The Second Son of the Kaiser.

Eitel Fritz, the second son of Kaiser Bill, on the day his elder brother got his first uniform, became particularly envious of it, and during breakfast he kept on saying that he too wanted a pretty suit of clothes. When the Emperor would not listen, the little fellow became obstreperous, shouting, "But I want a uniform

To cure him of this, the Emperor sent him in "arrest," the only convenient place at the moment being the large dining-room table, under which he was told to crawl. After a time, he was bidden to come out again, which he did, but with all his clothes removed excepting under garments.

To the question what he meant by such conduct, he made reply: "If I can't have a uniform, I don't want any other clothes either." There is no disputing the fact there is something fascinating about a military uniform, especially if it has just been Dry Cleaned at

W. J. HERDER, - - Proprietor W. F. LLOYD, - - - - Editor MONDAY, Dec. 7, 1914.

Russian War Correspondents.

On Saturday we pointed out that the news sent from correspondents bore on its face signs that all kinds of street rumors were being sent as genuine news. We pointed out that the story of the decisive Russian victory at Lodz was not confirmed by any of-ficial news from Petrograd, Paris or London. An unpleasant confirmation of cur surmise came to hand last night, when instead of a confirmation of a decisive Russian victory at Lodz, it was officially announced at Berlin that the Corman had occupied Lodz. that the Germans had occupied Lodz. Newspaper correspondents in the Newspaper correspondents in the Eastern theatre of war have earned a most unenviable reputation during the present war. The stories of German army corps surrendering, being routed, and in dire straits have not been confirmed by the Russian War Office. In the earliest stages of the war these correspondents were even worse than they are now, for the number of Austrians they reported killed, wounded and captured was sufficient to reduce to nothing, greater numbers than the Austrians ever had in their army. Indeed, the wonder grew, as the casualties increased, where the Austrians were getting the men to keep up the fight. If it were not that we have the solemn assurance that Vodka has been absolutely barred in Russia, since the war began, we might be inman army corps surrendering, being has been absolutely barred in Russia, since the war began, we might be inclined to hazard the guess that these correspondents reports are written in the Vodka's shops. One matter, however, is absolutely clear, stories of correspondents in Russia about the war cannot be relied on. The Russian war office will not allow any correspondents to go to the front, and it is clear they do not allow them to know what is going on.

A Recognition.

Yesterday at the special meeting of the T. A. Society, Mr. W. O'Brien, Health Inspector, donated a prize of a half soverign, and the Society's Savings' Bank book to the member of the Juvenile Branch who was considered by the Guardians, to be the most hygienic in habits, and most clean and tidy in dress. It was also stipulated by the donor that the boy should be an abstainer from tobacco, especially cigarettes. The award was made to Master Thomas Mollow of Parkers and Master Thomas Molloy, of Parker and Munroe's East End Store. A similar prize has been offered by the same gentleman for the coming year,

Back From the Farm at Rossley's

There is a first class show at Ross-ley's to-night, Kelly and Mack in a rural sketch "Back from the Farm," with songs, dances and instrumenta music. The pictures too are splendid. Mr. Rossley has just engaged for the third annual pantomime, the celebrated tenor Vincent Vernon, character change artist, the man with the voice. Vincent Vernon received his training with the Carl Rosa and his training with the Carl Rosa and Moody Manners operatic company, London, and is the finest singer in vaudeville to-day. His business is the interpretation of songs, and impersonation in character. The Baltimore Star says: Mr. Vincent Vernon a character change artist, and a famous tenor. His opera costumes are beautiful and he is talented to the top notch. Now we will have some singing.

Obituary.

LILIAN HACKETT. On Saturday, at 5 p.m., there passed peacefully to rest the beautiful and sweet young life of Lilian Hack-ett, niece of Mr. and Mrs. U. Rowsell, with whom she had made her home for many years. After an heroic struggle against the dread disease for several months, with all the assistance that medical aid and the help that loving hands could give, it was seen that serious inroads upon her health had made recovery impossible. Congenial, gentle and unselfish, she was a general favorite in the Sabbath

School and Young People's Association of Cochrane St. Church. She be much missed in her late home and by her companions and friends in her social and church life. WILLIAM J. McKAY.

After a very short illness, Mr. William J. McKay died at his late residence, Water Street, yesterday after-noon. The deceased had been only two days confined to his bed though he had been in poor health for some years past. About 9 a.m. yesterday he became suddenly ill and a doctor and priest were summoned. The end came four hours afterwards. Mr. McKay was a well known citizen and at one time was a prominent athlete. He leaves a widow, two daughters and one son to whom the Telegram

A Stolen Identity Two Big Films Are

The big two-reel feature, the Crescent Picture Palace begins the week with, is perhaps the best two-reel This great work is produced by the Powers Players Company, and the role of the crank is played by Edwin August, Marx the Crook assumes the identity of Robt. Canton, the son of millionaire, whom he resembles in order to get control of his property. The perfect photography and master-ly acting of the Powers Company make this a picture worth seeing "The Universal Animated Weekly," the most famous in the world, gives us all the news in pictures both in the old world and the new. "Comedian Love" a whole reel of fun, produced by the Eclair Company; the schemes the girl and her lover undertakes to get rid of the father's choice, are awards. ally funny. Features to-day.

AT THE NICKEL THEATRE. The Nickel Theatre has another at ractive programme for to-day. There are two two-part films. One is the "Crucible of Fate," by the Vitagraph artists. The scenes are splendid, visualizing a potential plot. A wife's vacillating nature aided by a lack of domestic duties induce her tackble. domestic duties induce her to dabble in amateur dramatics. Forgetting her husband and child she ruins her own life and also her husband's. It is an appealing picture well acted and produced. The other two-part pic-ture is "The Stronger Hand" by the Majestic Companny. It is a sensa-tional description of a fight against a trust, and will appeal to all. The comedy is by the Keystone Co., and is entitled "Twixt Love and Fire." The name Keystone is a guarantee that it will be laughable. There will also be a full reel of Hearst Selig News Pictorial, showing the principal events in the world's history. Arthur C. Huskins will sing two ballads. The first is "I Hear a Thrush at Eve" and the other, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," which he is singing by re quest. No one should miss to-day's performance as it is a splendid one. Wednesday there will be another great feature film by the Gaumont actors entitled "The Imposter." It is in three reels.

IRISH RECRUITING.

LONDON, To-day. Mr. Redmond declared that 52,000 of the 89,000 Irishmen in the Home army were catholics. He said that 10,112 Ulster Volunteers had gone to the colors from Belfast, while in the same city Nationalists volunteers who represented only a quarter of the population had contributed 3,513 men. This, he believed was the beginning of what Irishmen would do. Redmond said the men who opposed treaty of peace between the Nationalists and the Democracy of England must be divided into "Separatists, Socialists or common or garden cranks, but that they were not, and never had been Home Rulers." When Constitu-tional movement had been brought to a triumphal end and Ireland had her own Parliament, they would disappear he declared.

THE FIGHT AT LODZ.

LONDON. To-day. Around Lodz a desperate battle has raged for days and countless thousands have fallen in a desperate hand to hand conflict and from shells of hundreds of guns. It is evident from the occupation of Lodz by the Germans that the heaviest kind of fighting has been going on. Late advices have told of vicious attacks and the bombardment of Lodz and the fighting on the outskirts. ROUMANIA WILL JOIN ALLHES. GENEVA, To-day,

The Journal de Geneve publishes a despatch from Bucharest which says Roumania has definitely decided to enter the war on the side of the allies. This decision, according to a despatch is in accordance with the wish of the whole country, including King Ferdinand and all the Roumanian statesmen with the exception of the Minister of Finance. The question of when Roumania will make her entry into the conflict is still being discussed however, one side desiring to avoid a winter campaign, but the military authorities express the fear that Servia may be defeated before the spring. The attitude of Bulgaria still remains doubtful. Greece, Servia and Roumania proffered certain concessions, which however Sofia seems not to consider a sufficient in-
