THE WORK IN CITY ROAD.
To the Editor of The Times-Star:
Sir,—I wish to call your attention to the way the contractors are back-billing the service pipes on City road, having heard complaints about the work in walking along City road today at 11:45 a. m. I found two contractors and two other men shoveling and scraping in the back-bill and not one tanner on the work.

Thanking you, I am,
Sincerely yours,
EDWARD A. FARREN.

Commissioner Jones said this morning that the work is being done under the direction of G. G. Hare, the city engineer, following the plan approved for all streets that will be paved this year. Qualified inspectors have been put in charge of all the work and their duty is to see that the back-billing of the trenches is done properly and this has been done, he says, notwithstanding whatever Mr. Farren has to say on the matter.

Yesterday afternoon, in company with Commissioner Frink of the public works department and A. S. Sewell, superintendent of the water and sewerage department, Commissioner Jones visited City road and inspected the work being done there. He said they found two trenches being filled and two workers in each trench tamping down the earth as it was filled back. Afterwards they went to Douglas avenue and found the inspectors and workmen strictly "on the job" there, as they were in City road.

"So far as I am concerned," said the commissioner, "the work is being carried on entirely satisfactorily and according to the plans and specifications laid down by the city."

The Supreme Court of the State of Maine has decided that a man who engaged a room and board for two weeks at a York County hotel was justified in cancelling his contract and leaving the hotel at the end of five days because proper care was not taken to keep fire out of the dining room.

is now, I would say that all work should be properly done, and if it is not worth doing right do not undertake it. I may say being taxed by the city that I have asked Mr. Barry to put an injunction on this work in order to have it properly done.

I would also ask the citizens on the other streets to take the same interest in the different public works that are being done throughout the city in order to have it done right, as they are the taxpayers and the people who pay the bills, and should take an interest in such matters.

Thanking you, I am,
Sincerely yours,

RECENT DEATHS

Abraham Hatfield.
At Hatfield Point, on June 15, very suddenly, Abraham Hatfield passed away, aged eighty-two years. He leaves his daughter, Mrs. William Finley, of Fredericton, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. D. A. Hatfield, Hatfield Point, who cared for him in his old age. Mrs. Daggert, widow of Mark Daggert, of Grand Harbor, Grand Manan, is a niece. Mr. Hatfield was a man of quiet disposition, and was esteemed and loved by all who knew him. In his early years he united with the Free Baptist church at Henderson Settlement, where his membership remained till only little more than a year since, when he transferred his membership to the First Springfield church. The burial services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. E. Gosline, assisted by Rev. E. J. Barras, on June 16.

Mrs. Margaret McDermott.
Mrs. Margaret J. McDermott, Calais, died on Monday, leaving three daughters and one son. Henry Regan, 182 Sydney street, a son-in-law, left for Calais to attend the funeral.

The death of Mrs. George H. Parlee took place at her home on the Mill road on Sunday morning after a short illness. Besides her husband she leaves one son, her mother, four brothers and one sister.

LIVE STOCK DECREASING.
(Bangor Commercial.)
A falling off in the numbers of cattle and hogs in the United States occurred during the first four months of this year, as compared with the like period last year, according to reports of special livestock reporters of the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture.

In the case of hogs, the births during January, February, March and April were about 10 per cent fewer than in the same months last year. The marketings have fallen off about 15 per cent; the farm slaughter was about the same in both seasons; but the deaths on farms this year are over 40 per cent heavier than last year to May 1. Taking into consideration both the births and deaths (from all causes), it appears that there has been a relative reduction of about five per cent during the first four months of this year as compared with the trend during the first four months of last year.

The births of calves from January 1 to May 1 were about 22 per cent fewer this year than last year. The net disposition of cattle by marketings, farm slaughter and deaths was about nine per cent greater than last year; it appears that there has been a relative reduction of about six per cent in total number of cattle as compared with last year during the four months January 1 to May 1.

LOCAL NEWS

William Taylor and George Wilkins, charged with stealing a quantity of goods from the Davis confectionery store, were sentenced yesterday afternoon to two years and four months and three years respectively in the penitentiary.

During a recent visit to Chipman Inspector Saunders reported a grocer for selling lemon extract and seized a lot of the extract. One man was arrested on charge of being drunk and having forty bottles of lemon extract in his possession, was fined $88. Another man was fined $8 for being drunk and $20 for resisting arrest, but took three months in Gagetown jail.

Before Magistrate Wilton Dalton at Renfrew last night, Donaldson Hunt was fined $8 and costs for speeding on the Rothesay road and William Oltus was fined $2 and costs for obstructing the road with his car. On Monday Thomas Hope and Hermann Hoyt were each fined $8 and costs for speeding on the same road, all the charges being made by Constable Robert Crawford. Several more cases are pending.

In Chambers before Mr. Justice Barry yesterday afternoon, argument was finished in connection with the matter of the release from custody of William H. Sharpe and the order for his three children to be given to his care. The defendant was ordered released and was given charge of his little ones, who had been brought back from New York at the order of the court. Dr. W. B. Wallace, K.C., acted for the defendant and Cyrus F. Inches for the mother.

JUVENILE CRIME REMEDIES.
Some remedies for juvenile crime are suggested by M. A. Spielman, an inspector of reformatory and industrial schools in England. Among them are the following:
More thorough instruction in home management and domestic science in elementary girls' schools.
Temperance instruction in schools.
More stringent regulation of street trading.
A list towards skilled manual work for children whose capacities lie more in the direction of manipulative work. Enforced attendance of children at continuation classes.
Regulation of children at picture theatres.
More moral training in schools.
Juvenile welfare organizations to be established in all large centres.
"Some of these recommendations," says Mr. Spielman, "are, indeed, being taken seriously in hand. When they are all carried out in full measure a race of more self-reliant self-respecting and intelligent citizens would inevitably result."

THE MILK SUPPLY.

The Kings county milk dealers who without a day's notice deprived city customers of their usual supply of milk have pursued a course they will find it hard to justify. Those citizens who opened their doors this morning to find their milk receptacles empty, and who had either to get a supply at the store or go without, have good ground for serious complaint. The greatest sufferers will be the children. Presumably the hospitals and other institutions will be provided for, but all over the city are young children to whom milk is a necessity, and who should not be deprived of it because there is a dispute between some farmers and the railway about the running of the train. It is because there was a market in St. John for milk that these farmers are today able to enjoy the large degree of prosperity which is theirs. They ought not to forget the fact. They have no right to try to get even with the railway by punishing the little children of St. John. Perhaps this view of the case will appeal to them. If the people of St. John choose to adopt daylight time that is surely their privilege, and they have at least the same right to choose the new rate as the farmers have to retain the old. In the end, if the milk supply continues to be cut off, the heaviest losers will be the milk producers.

PROMPT ACTION NEEDED.

An Ottawa despatch today says that leaders on both sides of the house expect prorogation by the end of next week. Other members do not look for it before the first of July. In either case, if St. John has anything to say about harbor works it should be said now. There is still no assurance that the government intends to spend a dollar in providing more berth accommodations for its own steamship lines, despite the congestion, vexations and costly delays of last winter. This is surely an extraordinary state of affairs. Early last spring there was talk of a large delegation to Ottawa, but the matter was allowed to drop. Are we to have next winter a repetition of the delays of the previous one? This matter is vital to St. John as well as to the movement of Canadian trade through Canadian channels. The really big thing for St. John is the trade of the port. The city and province are without representation in the cabinet, but somebody should raise the question in the house and have a full discussion that would put the responsibility squarely upon the government. Especially should St. John's representatives clear away the wrong impression conveyed by recent speeches of Hon. Mr. Lemieux and Hon. Mr. Balfour. Of what use is it to provide increased tonnage without more wharf accommodations for the government steamers?

SASKATCHEWAN.

Some very interesting facts about the growth and the resources of the province of Saskatchewan are found in an article in Canadian Finance. To begin a review we quote: "Saskatchewan has an area of 251,700 square miles, of which area 8,829 square miles are covered by water, leaving 242,871 square miles of land. The province is more than double the combined area of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, and is larger than any European country, except Russia. Saskatchewan is believed to have 94,000,000 acres of land suitable for agricultural purposes, but less than 20,000,000 acres have as yet been improved. In addition to agricultural land the province has large areas of mineral deposits and forest lands. The water areas contain very valuable fishery resources. As to population we are told that in 1911 there were only 91,279 people in the area Saskatchewan now covers; but in 1916 there were 647,885, and there has since been a material increase. We quote again: "The racial origin of the inhabitants in 1916 was found to be as follows: British, 54.5 per cent; French, 5 per cent; German, 11.9 per cent; Austro-Hungarians, 8.15 per cent; Norwegians, 4 per cent; Russian, 4 per cent; various 11.45 per cent. Three-fourths of the people live in the rural districts, but it is worthy of note that the agricultural land available is sufficient to support and engage 2,250,000 more people than are at present on the land. In other words, Saskatchewan needs nearly five times as many more people on the land than she now has."

A statement of the growth of farming in the province shows that the production of wheat increased from 26,107,286 bushels in 1905 to 214,794,720 bushels in 1915, and other grains in proportion. By way of comparison we are told that in 1916 Saskatchewan produced more wheat than the combined production of North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, and in 1917 Saskatchewan's wheat production exceeded the combined wheat yield from Minnesota and North Dakota.

As to distribution of population we are told that Saskatchewan has seven cities, seventy-five towns, 314 villages and over 530 rural municipalities; the population is distributed as follows: Cities, 12.34 per cent; towns, 7.63 per cent; villages, 7.25 per cent; rural districts, 72.78 per cent. The urban centres are growing rapidly, and more and more attention is being given to manufacturing industries, and Canadian Finance says:

"In the old days the raw products, grain, live-stock, lumber, etc., were shipped out of the province to be prepared for actual use in other centres. This is gradually changing. The time is coming when Saskatchewan will export its products for the market, when it will not be satisfied to produce raw materials alone, but will go further and transform these products into finished articles and thus build up for herself great industries and factories."

Eastern folk will perhaps be surprised to learn of the forest wealth of Saskatchewan. It claims an area of 45,000 square miles of forest lands having commercial possibilities and yielding in addition to 1,400,000,000 feet of merchantable lumber the following suitable for other purposes:

Cord. Spruce	18,089,500
Poplar	96,219,000
Jackpine	91,157,000
Tamarack	1,147,500
Birch	1,084,800
Balsam	106,000
Total	121,886,600

If, as the Dominion water power branch estimates, there is in the province 1,311,091 horse-power in the rivers of the province awaiting development, the assumption that with this wood supply the establishment of pulp and paper mills must soon come would seem to be well founded.

There is a great deal of coal in the province, but it is of low grade. It is said a process of briquetting this coal has been discovered, and important developments are now anticipated. The province has also a valuable asset, and it is estimated that over $1,000,000 per year is paid to trappers. Game is also very plentiful. The fish industry is only in its infancy but is believed to be capable of profitable development. The remarkable growth Saskatchewan has enjoyed in the last twenty years is but a beginning. Settlers and capital will pour in, vacant lands will be settled, resources developed, cities and towns enlarged and new ones established. There is no limit to the possibilities of the future of the province.

HARDING'S ORATORY.

The oratory of Senator Harding, the Republican candidate for the presidency, is of the florid style. An example is taken from his speech in 1919 when he presented the name of Mr. Taft to the national convention of that year. He said: "I present to you today a leader who is a composite of the virtues of all those deservedly enshrined in our party pantheon—William Howard Taft—as wise and patient as Abraham Lincoln, as modest and dauntless as U. S. Grant, as temperate and loving as Rutherford B. Hayes, as patriotic and intellectual as James A. Garfield, as courtly and gentlemanly as Chester A. Arthur, as learned in the law as Benjamin Harrison, as sympathetic and brave as William McKinley, as progressive as his predecessor and with a moral stamina, breadth of view and sturdy manhood, all his own."

It will be noted that the speaker did not mention Roosevelt by name, and that Roosevelt party bitterly resented his attitude. In that same campaign a casual mention of Roosevelt's name at a meeting addressed in Brooklyn gave an opportunity for Mr. Harding to strike back in a manner that aroused even more bitterness. He said: "I am going to square myself with you Bull Moosers, by stating that I have just as heartily applauded Col. Roosevelt as you did. I have stood upon the platform and commended him to my fellow Americans. We owe him much for the awakening of the American conscience. But just the same I applauded Benedict Arnold at Saratoga and did not at Tarrytown some time after."

Whether Roosevelt's friends have agreed to forgive and forget remains to be seen.

THE BUNGALOW COMMERCIAL POINTS OUT.

The Bungalow Commercial points out that the Republican choice of an Ohio man as presidential candidate is not without precedent. Six Ohio men have held the office of president. They were: Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes, James K. Polk and Andrew Johnson; while New Hampshire, Vermont, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and New Jersey have each furnished a man for the presidency. No president in a state west of Ohio, says the Commercial, has yet been chosen.

An American exchange says: "Kansas is making its usual appeal for farm labor and says that farm workers can secure from $5 to $7 a day in that state, in view of the prices paid in many lines of labor and in fact on the farms of the east, the bait offered by Kansas is not as alluring as customary and will not ward many easterners to move west."

PEACE.

I see around me in my home my smiling aunts and nieces; so I calm them in a poem—my humble shack where peace is. No wrangling here is heard, no sister roasts her brother, but each one has a kindly word to pass on to the other. Discussion here stirs up no crimes, or causes ire unholily; and so we have most joyous times, and age comes on us slowly. My uncles and my cousins sit, serenely at their games; my seven grandmas darn and knit, and chew no useless lines. They say the world is all upturn with grief and tribulations, and many comfort them and made the halser diary. Oh, men are mad—in every degree are bats in numbers ample. And if you would try our scheme, give it a fair rehearsal, grief soon would be a bygone dream, and peace be universal.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

DR. WOLFRED NELSON.

On June 17, in Montreal, in 1863 Dr. Wolfred Nelson died. He was born in the same city in 1792 of United Empire Loyalist stock and was educated for the medical profession, serving in the war of 1812 as a doctor with a unit raised in the County of St. Hyacinthe. Public honors were tendered him but he refused all overtures until 1827 when in the general election he defeated James Stuart, attorney-general. He became a conspicuous figure in the Assembly, where he became the champion of those who thought they were oppressed by the government of the day. When the uprising of 1837-38 broke his military experience made him a leader of the rebels.

After a brief period in the revolt he fled but was captured on December 12 as he neared the United States frontier. He was in a miserable state from exposure and lack of food when he was brought back to Montreal and lodged in the jail, where he would ask no leniency or attempt in any way to palliate his crime.

In a letter to Lord Durham, the governor of the Dominion, he desired to avoid a trial by pleading guilty; the result was that he was sent to the Island of Bermuda. But the sentence was declared illegal and he returned to the County of St. Hyacinthe where his family joined him and where he continued to practise medicine until 1842 when he legally returned to the Dominion. He located in Montreal where two years later he was elected to parliament as member for the County of Richelieu. His speech on the rebellion losses bill in 1849 was one of the sensations of the day, and he occupied various other positions in the gift of the country until death came in 1862 to end his troubled but romantic career.

JUNE.

And what is so rare as a day in June? Then Heaven tries earth if it be in tune. And ever so softly her warm ear says: "Whether you look or whether you listen, We hear life murmur, or see it gladden, Every day feels a stir of might, An instinct that makes its rounds and lowers, And groping blindly above it for light, Climbs like a plover on grass and flowers; The finish of life may well be seen 'Tillung back to earth hills and valleys green. The swamp starts in meadows green. The butterfly catches the sun in its chalice, And there's never a leaf nor a blade to mean To be some happy creature's palace. The little blue fly, with its wings, Attends like a blossom among the leaves, And lets his illumined wings be swept by the deluge of summer it receives; His mate feels the eggs beneath her feet, And there's never a creature's palace. The little blue fly, with its wings, Attends like a blossom among the leaves, And lets his illumined wings be swept by the deluge of summer it receives; His mate feels the eggs beneath her feet, And there's never a creature's palace."

LIGHTER VEIN.

It certainly was a strange sound even though at midnight, when Mrs. Meekton nudged her husband hard. "Henry," she whispered loudly, "wake up at once and go downstairs! It sounds like burglars!" "But I don't—" "If you don't go at once," said his better half, "I will get myself a dose of the 'Sister,' said the deacon severely, "you should avoid the very appearance of evil."

"Why deacon, what do you mean?" asked the "sister." "I observed that on your sideboard you have out glass decanters, that each of them is half filled with what appears to be ancient spirits."

"Now, deacon, it isn't anything of the kind. The bottles look so pretty on the sideboard that I filled them half-way with some floor stain and furniture polish just for the sake of appearance."

"That's why I am cautioning you, sister," replied the deacon. "Feeling a trifle faint, I lie in the middle."

BUILDING GOOD ROADS.

(Bangor Commercial.)

The remarkable rate at which the number of Federal-aid road building projects has increased since the war shown in a summary relating to all such work from September 30, 1916, to April 30, 1920, which has been prepared by the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture. On the latter date the states had filed with the Bureau 2,885 project statements, of which 2,790 had been approved, representing 27,790 miles of highway. The totals on April 30, 1916, were little more than one-third these amounts. Up to May 1 of this year 1,974 projects had proceeded to the stage at which plans, specifications, and estimates had been delivered to the Bureau of Public Roads. Of 1,827 of these had been recommended for approval, representing 18,845 miles. Project agreements had actually been executed and construction work was in progress on 1,569 projects, totalling 11,887 miles. In addition, work had been begun on about 100 projects for which agreements had not actually been assigned, thus expediting the progress of the work and bringing the total mileage under construction up to 18,945. The summary shows that a great reduction has been made in the time required for preliminary work before actual construction is begun.

On the average the states have submitted statements for nearly 90 per cent of their respective allotments and have entered into agreement to construct highways which call for about one-half of their federal-aid money. The projects actually completed and paid for amounted to a very small number, but they are materially exceeded in number by those which are practically completed. Canada, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wyoming have each submitted approved project statements for all or nearly all of their allotments.

A DEMOCRATIC VIEW.

(Bangor Commercial.)

The nomination of Harding is a victory of the standard element of the Republican party over the former progressive wing and also marks the defeat of the latter element. Harding favored the adoption of the treaty with reservations; he was a follower of Lodge. Generally it will be felt that some other candidate could have made a more popular appeal at the polls, but the Republican nomination of Harding evidently believed that it was safer to take a conservative line with larger personal following, whose selection would be more likely to split the party and against whom the matter of large campaign expenses could be raised. Harding was opposed to the Progressive movement that defeated Taft and his nomination was not pleasing to the voters who followed Roosevelt into the Bull Moose party, but there are no indications that it will lead to an organized party.

The nomination is regarded as satisfactory by the Republican business men, the best who consider Harding a safe man. Summed up, the Chicago convention appears to have chosen a man of the type of Hay believing it the policy of wisdom to make such a choice as most unlikely to split the party if it does not arouse great enthusiasm.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS.

(New York Evening Post.)

The yet incomplete returns for the Reichstag elections are highly unsatisfactory for those who expect a decisive victory to a 919 constituency, but there is no certainty for accepting the Frankfurter Zeitung's verdict that the result is a "technical" showing for the majority Socialists, who were the backbone of the tripartite coalition, improved as the news comes in from outlying districts. The great cities voted heavily for Independent Socialist candidates, and naturally they were first heard from. As the returns now stand, it appears that the Coalition may retain a small majority and they show the Coalition in possession of 166, of which the Majority Socialists have 86, the Centrists 48 and the Democrats 27. The opposition parties have 140 seats, of which the two parties on the Right count 88 and the extreme Left group 52. It is believed that the Coalition maintains its present position, and may hope that it can hold the helm of government for at least a limited period.

In a Parliament so divided as Germany's will be a very narrow Coalition majority would ordinarily be worthless. But in a time so critical something can and good sense of Opposition members and from the determination of a Government to continue to put our trust in Germany's will to survive.

RECENT WEDDINGS

At St. Luke's church, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, Miss Beale C. Quinlan, sister of Mrs. George J. Wetmore, 3 Clarendon street, was united in marriage to Frederick Howes, by Rev. R. F. McKim. The witnesses were Miss Pootley and A. C. Harris. The bride wore a navy blue traveling suit with sand colored hat. After an automobile tour through New Brunswick they will reside at 161 Bridge street.

In Carmarthen street Methodist church yesterday afternoon, Miss Alice Maud, daughter of Mrs. White and the late Christopher White, and Robert Bruce Douglas, son of the late Robert Douglas, of St. John, were married by Rev. Henry Penna.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her brother, George White, of New Glasgow (N. S.), while the choir sang "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," looked very attractive in a traveling suit of navy blue with hat to match and ermine fur, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia and sweet-heart roses. After the ceremony, while the bride and groom were signing the register, Miss Earle sang "Oh Promise Me." After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas left for a trip through Nova Scotia.

The wedding took place yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock in Queen Street Methodist church, of Miss Lila A. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, 187 Charlotte street, and C. Whitney Belyea, of Dorchester. Rev. George Morris officiated at the ceremony.

The bride wore a traveling suit of pink blue with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Belyea left on the steamer Empress for a trip across the bay and through Nova Scotia. On their return they will live at Dorchester. A silver-service from the office staff of the N. B. Telephone company, where the bride has been employed, and a cheque from the bride's parents, were among the many gifts received.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunter, 90 Portland street, Miss Hazel Hunter was united in marriage last evening to Albert Pierce, of this city, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and a few immediate friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, was dressed in blue silk and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The wedding march was played by Mrs. R. Kelly and the ceremony was performed by Rev. H. L. Etienne. A large number of beautiful presents were received including many pieces of silver and cut glass and also a substantial cheque from the bride's father. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce will leave on an automobile tour of the province today and on their return will reside at 608 Main street.

A wedding was solemnized at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. G. D. Hudson, 185 Victoria street, yesterday, when Walter J. Bickerton, of Springfield, was united in marriage to Miss Lily A. Bentley, of Norton. The bride and groom were unattended and after the ceremony they left for their future home in Springfield.

St. Stephen, June 16—A pretty wedding took place this morning when Marion E. Annis, of Milltown (N.B.), was united in marriage to Roland H. Crane, of Brewer. Rev. Mr. Malcolm officiated. The bride looked charming in a suit of brown broadcloth with black picture hat while the groom, Mr. Millie Crane, was dressed in blue with hat to match. Percy Annis supported the groom. After the ceremony luncheon was served and Mr. and Mrs. Crane left by automobile on a wedding trip. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crane and son, of Brewer. The presents were numerous and beautiful and included substantial cheques, cut glass and silverware.

Price-Storey.
A pretty wedding took place on Tuesday evening in Moncton, when Miss Beatrice Elizabeth Storey, daughter of John E. Storey, became the bride of Laurence Widon Price, son of Mrs. Edna Price of Sussex. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. H. Cochrane. Mr. and Mrs. Price will reside in Moncton.

WRITER OF SONG AND STORY

(Toronto Globe.) Isabel Eccles-Lowe Mackay stands high among living Canadian authors for her work in the two important departments of poetry and fiction. There are other Canadian writers who have a somewhat similar dual standing.

Although for the past ten years resident of Vancouver, Mrs. Mackay was born and lived her early life, until some years after her marriage, in Woodstock, Ont. Residents of that city still remember the vivid, eager glowing face and warm personality of "Becky" Mackay, who was known to her friends as "Becky" Mackay.

Naturally no novelist has yet laid bare the youthful ambitions and struggles of a Canadian writer who is still so much one of us, but it is said on good authority that early in her school days she took a violent fancy to one of her teachers, to whom she devoted a brief poem, as follows: "Oh, Miss Peat, You are so sweet."

As might be expected, such an effort was not appreciated by either relatives or companions, from whom the muse at that stage had little encouragement. Another early effort was a parody on Longfellow's "Rainy Day," which the poet herself said was almost as beautiful as the original, because it was almost exactly like the original, but more serious efforts soon brought the poet to the attention of the public.

THE MODERN PRODIGAL REFUSES TO COME HOME

WESTERN CROPS
NOW COMING ON
VERY RAPIDLY

Summary of Report of the
"Manitoba Free Press"

Grasshopper Plague Developing and Best Crop in Recent Years May Suffer
Damage to Serious Extent.

(By E. Cora Hind, Commercial Editor
Manitoba Free Press.)

Winnipeg—The second crop report of the Manitoba Free Press, issued during the week, was a most encouraging one, as replies from 203 points well distributed over the three provinces showed the damage from soil drifting to be much less than was feared, moisture generally abundant and the crop, especially wheat, having made up much of the delay from late seeding. Indeed a number of points reported what much ahead of the corresponding date of 1919.

More definite information was obtained as to oat acreages. Just 100 of the points herefrom indicate increases from 5 to 20 per cent, the majority of the increases are from 5 to 10 per cent, and twelve points reported decreases of oat acreages due to difficulty of getting seed in some instances, and in others to wet weather preventing seeding. Some of these acreages will be, or have been, seeded to barley, which promises to show a pretty heavy increase in acreage.

Flax acreages, about which special inquiry was made, indicate that at eighty points only are increases. These run all the way from 1 to 800 per cent. In cases of the big increases they are usually at points where little flax has been grown heretofore, and most of it is in on spring breaking.

Only nine points reported need of rain, and none of these really suffering. The Grasshopper Menace.

As there was much apprehension as to grasshoppers, every correspondent in the infected areas was asked to report. Only two points reported serious damage up to June 6, and the whole country seemed to be alive to the danger and ready to fight it. Since June 6 a few hot days have developed the trouble and at this writing it is certain that an otherwise most promising crop is very seriously menaced, and that over widely scattered areas.

The writer has spent many hours in the Brandon district and found evidences of hoppers on farms north, southeast and west of that city. On a few farms strips twenty to forty yards wide along the edges of fields are completely eaten bare, and the hoppers are there by the millions. The organization, both in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, is very good, and there is no doubt that every possible effort will be made to stamp them out, but it will be three weeks at least before it will be possible to say how the battle is going.

Every day brings to the department of agriculture, of both Manitoba and Saskatchewan, reports from fresh districts. Up to the present the supplies of bran and poison are holding out very well, but if the whole of both provinces require to be poisoned there may even be a shortage of available material. The cool, wet weather which it was hoped would destroy many thousands of eggs does not appear to have had the desired effect. If this plague can be overcome, and there is still good hopes that may be, the outlook for crop in the west is the best in years, up to date.

Albert reports no hoppers, but the province is nevertheless organized to meet them should they develop.

In Saskatchewan the grasshopper menace is also referred to in this week's issue to the Financial Post from E. W. Oliver of the department of statistics, province of Saskatchewan. He says: "Reports from departmental officials show seeding practically completed. Good rains have repaired damage caused by high winds. Crop prospects are excellent. In southern part of province grasshoppers are hatching in large numbers, but no damage is yet reported."

His Punishment.
For a week the guilty wretch had possessed his secret in silence, starting at every sound and catching his breath at every shadow. Yet he told himself that he was quite safe, and that no one knew of his guilt but himself.

He had thought it all out—how he would act and what he would say. Yet when the first breath of suspicion was directed towards him he started and turned pale, and all the defence which he had so elaborately constructed fell to the ground when his wife turned her questioning eyes upon him and said: "John, did you post that letter to mother, that I gave you last week?"

"Yes."

"Well, she never received it."

"Yes. I mean—dash it—"

"John, don't swear!"

"Yes—er—perhaps it was lost in the post."

"That must be it," mused his wife. "I wrote mother to postpone her visit for a few months, and I have just received a letter saying that we might expect her today!"

Once alone, the wretched man prayed that a nine-storey house might fall upon him and crush him.—Spare Moments.

The two greatest Suit opportunities we have ever offered the men of St. John—and the reason we can do this is told below.

During the past few weeks many clothiers have poured in cancellations of orders to Montreal manufacturers, becoming panicky over the tremendous sacrifices of men's clothing going on in the United States—which indicate surface conditions only—below the surface conditions are entirely different.

ENGLISH WOOLLEN MILLS are so far behind in production that, according to present indications, no new business can be taken on for nearly a year to come. Spinners in England likewise have sold their entire output for more than twelve months in advance. In the face of these facts alone can clothing prices take a permanent drop? A study of world economic conditions says—no!

OUR BUYER while in Montreal a few days ago was told of these big cancellations, and seeing an opportunity to help his customers hold down their clothing expenses, made special offers for many of these lines. He was finally successful in procuring two lots comprising 765 suits at such special concessions that these suits were immediately shipped to St. John, and following our motto of "Large Volume at Minimum Profit," we are now able to offer these suits in two special lots for

MILK SITUATION

Shortened Supply Received But Dealers Had Some Ahead—Making New Arrangements.

The action of many of the Kings county farmers, in shutting off the greater part of the city milk supply, did not seriously affect the local dealers and consumers today, for in many cases out of the ordinary shipment of about 1,500 cans, only about 400 were received today. According to representatives of the farmers who came on the train this morning those who had not yet received notice of the action would be notified during the day and no doubt the supply would be entirely shut off tomorrow. The soda fountains, ice cream parlors, hotels, hospitals and individual consumers generally received their usual orders this morning.

Several of the local dealers said they had made arrangements to have their teams and milk trucks go out through the country tonight and arrange a schedule for daily supply of milk. The action of the farmers was not a surprise, for it was expected that the supply would be entirely shut off tomorrow. The soda fountains, ice cream parlors, hotels, hospitals and individual consumers generally received their usual orders this morning.

EYES OF THE SUBMARINE

Interesting Description of the Periscope—Working of the Undersea Craft.

The eye of the submarine is the periscope, so it would be as well to see just what a periscope is before we go any further, says a writer in the Christian Science Monitor.

There are only two men left on the top of the conning tower, the captain and a signalman. The signalman takes down the canvas wind screen and the little compass, and vanishes below.

Now, if you look into the eyepiece of the periscope, you can see all round the horizon; the sea and a good bit of the sky are as clear as they were to the captain when he took his last look around on top.

YOUR HARD WORKING HEART

The heart is a wonderful double pump, through the action of which the blood stream is kept sweeping round and round through the body, at the rate of seven miles an hour. A healthy stomach turns the food we eat into nourishment for the blood stream and the nerves. No one suffers from colds or catarrh who has plenty of red blood corpuscles and a good digestion. Catarrh in all its forms is a stagnation of the blood. Introduce pure red blood into the system, and health is assured.

HOW POLAND KEEPS BIG ARMY IN THE FIELD

Forces Fighting Soviet Are Well Equipped

Attempts to Reconcile This Achievement With Stories of Destitution Among the People at Home.

(Special Dispatch to The Evening Post)
Washington, June 16.—The drive of the Bolshevik forces upon the Poles along their eastern front has aroused much curiosity in this country concerning the Polish army. People have been wondering how Poland, with its scant resources and prevalent destitution, could equip and maintain an army of nearly a million soldiers some hundred miles or more beyond its own borders.

Throughout last winter the press carried many stories of terrible suffering in Poland. There were reports that famine and typhus were rife, that infant mortality was frightful, and that in the large towns there was not even enough fuel to warm the hospitals. At the same time it was also reported that the Poles were maintaining on Russian territory an army about half as large as that which the United States, with all its resources, was able to place on the western front during the war.

It seemed to many readers of these stories that there must be exaggeration either in these reports of Poland's fighting strength or else in the tales of the sufferings of her civilian population. It was difficult to reconcile one story with the other. Yet Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. workers and other disinterested observers returned from Poland and gave public assurance that the stories of hardships were not overdrawn. Others also came back with evidence that the Polish army was not a myth. Those who recall the great strain which the raising of an army placed on this country in the war years have been puzzled to learn how Poland, with its widespread destitution, has been able to turn the trick. An attempt has been made, therefore, to find out the truth about this army—its numerical strength, how it is fed and clothed, its fighting equipment and its morale.

How Poland Has Done It.

Much information on these matters has been gleaned from persons who have studied conditions in Poland at first hand, and the details which follow are a compilation of what these have been able to contribute. No one will be quoted, as some of the details have come from confidential sources.

This car has been completely overhauled and painted and with all new tires, also license. Nearest offer to set price buys it. Apply 158 Rockland Road.

In the matter of numbers it is commonly stated that the Poles have an army of 1,000,000 men. This is held to be the maximum strength, but it is stated that the number of effectives at any one time varies from 700,000 to 800,000 men. The Poles take readily to military life and make good soldiers. They are well disciplined, and many of the officers have gained experience in the armies of other nations, particularly the Russian and the Austrian. There is also a considerable sprinkling of experienced officers from the French and other Allied armies.

For the sinews of war, or money, Poland looks mainly to Great Britain. For munitions it looks mainly to France. The equipment of the forces has been steadily improving. There is a constant flow of war material from France, and a beginning has been made in accumulating a reserve stock of ammunition, though for a time the army in this particular was leading a hand-to-mouth existence.

The Poles are fairly well equipped with all the auxiliary arms. They have a well developed aviation service, and are using tanks to some extent. They also have big guns of various types, though these are far less numerous than they were in the western armies. About the only fighting weapons peculiar to the Great War which the Poles are not using are gas and hand grenades. The open style of warfare in this area is not so well suited to gas and grenade attacks as was the trench warfare in France. As a result of the open fighting, cavalry is employed more extensively by the Poles and the Russians than was possible on the western front. The Poles drive into the Ukraine this spring was preceded by cavalry.

Uniforms and Provisions.

The Polish soldiers wear sky-blue uniforms, very similar to those of the French, but their overcoats are a heterogeneous lot. Among them are large numbers of garments that were intended originally for American troops. Some months ago a stock of surplus clothing owned by the United States Army was sold to the Polish government, but objection was raised to the extension of credits to Poland and the sales were not continued. There have been heavy sales on credit, however, of salvaged army clothing, especially overcoats, to France, and the French government in turn has disposed of some of this stock to the Poles at an advance over the price for which it secured the materials from the United States.

During the past winter the problem of getting food for the Polish army was serious, but the situation is now reported as being greatly improved. The spring drive into the Ukraine released large quantities of grain for the use of both civilians and soldiers. It is estimated that Poland will have to import 250,000 tons of grain before next September. There is still a great shortage of live stock.

Provisioning the army is at present mainly a question of distribution. During the year transportation facilities have been slowly improving. Recent construction work appears to have been begun in earnest. Large orders for additional rolling stock for the railways have been placed in the United States. The railway service is supplemented by standard motor trucks operated by the army. Fuel for the motor trucks and airplanes is obtained from the Galician oil fields, whose output, though greatly curtailed by the war, is adequate for present military needs. Coal is obtainable within Polish territory, but here again there are difficulties in the way of distribution. The army has enjoyed the advantage of operating in a heavily wooded area, from which it has been able to obtain abundant fuel for cooking its food and warming its quarters. Critics of Poland have declared that the maintenance of this huge force of men on Russian territory was one of the causes for the prevalent destitution in the country last winter. They argue that if these men had been engaged in industry at home much of the suffering and privation might have been avoided.

Returning visitors from Poland do not share this view. There was no employment for these men at their homes, it is said, and they were more contented and better cared for under military discipline than would have been the case if they had been allowed to idle away the winter in their villages. Under such conditions, it is claimed, they would have offered a fertile field for the seeds of Bolshevism, whereas they are now regarded in Western Europe as one of the bulwarks against a Bolshevist invasion.

TWO VIEWS AS TO SHOE INDUSTRY

This month's issue of the Endicott-Johnson Monthly, a shop magazine from the great shoe factory of that name at Binghamton, N. Y., is devoted entirely to a signed article by George F. Johnson warning employers not to expect a continuation of the bonus plan every year. He points out that there will be years when the profits will be small, if there are any at all, and that there may be times when there will be no surplus after the guaranteed dividends are paid. Therefore the workers, who are now partners in the business, must be prepared to stand their share of reduction in profits in the shape of bonus eliminations, as well as a 25 per cent bonus for every employee.

Mr. Johnson announces that the large club buildings promised this year will not be erected, as the company has decided to abandon all structural work except dwellings for employees and the plant extension until the price of building material takes a decline.

He takes to task the unthinking employee who spends his money for 88 silk shirts and musical instruments and automobiles instead of placing it in the savings bank or buying company stock, and declares the time will come when the extravagant ones will rue the reckless expenditure.

More hopeful, but not without implied reservations is the statement announcing that the W. H. McElwain Co. are giving their 5,600 employees in five cities and towns of New Hampshire a flat wage increase of 10 per cent, retroactive to March 1. This is done in spite of the fact that other large shoe manufacturers are closing down their factories or going on part time.

President McElwain intends to keep his factories running on full time, for he says to his employees: "It is just as vital to you as to me that these factories continue to operate full time. Short time, even at increased pay, brings no one." Although merchants tell him that the pay increase will "burden our shoes with a labor cost which will put them out of the running," Mrs. McElwain says:

"We do not believe it. Provided you will recognize the danger in the situation, will join with our purchasing and selling departments in redoubled efforts to meet the immediate crisis in business, we are hopeful that together we shall produce shoes so competitively strong that we can run our factories reasonably full. There is no other way."

BANGOR WOMAN NOW TESTIFIES Mrs. Linnell Was Almost a Nervous and Physical Wreck When She Began Taking Tanlac.

"I'm certainly glad I began taking Tanlac when I did for I was on the verge of nervous prostration but now I am feeling better than I have for twenty years," said Mrs. Ira W. Linnell of 79 Cedar street, Bangor (Me.), a few days ago.

"I was in dreadful health which had been brought on by years of suffering that had simply made me almost a complete nervous and physical wreck. My appetite was extremely poor and I never thought of such a thing as sitting down to the breakfast table. I could hardly digest a thing no matter how light a meal I ate. It always caused acute pains in my stomach. I felt bloated and stuffy all the time and often had such spells of palpitation and shortness of breath that I completely exhausted me and I would have to go to bed some times before dinner, and stay there the rest of the day.

"That's the condition I was in just had to go to bed. My nerves were simply a total wreck and frequently I went down town and became so completely upset I forgot what I was there for and had to telephone home for them to send someone after me. Headaches, too, were so dreadful I thought they would drive me distracted and many times I just had to go to bed.

HOW TO PICK THE WINNERS AND WHEN NOT TO BET. The man who, having bet, detects himself singing before a race, is doomed to lose. Money carried for three days in a man's shoe or a woman's stocking is invested with winning powers, while some men will never back a horse except at odds of six to five or nine to five. They assert that they always win at those prices and lose at others. Few betting men have the courage to wager their money after having seen a cross-eyed person. Such an occurrence is regarded as a bad omen. When an accident occurs at the starting post, and a jockey finds it necessary to dismount, there is a great scramble of the superstitious to bet upon his horse. Many persons have an odd fancy for backing horses according to certain numbers on the programme, but the reasoning and deduction of no two men are the same. Sticking a pin through the programme from back to front is a popular method of picking winners. Perhaps it is as good a way as any. Women who bet have their favorite messenger boys, and will allow no others to place their commissions. "Oh, where is my lucky boy?" is the anxious inquiry that is heard over and over again. If the lucky boy fails to turn up there is no bet. A speculator in doubt resorts to innumerable devices in his search for tips. If only two horses go to the post he probably tosses a coin to decide. If there are ten starters, he writes their respective numbers on small bits of paper, shakes them in his hands, presses the palms close to gether, opens them, and blows the papers away. He pins his faith to the last one to leave his hand—Tit Bits.

Encouraging Annual Report on Industrial School at Mimico.

(Toronto Globe.)
Twenty-four years of continuous service in the effort to reform boys who through misdemeanors have come under the care of the state, have left Superintendent Chester Ferrer of the Victoria Industrial School convinced that his work is worth while. In reporting to the annual meeting of the Industrial School Board yesterday afternoon, he gave some very encouraging details, and expressed the firm opinion that, with the great majority of the lads entering the school, a hurtful environment or neglect on the part of the parents was responsible for their having broken the law.

Rather than tender the customary statistical report, Mr. Ferrer said he would reply to a number of questions which are frequently asked regarding the institution of which he has charge.
"Fully 70 per cent. of the boys make good and become worthy citizens of this country," said Mr. Ferrer. "Some 29 per cent. lack the power of sticking, and drift from town to town, but only 10 per cent. find their way to penal institutions. Still, the work is worth while of only half the boys came through."

Sent Many Volunteers.
Eight hundred of the boys of the school volunteered for service during the Great War, and many of them gave their lives. The boys who are in the institution have been committed by the courts for various offences. They range in ages from ten to sixteen years. They are chiefly from cities and towns. Their homes are those of ordinary workmen.

"The lads we have here," said Mr. Ferrer, "have failed to respond to the efforts of home, school, Sabbath school, Big Brotherhood and Children's Aid Society. As a last resort they are committed to an industrial school. I do not wish to say that all these boys are bad in the ordinary acceptance of the term; they are not. I have met only a very few boys who seemed to be criminally inclined."

Success Among Girls.
Miss Lucy Brooking, superintendent of Alexandra Industrial School for Girls, in submitting her report, spoke of seventy-five girls paroled during the past year, many of them married and doing well. Girls from this school are occupying positions of trust in the community. Miss Brooking said that it was the desire of the authorities to increase the opportunities afforded and provide for the teaching of other industries, as machine knitting, rug making, etc.

GIANTS OF OLD DAYS AND PRESENT

(New York Tribune.)

When Johann Van Albert stepped from the gangplank on a recent arrival of the Mauritania he had the distinction of being the tallest man who ever entered the United States. His eight-foot five inches of height required that a special berth, made up of two cots placed end to end in a large companion way, be furnished for the trip from his home in Amsterdam, Holland.

Since Johann has left his quiet home out among the nearby windmills of Amsterdam and intends to enter the show business over here, it will be interesting to dig up some giant history and see how he compares with previous competitors who used to be great attractions. Probably no living giant in the United States ever exceeded the eight feet attained by the late Captain Bates, who was a native of Kentucky.

The word "living" is used here because of the fact that for some time during the year 1869 the famous Cardiff giant led many people to believe that a ten-foot man had once lived and was buried near Cardiff, a village in Oonodaga county, N. Y. The story of the monstrous fraud perpetrated on the American public makes such unusual and interesting reading that it will bear repeating.

The idea had its inception in Fort Dodge, Ia., when an adventurous fair purchased a huge block of gypsum from a quarryman of that place. The block then was shipped to Chicago, it being taken in charge of a sculptor, who chiseled it into a ten-foot giant. The surface was pricked with needles to give it the appearance of pores in the human skin, and then treated with a variety of acids which made the entire statue appear of ancient origin.

After completion the giant was securely packed in an iron box and shipped to Union, N. Y., where the owner claimed it, loaded the bulky box upon a large wagon and hauled it fifty miles to a farm near Cardiff. The giant form was then removed from the box and secretly buried, remaining under the ground nearly a year, until it was "accidentally" discovered by some workmen who had been engaged to dig a well by the promoter of the fraud.

This great discovery was made on October 16, 1869, and news of the wonderful petrified giant spread all over the country. The lucky finders covered it with a tent and put it on exhibition, while special trains were run from New York city and other nearby points so that the clamoring multitudes could see the astonishing remains at the earliest opportunity.

Until the deception was discovered it is estimated that more than 50,000 persons jostled each other in order to view the wonder, paying a dollar a piece for the remarkable privilege.

But, passing on from this greatest hoax it found that Captain Bates was the tallest of modern American giants, although his eight-foot height was slightly exceeded by that of Anna Swan, a native of Nova Scotia. Going further back into giant history we find that Queen Elizabeth's head porter was seven feet six inches high, probably being given this exalted position on account of his ability to see what was going on at all times.

Among royalty itself it is claimed that one of the Roman emperors was nearly nine feet high, but the measurements of those days may have allowed him considerably more height than he would be entitled to at this time, though for history to make note of the fact, no doubt he was a person of great stature.
