LADY IRIS' MISTAKE;

Hero of 'Surata'

CHAPTER XVI.

More practical thoughts came to Lady Iris with the morning light. Thinking of the face and figure of the man who had befriended her, she said to herself that he must be of noble birth, for such faces were not to be found among commoners. Good blood must show itself; it was one of those things that could not be hidden. She wondered if his lineage was as ancient as her own, if he came from a family like hers, famous in history.

"He could not have a prouder motto than mine," she thought. "Field with honor—no motto could be prouder than that."

Suddenly she remembered that she could find out all about him if she consulted Burke's "Peerage."

More than an hour she spent in turning over the pages of the book. There were Osburns in plenty, but she could not tell to which he belonged. "Osburn" was the family name of the Lords of Gorton, of the Earls of Zandfield, and the Barons of Lowe; he might belong to any of these families. To her highly-strung imagination, none of them was good enough for him—with his face and manner he ought to be a prince at least. What was he doing in the lanes of King's Forest? Where was he staying? where was he staying? Whom was he visiting? Not the Cliffdaries; and it could not be the Bardons. She smiled at the idea of such a man visiting the Bardons.

Then she looked through the landed gentry, and again found several Osburns, of Moore, of Lanreagh, of Sketchley. The Osburns of Sketchley had sons in the army; she made a note of that. They were a very old family, and had declined a peerage, preferring the old name "Osburn of Sketchley" to any other which could be given to them. In her own mind, without any particular reason, she decided that he was one of the Osburns of Sketchley.

The long summer day passed, and to Lady Iris it was one of the longest and dreariest of her life. She did not care for the compliments and flattery of men or the amiable platitudes of women.

"I am weary of it all," she said. "I feel to-day as though I must run away from all of them. I am tired of everybody but papa."

All at once a vague dread came over her. She had met this stranger unexpectedly, and she fancied that his face had lighted up at the mention of her name, as though it were somewhat familiar to him. What if he were only passing through the neighborhood, and she should never see him again?

BABY DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

In Blisters, Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"My nephew's face and hands were badly disfigured with eczema. He was only three weeks old when it broke out in blisters, and the skin was sore and red. It caused itching, burning and loss of sleep, and the child was so worrisome. He could rest neither day nor night."

"I was advised to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using three cakes of Soap and three boxes of Ointment he was entirely healed." (Signed) Miss Mary Wren, Youngs Cove, New Brunswick.

and train being richly trimmed with pearls. A tiara of rare pearls crowned the fair hair and a pearl necklace was clasped round the white throat. Little Louis had gone to the kitchen to observe old Aunt Sarah, the color-cook, at work making biscuits. After he sampled one he observed: "Aunt Sarah, I can spell now. These are made of d-o, d-o."

"But that doesn't spell dough," Louis mother corrected, as she entered the kitchen to give the cook some orders. Whereupon Aunt Sarah thought she too would enter the discussion. So she said: "There's two kinds of do, called 'Do.' What you shuts, an' 'do' what you eats."

Simplified spelling

(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger) Little Louis had gone to the kitchen to observe old Aunt Sarah, the color-cook, at work making biscuits. After he sampled one he observed: "Aunt Sarah, I can spell now. These are made of d-o, d-o."

"But that doesn't spell dough," Louis mother corrected, as she entered the kitchen to give the cook some orders. Whereupon Aunt Sarah thought she too would enter the discussion. So she said: "There's two kinds of do, called 'Do.' What you shuts, an' 'do' what you eats."

The party from Chandos were eagerly awaited at Hyne Court. John Bardon did not seem to be quite himself; he walked from one room to another, inspecting the arrangements, looking with critical eyes at the decorations with critical eyes at the decorations and the flowers, lingering with something like pride in the grand banquetting hall, where the table was laden with gold and silver.

"There is nothing better to be seen at Chandos—I am sure of that," he said—"and Lady Iris will confess it too. With all his grandeur, the Earl of Caledon cannot match that."

It pleased him to think that his splendid table service outdid the earl's ancient place, and that the hall in which he gave his banquets—and right royal ones they were—was more magnificent than the things. Nevertheless he was restless and uneasy, while his face grew pale at times and his lips trembled.

"She deserves it. I swore to have my revenge—and I will have it," he repeated to himself. "Let it cost me what it may, I will be revenged on her. She almost drove me mad with her scorn; and now she must suffer for it."

He walked round the grounds, and found everything in excellent order. The alleys were to be lighted with colored lamps, the fountains were to play under a lime-light, and in different parts of the grounds bands of music were to be placed, hidden by the trees.

Presently he overtook Captain Osburn, who was enjoying a cigar.

"I think," said John Bardon, "that everything is in order. I cannot see that anything is wanting."

"Nor can I," returned the captain. "It looks to me like an earthly paradise. If I never enjoyed a dance in my life before, I shall do so to-night. I have never cared for balls, but this is out of the common groove."

"My wife knows how to entertain," said John Bardon, with some pride.

"Lady Arise certainly understands everything that is most pleasant," answered Allan.

They had become friends—the honest, handsome soldier and the master of Hyne Court. John Bardon looked upon him with something like admiration, and Allan, although he perceived the other's faults, made allowance for them, and liked John Bardon, of whom he saw only the bright side.

"We shall have some pretty girls here to-night," said John Bardon. "Do you care much about pretty girls, Captain Osburn?"

"I have not had many opportunities to care about them," replied the captain, smiling.

He had never mentioned his encounter with Lady Iris, although he had longed with all his heart to ask some questions about her.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. Family supply stores, or quickly made. Saves about 5¢.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, soothes children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of her Fashion Plates. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

AN UP-TO-DATE ATTRACTIVE COSTUME.

4097. Comfortable and practical is the development of this style. The skirt with its slenderizing plait fullness, is mounted on an underbody. The blouse long of line, and with a smart vest finish, may have its sleeve short or in wrist length. This model is excellent for silk, kasha, crepe, and for linen and other wash fabrics. The Pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 6½ yards of 32 inch material. To make underbody, sleeve facings and vest portions of plain material as illustrated 1½ yards 40 inches wide will be required. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2¾ yards. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

FOR THE WOMAN OF MATURE FIGURE.

4082. Fashion has planned this style for grace and comfort. Striped and plain ratine are here combined. This is also a good model for tub silk, tafeta and crepe. The Pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. To make the dresses for a 38 inch size will require 6 yards of one material 32 inches wide. As illustrated, it will take 2½ yards of plain material for sleeves and front, and 3¾ yards of striped material. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2¾ yards, with plait extended. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Chamberlain Makes Sensational Speech.

Defends Government's Policy in Near East
 -- Labor Party a National Danger -- Greeks Refuse to Remove Troops From

CHAMBERLAIN SPEAKS.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 13.
 Chamberlain, Government Minister in the House of Commons, in a sensational speech in the Midland Chamber of Commerce here to-day, declared that the Coalition Government would be continued, thereby indicating the line upon which Premier Lloyd George will make the fight for his political life in the next general election and removing doubts as to whether Mr. Chamberlain, as Unionist Party Leader, should support his Special significance is attached to the speech inasmuch as the Premier himself was said to be awaiting announcement to learn what speech he had before writing the speech he is to deliver at Manchester tomorrow. Mr. Chamberlain took his stand on the ground that the country needed a great national danger in the labor party. If Labor obtained a majority, direct action would triumph over the Government which would not be allowed to lead, but would be forced to take instructions from the Labor Party. Mr. Chamberlain declared that the British Government had not and would not have an experiment in direct construction to a subversive but a revolutionary party. A levy on capital would mean the ruin of the country, he said. He declared the Government policy had prevented the registration in Asia Minor from spreading to Europe. Referring to the Near East, Mr. Chamberlain said there had been grave moments when an attack against the British forces seemed imminent, when unity of thought and action among the Allies seemed weakened, and the Kemalists encouraged by indications of Allied tergiversities, to try conclusions with them. He explained that as between the Turks and the Greeks, Great Britain had been neutral and ready to recognize the results of the Greek defeat and also as ready as before to restore Constantinople to the Turks if the orderly transfer of Eastern Thrace to the Maritza River to the Turks. But Great Britain was determined to prevent war from being brought into Europe in order to save Constantinople from the fate of Smyrna and to preserve the freedom of the Straits. "We believe our policy has been successful," said Mr. Chamberlain, amid cheers. "But not from any aid we received from the leaders of the Opposition. Throughout these negotiations the British Government sought at every step the concurrence of our Allies. We made no separate agreements, no separate negotiations. Our policy was based upon agreements entered into by Mr. Asquith and Viscount Gray, though with some increasing modifications in favor of Turkey owing to the collapse of Russia, the withdrawal of the United States, the altered attitude of the French and Italian Governments, and the changed situation in Greece and Turkey. But then arose a new danger as a result of the Greek collapse, — the threat of a Turkish advance towards the Straits and Constantinople became imminent. We decided we would still do what we could to prevent the passage of war into Europe, save Constantinople and preserve the freedom of the Straits until an agreement could be concluded transferring them to some international authority under the control of the League of Nations."

Poultry Raising In Newfoundland.

ARTICLE II.

(By W. K. CHANCEY, Grand Falls.)
 Having touched lightly on the magnitude of the Poultry Industry in other countries, perhaps it would be as well to confine this article to the different systems of grading eggs, or at least sufficient of such systems as may be necessary to aid us in our own work of improvement in this direction. In Article I where the word "Covers" appears, read "Hovers," the former word being an error in print.

(Canadian.)

"Regulations made under the provisions of the Live Stock and Produce Act, 7-9 Geo. V., Cap. 12, respecting the Grading and Marking of Eggs."

(1) Canadian eggs for export out of Canada and eggs for domestic consumption intended for shipment from one Province to another, but not including eggs intended for incubation, shall be classified and graded as follows:—

(Class I) Fresh eggs which have not been held under refrigeration at a temperature of 40 degrees or less except when in transit or subjected to artificial preservation.

Grade (A) Specials—Eggs of uniform size, weighing twenty-five ounces to the dozen or over or 47 lbs. net to the 30 dozen case; clean and free from stain, strong and sound in shell; air cell small, not over 3/4 of an inch in depth; white of eggs to be firm and clear and yolk dimly visible.

Grade (B) Extra—Eggs of good size, weighing at least 24 ounces to the dozen or 45 lbs. net to the 30 dozen case; clean; sound in shell; air cell less than 3/4 inch in depth; white of egg to be firm and yolk slightly visible; maximum allowance at time of inspection not to exceed two per cent. variation from the grade stated.

Sub-grade (1) Pullet Extras—Eggs which have the quality of extras but which fall short in weight shall be known as pullet extras, providing they weigh at least 20 ounces to the dozen or 37 1/2 lbs. net to the 30 dozen case.

Grade (C) No 1's or Firsts—Eggs weighing at least 23 ounces to the dozen or 43 lbs. net to the 30 dozen case; reasonably clean, sound in shell; air cells not less than 1/2 inch in depth; white of egg to be firm; yolk of eggs may be distinctly visible but mobile; air cell stationary; maximum allowance at time of inspection not to exceed 2 per cent. variation from the grade stated.

Grade (D) 2's or Seconds—Eggs sound in shell; may contain weak watery eggs and eggs with heavy yolks, and all other eggs sound in shell and fit for food.

Class (2) Storage eggs which have been "held" under artificial refrigeration at a temperature of 40 degrees or less.

Class (2A) Preserved eggs which have been subjected to any process, liquid or otherwise, intended to preserve their quality.

Grade (A). Extra eggs of good size, weighing at least 24 ounces to the dozen or 45 lbs. net to the 30 dozen case; clean, sound in shell, air cell not less than 3/4 inch in depth; white of egg to be firm and yolk slightly visible; maximum allowance at time of inspection not to exceed 2 p.c. variation from the grade stated.

Grade (B). Extra Firsts. Eggs weighing at least 23 1/2 ounces to the dozen or 44 pounds net to the thirty dozen case; sound in shell, air cell less than 3/4 inch in depth, white of egg to be firm, yolk, may be moderately visible but mobile; air cell stationary; maximum allowance at time of inspection not to exceed 2 p.c. variation from the grade stated.

Grade (C). No. 1's or Firsts. Eggs weighing at least 23 ounces to the dozen or 43 lbs. net to the 30 dozen case, reasonably clean, sound in shell, air cells less than 1/2 inch in depth; white of egg to be firm, yolk may be distinctly visible but mobile, air cell stationary, maximum allowance at time of inspection not to exceed 2 p.c. variation from grade stated.

Grade (D). No. 2's or Seconds.

 Class (3). Cracked and Dirty. Eggs, shells of which have been cracked or broken, smeared, soiled, or damaged in shell, but fit for food.
 The foregoing practically covers the Canadian Regulations on grading and inspecting eggs except for certain rules as to inspection, cleanliness of storage rooms, and egg cases and fillers, and the branding of each case on both ends with the grade of eggs contained therein, etc. It would be superfluous to give the American Grading systems in full but the wholesale quotations in the New York market for December may help to show where some waste and loss creeps in, and that prompt methods of grading, handling and marketing produce will amply repay the producer.

 It is obviously impossible for the Canadians to bring all their eggs up to the level of Class I Grade A Specials, but between this grade and Class 2, Grade D, there is a niche that surely the producer could fill with profit. Between Nearby Henney Whites and No. 1 Dirties, Refrigerator, on the American market, there is room for improvement and the man furnishing the goods gets the cash apparently. Boston being a Brown Egg market possibly the position of Nearby Henney Whites and Nearby Henney Browns would be the reverse to position given in this article. Next article will deal with helpful hints on producing market eggs.

New S. A. Maternity Hospital.

Rapidly Approaching Completion.

The new S. A. Maternity Hospital, corner Pleasant Street and Cornwall Avenue, is now nearing completion as far as exterior work is concerned, and it may be of interest at this juncture to state just what has been accomplished so far.

In December, 1919, a whirlwind campaign was conducted in this city by a committee of which Hon. M. G. Winter, O.B.E. was chairman, when upwards of $160,000.00 was subscribed in cash and pledges. Of this amount $72,000.00 has already been received, the balance of the pledges being still outstanding.

Col. Martin, commander of the S. A. forces in this country, has been untiring in his efforts to get the building completed, but found it impossible to make much progress this season, owing to lack of funds. It was, therefore, arranged by Commissioner Sowton to have Commandant Hurd, who is the Army's financial representative in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island, spend a few weeks in St. John's trying to get the necessary balance. The Commandant, whose headquarters are at Moncton, N.B., has the oversight of all the Army's big financial undertakings in the Maritime Provinces, and is naturally a busy man. The fact therefore, of his being loaned to Newfoundland for this work is a proof of the great interest taken in the Maternity Hospital by those in authority in the Army.

The Commandant arrived here about the middle of August and found that there was $7000.00 on hand of the $30,000 needed to complete the building. He has kept hustling this last seven weeks, and succeeded in getting $10,760.00, bringing the amount on hand up to $17,760.00, which leaves $10,000 more to be raised before the building can be completed. This building when opened will be a great boon to the city.

It is hoped that those who have promised money for this purpose will see their way clear to redeem their pledges in the near future, and that those who are in a position to contribute, and have not already done so, or can contribute something further will do so, and enable the Army to carry on their labour of love among the women and children of Newfoundland.

Donations will be gratefully received and acknowledged by Staff Capt. Tilley, Territorial Headquarters, corner Springdale and George Streets.

It might also be pointed out that a further sum of about $15,000.00 will be required for furnishings, of which the following is the estimate:

8 Private Rooms at $200.00 each	1,600.00
2 Semi-private Rooms at $300.00 Each	600.00
1 Public Ward 8 Beds	500.00
1 Operating Room	1,200.00
2 Children's Rooms $100.00 Each	200.00
1 Diet Kitchen	150.00
1 Clinic	200.00
1 Sun Room	200.00
2 Bath Rooms $100.00	200.00
1 Sitting Room	200.00
1 Reception Room	300.00
1 Doctor's Room	250.00
1 Sterilizing Room	5,000.00
Main Kitchen	700.00
Laundry	1,000.00
Dining Room	500.00
Lecture Hall	300.00
Furnace Room	100.00
Bath Room	100.00
Runners for Hall, etc.	500.00

In this connection it is hoped that a number of our well-to-do citizens will be disposed to undertake the responsibility of furnishing one or more rooms. In cases where this is done it is proposed that a brass plate be put on the door showing the name of the person furnishing the room. Sir Edgar Bowring started the ball rolling with a $200.00 subscription for the furnishing of one private room. Another warm friend of the Army who gave a new subscription of $500.00 to the building, also donated $250.00 towards the furnishings.

It is also interesting to know that General Bramwell Booth, Commander-in-Chief of the S. A. forces, has given $5000.00 towards this item.

Commandant Hurd has been twenty years an officer of the Salvation Army, having filled various important positions in the Canada East Territory. Although a native of this country this is the first time he has visited here in an official capacity. He speaks very highly of the kindness, courtesy, and generosity of all those with whom he came in contact, particularly by Hon. M. G. Winter, Mr. Fred Ayre, Mr. H. E. Cowan. Mr. Winter, who is chairman of the committee, has been always ready to give advice and help and has been a tower of strength to the Commandant in his work. The hospital in question presents a fine appearance and is an ornament to our city. It reflects great credit on the superintendent builder, Mr. Wm. Cummings, who is to be congratulated on his work.

Commandant Hurd leaves to-day by the Rosalind enroute to his home in Moncton. His work here will be continued by Staff Captain Tilley, General Secretary, who will be glad to receive any contributions towards the Maternity Hospital. Commandant Hurd will attend the Army's Congress at Halifax on November 1st, and will then be ready to undertake other financial problems in which his many friends will wish him every success.

A Famous English Lady.

Elizabeth Fry, the notable prison reformer, was the third daughter of John Gurney, of Earlham Hall, near Norwich, a rich banker and a member of the Society of Friends. Till Elizabeth was 18 she had no decided religious opinions; but a discourse she heard in the Friends' meeting house at Norwich by William Savery, an American Quaker, made a deep impression on her. From this time her natural care for others was greater than before. She worked much among the poor, and began a school for poor children, which she managed entirely herself. In her twenty-first year she married Joseph Fry, of Plas-hat, Essex, a London Merchant. Soon afterwards she visited Newgate for the first time, and saw three hundred women tried and untried, with their numerous children, crowded together in rags and dirt, with no bedding, and nothing but the floor to sleep on. She could do no more than supply them with clothes; but within a few years, by her efforts, a school was established in the prison, a ladies' association was formed for the improvement of the female prisoners, and religious instruction was given to them regularly. Mrs. Fry paid visits to prisons in all parts of the Kingdom and on the Continent, and introduced many improvements in their management and discipline. Her husband eventually became bankrupt, but Mrs. Fry managed to keep up her good work, which, besides prison reform, included the foundation of shelters for the homeless and the organization of various charities, while it was through her influence that libraries were begun in naval hospitals and coastguard stations. Elizabeth Fry's life, which closed on October 12, 1845, is rightly regarded as one of the most useful ever spent in humanity's cause.

Wants to Get Out of Country.

BEFORE COAKER'S THREAT BECOMES A REALITY.
Local coopers are complaining of the depression in their trade, particularly in the making of herring barrels. During recent years, when packages, many shops employed from ten to fifteen men. This year scarcely a man can be found on these premises. A similar condition exists regarding the making of codfish packages. That this grave condition does not alone affect St. John's may be gleaned from the following, which are the concluding paragraphs of an advertisement in this morning's News, for the sale of a large quantity of coopers stock, mill and property, owned by A. Brown & Sons, Blacktown, T.R. "I will sell the lot at a very small price, as if I can sell the whole lot I will leave this country. It is a splendid business stand and timber for mill purposes for a number of years yet, but I want to get on before Coaker turns Water Street, St. John's, into a meadow."

The Peril in the Near East.

(From the London Statist.)
In March last the Allied Foreign Ministers at Paris formally tore up the unratified Treaty of Sevres and substituted for it a series of decisions which they communicated to the Government at Athens, Constantinople and Ankara. They proposed to return all Ionia and, approximately, one-half of Eastern Thrace to Turkey, while special arrangements were to be made for the government of Smyrna, the capital of the former Province, and for Adrianople, in Western Thrace. While Ottoman authority was to be restored almost in its integrity in Constantinople, zones on the south shores of the eastern and western entrances to the Sea of Marmora—that is, the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles—were to be demilitarized. The area under Allied occupation in Gallipoli was to be extended to the new Turkish frontier in Thrace, and the navigation of the Straits to be placed under an international commission, with an Ottoman president. The proposals were suggested as the basis of an armistice in order to ensure the immediate cessation of hostilities between Greeks and Turks. They were accepted by the Greek and Turkish Governments, but on various pretexts, both Constantinople and Ankara deferred a final decision.

Dunfield Club.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Last evening the annual meeting of the Dunfield Club took place, Rev. E. C. Esrp, Rector of the Parish being Chairman. The meeting opened with prayer, after which the Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were received and adopted. The Rector thanked the retiring officers for their good work, paying tribute to the good work of ex-director, Rev. Capt. Clayton, who laboured for so many years amongst the members. He then appointed the Rev. G. C. Lightbourn, B. A., L.Th., as Director for the coming year. The Rector asked the members to be present on Sunday at Bible Class as the Rev. H. L. Pike would be in charge till the Rev. Lightbourn arrives. The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows:— President—E. C. Knight, re-elected. Vice-Pres.—H. Rains, re-elected. Secretary—E. D. White, re-elected. Asst. Secy.—W. Lockyer, elected. Treasurer—E. Wood, elected. Committee—W. Legg, elected; J. Pearce, W. Brown, W. Nichol, re-elected. The meeting closed with the Rector pronouncing the Benediction.

Our Dumb Animals.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF AGENT FOR WEEK ENDING OCT. 14th.

Sent off the street for treatment four horses for lameness and sore shoulders. Attended to 25 head cattle from the Sable I. also 4 carloads from the Reid N.M. Co. Had the Veterinary Surgeon's opinion on a lame horse. Have had shoes altered and the owner promises to keep him off Water Street as much as possible. Called to humanely put to death a terrier at Government House, also one for Mr. C. James, Brasill's Square which had been run over by a motor. Got report from the police that a dog on Brennan Street had received a wound from some sharp instrument at the back of the ear. Found on arrival that life was already extinct, and the police and myself are endeavouring to find the perpetrator. Was asked by Mr. James Cook to use the humane killer on a very large bullock owned by him. The result was very satisfactory, the bullock dropping dead instantaneously. Mr. Cook was more than pleased. The butcher's employees say they never saw a bullock bleed more freely. The meat is much superior, being free from blood it is considered, when the humane killer is used, besides it is more merciful to the beast. Was also asked to go to the country and humanely destroy a horse belonging to Mr. Frank Bastow. It was suffering from a curb in the hind leg. The horse was young and very valuable. It had belonged to Mr. Bastow's son who was killed in France, and rather than see the animal suffer he had it put out of pain. The police intend looking after all those drivers who have not any pritehards on their carts. Received several complaints about horses being out at night, but those who complain in most cases won't give their names. No notice will be taken of such complaints unless those complaining give their names to me over the phone or otherwise, so that I can get more information concerning complaints if it is necessary.

Learns the Irish Brogue

TO PLAY PART FOR SCREEN-ACTRESS IN "COME ON OVER" PERFECT IN SPEECH.

One of the difficulties of playing roles other than that of an English speaking character, is learning the accent, or brogue, of another nationality. Colleen Moore, who plays an Irish Miss in "Come On Over," was spared this difficulty, because she herself is as Irish as the blarney stone. To be sure Miss Moore does not speak with a brogue, but it took no time at all for her to revert to the language of her white haired grandmother, with whom she lives. The result of "Come On Over," which comes to the Nickel Theatre for two days, commencing Monday was that Colleen's friends were loath to see her lose the brogue after the Goldwyn comedy was finished, and were forever pleading with her to "talk for them," while she was making it.

Fire Prevention.

The inauguration of the Inspector General of Police of a Fire Prevention Week is a step in the right direction and cannot fail to have a good effect. Far too many fires occur in St. John's and although, in the majority of cases, the origin of the fire is stated to be unknown, it is certain that most have been caused by carelessness and thoughtlessness. Mr. Hutchings intends to open his campaign on Monday, October 30th and during that week, will draw the attention of the public, through an address which he will deliver to the Rotary Club, and by means of articles in the city press, to the urgent need of carefulness in handling burning matches, cigarette ends and other things which might cause a conflagration. The city churches have been asked to cooperate and sermons dealing with the topic of Fire Prevention will be preached from every pulpit. Schools and societies have also been asked to lend their support to the movement. The city of St. John's, containing as it does, so many wooden buildings, a large number of which are old, and all congested, is in constant danger of a devastating fire such as it has experienced on former occasions. A match or lighted cigarette end carelessly thrown away, might be sufficient to cause the destruction of the whole town. Many will remember that a fire in a hay barn started a conflagration which laid St. John's in ruins only thirty years ago. The Inspector General is to be congratulated upon this movement which he will inaugurate, following the example set by Canadian and American cities, and that it will have the desired effect cannot be doubted.

St. John's Radio Club.

The regular meeting of the above club was held at the wireless club room in Butler Bros. building last night (Friday) where some important business was transacted. It was unanimously decided that greater co-operation is needed amongst the wireless amateurs in this city. The aim of the club is to promote amateur wireless among the boys. Members are working hard to make this club a success. The club now boasts of sixteen members and is looking for a growth in membership in the near future. No examination is required to join the club, at the present time, and the roll is open to anybody in this city. It is the purpose of the club and it will be beneficial to all interested in Radio to communicate with us. Meetings will be held every Friday.

Tragedy at LaSce.

MAN KILLED IN SAW MILL. Yesterday the Deputy Minister of Justice received a message from Magistrate Duggan of LaSce, stating that Thomas Sullivan, of Bras's Cove, was accidentally killed while operating a saw mill at LaSce on Thursday afternoon. Sullivan was a married man, aged 42 years.

Purveyed Cigarettes to Juvenile.

District Inspector Newsworthy had a man before the Magistrate this morning charged with selling tobacco to juveniles. A 13 year old boy named Gillingham stated that he had bought a packet of cigarettes from a man in the accused's shop. No questions were asked him when the cigarettes were sold. Mr. Conroy for accused, asked for a postponement until the actual seller of the cigarettes could be brought before the court.

There never was a time when strict economy in clothes was so necessary, and there never was a successful aid to economy like the Mox and Gern Proof Garment bags which are now procurable at BISHOP'S Dry Goods Department.

Fishermen Meet Exporters. Joint Discussion in Board of Trade Room--Adopted Resolutions Re Price of Fish Cannot be Accepted.

The Northern delegates who arrived in the city on Thursday presented their case before a meeting of fish exporters held in the Board of Trade Council room this morning. A resolution was read asking for the price of fish to be fixed at $5 and $7, and various exporters explained the impossibility of acceding to these demands at the present time. The meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mr. A. E. Hickman, President of the Board of Trade.

THE DELEGATES' CASE.

The Chairman explained that the delegates had come from Bonavista and Trinity Bays with the complaint that the price they were obtaining was not sufficient for the fishermen to live on. He said that as possibly the men did not understand the reasons for the low price of fish, certain exporters would like to explain themselves to them. He then asked the spokesman of the visitors to state their case.

Mr. J. S. Hill read a resolution passed at public meetings held in various townships in Bonavista and Trinity Bays, appointing a delegation to go to St. John's and request a price of not less than $5 for soft and $7 for hard cured fish. The resolution further requested all fishermen to hold back their fish until the result of the deputation's visit to St. John's was reported to them. Mr. Hill hoped that the resolution would meet with the serious consideration it deserved.

The Chairman said that after the reason for the low prices prevailing was clearly understood, the delegates should be prepared to accept existing conditions. He asked Mr. Job if he would care to make the required explanation.

WHY FISH IS LOW.

Mr. Job said that the reason the price of fish was low was merely because the buyers could make no profit. It was impossible to sell large quantities of fish at the present time. He knew no further information that could be given. There was very little information to show what the exporter gets, as he takes the fish to a large extent, on speculation. He would be pleased to give any special information to the delegates. Mr. G. B. Rendell concurred with the delegates in that it was impossible to live under existing conditions. He was not in business with the expectation of making a profit, but would be well satisfied if he could get back what he had put out. It was difficult to see what improvement there could be owing to the unusual condition of the foreign markets.

UP AGAINST WALL.

Mr. F. Green, one of the delegates, said that apparently the fishermen were up against an unscalable wall. The price was too low, and the exporters to accede to the request and this opinion had been expressed. What was the use of fishermen catching fish to feed the Greeks and Italians when their own families were left to starve and die? He said that the fishermen were better never to catch it than to sell at the prevailing prices. The Chairman said that all symptoms of the fishermen, but if fish was bought and could not be sold, it was best to stop buying. Mr. Green said you catch fish and sell on it, you can't catch it very well.

Mr. Davis, another delegate, said they had come with an earnest desire to be heard, but they were to live under existing conditions. Could not the exporters see some way out of the difficulty. Could no solution be found. He would like to know.

Another Big Gold Find on Labrador

Canadian Mining Expert Claims to Have Found a New Klondyke-Gold Assays at Five Ounces to Twenty-Five Pounds of Gravel.

That Labrador is another Klondyke is the opinion of Henry C. Bellew, Canadian mining expert and company promoter, who has just returned from a prospecting trip in our northern dependency, where he claims to have made a big discovery of the precious metal. Following hard upon the reported finding of large gold deposits in the St. George section of Labrador, it would appear that the territory around Big Brook is a veritable Eldorado. "I will stake my reputation on the statement that it is the most wonderful discovery of gold the world has yet heard of," said Mr. Bellew to a Telegram reporter who interviewed him in his room at the Balsam House last night. On behalf of the Labrador Eastern Goldfields, Ltd., a company which he has organized to develop his find, Mr. Bellew this morning took out 48 mining lots, with an area of 34 square miles, at the Crown Lands Office. His Company is capitalized at $2,000,000.

RESULTS OF ASSAY.

Having seen signs of alluvial gold on a previous visit to Labrador, Mr. Bellew chartered a yacht last summer and with a party of mining engineers and others, went North about the end of July. He and a friend walked for some distance along a stream near St. George's, and as they went they filled their pockets with handfuls of sand. In all, they collected 25 lbs. of sand, and this they packed in a bag, all after staking out their claims to the gold. There they had the gravel assayed and 5 ounces of pure gold were found in it. After paying for the cost of the assay, they were left with a cheque for over $80, the balance which remained.

SHIP RAN AGROUND.

The steamer "Candienne" was chartered and a party, which included Mr. Bellew and others interested in the acquisition, left Halifax on July 14th of last year, and arrived at St. George's on July 24th. According to the St. John's owners of the property, there was a large lot of merchantable timber as well as 2,000,000 feet of cord wood on the area. Three miles from land the Candienne ran aground in a place which, according to the chart, had a depth of 30 fathoms, and later examination of this chart showed that the figures had been subsequently inserted in ink. Small motor boats were lowered and these had great difficulty in making the shore. Several days were spent exploring the interior of the country, looking for timber, but the whole area was found to be valueless, consisting only of scrubby, half-grown spruce. At Battle Hill, the party was told that the lands were valueless, and that former attempts had been made by their St. John's owners to sell them to unsuspecting timber firms.

WAS AT YUKON.

Mr. Bellew has a long and varied career in the course of which he underwent interesting and trying experiences. He was in the rush to the Klondyke twenty years ago, and was one of the pioneers in the development of the great mining industry at Cobalt. He is the President of the Provincial Conservative Party in the Province of Quebec, and is now making preparations for the big convention which will be held in January. He returns to Canada in about ten days, as he has further business in St. John's which requires his personal attention.

HAS TIMBER INTERESTS.

Gold is not the only thing in which Mr. Bellew is interested. He is very anxious to get a grant of timber lands as he has contracts for pulp wood on his hands. He showed our reporter contracts with Dutch and Belgian firms calling for the delivery of 90,000 cords a year for the next ten years, and if he can obtain the necessary grant, with permission to cut

McMurdo's Store News.

Those who, as autumn draws on, begin to suffer from rheumatic twinges or nerve pains can often obtain ready and effective relief from the early use of our Analgesic Balm, which comes in the midst, yet one of the most potent external remedies for these troubles. Analgesic Balm differs in many ways from the more or less fiery compositions that are used to relieve pain, and while quite efficacious, they cause no irritation to the skin beyond a slight redness, and never need the services of soothing applications to relieve the effect sometimes produced by too strenuous counter irritants. Price 40 cents a tube.

In the Police Court.

YOUTHFUL BILL SIKES. Edward Hurley, a youth well-known to the police, was charged with burglary in the Police Court this morning. He was remanded for 3 days. Harry was discovered by Mr. George Sayer in his hardware store a 9 o'clock last night. Prisoner could give no explanation of his conduct and Mr. Sayer handed him over to the police. No words were found in Hurley's possession when he was searched after his arrest.

Election Rumor.

NOVEMBER 24th SET FOR POLLING DAY. That General Election will be held this fall is a rumor that is given much credence in many quarters. The date set, according to a person who has close connections with the powers that be, is the 24th of November. Enquiry from a prominent Government member who failed to secure confirmation. The Prime Minister, it is learned, is still in England working on the negotiations, which are in practically the same stages as some months ago.

Pies and Pastry!

The digestibility of Pies has been called into question but, when properly made, pies are as easily digested as anything else. Until quite recently it has been taken for granted by the majority of people that it was impossible to make good pastry out of Manitoba wheat without using a large amount of shortening—the proper kind of which is very expensive. They have thought it necessary to keep two kinds of flour—one for Bread and the other for Pastry. This idea is erroneous. "Windsor Patent" Flour (which is acknowledged all the world over as Canada's best) makes the most delicious pastry when the same amount of shortening is used with ordinary pastry flour. JUST TRY IT AND BE CONVINCED!

His Grace Archbishop Roche.

Recipient of Further Presentations and Addresses --- Catholic Societies Express Appreciation of Popular Prelate.

On last evening after the entertainment at the Convent of Mercy, His Grace the Archbishop, the clergy and the Superiors of the several communities of the Christian Brothers were guests at dinner at the Presentation Convent, Cathedral Square. Towards the close of the repast the Right Rev. Monsignor McDermott, V. G., on behalf of the clergy and Christian Brothers of the Archdiocese extended to His Grace hearty congratulations upon this occasion of his Sacrosanct Silver Jubilee. He then requested the Jubilarian's indulgent acceptance of addresses from the clergy and from the Christian Brothers. A gift in the form of a cheque would accompany the address from the Priests and it was the express wish of the latter that His Grace should retain the proffer for strictly personal uses. Monsignor McDermott requested the Very Rev. Father Tierney F.P., Dean of the Archdiocese, to read the following address from the clergy.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR GRACE:

On this the twenty-fifth anniversary of Your Grace's Ordination to the Priesthood, it is meet and just that your loyal Priests should offer you their respectful congratulations and wish you many more years of usefulness and happiness in your exalted office. When more than seven years ago the news of Your Grace's elevation to the Episcopacy had spread through the country and evoked universal approval, none rejoiced more sincerely than the Priests of the Archdiocese who had foreseen, as well as desired, your appointment to the see of St. John's.

Your Grace's achievements during these years, your unflinching zeal for the honour of God and the welfare of Mother Church, have more than justified the high hopes held by us on the day of your consecration, and without exaggeration we can say that the history of the Archdiocese as made by Your Grace is a chronicle of well-merited success. The energy with which you have attacked great problems, the courageous spirit with which you have faced difficulties that well might have daunted the stoutest heart, and facility with which you have overcome all obstacles have shown that our estimate of you was true, and that you possessed preeminently the qualities of a great man and a great Bishop.

In the manifold activities which now engage Your Grace's attention and which demand clear vision, unremitting toil and almost boundless optimism, we pledge you our unstinted support, our loyal co-operation and our heartfelt sympathy. In some degree at least we appreciate the weight of the responsibilities which rest upon your shoulders, and as a small return for the gentleness of your attitude towards us, the invariable kindness which you have shown us, the allowances you have made for our mistakes and the encouragement and the help you have given us in our troubles, we assure Your Grace that we will never by word or deed add in any way to the difficulties necessarily attached to your position, but that we will always be as we are to-day your faithful sons, and, if we may say it, your devoted friends.

Signed on their behalf, J. J. McDERMOTT, V. G. R. TIERNEY. J. J. GREENE.

Following the presentation of a substantial cheque from the priests Rev. Bro. Ennis on behalf of the Christian Brothers of the Archdiocese read the following address which was also accompanied by a cheque offered as a souvenir of the Jubilee.

ADDRESS FROM THE CHRISTIAN BROTHERS.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR GRACE: To-day, in union with your devoted priests and faithful people, we, the members of the Irish Christian Brothers of the Archdiocese, join in felicitating you on the occasion of your Sacrosanct Silver Jubilee. On this joyous day, with pleasure, we review those twenty-five years, and note how faithfully you have redeemed the bright promise of boyhood days, and with confidence, we look to the future, trusting that God will spare you to complete the noble works undertaken since you were invested with the plenitude of the Priesthood.

Realizing that man cannot appreciate the spiritual achievements of your ministry, we would emphasize your continued activities in the field of education. The many splendid edifices reared under your fostering care, are monuments of Your Grace's paternal solicitude for increased educational facilities and for the best interests of the little ones of the flock.

Whilst we rejoice on the happy consummation of so many years in the discharge of the most sacred duties that may well fall to the lot of man, we regret that your physical powers have not always been commensurate with your generous and energetic will. But is it not the Cross that stands beside the path of each one going through life?

We avail ourselves of this auspicious event to testify our gratitude for numerous proofs of esteem and regard accorded by Your Grace to our congregation at various times and on many memorable occasions. Praying that God may grant you length of days to add the golden links to the silver chain so happily completed to-day.

Signed on behalf of the Communities, J. E. RYAN. J. F. ENNIS. M. C. AHERN.

HIS GRACE REPLIES.

His Grace in reply accepted the offering of the clergy and expressed his deep appreciation of the sentiments of loyalty and co-operation thereby indicated. He referred to the pleasant and harmonious relations ever existing between himself and the priests of the Archdiocese. He felt that the priests could best appreciate the duties, the cares and obligations of the Episcopate. For seventeen years he himself had experienced the vicissitudes of a priest's life and in all his dealings with the priests he endeavoured to keep in view this experience of the past.

The present occasion recalled the ravages of time on the ranks of the Priesthood. Of the priests on the mission at the time of his Ordination few now remain. Knowing well that the loyal friendship and assistance of his spiritual sons so generously afforded in the past would continue in the future his Grace had no fear whatever for the interests of the Church in the years to come.

The Christian Brothers also were assured his deep gratitude. He could not speak too highly of their noble work for the cause of Catholic education. The pioneer brothers of old had left to their successors a shining example and a high incentive. Recalling the fact that few of the old guard of his own day were yet amongst us the Archbishop trusted that the traditions of the past would be but a cause of praiseworthy emulation in the future. Last night the officers of the various Catholic Ladies' Societies and Associations assembled in the Auditorium of the K. of C. Memorial School for the purpose of presenting his Grace with an address and cheque on the occasion of the event which was being celebrated. Mrs. Capt. English presided, the address was read by Mrs. W. J. Higgins and the presentation was made by Mrs. J. V. O'Dea.

ADDRESS FROM THE LADIES.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR GRACE: Upon the twenty-fifth anniversary of Your Grace's Ordination to the Priesthood, we, the representatives of the Catholic Women's Societies of St. John's, approach Your Grace with sentiments of profound respect and veneration to tender our sincere congratulations on this happy occasion.

Though the Societies which we represent have very many diversified aims and interests, in this we meet in unity of thought and feeling, that we are all animated by the deepest loyalty to Your Grace, and imbued with the desire to follow Your Grace's direction in furthering Catholic religious and educational activities.

We are all fully sensible of the great advance of Catholic education under Your Grace's administration, and more particularly in the education of our girls; for the very many facilities that have been afforded by Your Grace for the higher education of Catholic girls are known and appreciated by all of us.

As this opportunity is afforded to us we must express our admiration of the manner of Your Grace's guidance in the larger affairs of the Archdiocese. We realize that in Your Grace we have a bulwark upon which we can at all times depend to guard our spiritual and material interests.

We must also put on record here our appreciation of the readiness with which Your Grace is at all times willing to receive those who are seeking consolation and advice, and of that serious and valuable consideration that is always given to the problems, be they great or small, that are brought to Your Grace's attention.

On behalf of the Societies which we represent we beg to present to Your Grace the accompanying token as a testimonial of our loyalty and esteem; and we pray that God will bless Your Grace's every undertaking and will grant length of days to fulfil the duties of Your Grace's exalted station.

Signed on behalf of the Societies, A. ENGLISH, Chairman. MARY P. HIGGINS, Secty. MARY O'DEA, Treasurer.

His Grace in reply expressed his great pleasure over the event and thanked the ladies for their help in all religious and educational matters. Later on he hoped to call upon them for help in the rebuilding of the Palace. He felt that whilst the men had promised their help in this matter

Crescent Ground One-Man Cross-Cut Saw, No. 223.

Illustration shows our Lance Tooth Crescent Ground One-Man Saw. Crescent grinding is the grinding of the saw in crescent shaped lines running parallel with the cutting edge. This gives an even thickness to the tooth edge and a gradual taper from tooth edge to back—means less set to the teeth, less kerf or width to the cut and less effort in cutting.

Jems of Evil.

The "Blaze of Glory" That Caused the Kaiser's Downfall.

Told by STUART MARTIN in Pearson's Weekly.

"I attribute the downfall of the Kaiser to the evil spell wrought by the central gem in the crown of the House of Prussia, the sinister Blaze of Glory."

This strange statement is the considered opinion of no other than the late Herr Graf Zunkelhorn, one of the most learned German antiquaries, and for many years keeper of the Prussian Jewel House. Herr Zunkelhorn has left amongst his papers a detailed history of this jewel, and of how he warned the ex-Kaiser of its sinister influence, and begged him to dispose of it even as far back as the day on which Wilhelm was crowned King of Prussia.

Zunkelhorn was constantly pained because of the refusal of the Emperor to believe that there was any influence in the gem, and whenever the jewel keeper opened up the subject he was sure to be met by ridicule. Though the jewel keeper was not in possession of the full history of the jewel at the time Wilhelm was crowned, he knew sufficient to implore his royal master to have it removed from the regalia.

His pleadings were made at Potsdam, just before the coronation ceremony, but Wilhelm scorned the traditions of the stone as if they were mere fairy tales. Finally he dismissed Zunkelhorn with the words:—"You must understand that I am crowned by the spirit of God and the will of my people. The Hohenzollerns must endure for ever. No curse of evil can harm our dynasty."

Finding that his prayers and pleadings were useless, Herr Zunkelhorn began to find out every other detail in the history of the Blaze of Glory with which he was still unacquainted.

He saw the Kaiser on state occasion wearing the crown from which the gem blazed in the very centre. To Zunkelhorn it seemed that the Kaiser had thus deliberately defied the tradition of the stone. Until the crowning of Wilhelm its position had been a secondary one. By Wilhelm's special order it had been placed in the very centre of the crown.

The difficulties which stood in the way of Herr Zunkelhorn obtaining the detailed story of the Blaze of Glory were enormous. Among dealers in precious stones it is quite common for histories of such stones to be preserved, but in the case of the Blaze of Glory there were many lapses.

It was known, for instance, that the gem had at one time been in the possession of the Queen of Sheba. Tales of the strange and wonderful gem were carried by travellers into Persia, and the greed of the nomadic king El-Hakim II was excited. He marched into the land of the unfortunate queen and robbed her dead body of the stone after the queen had been mutilated by his soldiers.

As he carried it away the blood dripped from his hands, and it was placed by the wise men that the ancient curse of the gem would be carried on and that the king would meet with a like death.

The prophecy came true. Within a few weeks El-Hakim II was murdered in his palace by one of his subjects. The next owner was also killed, and every prince, ruler, potentate or family who had possession of it since that date met with misfortune and disaster.

These facts were all known. Herr Zunkelhorn had prepared his list of tragedies which had followed the ownership of the stone, but his list was incomplete, and had many gaps and lapses in detail.

The story of the fatal gem gained currency in certain circles among the court of the Kaiser, and two highly-placed members of the court resolved to put the stories to test. They commissioned an expert diamond dealer to undertake a journey to the East, with instructions to investigate every clue, and find the truth of the allegations, and also to discover, if possible, wherein lay the curse of the famous stone.

The expert set out on his journey. He visited every market in the Near East, pursued his investigations through Turkey, was led by the thin thread of his clues into Persia, the land of the Medes and ancient wise men who seem to be so strangely gifted with occult powers.

Ancient documents written in old tongues were unearthed. It was a tremendous labour, and it occupied several years to complete, but it was completed. It was in 1916, after the war had been in progress for nearly two years, that the expert arrived back in Berlin with his proof.

The results of the expert's investigations were considered, and were turned over to Herr Zunkelhorn. When that expert had compared the results with his own information he realized how important this seemingly harmless stone was. He managed to gain an appointment with the Kaiser for the purpose of laying before him the additional tragic details.

The interview took place at Potsdam. Herr Zunkelhorn had with him all the necessary documents with which he hoped to impress his master, but the latter from the first treated the agitation of his jewel keeper as coming from a fussy old man upset by gossip. Nevertheless, he listened while Herr Zunkelhorn gave his story.

"Majesty," said the jewel keeper, "there is no more devoted servant of the House of Hohenzollern than I am. Have I not been jewel keeper for many years? What I have to say is said because of that devotion and loyalty to your House."

He went on to detail the story of the Blaze of Glory from the time that the gem came into the possession of the Kaiser's forefathers.

It was in the Middle Ages that the Margrave (or Marquis) de Brandenburg, whose kingdom was the nucleus from which sprang the Prussian dynasty, made one of his raids into Silesia. His soldiers plundered wherever they came to a town, and razed the houses just as the modern Germans treated Belgium and North France.

One of the captives of the Margrave was a Jewish merchant who had been making his way to the Mediterranean with a large collection of diamonds and precious stones. The loot was placed before the Margrave, who, seeing the glittering collection, selected from the loot a massive stone. It was the ill-starred Blaze of Glory.

In vain the merchant warned the Margrave that the stone had a terrible history, and was fated to bring disaster to the family who owned it. The conqueror laughed at the tale, and holding the stone aloft so that it glittered and scintillated in the sun, swore that he would make it one of his crown gems, and that he would found a great family who would ever wear it always in their crowns.

This was how the Blaze of Glory came to Prussia, stained with blood, as it had been stained throughout its long career.

It was handed down from king to king until it came into the possession of the ex-Kaiser.

"Your Majesty will remember," said Herr Zunkelhorn, "that on the day you were crowned I ventured to suggest that the jewel ought to be taken from the royal crown. I implored your Majesty to get rid of it. I gave my reasons. I said that the tradition was such that it would bring only misfortune on Prussia. Your Majesty, I have now in my hands proof that the climax of the misfortunes which this terrible gem is responsible for will take place in your Majesty's reign; it is indeed not very far distant."

"You can prove that?" cried the Kaiser excitedly.

"Yes, your Majesty. The documents are here."

"What are the proof?" demanded the Kaiser.

"Your Majesty, this stone came originally from Persia, the land of mysterious things and many secrets. If your Majesty will give me permission to take the Blaze of Glory and make certain tests with it I shall be able to give you further demonstrations. It is written in these documents that the crisis of the misfortunes caused by the Blaze of Glory will occur in the twentieth century."

"But how can you prove this?" asked the Kaiser.

"Your Majesty, the important dates will be found by holding the gem at right angles with the meridian and pointing its apex towards the north—due north. From the number of the various angles and their degrees shown in the cutting of the gem will be found the mysterious significance of the stone."

Herr Zunkelhorn was given permission to make his tests. He made the mathematical calculations according to the instructions which he had obtained, and to his consternation the dates which came out in the final answer were 1917 and 1922. It was demonstrated that between those dates would come the climax. Would the tradition hold good, or had its power been exhausted, and were the stories told of the gem merely strange coincidences and old wives' tales?

The result of the calculations were sent to the Kaiser, but once again he refused to believe that they had any special significance. His reply was that the war was being won—that indeed it was already won—by his "valiant troops," and that nothing could stop his ambition to be conqueror of Europe.

The highly-placed advisers of the Kaiser took the same view. They laughed at the fears of the jewel keeper, and the Blaze of Glory remained the central stone in the Prussian crown.

Days and weeks passed, but at last events took a turn, and disaster loomed ahead. The story of the Blaze of Glory had been forgotten in the other events of the national crisis. Only one man in Germany kept the history of the fatal stone in his mind, and that man was Herr Zunkelhorn. When the final crash came, and the Kaiser, a beaten refugee, fled from his country that morning late in 1918, the jewel keeper was one of those who was present at the final farewell.

"Had he taken my advice many years ago," said Herr Zunkelhorn, to one of the officials, "he would still have been on the throne. It was the fatal Blaze of Glory which brought the downfall of the Hohenzollerns, just as it has brought misfortune and evil to every owner it has had since it came out of Persia so many centuries ago."

It was not until after the Kaiser had gone into exile that the German people began to realize that the central gem of the crown had indeed a sinister influence, and it is still pointed out by those who see it in his new place of abode in Berlin as the diamond which caused the overthrow of the Hohenzollern dynasty.

If you are looking for a rough-and-ready place to fish and hunt try Labrador.

Labrador is a narrow strip of land across the Straits of Belle Isle from the north shore of Newfoundland. It extends from Blanc Sablon to Hudson Strait, about 700 miles.

I made the trip up from St. John's, Newfoundland, on the "Meigle." The boat makes about fifty stops between Battle Harbor and Hopedale. From Hopedale a smaller steamer takes you as far north as ice will permit.

There are no docks. The ship anchors off the numerous ports and passengers go ashore by the Meigle's mail boat.

At Elements' Mercy. There is not a single resort, hotel or boarding house on the Labrador coast. When you leave the steamer without your sleeping bag, blankets and personal equipment you are at the mercy of the elements. Sportsmen on the coast or in the interior must take in tents, cooking outfit, and complete camping equipment.

Most of the population is made up of cod fishermen from Newfoundland who leave the colony as soon as ice will permit in the late spring and return again in late September.

A PITY TO LOSE ANOTHER HAIR

35c "Danderine" Saves Your Hair—Ends Dandruff! Delightful Tonic

Only fools let hair fall out and dandruff stay. Neglect means a bald spot shortly. A little "Danderine" now will save your hair. This delightful tonic cleans the scalp of every particle of dandruff, tightens the hair-root pores, so the hair stops coming out and so the vitalizing oils which are the very life and strength of the hair, can not ooze away.

Dandruff is not sticky or greasy. It has made weak, sick, neglected hair strong and healthy for millions of men and women. Your comb or brush is warning you. Hurry to buy "Danderine" and get a bottle now. Don't waste!

The white natives, "Inyerees," live mostly from Rigolet south.

The Eskimos predominate north from that point to Hudson Strait.

Lots of Fishing. Indian tribes stick to the interior and largely follow the caribou.

With the exception of the coast little is known of Labrador.

One thing is sure—the salmon and sea trout fishing, particularly from Rigolet south, is of the best.

Ducks, geese and waterfowl are to be had along the Labrador coast in limitless numbers. It is the breeding ground of the Canada goose, as is Newfoundland.

Labrador cannot be recommended as a carbon country. However, like Newfoundland, there are parts where "summer deer" do not migrate. One of these is about 15 miles from Cartwright, where the Hudson's Bay Company maintains a trading post, selling ordinary grub and supplies.

I covered considerable country around Sandwich Bay and went into the Goose country up North River.

The natives fish and hunt only for food and thought me foolish to shoot birds on the wing.

However, I recommend Labrador to anglers and hunters going into Newfoundland, as a side trip. One day out of St. John's you will be in daily sight of icebergs. At various ports of call you can jig from the side of the ship for codfish.

Oh, You Atom. SCIENTIST DESCRIBES LATEST POWER IN LIBERATED ATOM.

LONDON—By the liberation of the atom man may some day have under his control a force which will perform for him the entire work of the world, but if it gets beyond his control it may blow the earth and all its inhabitants to smithereens.

Dr. Aston, of Cambridge, said in a lecture delivered recently before the members of the British Association. But the chances of such a catastrophe are practically negligible, he explained.

Dr. Aston opened his address with a description of the infinite minuteness of the atom. "If a tiny hole were made in the side of an evacuated electric light bulb," he said, "so that the molecules of air could pass in at a rate of 1,000,000 a second, it would take 100,000,000 years before the bulb was full, and there are two atoms in each molecule of air." Dr. Aston told how Professor Rutherford had discovered that all atoms were simply different combinations of electricity.

The positive particles were cemented together by the negative particles. Tables, houses, chairs, motor cars; in fact all inanimate substances, including man himself, were composed simply of electricity.

WHAT A LUMP OF COAL IS. "What we know as a lump of coal," the speaker declared, "is simply an incomprehensibly large number of electrical particles clustering together. If these particles could be liberated and controlled, they would provide vastly more power than would be needed to run all the machinery that man could ever devise."

"Professor Rutherford," said Dr. Aston, "succeeded in arranging a collision between the central portions of two atoms. The result was the transmutation of these atoms into entirely different forms of

70,000 farmers guarantee this

The men of the Dairy Men's League—seventy thousand farmers—with many hundred thousand cows, devote their lives to the production of pure milk and milk products.

They are as much a permanent part of American life as New York State or Florida is. When they make a dairy product and put their collective name on it, that product is good. It is made and sold not merely for a fickle demand of the moment, but for to-day, to-morrow, next year, and for the years to come.

Not all the farmers in this territory are members of the Dairy Men's League Co-operative Association, Inc., for, to be a member, a farmer must have the right kind of farm and clean, healthy cows subject to a regular rigid inspection and to unscheduled inspections by government officials. This means much to all who buy milk or milk products.

For these seventy thousand men are in business to stay. The farms MUST produce all they can. The cows MUST give milk. It is the privilege and the desire of the farmers to give the people the best dairy products that can be made.

The storekeeper who sells Dairy Men's League Dairy Products can depend upon the products now and in the future.

all their religion, as in all their death and extrudes. These men of death; to them it is an of something, not something far and problematical, for every famhas met sea losses. Death is no visitor, as with us more shelter-folk. They're not at all afraid of death—death is always there, just the corner. God is spoken to in fervent familiarity, almost as he were a well-known neighbor, needed to for the saving of "his "deep." There are constant refer-to home, to family. The seal-talk glibly of mansions in the sky whatsoever, or any sky but a thing one. Their religion is absently a cri du coeur. These are but men! Modern exegesis could it have to do with such and better so, because it seems as that without such faith as they they could not possibly suffer that there have to suffer or do those incredible things they have to Mark you, now. As a result of having been shamed before others, this man Jonas became the most reckless daredevil of the lot. From that day on he took wild chances on the sea, killed like a madman, towed like a horse, scolded like a maniac. I have seen him jump from the moving ship to splash ice, race over swaying paths, catch a seal, kick it on the head, stam-it, drag the barehanded and wild cheers and shrieks of joy from the assembled crew. Jonas became a bright particular star. Whether he was really "wack" or not didn't matter. He made abundantly good. He, too, passionately adhered to the gospel of toil, submission, the giving of his all for a mere nothing—save praise.

Strangers, simple-hearted men!
 And yet, under sufficient provocation, these simple and kindly men will run suddenly amuck and do extraordinary violent deeds. Little as they know of modern labor conditions, as much as they denounce strikers, they can—if put to it—sarlies with seal and vigor. Not very long ago I took of them struck for a higher share in St. John's, rove a cable to a sealing steamer, and with two thousand men of the cable held her from sailing.
 They probably would have pulled the ship right up into the town if somebody aboard hadn't chopped the cable and let the ship escape.

have licked the huns, but also brought back their pelts, put up flags on them, and waited for some steamer to come along to pick up the trip o' fat. They're the great boys, these sealers.
 Vikings of the North indeed! Yes, that is what I call them. It's a title of admiration, of homage. I never saw such absolutely brave men in all my life, such hardy, hospitable, forthright, kindly, daring, unbeatable, tireless and wonderful he-men. Shy as children, till you come to know them, you presently discover they have big hearts, warm affections, deep piety,
 a frank and stringily bold outlook on life—an outlook that abames all petty and cowardly conventions.

The men are unmerciful to a failure a slacker. They say anyone that death if he misses his quarry. It's a case of cheers if you succeed "jers if you fail. Thus is developed that wonderful special sense, or instinct, that enables these supermen to travel where we would perish, to navigate blind, icebound and snow-driven courses and come back—even after days—exactly to the same marker left there. Evolution, stimulated by a keen love of praise, has produced a specialized type of working machine, the sealer. It has made him love exhausting toil, endowed him with super-human powers, given to him work as his gospel.

Political opponents are sometimes liable to rough handling in the out-ports. One candidate, voicing unpopular views, was chased to his trails, and just barely escaped alive. Another was hustled to a wharf and given a high dive into Old Atlantic. Strangers trying to dance with outport girls usually face a fight that ends in a knockout. And even mutiny isn't unknown.
 As witness this:
 "Last spring the Diana got jammed
 in the ice and broke her propeller.
 She began to leak. The leak wasn't serious, but the men grew ugly. They were missing their spring. After a while they hauled up the side sticks and piled their gaffs in a heap on the deck, the formal signs of going manna
 —which is, to say, mutinying."

 manded the captain. "Us wants to be took ashore."
 "Never!" replied the captain.
 "You send dat wireless in one hour," they retorted, "or us'll 'trow you an'

 The S O S went.
 The Sagona bucked the ice, reath-ed the Diana, took the men and their chests off. The Diana was still afloat and could have easily been kept by a small engine-room crew; could have been towed to port after the ice had broken. But no; the sealers put the torch to her, burned her and sank her with four thousand seals aboard.

 GOLD MEDAL
JAMS & MARMALADE

The Story of "SUNRISE" Preserves Number 1.

ALL over the world it is known that the best preserves are English Jams and Marmalade. The finest English Jams and Marmalade are "Sunrise"; these little stories tell how they are made and why they are so good.

FIRST of all, and most highly important, only the best and freshest fruit is bought. All the counties in Great Britain, and orange groves in Spain, where the finest fruits are grown, are visited by the buyers who make careful selection, and the gathering and packing is carried out under watchful supervision so that the fruit arrives undamaged at the factory.

THAT is the first step in the progress to perfection, and "Sunrise" Jams which you will find in your stores are specially made for Football Reminiscences.

By ONLOOKER.

27th LEAGUE MATCH.
St. Andrews vs. Terra Nova: Result: Saints 6; Terra Nova 1. Played on Llewellyn Grounds, Aug. 24, 1926.

Notwithstanding the heavy down-pour of rain, football enthusiasts, both male and female, were out last night to witness the battle between the light and dark blues. There were many disadvantages, a wet ground, slippery ball and other things made it an impossibility to play football as it might have been. The teams lined up a man short each, and in a remarkably short time from the kick off Mars got possession and centred to Munn, who scored first goal for the Saints. Within five minutes after the Saints again scored, the ball striking the crossbar and rebounding to Monroe who shot past Parsons to the net. Both sides had now full teams on and although the Terra Nova's fought hard they seldom got up field and in a "lemon" time they crossed over. Saints 2, T.N.C. nil. Very little breathing space was allowable under the "weather conditions but soon the Saints, now playing up grade became the aggressors. Terra Nova's, however, by a good bit of passing got well down and a nice chance to score was just missed. Then a nice run up the right wing by Mars ended by Monroe getting the pass and beating Parsons—3 for the Saints. Right after the redoubtable Peter scored a fourth from a slip off Gemmell, and the Terra Nova had now all they could do to defend their goal. Very soon the fifth goal was added by Monroe, who dribbled the ball from mid-field, eluding all opponents and scoring easily. Then a penalty kick given the Saints for handling by Soper. This was badly taken, however, and went over. Now the Terra Nova's had a look in, Easterbrook rushing the ball down the

NO SAFETY.

The spuds are white and mealy. I like them smoking hot; but if I eat them freely my doctor cries, "Great Scott! You weigh too much already, yet such things you will chew! Your gain in weight is steady, in spite of all I do! Your face is hot and hectic, your pulse hits up a gait; a spasm apoplectic will get you soon or late." The roast is large and stately, the gravy rich and brown, and I am longing greatly to pour such victuals down. But says the learned physician, "Cut out such grub as that, or soon the pale physician will bear you from your flat. I have to watch and guard you through out the weary years, you blamed old onehead band, you, to save you from the pier." Such is the fate of fellows who do not toil or spin, who ply no blacksmith's bellows, or make cans out of tin; in gilded ease reclining, their lot seems far from hard; but when it comes to dining, all goodly things are barred. I watch the toiler plodding, as homeward he repairs, from ditching or from sodding, to eat five Belgian hares. I think his lot's a daisy, no doctors round him lurk; but I am too blamed lazy to go outdoors and work.

To glaze sweet potatoes parboil potatoes for fifteen minutes in salted water. After draining, peel and cut into thick slices. Arrange on buttered pan. The syrup is made by boiling a third cup of water with a half cup brown sugar and a fourth cup butter for three minutes. Spread each potato with a small amount syrup and bake until brown, basting frequently with remaining syrup. This will glaze six medium-sized potatoes.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

TOO MUCH TALK.

"The talkative liester to no one for they are ever speaking. And the first evil that attends those who know not how to be silent is that they hear nothing."—Platarch.

Do you talk too much. When I'm sitting question? Well, I don't blame you for being offended. I just asked myself that question and myself didn't like it at all. But then I suspect that one reason I made myself so touchy was that myself had a sneaking, annoying suspicion that perhaps that might be one of its faults.

The older I grow the more I realize that there is no commoner fault than the habit of talking too much.

What do I mean by too much? Well, several things.

When You Ought To Be Working.

For one thing, talking when you should be doing something else. How many people we know who waste time that way, and then have to leave things undone, or rush around to catch up with their tasks, and tire themselves out or do slipshod work as we always do when we have a sense of being behind schedule.

Again I mean saying things over and over again when you have said them once.

When You Have Nothing To Say.

Then I mean talking when one has nothing to say. Who was it said that language had been given us to convey thoughts but most of us used it to conceal the lack of thoughts. Maybe nobody said it except me, but any how I think it's good, don't you?

And I know that some one did say "Those who have little business to attend to are great talkers. The less men think the more they talk."

Another thing I call talking too much is entering into endless arguments in which neither party is really sure of his facts, each one uses words and phrases in different senses, and each, after a moment or two loses sight of what the original argument was about.

When You Have No Right To Talk.

And thirdly, fourthly and five hundredthly, I call it talking too much when in order to keep talking and hold the centre of the stage one uses subject matter that one has no right to use—other people's secrets, unsubstantiated tales about people, personal details that well bred people are reticent about, unkind and uncalled for criticism or ridicule of one's friends.

"Great talkers are like leaky vessels, everything runs out of them."

And above all, avoid being one.

Canada's Viceroy Declared a "Chief."

HISTORICAL PAGEANT.

An immense crowd witnessed the historical pageant in honor of His Excellency Baron Hing. The Hudson's Bay Company was asked by the city to stage an historical pageant and programme of Indian sports when the governor-general officially visited Edmonton. This was agreed to and plans were immediately gotten under way.

No less than 475 Cree Indians were brought from the Indian reserve at Hobbema to take in the pageant, and they were camped on the Company's grounds at the foot of 102nd Street. The actual cost of rationing the Indians and some 300 horses was borne by the city; also the prize-money offered for Indian races, which consisted of horse racing, relay cowboy races, Indian square races, Indian bow and arrow contests, wrestling on horseback, Indian pow-wow, etc. on the arrival at the exhibition grounds.

Before the sports commenced the governor-general was made an Indian chief of the Cree tribe by Chief Sampson. He was also presented with two comely Indian maidens, whom he was obliged to refuse. Many elaborate presents of beaded work were also presented to the governor-general. Peter Gunn, an old-time employee of the Hudson's Bay Company, arrayed in a blanket capote, acted as interpreter, while J. Frost, advertising manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, presented the chiefs and conducted the ceremonies.

A grand historical parade was organized, depicting the various events which have taken place since Fort Edmonton was established in 1796. As most of the costumes used for these events were made for the historical pageant in commemoration of the 250th anniversary and were still in the possession of the Mallabar Costumers of Winnipeg, no trouble was experienced in outfitting the men and girls taking part.

The procession lined up sharp on time at the corner of 105th Street and Jasper, and it is estimated that the parade was fully two miles long and the best ever seen on the streets of Edmonton. The various events depicted by the Hudson's Bay Co. equipped with horses, costumes and men, started from 1796 and continued through up to 1890. It was then continued from that time up to the present by various organizations in the city. In order to make the parade still more spectacular, Prince Rupert in all his glory and seated on a magnificent charger headed the parade, followed by an escort of ten charming heralds carrying trumpets with banners attached bearing the famous pop pelotte coat-of-arms. Their costumes were of scarlet and gold.

The garrison was selected from members of the H.B.C. staff; also the majority of the men taking part in the parade. The programme follows:

G.W.V.A. REGIMENTAL BAND.

1670—Prince Rupert; two mounted pages; eight mounted heralds.

1796—H.B.C. standard bearer; chief factor, Fort Edmonton; two chief traders, Fort Edmonton; garrison of Fort Edmonton (25 men).

1860—400 Cree Indians (mounted); three Indian travois (horses); one Indian travois (dog).

1865—Eight gold miners; pack train.

1870—Three Red River carts; six H.B.C. trappers.

1874—Nine North-West Mounted Police in original uniform.

1876—Prairie schooner, depicting the coming of the first settlers.

1800—Edmonton's first stage coach. (Note—The costumes worn were exact reproductions and were furnished by the Hudson's Bay Co.)

29th PIPE BAND.

1881—Klondyke rush.

1882—Edmonton's first school.

1884—Riel Rebellion.

1899—South African war (Strathcona Horse leaving Edmonton).

1907—Edmonton made the capital of Alberta.

1908—First automobile in Edmonton.

1914—The Great War.

1918—Return of Edmonton regiments; boy scouts, military, etc.

MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels, and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

The Invaluable Boy Scout.

The return of Scout Marr, who won golden opinions from the officers and men of Shackleton's ship, the Quest, reminds the public of the great part which the Boy Scout is now playing in our modern life. Few could have imagined, when the movement was inaugurated 15 years ago by Sir R. Baden-Powell, what wonderful results would follow. Since then the Boy Scout organization has been copied by almost every country in the world; it is one of the most important British contributions to the welfare of mankind.

The number of Boy Scouts to-day must be counted at millions throughout the world. In Great Britain alone it runs into hundreds of thousands, and during the great war the services of the Scouts were invaluable. It was even said that they succeeded in "running" Government offices. Some idea of the strength of the organization is given by the fact that 60,000 Boy Scouts will be assembled at Alexandra Palace for one of their great "rallies." The movement is one which deserves the whole-hearted support of the public; it has brought nothing but good.

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. It is after taking the two week's treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money. Call at once for a bottle of Nuxated Iron at Thos. McMurdo & Co.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THIS HURTS ME MORE THAN YOU. Last night I said: "This hurts me more

Than ever it hurts you. "Were easier not to punish for. "The wrongs you sometimes do. But there are times I must be stern. And lessons little boys must learn. I drew the scolding and the blame. I used to wonder why my dad said he was hurt when I was bad.

I had the small boy's notions then. I suffered all alone. Mine was the pain if censure when my little faults were known; I drew the scolding and the blame. I hung my wifful head in shame. But this is what I never knew—That others had to suffer, too.

Some day when he's older grown I know he'll mutter, too. Unto a youngster of his own: "This hurts me more than you." He'll learn, as I have come to learn. The hurt and ache of being stern. And when to bed his boy is sent He'll know just what his father meant.

Rescued Crew in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Captain Coward and the crew of eleven men of the British auxiliary barque Madeline Constance of St. John's, Nfld., which was abandoned in mid-ocean in a sinking condition, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Joseph Seep.

The disabled ship was set on fire to prevent its becoming a menace to navigation.

Dried and Pickled Fish.

The situation is rather quiet at the moment. The early catch has been practically all disposed of by the fishery fishermen and it is too soon to say whether the summer catch is better than the past fortnight, and a consequence of the market is about here it was at the time of our last report. Meantime nothing of interest has developed in the export markets and prices have been few and they have led to little business. Lately the fish trade has been discussing the new American tariff will affect the industry here. The feeling is that so far as concerns dried fish from Porto Rico, always a contingent market, the question of returns will usually be one of supply and demand. There is an under supply of fish, and consumer there will have to pay a higher price; if there is an over supply our exporters will be additionally handicapped by the imposition of a price; if there is an over supply, that where before there was none, the old days when Gloucester was the greater dried fish market, the effect here would have been more pronounced still, and it is not impossible that, with the help of the new tariff, a greater American dried fish industry may in time be created. Some supplies of Pacific Coast codfish are sold in Porto Rico, and the quantity of these may be increased. Needless to say the dried fish trade here is not like the new American duty. In its application to pickled fish, the American tariff is going to be a blow to our herring industry, as a duty of $2.00 on herring that sometimes sells as low as $5.00 per barrel is a very heavy one indeed. The duty applies to mackerel, but in this case, no doubt, the American consumer will have to pay it. It means our fish and no doubt will be willing to pay the price.—The Marine Merchant.

Have You Seen the JEWETT CAR? THE JEWETT IS PAIGE BUILT.

The new Jewett is of Paige conception, designed and built by Paige engineers and mechanics in the Paige shops. From its Paige origin the Jewett inherits those unmistakable marks of Quality, characterizing the work of a group of men, who for ten years past, have been building the fine six-cylinder cars, bearing the Paige monogram.

Let us demonstrate to you its remarkable power and quality—5 passenger touring—$2200; Sedan $2850.
