the city limits without the permission of the Council, who shall have power to make and prescribe terms and conditions to be observed and performed by the owner of the land or the lessee or the person in possession of the land in respect of the payment by the said owner or lessee of the whole or a portion of the cost of the laying or introduction of the water or water pipes, the opening or construction of sewers or sewerage, or the making, opening, widening or improvement of the road or street along or near to which the said house or building is to be constructed.

32. Whenever after the passing of this Act the Council shall decide upon the opening of a main sewer along or through a street abutting upon or in the vicinity of land which is suitable for building purposes, but upon which no buildings have been erected, it shall appear that the said main sewer about to be constructed is or will be available for connection with buildings hereafter to be erected upon said land so that the value of the said land will be thereby improved, the Council shall have power to levy and impose upon the said land or any portion thereof, from time to time a tax or assessment at such a rate either per foot or frontage upon the said road or street or otherwise as the Council shall determine, and to apply the proceeds of such tax or assessment to the opening or construction of the said proposed sewer or sewerage. The said tax or assessment shall be a charge upon the said land or such portion thereof as shall be defined by the Council, as subject thereto, and shall be recovered from the owner or lessee, as the case may be, in the same manner as provided in and by the principal Act in respect of the recovery of taxes, rates and assessments.

33. Whenever it shall be found necessary for the purpose of widening or improving any road or street for the Council to take and appropriate private property and to pay compensation therefor to be determined by arbitration under the provisions of the principal Act, the Arbitrators, in computing or assessing the amount of such compensation, shall consider and determine whether or not the said widening or improvement has affected the value of the land or property adjoining to the land so taken and shall award compensation to the owner or lessee of the same on the basis of the value of the land as improved or increased by the said widening or improvement, the amount of compensation to be awarded for the taking of the said land shall be reduced or abated accordingly.

Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

For the man was Captain White! The two men regarded each other in speechless amazement. They were dumfounded. Lane had just asked the lodgekeeper who the gentleman was who was approaching, and had been told that it was Mr. Sidney Bassington. Now, as he came up close, Lane saw that it was no other than the young man Mr. Richards.

They stared at each other in a present silence for nearly a minute, then, with an ironical smile, Lane touched his hat.

'Captain White!' gasped Sidney.

Lane chuckled inwardly; he was still too astounded to laugh outright.

'That's me, right enough,' he said; 'but which are you, Mr. Richards' or Mr. Sidney Bassington, the heir to all this?'

Sidney drew a long and painful breath, and glanced towards the lodge, fearing that they might be overheard.

'Come with me—into the wood,' he said. 'How did you come here—why?'

'I've come on a matter of business,' said Lane. 'It's a small world, and it's wonderful how people turn up and run against each other. Are you Mr. Sidney Bassington?'

Sidney nodded.

'Yes,' he said, hoarsely.

'Well, of all the odd coincidences! To think of your being Mr. Sidney Bassington and me not to know it up in London! And I've been looking for you for the last twelve hours.'

'Looking for me?' repeated Sidney, helplessly. 'I thought you'd gone abroad. You promised—'

Lane shrugged his shoulders.

'Promises are pie-crusts,' he said.

LAI D UP FIVE YEARS

Until Half a Bottle of Father Morrissy's Liniment Cured His Shoulder.

Mr. Jos. J. Roy, a prominent tinsmith of Bathurst, N.B., July 16, 1900.

'I cannot let this opportunity pass without letting you know what benefit I received from your Liniment. For five years I had a sore shoulder, which prevented me from working or from sleeping at night. I had tried everything possible and still could find no relief, until I was advised to try a bottle of your liniment, which I purchased without delay. I only used one half of the bottle when I was completely cured, and now I feel as if I never had a sore shoulder. I would advise anyone suffering from Rheumatic pains to give your liniment a trial, for I cannot praise it too highly.'

A liniment that will do that is the liniment you want. It is equally good for sore throat or chest, backache, toothache, ear ache, sprains, sore muscles, cuts, bruises, burns, frost-bites, chapped hands or chilblains. Rub it in, and the pain comes out. 25c per bottle at your dealer's, or from Father Morrissy Medicine Co. Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

I've got business here in England, and business connected with you.'

'With me?' said Sidney.

They had entered the wood, and they stopped and looked at each other—Sidney with a questioning frown, Lane with a mocking smile, in which amazement still lurked.

'Yes,' he said. 'That is, if you are Mr. Sidney Bassington, as you say you are. Lord! what a small world it is, and what a run one!' he chuckled.

Sidney leant against a tree and tried to look at his case and non-chalant. This man was the only witness to the false marriage. He—Sidney—would have to buy him off. That was the thought that ran through his brain. Lane watched him out of the corners of his small, evil eyes as a cat watches a mouse.

'You're Mr. Sidney Bassington, the heir to Starborough Castle and all that thereto belongs, the next Earl of Starborough, the right honorable earl?'

'I am,' said Sidney, with an attempt at dignity. 'It suited my purpose to assume the name of Richards. You may, perhaps, understand why—'

'Oh, I understand well enough,' responded Lane, with a chuckle. 'And no doubt you'll think I've come to blackmail you about that little business of the girl and the marriage. But you are mistaken. I'd done with that. I was paid for it fair and honourable, and I wasn't going to trouble about that any longer. It was Mr. Sidney Bassington—not Mr. Richards—that I want to do business with.'

'To do business with?' echoed Sidney, his white face contorted by a frown of bewilderment. 'What business have you got to do with me? What concern have you with me? Come to that, what business have you got to do with me at all? I don't know you, I never saw you before. You are trespassing on my—on my uncle's, the earl's—land. I should advise you to go away—to go away quietly. I don't want any fuss or trouble; I don't want to be obliged to call the lodge keeper, the servants, to turn you off.'

'Oh, you don't!' retorted Lane, mockingly. 'That's very considerate of you. And I suppose if you called up your lodgekeeper and your servant, you'd say: "I, Mr. Sidney Bassington, the heir, order you to turn this man out of the gate." And do

Kidney Suffering

Backaches and tired feelings tell of weak kidney action—Prompt relief by using DRA. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

There is no treatment for kidney disease which will afford you relief so quickly as Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, and none which will so certainly cure the most complicated forms of this disease.

There is a reason for this. Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills awaken the action of the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys and thereby effect a thorough cleansing and regulating of the excretory system.

Mr. S. J. Argue, Kars, Carleton, Co. Ont., writes:—'I have suffered a great deal with kidney troubles and pains in the small of the back and have tried a good many remedies without obtaining very much benefit. I wish to say, however, that I can heartily recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills as a splendid medicine as they have proven of very great value to me.'

Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills are sold in a box, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edman's, Bates & Co., Toronto. Refuse substitutes.

you know what I should say? I should say: 'Don't do nothing of the kind, for this young man, though his name is Sidney Bassington, perhaps, has no authority here; for he's not the heir—he's a mere nobody, that's what he is, and don't you obey his orders!'

CHAPTER XXXIX.

SIDNEY stared at him as if he thought the man had gone mad.

It seemed such childish, arrant nonsense. Why should this man say such a thing? Why should he threaten by such an assertion? and how should he know anything about it—about the affairs of the Starborough family—this Captain White, whom he had met by chance in a billiard-room off the Strand?

'Are you mad or drunk?' he asked, with genuine amazement overmastering his indignation.

Lane smiled, with a kind of sardonic patience, as if he were so sure of his position that he could afford to be both patient and indulgent.

'I ain't drunk, and I ain't mad,' he responded. 'I am a business man, I am, and I've got to do serious business with you, Mr. Bassington—I nearly called you Richards—and the sooner you realise it the better for both of us. Now, to save time, I may as well tell you that I know the history of your noble family; he jerked his head in the direction of the castle. 'I know the whole ins and out of it; I know the earl and his two brothers, and how they raked you up in London, and, for want of a better, made an heir of you. And a very good heir you'd have made and a very good heir I've no doubt, and a very good heir you will make, if it suits me to let you, if you come to terms with me.'

Sidney's face was still pale, but his breath was coming more evenly, and he was bracing himself to meet this man whom he had good reason to know was absolutely unscrupulous and merciless: why, he had used that very unscrupulousness and utter lack of mercy. He knew that the man was too clever, too cunning, to put forward an unsubstantial claim, and that he—Sidney—would need all his wits, all his cunning, to cope with this "Captain White." So, instead of blustering, as he would have done if he had been less afraid of the man, he forced a placable air and an almost pleasant manner.

'This is a strange story, an extraordinary communication, Captain White,' he said, 'and of course it has taken me very much by surprise. The sight of you has surprised me; for, of course, I had hoped you had gone abroad, and I was not particularly anxious to meet you again, good friends as we have been. Of course you know why. And now you spring this upon me. I think you might have done it more pleasantly seeing that we were pals.'

White smiled in appreciation of this attempt of Sidney's to ingratiate himself.

'That's a proper tone to take, Mr. Bassington,' he said, approvingly. 'Meet me like this, and you'll find me easy and pleasant to deal with. I was a bit rough, perhaps; but I was rather thrown off my balance by seeing that Mr. Sidney Bassington and Mr. Richards, my old pal, were one and the same. Now we'll talk the matter over quiet and comfortable; and I've not the least doubt we shall come to terms. Mine may be heavy, but they won't be unreasonable, seeing what I'm going to give you for them.'

Sidney resented the man's tone of familiarity and assurance, but he nodded and smiled in a sickly fashion.

'Come further into the wood,' he said. 'There's a small path here, and someone might pass, though it's not often used.'

He led the way further into the wood and stopped at a thick part of the plantation behind, and a little distance from Mrs. Farren's cottage.

'We shall be uninterrupted here—no one comes here,' he said. 'Now, Captain White, let us sit down. Let me offer you a cigar.'

White took the cigar and smoked it in a manner peculiarly offensive to Sidney's recently refined taste; for Captain White put a great deal of the cigar in his mouth and licked and sucked it, so that Sidney could not help being reminded of the serpent's peculiar and unpleasant way of slaving his victim before swallowing it.

'Now,' he said, 'you state your case as we lawyers say.'

'Right you are,' assented White. 'I've found the heir to the Starborough title and estates.'

Sidney started, but met White's small eyes steadily.

The sight of you has surprised me; for, of course, I had hoped you had gone abroad, and I was not particularly anxious to meet you again, good friends as we have been. Of course you know why. And now you spring this upon me. I think you might have done it more pleasantly seeing that we were pals.'

White smiled in appreciation of this attempt of Sidney's to ingratiate himself.

'That's a proper tone to take, Mr. Bassington,' he said, approvingly. 'Meet me like this, and you'll find me easy and pleasant to deal with. I was a bit rough, perhaps; but I was rather thrown off my balance by seeing that Mr. Sidney Bassington and Mr. Richards, my old pal, were one and the same. Now we'll talk the matter over quiet and comfortable; and I've not the least doubt we shall come to terms. Mine may be heavy, but they won't be unreasonable, seeing what I'm going to give you for them.'

Sidney resented the man's tone of familiarity and assurance, but he nodded and smiled in a sickly fashion.

'Come further into the wood,' he said. 'There's a small path here, and someone might pass, though it's not often used.'

He led the way further into the wood and stopped at a thick part of the plantation behind, and a little distance from Mrs. Farren's cottage.

'We shall be uninterrupted here—no one comes here,' he said. 'Now, Captain White, let us sit down. Let me offer you a cigar.'

White took the cigar and smoked it in a manner peculiarly offensive to Sidney's recently refined taste; for Captain White put a great deal of the cigar in his mouth and licked and sucked it, so that Sidney could not help being reminded of the serpent's peculiar and unpleasant way of slaving his victim before swallowing it.

'Now,' he said, 'you state your case as we lawyers say.'

'Right you are,' assented White. 'I've found the heir to the Starborough title and estates.'

Sidney started, but met White's small eyes steadily.

combines the rich gluten of Manitoba Spring wheat and the lighter, but equally important, properties of Ontario Fall wheat. The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"Go back to earth with a lip unsealed, go back with an open eye. And carry my word to the sons of men or ever ye come to die; That the sin they do by two and two they must pay for one by one— And the God that ye took from a printed book be with you Tomlinson"

There seems to exist in most of us a tendency to minimize a fault or mistake, if we find that our neighbor has committed the same mistake. We seem to fancy that, in some unknown way, sin grows less by company, and that if we can point to a goodly number of people and say they sinned the same sin as we, we thereby diminish our own offense.

For instance, if you as one of a group of girls, should make fun of, or in any way treat some girl unkindly, and should be taxed with your conduct, you would undoubtedly say, "I couldn't help it. I only did what the rest did."

As a matter of fact, if you did not try to prevent the unkindness you thereby became responsible for it. And not only for a share of it, but for the whole.

For, paradoxical as it may sound, responsibility is a quantity which may be divided by any number and yet remain the same.

It is a moral law that if a group of three is guilty of any wrong each one of them is responsible not for one-third, but for the whole of the fault.

I read an article the other day in one of the current magazines on divided responsibility which I wish I could transcribe bodily. If you run across it be sure to read it. The gist of it was that many individuals belonging to corporations or other associations countenance acts which they would by no means do as individuals. They seem to think that because many are involved, responsibility is divided. The article points out that the consequences of their approval or consent are as damaging as if they each committed the act individually, and, therefore, their responsibility is as great.

As individuals I think we often countenance usages and customs that we admit are wrong, because, "Everyone else does and my standing out against it would do no good."

My grandfather was a Methodist minister. He believed the Bible meant what it said about its being wrong to work on Sunday. He believed if he allowed people to work for him on Sunday he would be responsible for their sinning, and he therefore refused to avail himself of any train or car service on Sunday. He often had to preach at many places many miles from his own parish, but he either went to the place a day or two before-hand if it were absolutely necessary to go on Sunday, he walked.

He was often known to walk five or ten miles on a Sunday morning before the half-past ten service.

A great many people rallied at him as foolish and quixotic, and said, "The trains will run whether you ride in them or not. It isn't your fault that they run and you don't help any walking yourself to death."

But my grandfather always answered, "If I ride in them the responsibility of their being run on Sunday becomes mine. I do not believe in men working on Sunday. I will not countenance it by availing myself of the fruits of their labour."

Maybe you, too, say he is foolish, but surely you will admit that it was a mighty fine kind of foolishness, the kind that stands behind great reforms and great movements, a kind we could well have a great deal more of to-day.

"Everyone is fully responsible for every evil that he in any way countenances."

That is an exacting doctrine, but I do believe it is true, and an ideal that if men would live towards would do much to bring about the millennium.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

To make a boric acid solution use one teaspoon boric acid to one pint of water.

Always scald the milk used in making a custard. Then when it is baked it will be always smooth.

It is better to keep tea and coffee in airtight glass jars, in a place not exposed to strong light.

Scatter sassafras bark with woolen goods and furs when putting them away for the summer. It keeps moths out.

For wiping off a varnished paper, use warm water and paraffin—half a cupful of paraffin to a pailful of water.

Strong soap suds and water in which there is washing soda is fatal to china or glassware decorated in gilt.

A little vaseline or oil rubbed over a stove when it is taken down for the summer months will prevent rusting.

Always keep two large sponges for house cleaning purposes, one to wash wood-work with and one to use if rinsing.

The following message from His Majesty the King has been received by His Excellency the Governor through the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies:—

“GOVERNOR, Newfoundland.

“His Majesty the King commands me to convey following message for publication:

“To my People beyond the Seas:—

“The numerous messages of kindness from my loyal subjects beyond the seas have deeply touched my heart and have assured me that I have in full measure their sympathy in the great trial which has befallen me and them. My sorrow is their sorrow. We share a common loss. The happiness of all His people throughout His Dominions was dear to the heart of my beloved father. For them he lived and worked; in their service he died; and I cannot doubt that they will hold his name in grateful remembrance. I am now called to follow in his footsteps and carry on the work which prospered in his hands. As a sailor I have been brought into constant touch with the Oversea Dominions of the Crown, and I have personally realized the affectionate loyalty which holds together many lands and diverse peoples in one glorious fellowship. Nine years ago I travelled through the Empire accompanied by my dear wife, and had the late King lived we should together at his expressed wish have visited South Africa in the coming autumn to open the first Parliament of the South African Union, the latest and greatest evidence of that peace and harmony which my father ever loved to promote. It will be my earnest endeavour to uphold constitutional government and to safeguard in all their fullness the liberties which are enjoyed throughout my Dominions, and under the good guidance of the Ruler of all men I will maintain on the foundations of freedom, justice and peace: the great heritage of the United British Empire.”

The finest oats grown in Scotland, combined with Plasmon—no husk, no fibre, require only 4 minutes' boiling.

Empire Day.

To-day our thoughts naturally turn to the Empire and the new King who reigns over it. In a unique manner King George can be regarded as especially the King of the Dominions beyond the Seas. A sailor King has ever been the delight of our Vikings, and a Ulysses among monarchs as King George has already been dubbed in a title peculiarly appropriate to the head of the British Empire, which extends to every quarter of the Globe and exerts a sway over every Sea.

In his message to the Navy, King George draws attention to his education and training as a sailor.

“Educated and trained in that profession which I love so dearly, retirement from active duty has in no sense diminished my feelings of affection for it. For thirty-three years I have had the honour of serving in the Navy, and such intimate participation in its life and work enables me to know how thoroughly I can depend upon that spirit of loyalty and zealous devotion to duty of which the glorious history of our Navy is the outcome.”

The King has commanded torpedo boats, destroyers, cruisers, and been in charge of a first class cruiser and as the London Evening News puts it: “Our Sailor King is a thorough sailor.”

The Daily Graphic says:—

“As a royal traveller, the King is unexampled, and the intimacy that he has acquired with the Greater Britain that lies beyond the seas renders him to-day a monarch of Empire with an unparalleled knowledge of his many peoples and wide dominions.”

Since his first cruise in the Bacchante as Prince George when he was thirteen years old, he has travelled wherever the Union Jack flies, and has been deeply imbued with the importance of the Dominions beyond the Seas, so much so that he has already been referred to as the Colonists' King, and his clarion cry of “Wake-up, John Bull,” after his Imperial tour in 1901 will not soon be forgotten.

Just as he sounded the tocsin on his return from his last Colonial trip to the people of the Old Land, so has he happily seized the opportunity of the first Empire Day of his reign to greet his people beyond the Seas, and if possible stimulated that spirit of unity and brotherhood which pervades the Empire, and of which the Kingship is the visible emblem. If King George's difficulties are great, his opportunities for good are greater, and with the spirit of fellowship and goodwill, the outlook is not dark after all, but the vision is bright, as the Bishop of Newfoundland pointed out in his Address last Friday morning.

What nobler ideal could any King set before him than that the one which King George sets before himself in the closing words of his message to his people over the seas, which we append:—

“It will be my earnest endeavour to uphold constitutional government and to safeguard in all their fullness the liberties which are enjoyed throughout my Dominions, and under the good guidance of the Ruler of all men I will maintain on the foundations of freedom, justice and peace: the great heritage of the United British Empire.”

Insulting Language.

By yesterday's mail I. G. Sullivan had a report from Const. Cramm of Channel in which that officer says that a man named John Osmond used lewd insulting language in speaking of the late King Edward VII. He uttered this in the presence of witnesses and was apprehended by the constable and brought before Magistrate Squary. He was fined in the sum of $15.

The west bound express arrived at Port aux Basques when he was

Sinking at Cape Broyle

Mr. Martin Chidley's boat that left St. John's with a load of supplies, chiefly for the lighthouses at Cape Race, Cape Pine and Cape St. Mary's got leaky while anchored at Cape Broyle last Sunday night. The butt heads of the plank gave out and the water was making fast when the boat's condition was discerned. She was hurriedly unmoored and hauled into Hon. M. F. Cashing's wharf where the work of taking out her cargo was rushed. The goods on the top were saved quite dry, but much of the cargo in the bottom was ruined with salt water. Repairs were made to the boat yesterday and she will be ready to resume her voyage this afternoon. Mr. Chidley bought the boat at Fox Harbor last year. She is a rebuilt schooner and he believed that he had a good bargain.

Here and There.

The Checkers sailed for Figueira this afternoon, taking 2,500 qtls. of fish from Alan Goodridge & Sons.

LEAVE FOR ENGLAND.—Mr. and Mrs. Clapp and their two boys leave for the Carthaginian, due to-day. They visit friends in England.

FOR CAPE CHARLES.—Bowring Bros. whaler Hawk, Capt. Hansen, sails for Cape Charles to prosecute the whale fishery the coming summer.

BOWRING SHIPS.

The Portia sails west at 10 a.m. Friday.

The Prospero is north of Western Cove.

CARTHAGINIAN'S PASSENGERS.—The S. S. Carthaginian which is due here at 4 p.m. sails about midnight. She takes a large cargo of fish, oil, etc., and these passengers—Miss Wardlow, W. Clapp, wife and 2 children, Rev. L. Vereker, Misses Carter (2), Lady Horwood, E. Burton-Smith, J. J. Strang, J. Clapp, H. D. Jerrett, Mr. Hobbs, E. A. Selberg, J. Carter, J. F. Haley, Miss Inman, Mr. Kestal-Cornish, wife and 3 children.

CHINAMAN RETURNS.—One of the Chinamen who came here with the first crowd of colonial settlers, but who went to St. Pierre where he worked for several years, returned by the Portia and will remain in the city. He had to satisfy the Customs that he was here previously before he was allowed to leave the ship.

S.S. Portia Here From Westward.

The s.s. Portia, Capt. Thos. Fitzpatrick, arrived here from the westward at 10 o'clock last night. The ship went as far as Bonne Bay. She left here on the 13th inst., and had dense fog going up the coast for nearly 48 hours, and arrived at Bonne Bay at 3 p.m. on Wednesday last. She left again at 9 that night and left Port aux Basques at 5 p.m. on Thursday last, taking the Bruce passengers and mails to Sydney. She made a good run on the trip back to Port aux Basques, leaving Sydney at 5 a.m. Friday and arriving at 2.30 p.m. The ship called at St. Pierre on the return and brought down the British Consul, wife and 3 children. She brought a small freight and these passengers:—

Messrs. V. K. Kesbell, Cornish Wilton, Garcon, Ridout, Noah, Walsh, Hawkins, Vigus, K. Lee, Head Constable Sparrow, K. Dunn, Mesdames K. Cornish, 3 children, Power, Jackman, Coady, Cashin, Misses G. Parsons, Murphy.

Resolution of Condolence.

WHEREAS Divine Providence has seen fit to remove from his early sphere of labor our well beloved Sovereign, King Edward VII., whose devotion to public duty, during a most illustrious reign, and whose respect and generous sympathy towards all classes and creeds in his vast Empire had won for him their unswerving loyalty and love:—

AND WHEREAS our late Sovereign was mainly instrumental in bringing about the removal of intolerable limitations to the rights and privileges of the fishermen of this Colony, which had arisen under ancient Treaties, and, by his beneficent action had especially endeared himself to this class of his subjects in his most ancient Colony of Newfoundland.

RESOLVED, That the Newfoundland Fishermen's Star of the Sea Associations record an expression of the deep sorrow and regret that its members experienced when they learned of the death of their beloved Sovereign and benefactor, and of their sense of the loss that the Empire and the whole world has sustained by the death of King Edward, the great Conciliator and Peacemaker, who stood for peace both at home and abroad. Also, of their most respectful sympathy with Her Majesty the Queen Mother and other members of the Royal Family in their sore bereavement, and of their reverence, loyalty and affection for the Person and Throne of His Majesty George V., who by the death of our late Sovereign has become “our lawful and rightful liege and Lord.”

It is the devout prayer of the Association that His Majesty may be divinely aided to carry out those high ideals of Kingship that characterized our late Sovereign, and so firmly established him in the hearts of the civilized nations of the world, and that God may be pleased to grant His Majesty and Queen Mary a long and prosperous and glorious reign.

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to His Excellency the Governor requesting that he may be graciously pleased to transmit the same to the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

E. M. JACKMAN,
President N. F. Fishermen's Star of the Sea Association.

W. F. GRAHAM,
Secretary N. F. Fishermen's Star of the Sea Association.

Shipping Halibut.

Mr. Trefethen, of Portland, Maine, is now on the West Coast acting for the Gorton Penney Co. buying halibut, which he is shipping abroad in ice. He has a gasoline schooner running between Burgeo and LaPoile buying halibut at 4 cents per pound. He will have a second schooner on the route next week. The industry is very profitable to the fishermen. A week ago two men and a boy fishing together in a punt made $530 for two weeks' work. Mr. Trefethen is also buying live lobsters. He sends the halibut in ice to Sydney where it is put on board a refrigerating car. The first lot he shipped away amounted to 45,000 lbs., the second lot, 39,000 lbs. The enterprise is the result of a visit made last fall by Mr. J. F. Downey to Portland, where he had an interview with the above named firm.

FARM AND GARDEN SEED.—The people of the West Coast had each a share of garden and farm seeds distributed amongst them last week by the agent of the Agricultural Society at St. George's.

SALMON AT BLACKHEAD.—About 150 salmon were caught at Blackhead last night. They were displayed in a dozen boxes at Monroe's corner this morning and sold at 12 cents and 10 cents a pound.

WEATHER UP COUNTRY.—Along the line to-day the weather is calm and dull; temperature 40 to 50 above.

The Ethel sailed this morning for Oporto, taking 3,000 quintals of fish for Monroe & Co. Capt. Herald is in command.

Passengers View Comet

Saturday evening last when the S. S. Portia was off Point Verde coming this way Capt. Fitzpatrick, the crew and passengers had a splendid view of the comet, the sky being perfectly clear. The blazing star could be seen clearly with the naked eye at 9.30 p.m. It was about 10 degrees above the horizon and bearing N. W. by W. magnetic. The tail could be seen for a distance of 2 degrees S., and it sunk below the horizon about 10.30.

The People's Choice.

There are two public wharves at St. Lawrence, but that on the eastern side of the harbor is preferred to the wharf on the other side. There are from 15 to 18 feet of water there, and is far easier to get the coastal steamers to and from it. Here are situated the Custom House, telegraph office, boarding houses, churches and magistrate's residence. The steamers will likely be up at this pier in future instead of going to the western pier, so that it is likely the Government will be obliged to sell it as it will not be availed of by the public.

Burglary at Wadden's.

F. Wadden's Bakery was entered from the rear by a burglar last night. He burst in a shutter near the ground where the coal is put in. The confectionery shop door was bolted, but the fellow broke one of the panels of the door and pushed back the bolt. Only a small boy could get through the panel which goes to show that it could not have been a man. The bolt was too high up for the longest arm man to reach it.

After he got into the shop, which fronts on Water Street, he found his way to the till and took all the coin in it—about three dollars. He overlooked another till on the opposite side of the shop where he would have made a much better haul. The shutter where he first entered was firmly closed on the inside with an iron bar. He pushed against the door or forced it with a battering ram till he burst off one of the cleats inside that supported the transverse bar. He evidently used this bar afterwards to beat the panel out of the door leading to the shop and to pry open the cash drawer.

It is believed that the burglary was done by a man and a boy, and that the latter crawled through the panel and rifled the till. A boy's pocket knife was found on the premises.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

This being Empire Day court proceedings were deferred until to-morrow.

Two drunks were released by order of Judge Knight. Two disorderlies and two held for larceny were detained in the cells to appear to-morrow.

Train Notes.

The Carbonear train arrived here at 12.20 to-day bringing Rev. Canon Pilot, J. Baxter, A. Stirling, Captain Noble, Mrs. Ferguson, L. H. Simmons and 30 others.

FRESH HALIBUT.—8 cents per lb. At G. KNOWLING'S.—m24t.

DIED.

HAWKINS.—Passed peacefully away on May 23rd, Jessie Beaton, second daughter of Emily and the late Capt. Stephen Hawkins, aged 25 years. Funeral from her late residence, 11 Bulley St., to Railway Station, at 7.45 a.m. on Wednesday, and at Harbour Grace, on the arrival of the morning train. Friends will please accept this, the only intimation.

Good Prospects North.

By the Ingraham we learn that from Change stands up to Cat Hr. the fishery is opening well and a good haul is being taken in traps. At Seldom on Thursday last J. Rowe had 18 qtls. in his trap. At the Wadhams there were evidences of a good fishery and herring for bait is very plentiful.

Peter, the Grenadiers' Pet.

The story is told of a gander that was once a pet of the Grenadier guardsmen. This was some seventy years ago, when a battalion of the regiment was serving out in Canada. One night while a sentry was on duty pacing up and down his lonely beat he saw a goose limping towards him over the frozen snow. The bird had broken its leg, and the soldier carried it off to the regimental surgeon, who set the limb in splints. Peter, as he was called had a grateful nature, and on his recovery attached himself to the troops. A few days afterwards he saved the life of a corporal by flying in the face of a rebel who was just about to fire at him. The Grenadiers brought Peter home with them to London, and he lived to enjoy a ripe old age at the Tower.—Graphic.

Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

A Nice Distinction.

On an occasion when Mr. Gladstone was announced to speak in Manchester the hall was packed and the air was stifling. For some reason it was impossible to open the windows, which were very high, and one had to be broken. It was feared that the noise would startle the audience, and the mayor stepped forward to explain what was proposed. The audience, however, had not assembled to listen to the mayor and overwhelmed him with cries of "Gladstone!" "Gladstone!"

At last the misconceived and infuriated official resorted to silence by shouting at the top of his lungs, "I'm not going to make a speech; I've got something to say!"

Boy Had Fits For 6 Years

Druggist advised DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD—Cure complete and lasting.

Mrs. J. D. Palmer, 38 Park St., Amsterdam, N. Y., writes: "When six years of age my boy began to have fits. They came on in the night. He would make strange noises, stiffen out, froth at mouth, face would twitch and some times turned purple. After the fit he could not talk. The family physician said all he could do was to keep him down some what. The second physician pronounced trouble Jeffersonian epilepsy, but could not cure him. He suffered for six years, and before beginning the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food had three fits in about five days. Our druggist recommended Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. He has taken seven boxes and has not had the symptom of a fit since. His color has greatly improved; he is not nervous and irritable like he used to be, and we consider his cure complete." Such results are only obtained by the use of the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food—not from imitations or substitutes. 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Charivaria.

It was reported recently that the Knights of Columbus of Newfoundland when at New Brunswick, were entertained by the Knights of St. John (N.B. understood) according to the rules of the Order nothing stronger than beer was served at the table. May they not be very appropriately called the Knights of St. John of malt-eh?

The following anarchistic notice appeared in a recent paper:—"Agents wanted for the life of King George and Queen Alexandra!" A notice appears announcing "a shipment of Blatchford Calf Meal." It declared to be "the best for fattening and growing." This miraculous meal will, no doubt, be eagerly sought for. The ordinary meal has a tendency rather to diminish and decrease than to grow, so we have no doubt this growing and fattening meal will become very popular.

CHARIVARIA.

YOUR GREATEST NEED IS NERVE. Are your nerves spongy? Do they give way on the least strain or fall down before the grind of daily toil. Then you are in purgatory every minute of the day and your nights are haunted by dreams, horrid and wear- ing, or else sleeplessness yields its terrible whip to agonize still further the physical misery into which you have fallen. Irritability, weakness of the nerves, grinding tiredness that grasps you always, poor appetite and indigestion, thin blood, paleness, excitability, blue feelings,—all these you suffer because you lack nerve power. Take Ferrozone (blood food). What an appetite you'll get! How quickly color will return to your cheeks, how buoyancy and vigorous you will feel. Work,—of course, you'll work, and you'll enjoy it, too. You will have ambition, energy, vitality. Ferrozone (blood food) gives strength to the nerves, brings vigor and vim, good spirits, great power and endurance, the things we call health. Get them you can by simply taking Ferrozone. Price 50c.

still more striking in the tender and happy quality of his spoken and written words. The rapidity with which the King is winning the people is a source of the deepest gratification to those in positions of political responsibility.

As a Factor in the State.

Before the loss of King Edward's powerful and pacific character, statesmen and politicians suddenly stood aghast, and over the brawling forum of politics fell a dramatic hush. Politicians feared that without their head, the long and bitter domestic strife might result in a danger to England far transcending any foreign menace. While this hush continues, amid the mournful and splendid events attending the gathering of rulers, princes and statesmen to honor the memory of Edward, King George's character assumes consistency and his prestige grows, and British public men hope that by the time the conflict between the Lords and the Commons again becomes critical the new King will have gone some way toward making himself an adequate substitute for his father as a factor in the State.

Memorial Service at Channel.

Editor Evening Telegram:—Dear Sir,—Please allow me a small space in your popular journal in which to describe the Memorial Service or I may say Burial Service of our greatly beloved Sovereign King Edward VII., held at Channel, on Friday, the 20th inst., at 11 a.m.

At fifteen minutes to 11 the solemn tones of the bell as it tolled announced that burial service was being held in the Church of England, and people were seen coming from all parts of the mission to be present to pay their last respects to their beloved Sovereign.

At 11 o'clock the sounds of the muffled drum announced the approach of the Church Lads Brigade in full kit, and officers and lads each wearing a bow of crape, an insignia of mourning. Following close behind came the L. O. A. in full regalia, each member's regalia being draped with crape. The Brigade entered the church first, followed by the L. O. A. Association, and as they were marching in solemn steps up the aisle the congregation stood up, the minister entering from the vestry at the same time, the organ in solemn tones rendered the Dead March in Saul. It will, I am sure, be never forgotten by those present.

The service commenced by singing "Jesus lover of my soul," which was followed by the verses: "I am the resurrection and the life," "I know that my Redeemer liveth," and "We brought nothing into this world," followed with Psalm 39 and 90 and "Let Saints on earth in concert sing." During the singing of the last verse the Rector, the Rev. Mr. Reid, entered the pulpit. The words of his text were: "Blessed are the Peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God." The preacher portrayed the life of our beloved King as a ruler of his vast Empire, and as a father in home-life, and above all his standard of peace which won for him the title of Edward the Peacemaker. He said any one who followed the life of our Sovereign during his reign could not but say that he had done his duty, and that he had followed more closely than any King or Queen before in the footsteps of Him who uttered the words of the text: "Blessed are the Peacemakers," and while the whole world is sorrowing his death to-day, and the sympathy of the nation is with the Royal Family in this great blow that has befallen them, at the same time we have the sure and certain hope that at the general resurrection at the last day that he whom we now mourn as dead will hear the words: "Well done good and faithful servant."

He also read the Queen Mother's letter to her people, and during the reading many were the moistened eyes in the congregation. I have read the sermons and memorials of various preachers and able lecturers that have appeared in the papers, and I can safely say that nothing I have read can better portray the grief of the sorrowing nation than the sermon preached by the Rev. Mr. Reid at Channel.

Hymn 537 brought to a close a service that will ever live in the memories of the people of Channel, as well as others who had the privilege of being there.

Yours truly,
CHURCHMAN.

New Declaration.

London, May 19.—It is stated that instead of modifying the wording of the declaration which the King makes at the opening of the first Parliament to the effect that he will maintain the Protestant religion, the Government has now decided to draft an entirely new declaration of a positive, not a negative character.

This will define Protestantism as accepted by the Church of England and will no indicate by implication the doctrine which the King abjures.

Gower Street Epworth League.

The members of Gower Street Epworth League spent a very entertaining hour in the Church last night. Rev. W. T. D. Dunn, the pastor, presided, and Mr. James Vey was present with his lantern. The hymns:—"Nearer My God to Thee," "Abide With Me," "Jesus, Lover of my Soul," "The Glory Song," and "Son of my Soul" were sung heartily by the large congregation present, and each verse was illustrated by Mr. Vey. Other interesting views were: the old Gower St. Church, pictures of the seal fishery, the City Brigades on St. George's Field, and others. The pictures of several of the former pastors of the Church were also shown, with their Excellencies Sir Ralph and Lady Williams, and a portrait of King George V. When the latter was displayed the audience rose and sang the National Anthem.

Lumber Driving.

The recent heavy rain falls have been of great advantage to lumbermen in the interior. The rivers rose last week from one to two feet and a great lot of logs that were hung up were got on the "drive" and sent down the rivers. Notwithstanding this thousands of logs will lie up all summer unless the rivers rise about twice as high.

Had a Good Trip.

By the S. S. Portia we learn that the French trawler Baluga that collided with the S. S. Invermore was returning from Quero Bank with a good trip of fish when the mishap occurred. The captain ran the Baluga to the land and beached her before the water reached up to the fires. It was a risky proceeding but the engineers and firemen bravely stuck to their posts.

The room in the C. L. B. new Armory set aside for the accommodation of "A" Company was formally opened for their use last night. Most of the officers and a large number of the lads were present with the new officers of the Company alluded to above. Capt. Goodridge formally opened the rooms, and in doing so complimented the officers and members of the Company on the possession of such a fine apartment, and introduced the new senior officers to the boys; Capt. Goodridge also presented the Company with a new bagatelle board for use in their room.

MINARD'S LINIMENT LUMBERMAN'S FRIEND.

LOOKING FOR A HOUSE.

Dust, Mud and Other Difficulties.

Searching for a house, trying to get into the good graces of a spectacle-eyed landlady, is not a soft snap when you are not well connected and short of spondulicks. You knock at the door of the tartar that owns the house with a shaky sensation in the knees and trying to look sober and quiet, harmless, intelligent, and above all, industrious. She opens the door with an important swing and holds a pair of fourteen cent eyeglasses in one hand and the bar of the door in the other, while she sends searching glances down between your neck and your collar to find out for herself whether you are clean or not. Next she asks you in and points to a chair with a lot of springs sticking up through it and tells you to sit down. One of the springs nearly puts you in a fit condition for the hospital, but as you want her house, you can grin and bear it. Then she starts in pouring out questions of how many you have in family, where you work, do you work constantly, are you ever sick, any of the family noisy, and do you chop up wood on the floor. Then, have you a gramophone, or are any of your boys in the Cadet band. After answering all these questions you think that the house is secure, but 'tis not. She tells you to call around in a week's time for an answer, meantime she starts out investigating and trying to discover why she can't give you the house.

This is a part, just a little part of the troubles that the poor of this town have to undergo in order to secure a habitation—not a home, but a rookery that lets in the rain through the roof and the wind through the sides. We are prating about consumption, but there are no steps taken to improve the condition of the poor man's dwelling. In fact, 'tis getting worse every day, for those who have poor tenements to let are letting them go to ruin, and when they are gone far enough and they have squeezed all the money they can out of them, then they tear 'em down and build a better class house, so as the tenant will stab them for more money.

Some people will say that it is none of their business about the people in the poor tumble down houses, and that they have to get all the money they can out of their property. They are not so dense as not to know that, but surely 'tis somebody's business. In other countries what do they do? I don't know, but certain it is that they do something.

Then again some will say, "Oh, we don't hear any of the poor complaining." But ask yourself, do you go where you will hear complaints. This is an important business and some public men will have to grapple with it and do it soon.

They are talking around here about fairs and agricultural shows, parks, fish stands and the Lord only knows what, but before we start out expending another cent we should start in and clean up this town in like dunning people who owe a two year's bill; 'tis so often talked about that those in another city pay no more attention to it than the coming up of a northeaster. They tell us cleanliness is next to godliness, and as this community has a name for being good church-goers, then let us make another step on the road of perfection and clean up our city.

Tucker got a new pair of specs—fourteen cent eyeglasses. I said to Tucker, "You look like a man tallying staves on a wharf on a cold day with them on. What's wrong with you?" said I, "are you getting blink from chasing Indians at the Nickel?" "Oh, no," said he, "I got these for the dust." "But sure man, give," said I, "the gutter is a half foot thick now." "I know," said he, "but look out for squalls—lots of dusty squalls and fairy rings when that dries up." The man who started the Municipal Council was a long-headed politician, for it took a great weight off the shoulders of the Government. Growl at one of the members of the House of Assembly about anything that's wrong in the city and he'll look wise and show you where the Council office stands. Go to the Council and he'll blame the Government for not giving them enough money. Seventy years I have tridged over this town, and day in and day out I have listened to the cry of "Awful dusty" or "Shocking muddy." No doubt, like the rest of my race, I will soon pass in my checks, but thanks to a kind and generous custom I will be placed down in a hole, for I wouldn't like to be left up here, for I'd only dry up and be blown around, and 'twill only be the same familiar salutation—of very dusty.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

Mrs. K. Alcock leaves by next Rosalind for a trip to Montreal on a visit to her brother and sister who reside there.

The many friends of Mr. Dugald Munn are pleased to welcome him home again after the winter spent in Italy.

Mrs. Elizabeth Butt, widow of Mr. William Butt, sr., died last week at the very advanced age of 100 years. Up to a couple of years ago Mrs. Butt was quite active and could move about the town and visit her many acquaintances and friends. She leaves a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren as well as a very large circle of other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Archibald have just moved into that very comfortable residence on Victoria Street owned by Mr. Geo. Makinson. We wish Mr. and Mrs. A. much happiness in their new home. Mr. Archibald is manager of the Archibald Bros. Boot and Shoe Establishment, and is very popular.

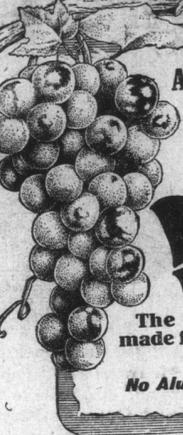

Rev. F. S. Coffin, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, leaves by Tuesday evening's express for a visit to Canada. Mr. Coffin is very popular with his congregation and with the public generally, and all will hope to see him back at the expiration of his holiday much improved in health by his visit abroad. We hope his vacation may be most enjoyable to him. Arrangements have been made for supply during the pastor's absence.

The Memorial Service held in St. Paul's Church on Friday last was very largely attended by the citizens generally and by the following societies in mourning regalia:—Sons of England, L. O. A., British Society and King Edward Branch, and Masonic. Arrangements had previously been made, and the Orange Society paraded down Harvey Street, halting at Victoria Street; the S. O. E. preceded by the British Band left Cochran Hall and passed down Victoria Street, followed by the Orange, next came King Edward Branch and the parent society, C. B. B. S., then the Masonic body. The police who were waiting at the foot of Victoria Street headed the procession to the Church. At the Church gate the ranks were opened and the Masons passing up through entered the Church vest, and the other societies in order. The service was conducted by Rev. Canon Noel, assisted by Rev. Thos. Godden. The congregation entered heartily into the singing of the suitable hymns. After the service was concluded, the Dead March was played by the Organist, the vast congregation standing. At the church door the band played appropriate airs.

A Memorial Service was held in the Masonic Hall after the brethren returned from the church.

In the Methodist Church on Friday night a service to the memory of our late King Edward was conducted by Rev. J. W. Bartlett, and was attended by a large congregation.

schr. Virginia, was in town last week on a brief visit, and his friends were pleased to see him. The genial captain sails again in a few days for another voyage across the "herring pond."

Capt. John Charles Heater, an old and much respected citizen of this town passed away on Saturday morning after a long illness. Mr. Heater conducted the Labrador fishery up to a few years ago, and had his fishing room at Long Island. He was also master at the seal fishery when sailing vessels were used in its prosecution. He leaves three sons—John, residing here, and George and William, both captains of seal hunters in British Columbia. He was a member of the Orange and British Society, and both bodies will attend his funeral to-day. He was 78 years old.

Murray & Crawford's wharf looked sweet this morning when the head came out of a puncheon of molasses and the contents was lost to the owner. Several of the small boys about succeeded in getting a lick, but one little fellow who fell down in the sweet stuff no doubt got a "licking" when he got home.

The Juvenile Branch of the C. B. British Society, known as King Edward Branch, appeared in regalia on the streets for the first time at the parade on Friday last. The lads to the number of over 60 acquitted themselves splendidly, and their guardians may well feel proud of them. It proves that time spent with the boys is not in vain; and they are not slow to appreciate the kindness of their guardians and the time they sacrifice for the benefit of the lads. We hear the lads are soon to arrange for a concert and sociable to secure sufficient funds to purchase a band. This is a good thing for the boys, and we commend it to the parents asking them to encourage it all they can. We also think it would greatly benefit them if they were to meet weekly and forming in line have a good march countrywards, as your Brigades do in St. John's. A good brisk walk, with shoulders back and head erect, would be very beneficial to all concerned.

Eclipse of the Moon.

The eclipse of the moon, which occurred this morning, was witnessed under favorable conditions by those who remained up to see it. The shadow of the earth began to steal in on the disc of the moon at 12.12 and gradually ate into it till about 1.25 a.m., when the full shadow of our earth was clearly outlined on the moon's surface. The effect was awe-inspiring and a weirdness seemed to fall over all things in the range of vision on the earth and in the sky. The stars in the vicinity of the moon seemed to twinkle with a peculiar brightness. The Milky Way could be observed in the distance that is only noticeable in winter nights. In Georgetown the dogs began to bark and the cocks to crow. After about an hour the shadow began to move off. In watching this eclipse it is easy to understand why the ancients, the Chinese, the Persians and Egyptians in the primitive times entertained the belief that a dragon was eating up the moon, and that they turned out with tom-toms, drums and trumpets and endeavored to frighten away the dragon from eating up the moon.

Irritable Throat Causes Catarrh

But the worst of it is this—not only your throat but nose, bronchial tubes and lungs are sore too. The germ is spreading—it's gaining a stronger hold every day. Destroy it with Catarrhzone, the greatest healer and germ-killer known. Not a case of catarrh it won't relieve. Its curative effects are permanent. Remember this—you don't take Catarrhzone—it isn't a drug—it's a healing vapor, and consequently gets at the very roots of the disease. A direct treatment—one that kills germs—beats sores—stops cough—cuts out the phlegm—that is Catarrhzone. Results talk—and that's where Catarrhzone wins out.—It does what it claims. For Catarrh, irritable throat and bronchial trouble nothing works as effectively as Catarrhzone. Large size for two months' use $1.00, small (trial) size 25 cents.

Charged With Larceny.

Yesterday evening Sergt. Byrne arrested a young man of the West End on the charge of stealing $10 from the house of Mr. Waite, of Barter's Hill. Mr. Waite had gone fishing and his wife was at home but in an upper apartment of the house, when it is alleged, the prisoner went into the bedroom on a lower flat of the residence and took the money out of the purse which was on a table there. A little girl who was in the house said that she saw the prisoner in the room with the purse in his hand. The man

His Majesty's Arduous Tasks.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, May 23.

Public interest is abruptly shifted from the old to the new reign. King George has displayed energy and capacity in conducting the imposing pageant, and in welcoming his royal guests and speeding them on the return to their own capitals. While he lacks his father's passion for the niceties of etiquette, he can hardly fail to be keenly interested in the new business of reigning. Monarchs invariably find it a fascinating occupation, especially when it has the charm of novelty. King George has already learned that it is an arduous business, involving unremitting patience and labour. A multiplicity of minor changes is requisite when a new reign opens. One decree in Council follows another. New oaths are required. The sovereigns of the mint and the postage stamps require fresh dies, and plates and many important details of public business are altered. The date of the veto resolutions, the burning question in party politics, cannot be deferred except by the consent of Mr. Balfour and Premier Asquith, and the abrogation of John Redmond's absolute veto on legislation, which he dislikes. The Militant Unionists are anxious to create the impression that King Edward was hounded out of life by radical partisanship, that King George is an old-fashioned Tory and new fangled imperialist and Tariff Reformer, and that loyalty will be the supreme issue in the next canvass. These hot-spurs would like to have it so, but they are dragging the Sovereign into the deepest waters of current politics when they talk in this excited way. The King was not an offensive partisan while heir to the Throne, and he will naturally become impartial and neutral as a constitutional Sovereign. His inexperience entitles him to plead for a delay in relation to the vexatious question of guarantees. A truce could easily be arranged between Premier Asquith and Mr. Balfour, as a favour to the Sovereign, were it not for coronation year. The Unionists naturally object to two years lease of power for Radicals.

Flight Over Berlin.

King's Message to the Empire.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
LONDON, May 23.

On the occasion of Anniversary of Empire Day King George has issued two gracious messages to the Colonies and India, somewhat similar in style to the message which he addressed yesterday to the nation. In both he refers to his previous tours through the respective dominions, promises to follow in his father's footsteps, uphold constitutional Government safeguard the liberties of the Colonial Empire, and devote himself to the Indian people. With reference to the rumors that it is the intention of the Queen Mother Alexandra in the future to reside in Denmark, a Court Circular announces that Alexandra will always look upon England as her home.

Newfoundland Pulp and Paper for U.S.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, May 23.

The first shipment of wood pulp and print paper ever exported to the U. S. from Newfoundland was received here this week. The consignment came in under the new tariff act. The shipment consisted of 940 bales of wood pulp and 1,607 rolls of paper. It is to be used in newspaper making. The importation is of interest, making a departure from the general practice. Heretofore the paper manufacturers of the U. S. have supplied all domestic wants. The new move made necessary through the curtailment of home production may, it is thought, have far-reaching consequences and will possibly result in the re-adjustment of prices.

Train Notes.

The regular at 6 p.m. yesterday took out about 70 passengers, many of whom were fishermen who had been here for supplies.

The local arrived here at 10.15 last night bringing Mr. George, Mrs. A. H. Seymour, Capt. W. Fitzgerald, A. McDougall, Mrs. Winsboro, Mrs. Grant, Master Grant, Rev. J. J. St. John Mrs. Whalen, E. Whalen and 36 others.

EMPIRE DAY.—To-day all the Government Offices are closed as well as the Banks, the officials enjoying a holiday. From the towers of the R. C. Cathedral, all the public halls and stores flags are flown and the shipping in the harbor is decorated with bunting. The joy bells of the Cathedral pealed forth merrily at noon.

Workman Fell Into Vat of Concrete

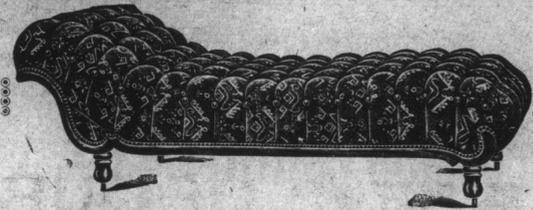

Firmly Imbedded in the Mass, Nova Scotia Laborer Met Terrible and Unusual Death.

Annapolis Royal, N. S., May 19.—Death came in an unusual and terrible way to Hans Krompton, a German labourer, who was working on the new breakwater at Port Medway Hr., on Tuesday. The pier was being made of concrete. About half-past five a huge vat of the soft concrete had been poured in the pier case. As soon as this was finished the thirty men who were working on the job quit work. Krompton was not missed. When the men returned to work on Wednesday morning they found Krompton imbedded up to his shoulders in the concrete. In some way he must have slipped into the soft material and was unable to release himself and his efforts to free himself had caused a huge iron crowbar to slip down from above and this had pierced his skull. It was with the greatest difficulty that his body was gotten from the hard mass.

McMurdo's Store News

TUESDAY, May 24, 1910.
Spring medicines run on two lines—the Tonic and the Alterative. Tonics—of which Quinine and Iron is one of the best examples—build up the system and improve the appetite. The mission of Alteratives is to purify the blood from the waste matter which has accumulated during the winter. Sarsaparilla is the best known medicine of this class.

We have just put in a window containing both these classes of remedies, represented by our Quinine and Iron Tonic, and our Tonic Sarsaparilla. With these preparations within reach, it is not necessary to carry around those languid, draggy feelings. A bottle of either remedy will dissipate them and set you right. Price, 40c each.—adv.

OUR FURNITURE STANDS the TEST

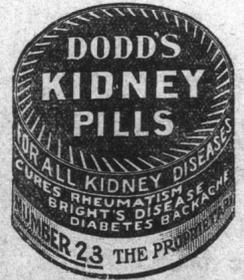

A Precocious Hubby.

Probably the most remarkable case of precocious matrimony on record was that of a Yorkshire, Eng., youth named Pennington, who was twice married while a schoolboy without exciting the least suspicion of the fact.
"When he was barely fourteen," says a chronicler, "Pennington fell in love with, and was secretly married to, his master's daughter, who at that time was staying at Richmond with friends. Shortly after the young wife developed consumption and died, leaving her schoolboy husband, who had returned dutifully to his books, a widower. Within a year, however, the young Lothario found consolation in a second spouse, this time a local lady of wealth and twice his years; and the first intimation that was received of his dual matrimonial venture was a letter to his old schoolmaster, signed 'Your son-in-law, stating that 'as the husband of a second wife he did not think it consistent with his dignity to submit any more to 'corporal punishment.'

Hot Discussion Over Color Line.

Special to Evening Telegram.
WASHINGTON, D.C., May 23.
Discussion was hot to-day in the world's sixth Sunday School Convention over the criticism which some of the British delegates publicly heaped upon the Washington Committee in the churches yesterday for barring the negro delegates of the District of Columbia from the mammoth parade last Friday. With two exceptions the criticisms were made by white men, and in addition to the English speakers, two American delegates, when Harthorn of Boston and Strelber of Brooklyn denied the drawing of the color line, the Rev. John Dube, a Seulu delegate, got up at once and declared that he had been admitted to hotels in London and New York, but not in Washington. The whole incident has stirred up varied feelings, and it was not improbable that the question would be carried into the convention.
