DEATH OF REV. FR. TRIMPLE

For Some Time Associated With St. Peter's Church.

He Final Chapter of John Soon After the Establishment of the Redemptorist Order Here.

The congregation of St. Peter's church, north end, experienced a feeling of surprise and regret Sunday morning when they learned that Rev. Fr. Trimple, who has been connected with St. Peter's for some years past, had been taken from their midst by the death of the revered gentleman.

Rev. Fr. Trimple was born in New York state on January 12th, 1832, or over forty years ago. He professed religion on 15th April, 1853, and was ordained a priest on March 15th, 1877.

He came here with Rev. Fr. Bell as a missionary in Rev. Fr. Oates' time, shortly after the establishment of the Redemptorist order in this city.

Together with Rev. Fr. Bell, he conducted missions throughout the province and shortly afterwards transferred back to the States. There he labored in the mission field, and it is supposed that it was the hard work in that line that brought on the disarrangement of his nervous system which culminated in his death early yesterday forenoon.

The people, he declared, felt that the government was not in earnest, and that even if a large majority were secured no action would be taken. He believed that the temperance party did not poll anything like their full strength. Referring to Principal Grant's utterances, he said that gentleman had very few supporters even in his own Presbyterian assembly. Sir Charles declined to talk. WEDDING BELLS.

At St. Peter's church at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning there was a wedding that drew to the sacred edifice a number of friends of the contracting parties, despite the early hour. The groom was T. Louis Ready, third son of James Ready, and the bride, Terese Leonard, daughter of James Leonard of Pooklook, and sister of Capt. Leonard of the ferry steamer E. Ross.

Miss Minnie Leonard was the bridesmaid and the groom was supported by his brother Edward. The ceremony was performed by Very Rev. M. J. Corduke, C.S.S.R. The happy couple left on the Flying Yankee on a trip to Boston and New York, and may visit Indianapolis, returning by way of Niagara Falls and Montreal.

The bride is a very popular young lady, a member of St. Peter's church choir, and has taken part in many concerts in the north end. The groom, who is the least known in the family, is a member of the Flying Yankee on a trip to Boston and New York, and may visit Indianapolis, returning by way of Niagara Falls and Montreal.

THE PRESBYTERIANS

Synod Committee Report on Public Education and Civil Rights.

Objection Taken to the Appointment of an Elder as Moderator.

A Vote of Disapproval Passed on the Action of the St. John Presbytery.

HALIFAX, Oct. 6.—In the Presbyterian synod this morning Rev. A. McLean Sinclair entered his dissent from the decision in the Mullin case. Rev. J. S. Sutherland, Rev. W. W. Rainnie, Rev. J. B. Ross and Rev. G. E. Forbes submitted the following reasons of appeal: 1. Because of the way in which the decision of the synod was arrived at, two other members of the synod were not heard, but in the opinion of the presbytery of St. John that consideration was given to the same which was not given to those who were not heard.

The synod afterwards adopted the following reply to these reasons signed by Revs. T. F. Fullerton, A. Falconer and R. Murray: 1. That the statements adduced in support of the dissent are not only untrue, but also are in direct violation of the rules of the synod. The dissenting members were not only heard, but also were given the opportunity to be heard.

It was decided that the commission of the synod will meet at New Brunswick, N. B. on the last Tuesday of October at 2 o'clock. The commission is made up of the following: Rev. T. F. Fullerton, Charlottetown; Moderator, Rev. A. Falconer, Pictou; Rev. Thomas Stewart, Dartmouth; Rev. T. C. Jack, Sydney; Rev. A. Gandler, Halifax; Rev. A. Bowman, New Glasgow; Rev. H. H. McPherson, Halifax; Rev. C. H. Charlottetown; Rev. R. Murray, Halifax.

The report of the Halifax Presbyterian college was presented and adopted. Fourteen thousand of the nineteen thousand dollars required for the new college has been raised. The work of the augmentation committee and the claims of the fund on the subject presented at the afternoon session last year $10,000 was asked for, and $3,833 was raised. The congregations that received grants numbered 61, to the amount of $9,157. Three congregations went off the fund and became self-sustaining—Calvin in St. John and Knox and St. Matthew in the presbytery of Wallace. This makes a total of twenty-eight congregations that once received help now self-sustaining. The shortage in contributions had made it necessary to reduce payments to 7 per cent; that is, that ministers in augmented congregations had been compelled to do with 7 per cent less than the amount to which they were entitled.

NEWCASTLE

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting Thursday Night.

Speeches by Dr. Stockton, George V. McInerney and Hon. G. E. Foster.

All Three Made forcible Addresses in which they Exposed Liberal Management.

NEWCASTLE, Oct. 7.—A very large and enthusiastic crowd from all parts of the county gathered in the Masonic hall last night to listen to some of the leading liberal conservatives of New Brunswick discuss affairs pertaining to the government of the province and to the conduct of the liberal party. Not only were all the seats filled, but the aisles were thronged by men of both parties.

William A. Hicks acted as chairman. There were also on the platform Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Dr. A. A. Stockton, Geo. McInerney, M. P., John McAllister, M. P., and E. Lee Street, W. Park and T. W. Butler of Newcastle. The chairman, in a few remarks, stated the reasons for the meeting. He said that there was a general dissatisfaction at the manner in which the affairs of the province had been managed by the present liberal government.

DR. STOCKTON was received with great applause. The presence of ladies showed that a great interest was taken in the affairs to be discussed. He referred to the presence of Mr. Foster, whom he acknowledged as his leader, and of the members of the present coalition government. He accused them of extravagance, neglecting to build and keep in repair roads and bridges, and of increasing enormously the public debt.

MR. MCINERNEY, of Kent, following, showing up the many broken promises of the liberal government of the dominion since they came into power. He also referred to the Drummond deal, the Crow's Nest Pass, the Yukon scandal, and many others. Speaking of the late convention at Moncton, he thought it was advisable in the interests of good and clean government to run local politics on dominion lines.

A Pretty School Dress. New Creations From Discarded Materials.

In every young girl there is a natural and inherent desire to look pretty and attractive, and nothing gives greater delight to the ordinary school miss than an occasional new dress. Before the advent of Diamond Dyes the large majority of our school girls had to content themselves with two dresses a year, one each for summer and winter.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING. (Charlottetown Guardian.) Very seldom is it given to a couple in these days to celebrate the 50th anniversary of their marriage. Yet such an event took place at Alexandria on the 3rd inst., when over 100 guests assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brehaut to offer congratulations to that worthy couple.

A Pretty School Dress. New Creations From Discarded Materials.

In every young girl there is a natural and inherent desire to look pretty and attractive, and nothing gives greater delight to the ordinary school miss than an occasional new dress. Before the advent of Diamond Dyes the large majority of our school girls had to content themselves with two dresses a year, one each for summer and winter.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING. (Charlottetown Guardian.) Very seldom is it given to a couple in these days to celebrate the 50th anniversary of their marriage. Yet such an event took place at Alexandria on the 3rd inst., when over 100 guests assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brehaut to offer congratulations to that worthy couple.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

By the Women's Christian Temperance Union of St. John.

There will appear in this column next week a review of the temperance question, re the plebiscite, from the standpoint of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The county W. C. T. U. extend to the merchants who loaned furnishings for their parlors at the exhibition, the committee who took charge, and others who generously gave assistance, their sincere thanks.

The W. C. T. U. held the regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Smith explained in detail the recent transactions of the Little Girls' Home and spoke of the immediate need there was of money to carry on this much needed work.

The committee had received a receipt for the same. It was also reported that through the generosity of one of the members another $10 had been added to the fund, thus making $25 as the W. C. T. U. contribution to the plebiscite campaign.

The committee which had the W. C. T. U. room at the exhibition in charge, reported that a large number of ladies had visited that room and had expressed their approval and appreciation of such a tasteful and comfortable resting place.

The sum of 13 cents had been placed in the box which had been placed to receive contributions for the Little Girls' Home. Money to assist in paying expenses in connection with the room had been received from five unions, and this would be paid in to the provincial treasurer.

The question of the membership of the union came up and it was resolved that, through the press, all members of the union be asked to be present at the room, Orange hall, German street, next Tuesday afternoon.

It is earnestly hoped that this request will meet with a response and that on Tuesday, 10th, there will be present every member of the St. John Union.

TEMPERANCE AT OBERLIN.

By Rev. D. L. Seward.

Temperance principles entered Oberlin with the first colonists, were imbedded in the substance of the covenant, and with a unanimity probably nowhere else ever matched for so long a time, have since borne sway.

No open saloon has ever been able to survive in this town a few days. Whoever has attempted to defy public opinion at this point has come to grief so speedily and so utterly as to be able to find not the least solace for his woes.

At the beginning temperance wore a meaning as sweeping as in the New Testament, being co-extensive with continence, self-mastery. The promise was to "eat only plain and wholesome food, renouncing all bad habits, and especially the smoking and chewing of tobacco, unless it is necessary as a medicine, and deny ourselves all strong and unnecessary drinks, even tea and coffee, as far as practicable, and everything expensive that is simply calculated to gratify the palate."

As to the last two, the good sense of the community present removed the taboo, but alcoholic drinks and tobacco have remained under the ban even to the present.

The students are required to pledge themselves to abstain, and by an overwhelming majority the inhabitants of the village pass their days in blissful ignorance of any need of such stimulants.

In 1837 the colonists pledged themselves not to patronize any merchant or inn-keeper who was a vendor of tobacco, and for years the noxious weed was not to be found on sale. But later the farmers of the surrounding region who chewed and smoked, and for whom Oberlin was the trading place, came so much into contact with the drugstore that they began to keep it in stock, and later some of the grocers. Once or twice a tobacco store has been opened, but soon failed for lack of sufficient patronage.

In 1880 an anti-tobacco crusade was instituted by a mass meeting in the First church under the lead of the pastors, the faculty and the mayor, and marked by stirring addresses, forcible resolutions, and the appointment of a committee. In due season the outcome appeared in a pledge taken by all the tradesmen but one to sell the unpopular article no more.

After sixty-five years, in this day of such general use of cigars and cigarettes, it can be truthfully affirmed that the number of smokers in Oberlin is phenomenally small.

As for intoxicants, they have always been exceedingly conspicuous by their utter absence. At various times strong drink has been dealt out surreptitiously for a season, but discovery, arrest, conviction and condign punishment were so certain to ensue that the offender was content never to repeat the offence.

The open saloon has always been considered absolutely intolerable. Since 1875 several determined attempts have been made to defy public sentiment in this particular, but each case was met with a popular uprising so unanimous, so orderly, but so evidently determined that all hazards liquor must go, that the originators were glad precipitately to retire or make the best terms possible, either by wily wiles, and with enlarged ideas of what good people can do when united and wholly bent upon achieving a definite purpose.

Public gatherings with crowded seats were held in the churches, prayer was offered in the closets, in the saloon or upon the sidewalk, relays of citizens kept watch hard by the door day and night to take note of all who entered, the proprietor was argued with and warned by committees composed of some of the most eminent of the community.

To the present day no vendor of intoxicants has been found who, after a few days of such experience as this, coupled also with evident prospect of indefinite continuance of the same, has not been thoroughly satisfied that discretion was the better part of valor.

In 1881-82 an alliance was formed which secured pledges to the amount of $200,000, to be employed, if need be, to the last cent in furtherance of the objects determined upon. Twice when buildings were secured and bars were opened, violence was resorted to under cover of darkness, by persons unknown, however, and without the apprehension of the wretched portion of the community. Once the windows were smashed in and also the heads of the liquor kegs, and once the saloon-to-be was demolished and removed so completely that no sign was left that it had ever existed. But this is not the normal Oberlin way of doing things—Oberlin, O.

Children for CASTORIA.

MR. SMITH EXPLAINS.

To the Editor of The Sun.

Sir—A few days ago I noticed a communication in the St. John Daily Sun signed by my colleague, J. T. Allan Dibbles, referring among other things to the sale of certain road machines, and in the Woodstock Press of the 3rd inst. and the St. John Daily Sun of the 6th inst. a communication signed by William McDonald, in which he states that Mr. Dibbles never purchased but one road machine from him and that was in 1894, and went to the parish of Simonds. He then states as follows: "Early in the summer of 1896, Charles Smith, M. P. F., came to me with Coun. Flemming, who represented the parish of Richmond, and told me that he and Mr. Dibbles wanted to purchase one machine for Mr. Flemming, and one for Mr. Watson, both of these machines were for the parish of Richmond, and that he and Mr. Dibbles would come responsible for the pay. I sold them two Champion machines for $350 each."

In reply to the above, I have to state that I never had any conversation with Mr. Flemming in connection with road machines for the parish of Richmond until after they were ordered by Messrs. Dibbles and Watson, and knew nothing whatever about them, in proof of which I submit the following letter from John Y. Flemming, at the present time one of the councillors of Richmond, and the warden of the municipality, and also that of Mr. Watson, who was councillor at the time these machines were purchased.

DEBEC, Oct. 6th, 1898.—Mr. Smith, Dear Sir—Before seeing you or talking to you about road machines, I had made arrangements to meet Mr. Watson in Woodstock. On the day appointed I could not go to Woodstock on account of bush fires, and sent a telegram to Mr. Watson to that effect. I learned afterwards that Mr. Watson ordered the machines that day. The first time I remember speaking to you about road machines was after the machines were ordered, and I saw you to make arrangements about paying for them.

(Signed) JOHN Y. FLEMMING.

"RICHMOND, Oct. 6th, 1898.—Mr. G. L. Smith, Dear Sir—Mr. Flemming and I made arrangements to meet in Woodstock to see about getting road machines for parish of Richmond. On my arrival in Woodstock I got a telegram from Mr. Flemming that on account of fire he could not meet me. I went to Mr. Dibbles and told him that I wanted road machines for Richmond. He either went with me or sent me to Mr. McDonald. Mr. McDonald said he had two machines coming, and I ordered them for the parish of Richmond.

(Signed) JAMES WATSON.

Mr. McDonald also states that the price of these road machines was $250 each, but a few months afterwards Mr. Dibbles received a check from the public works department for $400 in payment of these two machines, and if Mr. McDonald only received $500, who has the $40?

In reference to the payment of the three machines referred to by the Hon. Mr. Emmerson at Hartland, Mr. Dibbles made out the account for them at $250 each, while the Hon. Mr. Emmerson last winter presented it to Mr. McCain and myself for recommendation, telling us that the above was the price of the machines. I then asked him how it came that Mr. McDonald was sending him a check for $250, when he previously held them at $250. He replied that the agent of this machine in York county was selling them at $200, and as he was then roasting the government on McAvity's account, it would not do for him to put in a bill at $250 each, and if he could not settle with Mr. McDonald at $200, he would smuggle the difference into the account somewhere else.

I am very sorry indeed that Mr. Dibbles has found it necessary to rush into the public press with his own transactions, even if they be of a public character, and somewhat surprised that he should wish to draw me into his boodling transactions, but if he is anxious to confess to the public (or have made public for him) everything which has transpired since he has represented this county in the legislature, I shall be only too happy to assist him in such a laudable ambition, or if he would rather have them discussed in the house of assembly at the coming session, which is always preferable to a newspaper correspondence, I can assure him that it will afford me the greatest pleasure to contribute my quota to such interesting developments.

Thanking you in advance for space, I remain, yours truly,

CHAS. L. SMITH.

The Odd Fellows' Hall company is to surrender ownership of the hall to the mortgagee, the Wiggin Orphan Asylum trust. The hall was commenced after the fire and has cost the Odd Fellows a large sum of money, some of the lodges having invested in it largely. The Odd Fellows made a determined but unavailing effort to keep it, but the removal of the public schools from the building deprived them of outside revenue and they have abandoned all hope.

The will of the late W. H. Hayward was probated on Friday. The estate was entered at $17,600, of which $13,000 was real property, consisting of a house on Carmichael street, the store and warehouse on Princess street, and a summer residence and farm at Nauyasvaux. The personal property, valued at $26,000, was a half-interest in the grocery business carried on in connection with his son, under the name of W. H. Hayward. The executor named was the widow, Mrs. Augusta M. Hayward, and the son, H. P. Hayward. There are several small bequests, including $500 to buy a Centenary church fund, $25 to the Centenary Protestant Orphan Asylum. The remainder of the property is all left to Mrs. Hayward during her life, and at her death will go to their son, E. R. Chapman, executor.

Andrew McGuire of Hampton, who recently lost both his eyes as a result of the cruel assault of a neighbor named Fox, yesterday suffered another misfortune. In the assault he was very badly lacerated by Fox who not only scratched and gouged his eyes in a manner that destroyed his sight, but also used his teeth and inflicted some severe bites on McGuire's hands. The result was blood poisoning and yesterday morning physicians had to amputate one of McGuire's fingers and save his hand and life. Fox is being prosecuted before Magistrate Spruel at Hampton, but as yet his victim has not been well enough to appear against him.

Reefer Time IN HARVEST.

Colds are flying in the air and the thinly clad boy catches it easiest.

Doctors tell us that colds this fall are stubborn and hard to shake.

The old saw, "an ounce of preventative is worth a pound of cure," comes to mind when we compare the price of a good top coat for your boy with the doctor's bill.

Reefers are "Skating Coats" now; the high collar and side pockets changes the name—$1.50 to $5.00, and all the in-between prices—in styles as pictured.

PALACE CAR GARAGE.

The official car purchased for Mr. Harris during his short but exceedingly tempestuous term of office as traffic manager of the C. E. has been robbed of its contents and newly furnished and fitted and turned over to the use of Finance Minister Fielding and his family. For a party who were so democratic in opposition, that the sight of a palace car filled them with wrath, the liberals in power are doing very well. The car is now about as follows: The Cumberland—Mr. Tarte's car. The Montreal—Mr. Fielding's car. The Victoria.

MADAWASKA COURT.

At the October sitting of the circuit court, Judge Vanwart presiding, the chief case tried was that of Medie Dugal, administrative of the personal estate and effects of Joseph Dugal, against the People's Bank of Halifax. In March, 1897, Joseph Dugal, while putting wood into the cellar of the bank building, was killed by snow and ice falling from the roof. He left a widow and six children, in whose behalf the action was brought. The gist of the action was the negligence of the bank in constructing the bank roof with overhanging eaves and in allowing the snow and ice to accumulate on the roof. The jury returned a verdict of $1,000 damages—$600 to the widow and $400 to each of the two youngest children. The bank will appeal.

THE PROBATE COURT.

The will of the late Rev. Simeon Jones Hanford was admitted to probate Thursday and letters testamentary granted to the executors, Revs. Wm. H. DeVeber and J. Roy Campbell. The estate consists of $10,502 personal property. Dr. A. O. Earle, C. C. proctor. In his bequest Rev. Mr. Hanford leaves $3,000 to the Diocesan Church society of New Brunswick, $2,000 of which is to be devoted to the incapacitated clergy fund and $1,000 to general purposes. The sum of five hundred dollars each is left to his niece, Julia, daughter of the late Sir S. L. Tilley, and George, daughter of his brother, the late Thomas Hanford. The sum of five hundred dollars, or six hundred dollars, if needed, is to be devoted to a window on some other memorial in Trinity church, in memory of his father, the late James T. Hanford, and his two wives, Louisa and B. Caroline Hanford. The balance is left to the Diocesan Church society of New Brunswick, the interest of which sum is to be paid in equal shares to Emma, Margaret and George, daughters of Thomas Hanford, during their lives. At death the principal becomes the property of the society.
