

KING CALLS HOME RULE CONFERENCE—TWO DROWNED AT OAKVILLE CRUISER RAINBOW TO LAND PARTY ON KOMAGATA MARU

Bather Sank While Wife Watched Rescuer Died In Attempt to Save Two Are Lost In Lake at Oakville

Cramps Fatal to Charles Grinham, Toronto, While W. Allan, Nelson, B. C., Succumbed to Weak Heart While Swimming to Rescue Canoeists—Two Deaths Within an Hour.

By a Staff Reporter.
Two young men lost their lives in the lake off the town park here this afternoon, the two fatalities occurring within the space of one hour. Charles Grinham, aged 31, with his wife, went to the beach for a bathe about noon, and while swimming in 15 feet of water was seized with a cramp and went down in full view of his wife. He had been married a year. About an hour later W. Allan, a third-year student of the Toronto School of Practical Science, whose wife and two children live in Nelson, B.C., lost his life in attempting to save the lives of W. E. Armour and his two children, whose canoe had capsized 100 yards out in the lake. Grinham never rose after the cramp seized him. His wife, on the beach, heard one cry for help and saw him disappear. A rowboat was immediately launched and a young man recovered the body, and the Oakville doctors worked on him for over an hour he could not be resuscitated. Plunged in to Rescue.
With the men still working over Grinham's body on the dock, the canoe containing Armour and his two children, aged 6 and 11 years, capsized while they were attempting to raise a small sail. Allan at the time was standing on the top of a 50-foot bank overlooking the lake, and when he saw the canoe he had difficulty in getting his children to cling to him. Armour exclaimed, "Can nothing be done to help them?" A moment later, only waiting to discard his coat, he scrambled down the bank and struck out to aid them. In spite of the weight of his clothing and boots, he succeeded in covering over half the distance when, without a cry, he suddenly sank from view and never rose again.
An Oakville man went out in a rowboat and got the body on his straddle. Two hours' work was required to bring Allan back to consciousness. Both bodies were removed to Tuck's undertaking establishment. Inquests are being held. Grinham will be buried in Oakville, while Allan's body will be taken by the Order of Foresters, of which he is a member, to his wife in Nelson, B.C., for burial.
Victim of Heart Failure.
Allan, who is but 27 years of age, was filling in his school vacation by surveying for the proposed new Lakeshore Road to Hamilton. He has been working on the project since the previous year. His wife is in Nelson, B.C., and he is the father of a young child.
Dr. G. Joyce of Brantford, who attended both victims, gave his opinion last night that Allan's death was caused by heart failure, rather than drowning. He said there was very little water in the lungs, and thought the sudden excitement and plunge into the cold water had proved fatal to a weak heart.

CHILD VANISHED WITH WOMAN IN MOTOR

Little Lola Wesley Disappears From Home of Her Great-Uncle, Norman Wesley, Grafton Ave., After Mysterious Person in Car Had Fondled Her—Police Aid Asked.

Ten-year-old Lola Wesley has been missing from the home of her great-uncle, Norman Wesley, 6 Grafton avenue, since Saturday evening, and the police are searching for her. The child's mother, Mrs. Wesley, said she had seen a woman in a motor car who had fondled her child. She said she did not notice where the woman and child went after the woman was seen.
Wesley also learned that a woman answering to a description of the child's mother took up rooms a week ago a few doors away from her home, and has not returned to them since Saturday night. To the police Saturday night he said he thought she must have made such extensive preparations to regain possession of the little girl. It is believed Lola was hurried on to a downtown hotel in the motor car which was seen by the child's playmates.
The story of Lola's adoption is as follows: When she was but three months old her mother handed her over to Norman Wesley, who is her great uncle, for adoption, she herself going to the United States, where she secured a divorce from her husband. For seven years she never visited the child, when one day she walked in unannounced, and the child for the first time in her remembrance saw her mother. At that time Wesley told the mother just how much the child meant in his life, which evidently led her to believe he would never consent to give her up. The mother again left, this time for Chicago, and up till Saturday night had not been heard from again. Two years ago she remarried, and is now Mrs. Traveller.
Wesley has no authority for the adoption of the child, and the fact is doubtful if he can legally regain possession of her, he is convinced that if he can see the mother he can persuade her to leave little Lola in his keeping.

KING HAS CALLED CONFERENCE OF PARTY CHIEFS

Premier Expected to Make Announcement in Commons Today—His Majesty Wishes Them to Attempt Solution of Home Rule Problem.

Canadian Press Despatch.
LONDON, July 20.—The King has called a conference of the leaders of all the parties to seek a solution of the Irish problem.
This is the announcement which Premier Asquith is expected to make today when he is attending the home rule bill comes up again for consideration in the house of commons.
The prime minister's speech on this occasion, indicating how the government proposes to deal with the lords' amendments to the amending bill, is awaited with the deepest anxiety and it is probable that the house will immediately adjourn the debate on the amending bill indefinitely to allow the negotiations for a settlement to proceed outside of parliament.
Consulted With King.
Premier Asquith has been with the King at Portsmouth during the week end, and the King's anxiety to get the difficulty settled resulted in the calling of the conference. It is said that the various leaders invited have accepted the invitation and that the conference will meet at an early date, probably on Tuesday in London. The King will receive the delegates, but will not himself preside over the conference, which, it is confidently thought, under such auspicious auspices, will prove successful.

HOME RULE NOW ASSURED FACT

Impossible for Any Government to Withhold It, Says Runciman—Will Not Surrender.

Canadian Press Despatch.
LONDON, July 18.—The Hon. Walter Runciman, president of the board of agriculture, speaking at Batley tonight, said that home rule was now an assured fact. It would be impossible for any government, whether Liberal or Conservative, to withhold it. The government, he declared, hoped to launch home rule in an atmosphere of peace, but refused to surrender one of its main objects under any pressure, however great.
Sir Henry Lucy ("Toby, M.P." of Punch), writing to The Observer, says that Premier Asquith on Monday will invite the house of commons to restore the amending bill pretty much to the form in which it was introduced in the house of lords by the Marquis of Crewe.

HINDU SHIP REPELLED INVADERS MISSILES HURLED, SHOTS FIRED SCORE WOUNDED IN THE CLASH

Big Party of Immigration Officers and Policemen Who Tried to Enforce Deportation Order, Driven Back and Tug Damaged—Government Determined to Enforce Order, Will Use Rainbow to Effect Landing.

(By Staff Representative)
OTTAWA, July 19.—The immigration department today made the following statement regarding the mutiny of the Hindus on the steamer Komagata Maru at Vancouver, and their violent resistance to all attempts to deport them:
"The captain of the Komagata Maru was given until 6 o'clock last (Saturday) night to settle whether or not he intended to obey the deportation orders which had been served upon him, covering the 350 rejected Hindus. Shortly after that hour he reported that the passengers prevented him from getting up steam, and asked for assistance.
"About 160 policemen and immigration officers went out to the vessel in the largest tug available, but were unable to gain the decks of the Komagata Maru in the face of the stubborn resistance offered by the Hindus on board, who from all parts of the ship hurled down on the officers coal, iron bars, pieces of machinery, hatchets and clubs, injuring many and smashing the windows of the tug.
"Shots Fired by Hindus.
"Some shots were fired by the Hindus, but the officers, altho armed, in their anxiety to avoid bloodshed, if possible, did not return the fire, and at 2 a.m., realizing the difficulty in reaching the decks from a tug, retired and returned to the shore with their twenty injured, amongst whom was the captain of the tug, suffering from two broken ribs. Fortunately, none of the injuries received is likely to be fatal.
"The self-restraint of the police and immigration officers under great provocation is appreciated and highly commended by the acting minister (Hon. C. J. Doherty).
"Will Enforce Law.
"While desirous that no unnecessary violence shall be used, the government are determined that the law shall without fail be effectively and rigidly enforced, and, with this end in view, have authorized the use of the Rainbow to effect a landing, when, if necessary to secure and maintain control, the full number of Hindus will be handcuffed, a proceeding which, in view of their violent actions last night, is fully justifiable.
"The government has instructed its agents to deport all rejected Hindus on the Empress of Japan next Thursday, if it appears that deportation by the Komagata Maru cannot be promptly and effectively accomplished, and is also taking legal proceedings against the master and charterers of the Komagata Maru."

TWO DROWNED CANOE UPSET

Unknown Young Men Ventured on Rough Water in Canoe at Port

PORT STANLEY, Ont., July 19.—Two young men hired a canoe at Samuel James' boathouse this afternoon and proceeded to the lake, which was rather rough for canoeing, and when they reached the end of the east breakwater the canoe upset and both young men disappeared. Other boats proceeded to the scene and picked up the canoe but the young men had found a watery grave. Grappling was started, but up to a late hour tonight neither body had been found. They appear to have been strangers here, and so far their names and addresses cannot be ascertained. They sank in about thirty feet of water. One Panama hat with green Scotch plaid ribbon on it was washed ashore this evening.

FOUR MINISTERS READY TO REBEL

Members of Asquith's Cabinet Prepared to Go in Teeth of Nationalists.

Canadian Press Despatch.
LONDON, July 19.—Premier Asquith's present difficulty is that four members of the cabinet, two of whom are particularly aggressive, have at the last moment flunked the situation and are prepared to go in the teeth of the Nationalists, says Reynolds's News-paper, which is usually well informed on the inner ministerial condition.
"Happily," adds the paper, "a majority of the party support Mr. Asquith in his refusal to betray the Nationalist cause, and there is left some hope that the ministerial party will endevolve a section of the cabinet. It is possible that the debate on Monday will be adjourned after Mr. Asquith's statement."

MAN UNDER ARREST IN DENVER FOR SHARE IN MARTIN MURDER

Sirrocco Accused of Being Co-federate of Schaeffer, Now Serving Prison Term for Killing of Toronto Milliner in New York Rooming House.

Special Despatch to The Toronto World.
NEW YORK, July 19.—Information reached the police last night that Michael Sirrocco, who has been sought by the authorities since last August in connection with the murder of William Greve Martin, a Toronto milliner, had been arrested in Denver, Col. Martin was strangled to death in a rooming house on the west side and money and jewelry were taken from him. The police have held that Martin's assailants did not mean to kill him, but choked him to death with a towel made into a gag. Harry Schaeffer, who was arrested soon after the murder, accused of being one of the robbers, was convicted in March of murder in the second degree.
DENIES HIS GUILT.
Special Despatch to The Toronto World.
DENVER, Col., July 19.—Accused of complicity in the murder of William G. Martin, beaten to death by two men in a New York lodging house on the night of Aug. 19, 1913, William Sullivan, 28, is a prisoner in the city jail. His real name is said to be Michael Sirrocco.
He denied any knowledge of the crime, but the detectives declare they are positive of his identity.
Sullivan, as he insists on calling himself, came to Denver seven months ago. A pretty, young woman with whom he was associated disappeared after he was put in jail.

HON. MR. FOY'S CONDITION IS NOW SATISFACTORY

Dr. H. C. Burritt, who is attending Hon. J. J. Foy, was asked last night by The World for a statement regarding the hon. member's condition. "Mr. Foy is seriously ill," he was asked, "but I think he is now out of danger." It was clear from Dr. Burritt's remarks that Mr. Foy will be unable to attend to his public duties for some time. He said the attorney-general was suffering from nervous trouble.

BRITISH LABOR MEMBER PREDICTS BIG RAILWAY STRIKE IN ENGLAND

Men Are Preparing for Submission of Demands Next November—Refusal to Reduce Hours May Cause More Than a Million Federated Employes to Walk Out.

"Great Britain will be engulfed in the greatest and most appalling struggle between capital and labor that has ever been known, and that before the end of the year," said Mr. Philip Snowden, M.P. for Blackburn, England, who with his wife, Mrs. Flora Snowden, the prominent suffrage lecturer, is staying for a few days in Toronto, before resuming a trip around the world.
The trouble according to the labor M. P., will follow the submission of the demands of the railway workers next November. The agreement, heretofore existing between the railway unions and the companies, expires in November, and the men will demand a full recognition of the union; a uniform 8 hour day; and an increase of five shillings per week for all workers. The railway companies will consent to the recognition of the union, but will fight against the reduction of hours and increase in pay.
Men Are Preparing.
The men have prepared for such a contingency and have formed a federation for common action, with the transport workers' and miners' unions. The new federation embraces 350,000 railway workers, 800,000 miners, and more than 350,000 transport workers.
"The general labor situation," continued Mr. Snowden, "has been very satisfactory in Britain, during the past year, and except for the lockout of the men engaged in the building trades of London, no serious trouble has been encountered. The surprising feature in the country now is the present agricultural laborers' union. These men have been rather slow to organize, but now that they are formed they are increasing rapidly and gaining many advantages in wages and changes in conditions. They are also strongly organized for political purposes.
Home Rule Situation.
"Home rule is not causing any excitement in Britain," said Mr. Snowden, "and the statement attributed to Mr. Lloyd George that the labor unrest had the home rule problem are being rendered inconspicuous."

HURLED VITRIOL WHEN CORNERED

Jos. Vellinsky, Cloakmakers' Union Official, Arrested Following Midnight Burglary.

Joseph Vellinsky, 32 Ulster street, president of the Cloakmakers' Union, was arrested by Detective Wickett Sunday, on charges of burglary and attempting to do bodily harm. Vellinsky is alleged to have burglarized the home of Julius Ramm, 831 Manning avenue, early Saturday morning, and when surprised in his work by Ramm, threw the contents of a bottle of vitriol in his face. Ramm, who refused to go to a hospital, is at home and is in danger of losing his eyesight.
According to Ramm, Vellinsky entered his home at 1:30 in the morning thru a rear bedroom window which overlooks a porch roof. He and his wife were asleep in bed and did not know of the intruder's presence until he was putting money in his pockets. When a slight noise awoke him, Ramm says he no sooner sat up in bed when Vellinsky jumped at him and threw the vitriol, part of which struck him in the face. Blinded by the fluid, he could do nothing to prevent the intruder's escape, and he went the same way he came.
In the moment he had a look at him, however, he secured a good description, on the strength of which Detective Wickett arrested Vellinsky. Ramm states that $21 in bills were extracted from the bureau drawer.
Vellinsky was allowed out on bail of $5000 Sunday night.

RELIEF EXPEDITION IS UNABLE TO RESCUE CREW OF KARLUK

Ice-Breaking Steamer Abandoned Attempt to Reach Wrangell Island After Trying for Fourteen Days to Batter Way Thru Heavy Ice Fields.

Canadian Press Despatch.
NOME, Alaska, July 18.—The ice-breaking steamer Kit arrived here today from a cruise in the Arctic. The captain reported that he tried for fourteen days to break thru the ice field to reach Wrangell Island and take off the men of the Stefansson exploring expedition who have been marooned there since the old whaler Karluk was crushed in the ice last winter. The Kit was unable to approach nearer than 120 miles to Wrangell Island and Kit was abandoned the attempt.
All information received here is that the ice in the Arctic this year is worse than ever known before, and for this reason the revenue cutter Bear is to take Capt. Robert Bartlett, master of the Karluk, to Wrangell Island to take off the refugees, has delayed sailing until more favorable conditions prevail.

WIVES SAVE MEN FROM DROWNING

Attempted to Swim to Sand-bar Second Time—Became Exhausted

KINGSTON, July 18.—Mr. and Mrs. John McGregor and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Redden had a thrilling experience while bathing at Duncan Lake two miles from Parham station. There is a bar about one hundred yards out from the shore. The women succeeded in reaching it safely as did also Mr. Redden. He later then swam into shore and he and McGregor started off together to join the ladies. When about half the distance had been covered McGregor suddenly gave up and called for help. Just at this time Redden who was some distance behind McGregor also became exhausted. Hearing their cries the two women swam to the rescue of the two men. Mrs. McGregor was the first to reach the scene and grabbing her husband she made an attempt to hold him up but both went under and came up again both struggling and trying to help each other. Mrs. Redden endeavored to help her husband and all four went down in a few seconds in spite of their efforts to keep afloat. Coming up again they again made a fight for their lives and succeeded in reaching the bar more dead than alive and they lay half unconscious for several minutes, when they recovered. It was a terrible experience for them.

After an hour's stay on the bar in which time they all had a good rest, Redden then started out to swim to shore, which he made without mishap, and secured a boat and came back and secured the other members of the party.

Mr. Huntington gave out the said information today that his five beautiful daughters, ranging from eighteen to twenty-six, will leave Sunday for an extended visit in New England.

They are leaving the farm on their own motion. The harvest hands are in a rage and the farmer is despair.

THE NEW HOUSEKEEPING

New and Efficient Devices for the Housewife

A Glass Rolling Pin. The rather clumsy wooden rolling pin, whose most marked weak point was its exceeding heaviness, has been replaced by a very light, all glass pin now in the market.

This pin is made entirely of very hard glass, the handles and the pin itself being one continuous surface. This makes it extremely cantary, easy to wash and still easier to roll and use. It is not possible to fill the pin itself with ice, but it can be thoroughly chilled by placing it in a refrigerator before using, and from various tests has been found to be exceedingly satisfactory and substantial.

Long-Handled Trap Dust Pan. Many housekeepers do use and still others might avail themselves of the exceedingly good, long-handled, closed dust-pan, which can be purchased in several places. It is made of substantial tin with a thin wire handle, and has a trap over the opening, so that when it is picked up the floor it closes of itself. It can then be hung over the arm and carried down stairs without danger of upsetting the contents. In attractive gunmetal shade it costs fifty cents.

Still Another Egg Beater. Someone has said that there is an egg-beater born every minute, and it does seem as if this necessary kitchen tool will never cease appearing in newer and more ingenious forms. One of the latest is a combined egg beater and cream whip, fitted into a glass bowl which prevents the splashing of the cream or mixture, as is generally done when an open mixing bowl is used. The beater also remains more steady, which is another advantage, and the glass container makes the device extremely easy to clean.

A Final Note or Two on Insecticides.

All gardeners know that these coming hot months are filled with many dangers to plants.

Principal among these dangers is the plague of pests of many kinds that sweep across of splendid plants, shrubs and trees.

At no other time of the year, perhaps, than these next few weeks of dry, stifling heat, will vermin multiply so rapidly. With this multiplication we are at present deeply concerned, because it freshens a terrible swarm of troubles for the coming year.

Every bug destroyed now, every caterpillar put out of existence today, means the prevention of countless pests next season.

Nothing but eternal vigilance will avail the gardener who has discovered lately that vermin have obtained and are determined to maintain a headway among his vegetables, plants and shrubs. Eternal vigilance, constant spraying with those whose possible, and a judicious use of insecticides and fungicides.

And a note of cheer: Remember nothing is ever so bad but it may become much worse if no attempts at remedying the evil be tried. It is a mistake to take the attitude that too many insects, although themselves to be taken, namely, that "perhaps next year there will be no bugs." Next year there will be bugs, and there will be plenty of bugs unless you look after them at once.

Besides, next year will bring its own troubles. A new kind of bug may come swarming across the distant horizon to bustle about your garden. Arsenate of lead, a poison rapidly taking the place of Paris green. Its great advantage is that it adheres to the foliage, and it is not washed away to be repeated, since the rain does not readily wash it off. It also remains in suspension in solution, so that it is usual for him, but he really suffers little discomfort. The sticky baby is the one for whom the hot weather is dreaded and whom we try to help to the utmost.

ALMOST READY FOR COMMERCIAL BOATS

NEW YORK, July 18.—According to Frederick Alcock, general manager of the Pacific Steam Navigation Co., the Panama Canal will be ready for commercial traffic on or before July 31. Mr. Alcock, who has just returned from Colon, said that Gov. Goethals would most likely inform Washington of this possibility within a few days.

From what the government "told me," remarked Mr. Alcock, "I think he will soon inform the government that the big waterway will be ready for big ships before the end of this month."

RHEA ROBINSON AT THE ALEXANDRA

THE GASCH SISTERS AT LOEW'S WINTER GARDEN ROOF

"MARY JANE'S PA"
Commencing tonight, Toronto playgoers will have the opportunity again seeing New York's wonderful child actress, Rhea Robinson, in the role of Mary Jane in that delightful comedy-drama, "Mary Jane's Pa," which The Bonstelle Players will present all this week at the Alexandra Theatre. Those who witnessed the superior performance of this charming week's production by nearly eight hundred of the Bonstelle theatregoers, "Mary Jane's Pa" is the story told in a quaint and charming way of the bitter struggles of a deserted wife for existence in the narrow confines of a small town. The play is filled with sentiment and humor and the climax of the second act in the printing office is one of the most exciting scenes ever presented on the stage. Miss Proctor, who has been seen as Portia Perkins; Mr. Robinson, as the wandering husband, Hiram; Alice Donovan as the gossiping milliner; Jane Wheatley, the village belle; Cyril Raymond, the village beau; Robert Himmans, the grafting politician; Beverly West; Lucille Perkins, the eldest daughter; and Robert Ames as Barrett Sheridan, a young actor who whom she is in love. All the other members of the company will have parts specially fitted to their personalities.

"MARRYING MARY"
This evening Percy Haswell will offer at the Princess Theatre, "Marrying Mary," the sparkling musical play in which Marie Cahill starred for several seasons. In again presenting herself in a singing role, Miss Haswell believes that a piece with such brightness and life in it as "Marrying Mary" will appeal to her clientele. A large chorus has been engaged and is being trained under Alfred Smith and Ralph Nicholls, formerly with the Aborn Opera Co. Miss Haswell will appear in the title role and will be heard in several of the vivacious songs with which the piece is plentifully interspersed. The score is the work of Silvio Hain, who wrote "The Rose Maid."

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"
For the first time in several years "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Harriet Beecher Stowe's intensely interesting story of the southern states before the Civil War, dramatized by Harkins and Barbour, will be presented in Toronto at Shea's to-night. A few months before the publication of the book there was considerable agitation regarding the

GENTRY SHOW MET BY JUVENILE ARMY

Circus Employees Observed Sunday by Doing Only Necessary Work.

An army of the younger generation was on hand yesterday morning to welcome Gentry Brothers' trained animal shows to Toronto. The shows arrived at ten o'clock, and before noon the cars were being unloaded at Queen street and the Grand Trunk tracks. As fast as the cages were unloaded they were hurried to Queen street east and Greenwood avenue, where the show manager is the manager to let them see the animals. The restraining chains were dropped, and until nearly dark thousands swarmed thru the tents, feeding the elephants and admiring the herds of ponies and cages of monkeys.

HANLAN'S POINT

Professor Powell and his famous 65th Regimental Band of Buffalo, now holding forth at Hanlan's, is an organization well worth hearing. Mr. Powell has been catering so long to the public musical wants that he may be justly called a scientist, his programs are splendidly made up and he never fails to introduce some novel selection during his concert that literally takes by storm his audience. His soloists are all splendid musicians. These coming Wednesday and Friday nights there will be repeated the grand fire fireworks displays with more elaborate programs than were shown last week, and that is some promise, for the last two exhibitions were very excellent.

SENSATIONS FOR SCARBORO

Millard Bros., whirlwind cycle comedians, have been engaged for a week at Scarborough Beach Park, and will give two performances daily, beginning on Monday afternoon. Adair and Adair, the comedy bar acrobats, are giving a very good show at the Beach this week, and the concert of D'Urban's Band increases in popularity. In fact in this hot weather the Beach hardly needs any other attractions than the cool breezes from Lake Ontario that makes it one of the most delightful spots within many miles of Toronto. There will be two concerts today, and two special programs will be rendered tomorrow.

THE HIPPODROME

The headline act at the Hippodrome this week is "The Big Surprise," a miniature musical comedy in which a number of the latest song successes, modern dances and even a musical comedy plot will be introduced. It is very rarely that an attempt is made to combine the best of the latest song successes, modern dances and even a musical comedy plot will be introduced. Secrets of Health

Why Our Eyes Very Often Deceive Us

By Dr. L. K. HIRSHBERG

YOU must wink and blink hard to shut your eyes from germs and dust. The eyes are more than homes of silent prayer. They are too easily the abiding places of dirt and microbes.

It may look foolish to wear goggles and DR. HIRSHBERG shields to protect the eyes from flying grains and to safeguard vision from the glare and shimmer of the sun, but it is the least of many possible evils. It was a wise man, the doctor who first suggested wind-shields for motor cars, dark-lensed spectacles for mountaineers, dark-lensed goggles for the rain-climbing, smogged glasses for the chandeliers for the home.

Sight and Memory.

A child's eyes are more sensitive to light on the very first day it is born than the Venus fly-trap is to a fly. The eyes of the new born baby must be protected from both sun and artificial light.

This same rule, followed more in the breach than in the observance, should be looked to more deliberately in later years. True enough, some attention is given to this matter as regards the proper position of desks, chairs and school furniture, but it is decidedly more necessary to defend the eyesight and the light must never strike the eye fairly and squarely on the pupil, neither should the light nor visible light should do so. The flicker and motion of the bright rays received upon the retina, while driving rapidly in an auto, motor boat, aeroplane or upon a race horse jeopardizes the sight.

Goggles and masks are not the Little Old Men of the Sea that many feminine friends would have you believe. They really they are the health wardens of your most useful sense.

The sensation of sight is, perhaps, the most delicate of all the senses. It is subject to as many vicissitudes as any of the others, yet it needs more protection.

Psychologists are universally convinced that there is no such thing, after the first hours of birth, as a pure sensation. That is to say, the eyes and the other senses never see strictly singly, and without memories, anything they light upon. After the first days of life, eyes have many memories which become associated and fused with vision. Thus what was a sensation becomes a perception.

Honest Witnesses. You can prove this to your own satisfaction from the well known fact that you really see things before they happen. If you see a globular fish of yellow thrown into the air, you say: "I see an orange."

You are certain it was an orange. Perhaps it was in most cases it would be. Once in a while it would not be yet you would swear on the witness stand, that it was an orange. This is why most honest eye witnesses do not, under oath, tell the truth.

You perceive an orange. That is to say, your past memories immediately shot an "orange" into your thoughts, almost before you saw the flash of round yellow. You did not see the orange; you perceived it—an entirely different thing.

Children see things more accurately and distinctly, because their eyesight has not been dulled by repetitions and mixed memories. As each year passes they become farther and farther removed from all sensations. Your perceptions become more and more complex. Therefore, to save to your eyes all the delicate sensitiveness that you can retain, safeguard your eyes with strict care.

Answers to Health Questions. L. M.—You suggested for me to take all kinds of exercise and also cold baths to benefit nerves. Now, when is the best time to take them, as nervous system is in bad shape?

Take a cold bath in the morning and a shower bath in the afternoon. Play tennis in the morning, nap in the early afternoon, and row, canoe, swim and play ball or dance in the late afternoon.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, care this office.

Not Large. Maude—Fred seems to be wandering in his mind. Betty—Then he can't stray very far.

YES, it is a game that two can play at, and it really is a wonderful game when the two are both feminine. The chess board is the field of summer life. The pawns—well, there is a long list of elements in this game. You would know the pieces by sight very well—and, of course, these are MEN. The game is to have things placed so that you can JUMP to where you want to go—so that you can get what you want in spite of any possible obstacle from an opponent. This sometimes includes the cruelty of taking her man. But it is all part of the game. You can't play it, of course, unless you are prepared to have her take YOUR man if she can do it. Some players show simply WONDERFUL skill—and sometimes (this is really very sad) the players don't like each other very well afterward.

Peter's Adventures In Matrimony

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 126. Where Mary's Money Went.

WITH the new year I put my new rules into rigid execution. I paid every household bill by check. I went over bills. I tried to show Mary where she was an extravagant buyer, and we were getting along fairly well. And then came the end of the month. I paid the lighting bills and the rent—paid the grocer and butcher and milkman, and Mary expressed herself as very glad to be rid of all the worry.

"Oh, Peter, before you make out the checks for the house bills, make out a check for mother for $20, will you? She insisted upon lending it to me, and if anything has to suffer it simply mustn't be her. Charity begins at home."

I was too flabbergasted to speak. "Of course," Mary was saying brightly, "or realized that last month was a very poor month for us with Christmas in it and all that sort of thing, and, of course, we only had $1 or $2 dollars left. This will remove all odor, whatever it is, in a few seconds."

Sprinkle dry flour over any japed trays that are beginning to look shabby. Leave for an hour or so, then rub off the flour, and wash with a soft duster. If flour, and wash with a soft duster. If flour, and wash with a soft duster.

Culinary Masterpieces

Four Dishes by the Famous M. Sauvigne

Chief of Hotel St. Denis, New York.

If you have a liking for delicate dishes in cold weather, your hot weather menu must be especially delicate. Even at its best, appetite is a vagrant blessing, blown away by the slightest breeze.

To tempt, to delight, to nourish—these are the three requirements of the summer menu. The recipes I here offer you are favorite warm weather dishes of mine, which, as delicious viands go, are to be prepared with comparative ease.

Breasts of Chicken Merry Widow. TAKE breasts of tender chickens, season with salt, white pepper and paprika, then fry them slowly in butter for 15 minutes. Add as many good-sized heads of fresh mushrooms as there are breasts, and let cook five minutes longer. Have also as many cooked crawfish, also a slice of Virginia ham and a heart-shaped piece of toast for each breast.

Then put a slice of ham on each toast, pour a spoonful of Bearnaise sauce over it, and place the breast of chicken on top. Put a spoonful of asparagus tips and also one of minced sweet red peppers, heated in butter on each side of the breast, and stand one crawfish against it. Finally place a mushroom on the crawfish head. Serve hot.

Filet of Beef Funston. CUT slices of well-trimmed beef tenderloin, weighing two ounces each. Sauté them in butter over a brisk fire. Have some artichoke bottoms of the size of the slices of filet, heat them in butter and place a filet on each, also a slice of marrow on the filet and pour a spoonful of Bordelaise sauce with minced green peppers in it over each.

Garnish around with clusters of small lima beans and corn mixed, and fried Parisienne potatoes. Serve very hot.

Mussels Marinere. SCRAPLE and clean two quarts of mussels, wash them in several waters, then put them in a saucepan with half-pint of Rhine wine, two chopped shallots, four medium fresh mushrooms, a little parsley and a pinch of freshly ground black pepper, two ounces of butter and salt to taste. Set on fire and let boil until they are all open.

Remove half of the shell, and dress them in a casserole or chafin dish, reduce the liquor to one-half and thicken with a little white sauce, stir two more ounces of fresh butter in sauce and pour over the mussels on their half-shells. Serve hot.

Crab Flakes a la Dewey. FOR half a pound of crab flakes, slice four or six mushrooms and a large green pepper, cook the slowly in cream, then add the crab flakes, a gill of white wine and sherry and enough cream to cover the crab flakes. Let simmer for five minutes without stirring, then add the belly part of a dozen steamed soft clams, bind the sauce with three raw egg yolks diluted in cream and two weighing of fresh butter; season to taste and serve with fresh hot toast on the side.

Exercise for Beauty

Useless if Not Enjoyed

By LUCREZIA BORI

Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

Special arrangements have been made with Senorita Lucrezia Bori, the famous prima donna soprano, who has created a wonderful impression in Europe and New York on account of her remarkable beauty and artistic attainment, to write for this paper a series of articles on beauty. There is probably no authority her equal in giving the newest and most approved methods of attaining and preserving the divine right of woman.

CELEBRATED before you and I were on earth. "Health is the vital principle of bliss. And exercise of health."

If you haven't health you can't expect to have beauty. And I can't figure out any way to have health without taking exercise.

There is a concerted defiance to age abroad in the land today. One of the most successful ways to make the years stand still is to keep the body elastic, the mind active, and the spirit cheerful. And how can the body be elastic unless it has exercised? You know what happens to a horse if he is allowed to stand in the stable with no chance to exercise. He may be the finest race horse in the world when he is put in the stall, but if he stands still long enough he'll be a stiffened old nag when he comes out.

Dancing is doing a lot to keep old age away from women who have begun to see its face over their shoulder, and feel the tweak of its approach in their stiffened knees.

Any woman can get some exercise, no matter what her life, unless she is a hopeless invalid or crippled. She can bend and twist her body and take deep breaths, even if she lives in a hall bedroom. She can walk at least some distance each day, even if she has to sit in a close factory room, in a shop or bent over her sewing.

The housekeeper is the one who usually errs most in lack of the right kind of exercise. She gets plenty of one kind, but her life is a good deal like that of a horse in a stable. She should try to get out and take a walk each evening, if she has no time before. As a rule, the housekeeper is the wife and mother. It is important that she has her health and keeps old age at bay. She is an important factor in the life and well being of the community. Others are dependent on her.

If you can't walk, run, standing still, just clench your fists and hold your elbows at your sides and run with all your strength, right in one place. It will put you out of breath and set you in a dripping perspiration, but it will give you splendid exercise—more of it in five minutes than you have probably had in a month.

Skipping rope is another small space exercise that will set your blood in circulation and keep the age germs out of your system. And when you are exercising make your mind help your body. Don't walk with your face clouded, your lips compressed and an "I'll-do-it-or-die" expression. Instead, think how beautiful the world is, and how much good there is about you, and how you are enjoying the chance of being able to walk abroad, well and free and happy.

I heard a woman say to a little chap selling papers: "It is a hard life, isn't it, when the weather is cold and stormy?" Never a morning has passed but a fresh frost tribute has been laid on it, and more than 100 days have passed since May, 1908.

A pit pony named Baldy has just been drawn to the surface of an old English mine to end his days in comfort after 27 years' work underground. The pony, which is 21 years of age, is blind owing to its long confinement, but its general condition is wonderfully good.

It has been discovered, according to the reading of an old will, that to dispense one of the London charities according to the exact terms of the bequest it would be necessary to throw to the poor from Paddington Church steeple $5000 worth of bread and cheese.

A thrush has built its nest, laid three eggs, and, in the natural course of things, will, if undisturbed, rear its young on a scaffold-pole at the second-story school for girls which is being erected in Northampton, England. The building has been built at the junction of two poles. There are between 50 and 60 men working on the building, and the bird takes not the slightest notice of them.

The New South Wales government has decided to supplement its enterprises by the creation of a state bakery in Sydney. The government will acquire a bakery and bake bread for its own institutions. It is expected that the government will be able to deliver bread to the public institutions at 1 penny per pound. It is not intended to supply the general public from the government bakery.

Advice to Girls Should You Marry a Man Who Drinks?

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie: I am desperately in love with the dearest boy in the world, but my father and mother do not want me to marry him. All they have against him is that he drinks.

He doesn't get intoxicated intentionally. He cannot seem to help it. One little drink will start him off. He tells me that if I marry him I can reform him. I know I can, we can each other so dearly. But mother says I can't. What shall I do?

So the only reason your father and mother have against the man you love is that he drinks, is it? Dear me—is that all? Why, you wouldn't let a little thing like that keep you from marrying him, would you?

Not if you are a real heroine in a real romance—not if you love him madly, passionately, blindly, like the girl in the stories. The very ideal! What's a drink or two compared to the volcanic emotions of your maidenly heart?

Why, you think it makes him alluring, don't you? You love to look at him, and think that he is wicked and desperately daring—such a daring, romantic sinner—some one to help—some one to "reform."

And he's told you all about it, has he? Ah, yes—how interesting. He's told you, too, that you are the whitely wily of his life, the one pale star of purity shining into the dark of his existence. You can save him—you, and you alone. He clings to you as a drowning man clings to a straw—and with about as much common sense, too, let me tell you. An Object Lesson.

You live in a little town, you say. Look around you and see what is happening there. That's real life, you know—it isn't in a book or in a play or in a song—it's real. As real as the cold that bites in winter and the heat that stifles in summer.

What's that little family down there by the tracks? You never go down that way and don't know anything about them. Well, go for this once. You need to know them—just a little.

The woman down there—can you believe that just a few years ago she was the prettiest girl in her own village—yes, and the gayest and the lightest of heart? Look at her now; you can scarcely think that she ever smiled in all her life. What wretched clothes she wears, and the two babies she tries to make look respectable—how how patched and faded their little clothes are.

That's her husband you met slouching out of the gate—good looking chap, wasn't he, fine manners, too? She was dead in love with him when she married him—just as you are dead in love with your sweet-heart now—and he was dead in love with her, too. He told her that if she'd marry him he'd never drink another drop—and if she didn't marry him he'd go straight to the devil. Reform? Perhaps.

He did try to "reform," poor chap; he tried hard, and she tried to help him. But it was no use, he might as well have tried to reform from the typhoid fever. It was in his blood—the disease of drink—and now he lets the woman he loved so madly go hungry and, sometimes when he has been drinking, he is unkind to his own little children and the woman is ashamed to go back home and so she stays there with him, a martyr to her own folly and her own stubborn self-will.

Oh, yes, there are men who "reform," thousands of them—yes, thousands upon thousands, thank the good Giver of all Good—but, little girl, wait till your own particular man has "reformed" before you marry him.

If you can't stop your sweet-heart from drinking before you're married to him, you'll never in the world be able to stop him afterward. Listen to your mother and father—put the man on probation—and see. That's the best way, little girl—that's the only way. Take it if you want a fighting chance for happiness.

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 20.

CANADA'S SUB-ARCTIC NORTH-WEST.

When Dr. F. B. Vrooman of British Columbia read his paper at a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute on the economic effect of the Panama Canal on western Canada his forecasts evoked widespread attention and much comment. From the full report published in the July number of United Empire, the official journal of the institute, his paper contained, however, much more than was concerned with transportation. Of special interest to Canadians were his remarks on the agricultural possibilities of the triangle composed of the southern and western boundary lines and a line drawn from the southwestern corner of Manitoba. Within these three lines lie, he said, almost all the agricultural lands of Canada west—eastly over twice as much as Canada east—and goodly portions of it still awaiting the plow. If we take, he continued, a fairly careful look at the map of Canada with reference to its areas and lines of equal temperature we are likely to be shaken out of some conventional notions respecting the economic resources of the Dominion.

These lines in the western half of Canada run almost northwest and latitude bears no direct relation to summer temperatures, for it is the summer climate and not the winter climate which determines the matter of vegetable growth. Differing in this from the eastern, the western shores are washed by warm currents, and a still more important factor is the prevailing westerly Pacific or chinook winds. Together with the descending slope of the prairie land towards the Arctic Ocean, these influences and the long days of the summer solstice greatly modify the rigors of pure latitude. "The actual results are startling," Spring flowers and the buds of deciduous trees appear as early north of Great Slave Lake as at Winnipeg, Minneapolis or Ottawa, and earlier along the Peace and Liard Rivers and some of the minor affluents of the Mackenzie. The Peace River opens two weeks earlier and closes two weeks later than the Ottawa River at Ottawa. This seems to indicate that the Peace River country has a summer well towards a month longer than that of the St. Lawrence; and it is certain that already it has a better climate than the Saskatchewan country had before it was settled.

Cultivation, Dr. Vrooman says, will be a further influence in modifying the rigors and dangers of the climate in this region, and in part this has already been accomplished. A generation ago in Manitoba the farmer lived on the narrowest possible margin of safety from summer frosts. But when the prairie came to be broken up there was a black surface to absorb the heat and a powdered soil instead of a toughened soil. This powdered soil became a heat storage warehouse, and this heat was radiated into the cool night air, which was kept generally at a temperature above the frost line. "The consequences of this simple but important fact are a change in the climate of the whole Saskatchewan country, and the frost line has been pushed northward steadily at the rate of the average width of about a township a year." Wheat 62 pounds to the bushel and 40 to 50 bushels to the acre is harvested at Lake Athabasca in from 86 to 90 days after sowing, as compared with 128 days at the government farms at Indian Head, Saskatchewan. These statements certainly compel a revision of conventional notions respecting the conditions and potentialities of the sub-Arctic north-west of Canada.

ELECTRIC POWER IN RURAL GERMANY.

In a recent communication from the Economic and Social Science Bureau of the International Institute of Agriculture, an interesting reference is made to the increasing use of electric power in the country districts of Germany. This is described as one of the most striking facts in the rural organization of that country at the present day, and the demand for electric power is attributed mainly to the inadequate supply of agricultural labor. Germany, in this respect, parallels the case of Ontario, and year after year some 400,000 persons are brought in from beyond the limits of the empire to meet the dearth of farm laborers. Another reason, however, presented for the popularity of electric power is the simplicity of its use.

According to statistics published by the Federation of German Electrical Engineers, there were on April 1, 1911, no less than 2700 electric power stations, including distributing points, which were supplying power to 11,000 localities. Since these figures were obtained, the employment of electric power has further increased and there is a marked tendency to construct large co-operative central stations, supplying power to specially constituted co-operative distributing societies. These systems are more numerous where the population is densest and industrially most advanced. But even in purely agricultural districts very considerable progress has been made in the supply of power to rural districts.

According to Dr. Grabelin, who has an excellent article on the subject in the Institute Monthly Bulletin for March last, the co-operative association is admirably adapted for the distribution of electric power. Many of these societies exist, also it is thought that greater convenience would result were the rural communes to undertake the work themselves. This, however, has not been found possible meantime and the co-operative plan is likely to extend. In order to assist the agriculturists who so combine, the societies whose object it is to protect the interests of agriculture have established electro-technical consulting offices for the purpose of examining proposed schemes and supervising their execution. In this way many districts of Germany have worked out schemes approximating those the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission has in operation in Ontario.

BRaille BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

We desire to call attention to the letter elsewhere from Mr. C. Arthur Pearson, treasurer of the National Institute for the Blind in England. A movement has recently been started for the purpose of cheapening the Braille books, which are the only means by which blind people can reach the stores of literature. Mr. Pearson himself was threatened with the total loss of his sight and was thus brought into contact with the need. He set about extending the number of books available in the Braille type, which the blind can read by touch. When it is known that a book like "Ivanhoe" costs $225 for the necessary plates and about $5 a copy to produce afterwards, it will be seen that something is needed to make cheap literature for the blind possible. The British Weekly has raised over $10,000 for this great purpose, and several other agencies are helping nobly in the work. Mr. Pearson intimates that the building in which the Braille books are to be produced has been provided for, and what is now required is an endowment which will go towards reducing the cost to blind readers of these books. We commend the cause to our readers everywhere.

CARRANZA'S OPPORTUNITY.

That the constitutionalist leaders should hesitate to give assurance that their occupation of the capital will be followed by a general amnesty and by respect for the lives and property of foreigners and of the clergy and members of the Catholic Church, is an unpleasant reminder that the Mexicans have not reached the standard of more advanced nations. Possibly Carranza, who is reported to be among the more scholarly of his people, would, if left to himself, be prepared to meet President Wilson's recommendation. But among his advisers are those whose instinctive purpose would be the elimination of such prominent members of Huerta's party as might hereafter make trouble for the new government. General Villa, too, has frequently expressed his determination to avenge the death of Madero on the persons of the men concerned with the death of Madero.

Nevertheless, even if humanitarian arguments fail to influence the constitutionalists, they may be more amenable to considerations of self-interest. Their success has been due in large part to the action of President Wilson. His policy it was which made a continuation of Huerta's rule impossible, and his attitude will have much to do with the restoration and maintenance of peace and order and the stability of Carranza's administration. For Mexico is only at the beginning of a real constitutional development that will fit the masses for self-government and result in the prosperity which Mexico's natural resources cannot but ensure. Carranza has a magnificent opportunity if he can rise to it and will make the good of his country his one and only aim.

BRaille BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

Editor World: I have just received a contribution to the fund which we are raising with a view to cheapening and amplifying the supply of Braille literature for blind readers thruout the British Empire, and it was accompanied by an intimation to the effect that it was to be especially applied to this purpose and not to the building of our new institute.

Obviously books, whether in Braille or ordinary print, cannot be produced unless there is a building in which to produce them, but I am glad to say that the question of the completion and equipping of this building was definitely settled some weeks ago, and I am now working to secure the largest possible endowment fund, which will go towards reducing the present excessive cost of Braille books.

How excessive this cost is may be judged from one example, namely that a book of the length of "Ivanhoe" required an expenditure of £45 upon plates from which to print it, and then costs 18s 6d per copy to produce.

It seems, however, quite probable that before long we shall be able to produce books of every sort and kind at prices comparing favorably with those of books which persons in possession of their sight enjoy.

I am sending you this letter in the hope that your publication of it may correct any misapprehension which may exist in the minds of your readers as to the use to which contributions from them will be put.

When I talk of our producing books for the British Empire I should like to add in justification that we at present produce more than five times as many Braille books as all the similar institutions in the British Empire put together, and as our output will shortly be largely increased we claim to be the almost sole source of the supply of these books.

EXHIBITION TICKETS.

Editor World: To help things at home these dull times one of my children has been trying to make a little money selling Exhibition tickets for a dollar, but what I want to draw your attention is a fact known to many, viz., the great number of people who get into our Exhibition on passes. To-day I never buy tickets for the Ex. I get in without a ticket. One was a woman who runs a well boarding house, one was a grocer, and the other two employes in one of our civic departments. In fact, six people in this particular all gave the same excuse. Another matter that should be looked into re the Ex., is the number of prominent (?) citizens who dine up there at the expense of the Exhibition. Two years ago I kept tab on one man, and he was at our table (I mean ours) because we help pay for it every day of the Exhibition as a "guest of the directors." Look the list over this year and see how far I am astray.

Thousands of dollars are thrown away every year in passes and grub to people who are anything but prominent. That pass business should be looked into, why not publish a list of all holders of passes and the reason why? Also, a list of the diners. O graft, where is thy sting? Why, in our taxes, of course.

AN IMPORTANT BOOK.

"Political Reminiscences of Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., Transcribed by W. A. Harkin," is the attractive title of a book now in the press and shortly to be published by the well known house of Constable, London. The work consists of the written report of a series of interviews granted by Sir Charles to the late Mr. Harkin at Vancouver, B.C., during the residence of Sir Charles in that western city, 1912-13. As a newspaper editor, Mr. Harkin had frequently reported Sir Charles Tupper's speeches in the house of commons at Ottawa, and heintended to connect with his brother-in-law, when his death occurred in September of last year, his fellow craftsman Bernard McEvoy and A. E. Greenwood, acting in the capacity of literary executors, undertook, in accordance with his wishes, the carrying out of his unfinished task.

The value of such a record will be recognized by all students of Canadian history, throwing light as it does not only on confederation, but on the beginnings of railway enterprise in the Dominion, and the inception of the National Policy. It also includes interesting side lights on the public men and matters connected with Sir Charles Tupper's long political life.

The price of the book will be $2.00 net.

Wonderful Work by Leaf Pitchers in Double-Header Toronto Blank Bisons in Both Ends of Saturday's Double-Header at the Stadium—Unusual Decision by Umpire Nallin.

THE BEAVERS WIN AND LOSE AT ERIE Canadian Leaguers Split Up Saturday's Double Bill—Trout Receives Injury.

Toronto's blank Bisons in both ends of Saturday's double-header at the stadium. Unusual decision by umpire Nallin.

Surprises are known to be an inherent feature of baseball and consequently many strange occurrences in the game are taken as a matter of course.

But overhauling even the result was the wonderfully excellent work of Leaf pitchers, Johnson and Herbert. Taking the two games together it can safely be said that never has such good pitching been seen before in Toronto.

Verbot started to pitch for Buffalo, but was soon in trouble. With two outs in the first inning he was struck out by Fisher's rap. The latter also stole and scored when Verbot dropped the ball.

Only 24 men faced Herbert in the seven innings of the second game, and not a man got past first. McConnell, hitting for Brandon, got the first hit in the sixth with one down, and Jackson got into right field in the seventh.

CHICAGO, July 17.—An increase of 4 per cent. was made in the movement of freight from Chicago territory eastward last week.

It was a decided change from the slow business experienced for months, and gladly welcomed by traffic officials. Western-bound business was better, and there was a small gain made in shipments to the south and southeast.

Grain shipments from Chicago last week increased 222,000 bushels over the previous week. Flour increased 18,000 barrels, and provisions 694 tons. The latter, however, were 5554 tons less than last year, while grain decreased 507,000 bushels, and flour 2000 barrels.

BIG ORDER FOR STEEL SECURED

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., July 18.—The Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company has secured an order for 12,000 tons of steel in connection with the new Halifax terminals. The steel will not be required for some time, however, so that the order is not an immediate factor in regard to earnings. The company has also secured a good order from the Canadian Northern for spikes, bolts and angles. It is understood that the Halifax terminals order was split between Nova Scotia Steel and Dominion Steel Corporation.

Canadian Pacific earnings second week of July show a decrease of $311,000.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The advance rate decision by the interstate commerce commission in the case of the eastern railroads is not in slight doubt. Indications are that it will come Monday.

WHOLESALE RATES FOR CHERRIES LOW

Striking Discrepancy Reported Between Wholesale and Retail Figures.

CURRENTS SOLD CHEAP

Tomatoes Dropped About Fifteen Cents a Basket—Gooseberries Unsalable.

Cherries, that is the sour variety, were again plentiful on the market Saturday, the price remaining low at from 25c to 40c per 11-quart basket; just here one enquires why one does not see more of this fruit at the grocers, when it can be obtained at such low prices. Red and black currants were both sent on the market in large shipments, and the price of both was very low for this time of the year. There was not any demand for the red ones, consequently they sold at from 20c to 60c per basket, while the large quantity of the black ones and the lack of ready money forced the price of these down to from 90c to $1.25 per 11-quart baskets of choice fruit.

Why is it that the consumers cannot obtain the above produce more readily and at reasonable prices, making due allowance for a certain percentage of waste and profit, especially when the retailers can buy them at such low figures? This question is being asked by the public that reads the market news.

GRAIN GROWERS TO BUILD ELEVATORS

Will Not Renew Leases With Government Which Recently Expired.

It is stated, thru the secretary of the Grain Growers' Grain Co. that they will not renew the leases that have recently expired for the government elevators. The policy of the company will be to build and own their own elevators. It has now eight in the various parts of the western provinces, and will erect ten more, each with a capacity of 30,000 bushels, in time for this year's crop.

Plans for the future call for elevators belonging to the association in every important place in Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and eastern British Columbia. The erection of these additional elevators is still in the future, but will be carried into effect as soon as possible.

operative buying has exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic. Last year the price of binder twine was 12 cents a pound, but this year it is three cents a pound lower, and the grain growers have sold over 2,000,000 pounds to the farmers. This year the association has disposed of between 40 and 50 carloads of lumber, and the price has been about $10 per 1000 feet less than last year. Wire has also been bought to the amount of $30,000.

BLEEDING POULTRY BY MOUTH BEST AND CLEANEST WAY TO KILL

Alberta Department of Agriculture Explains the Correct Way—Many Methods Used Are Old-Fashioned and Must Be Set Aside for the New, Which Leaves No Blood About, While the Flesh Becomes White.

(Taken from Poultry Bulletin 2, issued by Alberta Department of Agriculture.) The methods of killing poultry are many and varied. The old one of "chopping the heads off" is perhaps the most ancient and the one in most common use at the present day. Wringing the neck, stretching the neck and piercing the neck are others that are in common vogue, but all these must be set aside and give place to the cleaner, faster and more scientific method of bleeding in the mouth. Details as to the composition, besides the blood is liable to be scattered on the operator and stretching the neck allows the blood to accumulate in the neck where it is likely to decompose and cause the flesh to spoil sooner than it otherwise would. Bleeding the bird in the mouth removes all the blood from the body while at the same time it leaves no unsightly wound and gives no chance for spreading blood on the operator. Wringing the neck, when performed properly all the blood is drained from the body, leaving the flesh of a white color. If the blood is not properly done the outside of the bird will turn red or show blood spots.

The birds should be fasted for 24 hours before killing. This prevents food remaining in the crop and intestines, which would decompose and spoil the flavor of the meat. Several hours before the water they can drink. They should then have a complete fast until they are killed.

To bleed, place the left arm over the head, grasp the bird by the neck near the head, with the thumb on the throat. By a gentle pressure of the thumb, force the mouth open exposing the arteries. With the right hand insert the knife so as to sever first one of the arteries, then the other. Next pierce the brain by passing the knife thru the roof of the mouth towards the top of the head and give a sharp cut. Both arteries must be severed in order to ensure complete bleeding, and complete bleeding from turning red.

It is very often happens that for some reason a walk is neglected for some short time and a good crop of weeds is found disfiguring the pasture. It is found difficult to get rid of except by chemical treatment. It is impossible to spud the weeds out as the walk would be too much cut up. The most satisfactory remedies to be used are salt and oil. Both these substances will kill all the vegetation with which they come in contact if applied in sufficient quantities. Fuel oil, where it can be obtained cheaply, will be found to be highly satisfactory and should be applied at the rate of about 150 gallons per acre. On a tennis court or other small area kerosene will serve the purpose, and is particularly effective on grasses and other narrow-leaved plants. When using oil it is best to apply in small quantities a number of times. One heavy application may kill the roots as well as the tops, but if a number of lighter applications are made the roots will be gradually starved out. The oil may be applied with a sprayer, but if only a small area is to be treated a watering can may be used.

To catch the blood and save the annoyance of its being scattered about, attach a small tin can to the neck of the bird, or a small lard pail to the mouth. To do this stretch a wire tightly across the neck of the bird, and insert a tin can or a two-inch wire hook which is attached into the mouth of the bird, allowing the pail to be thus suspended above the head.

Another substance that may be used instead of soda is arsenic. Arsenic of about 25 cents a pound, arsenite of soda is very poisonous if taken internally and is not very safe to use if there is any chance of stock or chickens running over the sprayer. Large areas are to be treated, it can be made very cheaply by boiling one pound of white arsenic and two pounds of soda in a gallon of water, to form a stock solution. Fourteen pounds of white arsenic made into the above solution will be sufficient to treat an acre of land. Great care should be taken in handling and mixing these substances not to get them on the hands or near the face, as this might result in their being taken internally.

ORGANIZATION TO PROMOTE COW TESTS

Dairy Record Centre Will Be in Charge of Several Experts.

Dairy Record Centre is the name given to the latest organization to promote cow testing. Each centre is in charge of an expert who is employed by the year and devotes his whole time to the work. The recorder is required to provide himself with a means of conveyance and he is expected to spend all his time visiting those farmers in the district who are keeping records, and others who may be interested in the work. He must see that the samples are regularly tested every month, and it is his business to make enquiries when any member fails to send in samples for testing on the regular date. Once a year a complete census of all the herds is taken, giving the quantity of milk produced, the methods and cost of feeding and particulars of the breeding, etc., of the different cows in the herd. The continual contact of this expert with the farmers in the district has a stimulating effect in more ways than one, and if he is the right man for the position immediate results are noticeable.

STATES GIVE AID FOR RURAL EXTENSION

Smith-Lever Bill Corresponds With Agricultural Act of Canada.

The Smith-Lever bill, which has been before the United States Government since early in 1911, was on May 8 approved by the president. This measure in many ways corresponds with the Agricultural Instruction Act of Canada, now operative in several provinces.

The Smith-Lever bill provides for the granting of federal funds to the land grant state agricultural colleges to aid in diffusing among the people useful and practical information on subjects relating to agriculture and home economics and to encourage the application of same.

According to the act each state must duplicate the amount of $10,000 of year appropriated to it by the federal government. The governor of each state is required to designate the agricultural colleges or colleges to which the federal funds are to be paid. Each college so designated shall receive as a basic fund from the federal government a grant of $10,000 annually without an additional appropriation from the state. The act also makes provision for additional appropriations which the rural population of each state bears to the total rural population of all states, as determined by the next preceding census. To share these additional amounts the states must duplicate the extra amount granted by the federal government for the maintenance of the agricultural extension work provided for in the act.

There were 23 dairy record centres in operation in 1913, and the number has increased to 35 for the year 1914. The Cow Testing Association and smaller groups of farmers who keep records and who send their samples to some convenient cheese factory or creamery to be tested. The department pays the person who does the testing at the rate of five cents per test, and furnishes all the blank forms, the necessary acid for making the tests and the tablets for preserving the composite samples. There are many localities where a few farmers are prepared to keep records and this plan affords them an opportunity of doing so at very little cost.

Probably the most important trend of this cow-testing movement at the present time is to be found in the greatly increased number of individual farmers who are applying to the dairy commissioner for the necessary forms to enable them to keep their own records. Hundreds of farmers are now doing their own testing, and assistance can be obtained from the department of agriculture thru the dairy commissioner. It would seem as tho the present tendency of this movement is in the direction of the farmer making his own tests and keeping his own records.

ERADICATION OF WEEDS ON WALKS

Salt and Oil is the Most Satisfactory Remedy for Neglected Walk.

It is very often happens that for some reason a walk is neglected for some short time and a good crop of weeds is found disfiguring the pasture. BIG IMPORTATION OF SHEEP INTO CANADA

Mr. W. T. Smith of Pruska, Sask., will import into Canada in the neighborhood of 50,000 sheep this year. He owns 35,000 acres of land in the district and has already some 15,000 sheep on the ranch. The major part of this large number of sheep will come from Montana.

Mr. Smith has 2500 acres of his farm sown to alfalfa, which will be used as feed for the sheep. Recently Mr. Smith erected on his land the largest barn on the continent. The building is 123 feet long, 400 feet wide and 58 feet high. It contains 600,000 feet of lumber, taking 50 cars to carry the shipment.

VALUE OF ALFALFA HAY FOR HORSES

Appearance of Animal Was Better When Fed on Alfalfa Than on Timothy.

The Utah experimental station has been doing considerable work to prove the value of alfalfa hay for horses and makes the following statement: In comparing alfalfa and timothy, six tests under varying conditions of work show that it is not difficult to maintain the weights of horses when alfalfa fed as when timothy fed. The cost was greater in every case except one where the timothy was fed. The appearance of the horse in every comparison of alfalfa and timothy was in favor of the alfalfa fed horses.

The Illinois experimental station has made this statement in reference to alfalfa: "When alfalfa hay is fed as the roughage part of the ration for horses at hard work, less grain is necessary to prevent them losing weight than when timothy hay is fed." In this case there was a saving of about 25 per cent of grain."
