How Hen. Mr. Costigan Has Been Enabled

On Wednesday afternoon T. Medley Richards was nominated for Victoria and Madawaska to oppose John Costigan. He addressed the electors from the hustings and spent the evening at the hotel. He was with Titus J. Carter, who has been actively conducting the campaign in his behalf. When Mr. Carter awoke in the morning he was informed by Mr. Richards that he had retired from the contest. This was the first intimation that Mr. Car-ter or any conservative had that there was anything wrong. Explanations are sought, but Mr. Richards merely says that his wife had dissuaded him from continuing the contest. Hundreds of electors who wished to cast honest ballots for honest government wish that Mrs. Richards had chosen an earlier and more opportune moment for exercising her persuasive powers upon her

John Connor and James Straton were at Grand Falls Mr. Connor came to the city last evening and Mr. Straton left for Ottawa. Both gentlemen laugh at the matter and deny that they had anything to do with Mr. Costigan's easy return.

All Boers over 14 years of age living outside of a radius of ten miles from Bloemfontein are being su rounded by British troops and brought here, to prevent their rejoining the commandoes.

CRADOCK, Cape Colony, Oct. 30.—The Dutch church is the only building left standing in Bothaville, owing, it is reported, to the strong British measures.

More Boer women have been deported from Jagerstontein. They were sent to Bloemfontein, where they are imprisoned with others, a few miles outside the city.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The foreign officials believe former President Kruger will travel incognite during his visit to the European capitals, relinquishing it in each city only long enough to permit an exchange of visits between Mr. Kruger and the head of the nation. His stay in Parls will not exceed 48 hours. The French government will not offer Mr. Kruger any formal function, though it is expected the city will tender him a demonstration which will be a scene of enthusiasm. The government will not take part in the reception, but will not, however, put any obstacles in the way of private plans of welcome.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A despatch to the Evening Standard says that Lord Roberts, who was scheduled to leave South Africa Nov. 15, has postponed his departure owing to one of his daughters being a sufferer from enteric fever at Pretoria.

HAMBURG, Nov. 1.—The Boersenhalle today says the gold seizure on board the Bundersrath at Cuxhaven, on the arrival of that steamer there from Delagoa Bay, was at the instance of an international syndicate of mine owners, whose product was taken by the Boers and Transvaal bonds of doubtful value given in exchange.

LUBEC, Me., Oct. 31.-Wuntam Ma son, an employe of the New England Sardine Co., is under arrest on the charge of attempting to take the life of Miss Jennie Griffin, while at work in the factory tonight. They were engaged at work in the packing room of the sardine factory, when, at about 10 o'clock, Mason approached a fellow workman named Roy Pasmore, say ing: "You are watching Jennie; well, here's semething else to watch," and immediately pulled a $2 calibre revolver from his pocket and fired at Miss Griffin, the shot entering the body just below the right shoulder. He then turned the weapon on Pasmore, but missing his aim, fired at himself, the bullet entering near the breast bone. Miss Griffin fell into the arms of Bernard Merrill, when Mason fired at her again, taking effect in the shoulder cap. A fifth shot was also fired, supposedly at Everett Newman, of whom it is said he was jealous. He had also previously quarrelled with Pasmore There are hopes entertained that the wounds of Miss Griffin will not prove fatal, but it is believed the self-inflicted wounds on Mason will give but little chance for recovery.

It is said that Mason purchased the revolver yesterday and said he was going to try and shoot a deer on his way home. He exhibited the weapon to Millie Hooper and made the statement that Miss Griffin turned pale when she met him. He shortly after had a talk with Jennie, and told her of his jealousy. Mason is a resident of Calais and a son of John Mason. He is 21 years of age and unmarried. He temporarily resides at West Lubec. Miss Griffin, who is 17 years of age, belongs at Grand Manan. They have both been permanently employed in the sardine factory.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.-The alignment of the powers on the British-German agreement is now complete Aside from Italy and Austria, whose adherence to the agreement was expected, owing to their political relations with Germany, Japan is the only one of the powers which has given unconditional assent to the agreement. As the matter now stands, five of the powers are united in all the terms of the agreement, viz., Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Austria and Japan: three of the powers, United States, France to the open door and the territorial integrity of China, but withhold action on the third clause to future procedure in case any power seizes territory Nelther the state department nor the Russian embassy has received information of Russia's answer, though the Associated Press in its London desratches announced that the reply had been received at the British foreign office on Oct. 30th, and unreservedly accepted the first two clauses. In regard to the third clause Russia referred the two contracting parties to the Russian circular of April 25, saying that she would modify her atitude according to circumstances.

LINA BELLE DEAD.

AMHERST, N. S., Oct. 31.-Lina Belle, the well known Quebec mare, died here at noon today from poisoning. On Monday night, during the temporary absence of her attendant, some person broke into the stable at the driving park and gave her a large dose of croton oil. In the morning she was discovered to be in a very pitiable condition, and was removed to the Terrace hotel stables, where everything was done to save her life, but the dose of poison had gone thoroughly through her. A post mortem examination being held. Mr. Laroche, who is in town, valued the mare at about five thousand dollars.

LORD LANSDOWNE

Purther Comments of the Landen Press on the New Foreign Secretary.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—If the Daily Telegraph's announcement had been a mere feeler to ascertain the temper of the public toward Lord Lonsdowne's appointment he would certainly never become minister of foreign affairs, but, although the appointment to the secretaryship has not yet been officially confirmed, it is accepted on all sides as a settled thinz.

The Standard, which says it has learned that Lord Selborne, under secretary of state for the colonies, and William St. John Brodrick, under retary of state for foreign affairs. enter the cabinet and that Charles Thomson Ritchie, president of the board of trade, will be given a higher post, says: "The appointment of the Marquis of Lansdowne to be her majesty's principal secretary of state for foreign affairs is an almost inconceivable blunder. He has neither the character, qualifications nor experience for such a post. The only plausible ex-Salisbury will still control the foreign office, while Lord Lansdowne relieves him of his routine duties."

The Daily Mail, which professes to be unable to believe that such an appointment is possible, says: "If Lord Lansdowne is appointed foreign secretary and some other gentleman agreeable manners is made first lord of the admiralty, the country may lament a great opportunity lost forever. The Daily Chronicle says: "We may well ask whether the country would have voted quite so "khaki" had it known of this appointment beforehand.

The Daily News observes: "Presumably the explanation of the appointment is that Lord Salisbury wants a man he can easily control in foreign affairs, which would have been impossible if Mr. Chamberlain had been appointed. In fact Lord Salisbury will still be the foreign minister, with Lord Lansdowne as his clerk." The Times to a large extent takes the view of the liberal organs, namelv. that Lord Salisbury will now find time to be the real premier and to exercise greater control over the whole cabinet, instead of a mere normal control. It believes the report of Lord Lansdowne's appointment correct, and defends him against newspaper attacks, saving: "The critics would find it hard to indicate whom they consider better fitted for the post." naming several rather negative dualities for the portfolio, the Times says it thinks it ungenerous to citicize until the country has seen what the new minister will accomplish. According to this list of appointments, Geo. J. Goschen, the first lord of the admiralty in Lord Salisbury's last cabinet; Sir Matthew White Ridley, who has been secretary of state for home affairs, and Viscount Cross, who was lord privy seal, have been dropped in the formation of the new

THE SPEED OF AN EARTHQUARE. Speaking of the Indian earthquake of 1897, London Engineering says the vibrations travelled to Europe, where they were recorded at very many stations, and no doubt yould have been equally well recorded at other places on the surface of our world had there been provided suitable instruments. there been provided suitable instruments. The preliminary tremors, which are probably waves of compression, travelled through the world to reach Italy and other countries with an average rate of 345 miles perminute, or 9.0 kilometres per second—a rate which it will be observed is higher than that at which similar movements can be transmitted through glass or steel. The large waves, which are probably quasiclastic gravitation waves, by travelling over the surface of the earth, reached Europe at a rate of 113 miles per minute, or 2.98 kilometres per second. It is likely that these latter disturbances reached stations in Europe by travelling from their origin in two directions round the world. As an indication of this, we are told that at several of Durable rope by travelling from their origin in two directions round the world. As an indication of this, we are told that at several of the European stations slight undulations are to be seen on the seismograms at times we should expect to find such markings, had they travelled from India to Europe by the longest possible route. From the period of these waves, which is taken at 22 seconds, and their velocity, their length may be inferred, one estimate of which is 34 miles; whilst their height, as deduced from their length, and the maximum angle of tilting, is estimated at 20 in. The slowness of the movement was such they could not be felt, whilst the magnitude was such that the unaided eye of an observer would not be able to recognize any differential movements in his surroundings. The largeness of these disturbances and their great duration, extending over several hours, preclude them from the category of tremors, vibrations, or miscroscisms. Easily applied. Government Arranging for Fake Food Opinions from Returning Soldiers.

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.-Under the caption Fake Food Opinions, the Citizen publishes the following: The government is losing and it knows it. Its attitude on the contingent question has been from the start to finish one of gross blunder, if not worse.

The country is roused and the electors are determined to mark their disapproval of its determined to mark their disapproval of its balting vascillating policy in the matter of determined to mark their disapproval of its halting vascillating policy in the matter of sending Canadian troops to help maintain the unity of the empire. More pronounced even is the indignation which burns in the breasts of he lovalists against the government for its attack upon the troops, in the matter of sending frauduent emergency rations that could no more save them than a leaden life preserver could save them from drowning.

In its desperation, the government has resolved to attempt to break the force of the emergency food fraud and, if possible, turn the fortunes of battle, which are now so heavily against it.

To accomplish this result the government has planned for a series of interviews with certain members of the contingent, who John, N. B.

arrived in Halifax per steamer Idaho this morning. These members have been advised of the intended interviews and requested to grant them. They are expected to give a report of the emergency ration that will help to save the government from the effect of the terrible indistment that has been framed against it by correspondents in South Africa. The gentleman to secure the interviews is Richard Birdwhistle of the Ottawa Free Press. He left for Halifax yesterday. He went at government expense. The fake opinious of the emergency food will have as little nourishment in them for the government as the fraudulent rations for our brave boys in khaki.

presided, and in opening the meeting stated the conditions governing the speakers. Each speaker would have one hour, and if any speaker did not ake up all his time the balance was to be given to the other speaker on the same side After stating this he introduced as the first speaker

COL. JOSEPH J. TUCKER. the liberal candidate for the city and county of St. John. He was given a good reception, and expressed his pleasure at again being nominated by the people of the county as their candidate. He had had the honor of representing them for the past four years, and he thought the large nomination he had received was a good guarantee that he had given them satisfaction. He did not on this or any other platform lay any claim to the title of a political speaker. He was not a public speaker, but the people had before them a specimen of what he could do. He was only going to say a few words before he left to the good sense of his hearers the question whether they would sooner have a representative who would work or one who could get on the platform and make a beautiful speech and then say good morning. There was not a public question in the last four years with which all the people have not acquired a familiar knowledge. They knew every action of his (Tucker's) life and knew whether, as their representative, he had filled the bill or not. If he had filled the bill he asked the people to vote for him, and if he had not filled the bill let them vote against him. If he was elected he promised faithfully that he would spare no effort to further the interests of St. John as he had tried in the last four years to de, and he thought that if further improvethem long, but he had said his little say and would now sit down. Col. Tucker's speech occupied little over ten minutes of the hour he was allowed to occupy.

The chairman then introduced DR. A. A. STOCKTON. who, on arising, was greeted with prolonged applause and three hearty did the I. C. R. get on the trade carcheers. He said it was a great honor to the liberal party to be represented by a man who could recount his whole stand hew far Mr. Blair was capable performance during four years in of successfully carrying freight over parliament in the space of five min- the 740 miles of the I. R.; under Blair's hypnotic influence he had tried to gerrymander this constituency, a measure voted against by Mr. Ellis, and as a retired military ficer he had voted to whitewash the (Cheers.)

Geo. R. Craigie said at Pisarinco a short time ago that Dr. Stockton had been striving for four years to obtain the liberal nomination. This was an absolute lie. Here Mr Craigie tried to interrupt the mee.ing, and Dr. Stockton sat down while the chairman appealed for order. On resuming, he said Mr. Craigie had made this statement before in 1899, and he had nailed it to his lips as a lie. The statement was absolutely false and Mr. Craigie knew it. The Telegraph averred that he had left the liberals in 1896. He had left them in 1891, in protest against Laurier's disloyal policy of comnercial union. At that time Laurier had stated in Boston that he was opposed to imperial federation, and as far as the Monroe Doctrine applied to Canada he was in favor of it and against European interference in Canadian affairs. This year of 1891 was a nemorable one in Canadian politics. It was in this year that a cheque for $5,000 came from Quebec to York Co. to assist in corrupting the electorate Mr. Blair had handled this money and refused to let it depart from his posession without a substantial salvage. (Applause.) Mr. Blair here positively contradicted the statement.

The Telegraph had said that Dr. Stockton had advocated annexation. This was a falsehood, and he challenged the writer of the article to fur nish proofs. That paper said that he had left Blair on account of a question of patronage. The firms of Manchester, Robertson & Allison and T. Mc-Avity & Sons were prominent stockholders in the Telegraph, and he askee them to state what they knew of his resignation. It was unfair for them to allow that paper to criticize him for an act in which they were participants. In connection with the reputation of the Telegraph he quoted words of Dr. Hannay written some time ago to the effect that it was weak, without veracity and was the servant of rings

The liberals boasted of the great things their policy of preferential trade had done for the country. John Charlton said providence deserved some credit for the prosperity of the country, but the government would deny that. If preferential trade was all that they said it was, he asked Mr. Blair why, under its influence, trade with Great Britain had only increased 121-2 per cent., while with the United States it had increased 59 per cent. (Cheers). According to Blair all the great men of Canada were in the liberal cabinet. The speaker assured the audience of the great satisfaction he felt at being on the same platforn. with one of these eminent statesmen and at being permitted to gaze at him. (Laughter). Mr. Blair professed great friendship for St. John. When did this begin to bud? Did it only spring into existence after he had caused a requisition to be circulated solicting names at ten cents apiece. If this great love existed previously why did he so shape local legislation that it would bear so heavily on St. John. In consequence of this budding affection he had caused over $50,000 per year, which ought to remain in St. John, to be taken into the provincial treasury. (Applause). Another evidence of this regard was his sneering reference to St. John during his campaign in York Co., when he said this city was jealous and intolerant and was trying to rule the pro-ance to the electors of St. John, conthe interest of Carleton unless compelled. What was the present diffidared Mr. Blair to repudiate any dis-He wished to ask Mr. Blair some questions which he could answer in his speech. What were these earnings and from what rived? Again he asked, what was the rate on grain from the lake front to Portland? What must the I. C. If the city What had we to do with the Grand Trunk, all the export freight of which went to Portland to benefit the workmade himself an active ally of the Grand Trunk to cripple the C. P. R. His agreement with the Grand Trunk allows that railway to haul freight to Montreal from a distance of say, 740 pay, while the I. C. R., for hauling it from Montreal to St. John, another distance of 740 miles, got paid for a haulage of only 375 miles. The C. P. R. were willing to agree that for any freight it collected on the L. C. R., even if it only hauled it from Sussex, to pay Mr. Blair a haulage of 830 miles, or else allow local freight Mr. Blair had stated that the trade and the steamships were coming here anyway, but Mr. Schofield, who knew his business, denied this. still Blair said he knew all about it. If the people elected Blair they would know all about it after Nov. 7. (Cheers.) It was nonsense for Blair to think he could change the rules of geography and make a 740 mile haul cheaper than a 297 mile one. (Ap-

the present government had carried out all its pledges. Blair himself had made no pledges. He lay low and kept quiet until after the general elections put the liberals in power, but the other leaders had made them and utterly failed in carrying them out. In connection with Blair's statements regarding the four steamers coming here for grain, the speaker asked him to tell the audience where the grain was to come from and what proportion of the through rate did the I. C. R. get for hauling it to St. John? (Ap plause.)

We were now making preparations to welcome home our fighting men from South Africa, and, said Dr. Stockton, if it had depended on the present government no such preparation would have been possible, for Laurier said at first that the militia act would not allow them to go and Tarte had opposed the sending. Dia Blair support or repudiate these. The speaker had been sneered at for making patriotic speeches. It seemed that among Blair's friends and colleagues it seemed as if a loyal word would stick in their throat as the "Amen" did in Macbeth's. If the electors of this constituency supported Blair in his winter port position they were going against their own interests. (Cheers). In closing he appealed to them to stand loyal to the liberal amservative ticket-(cheers)-to the party with the true imperial policy-(cheers)-and to the party that had welded these provinces into a great nation. (Cheers). Only a few days ago a life-long liberal had acknowledged to him that but for Sir Charles Tupper no contingent would have been sent to South Africa, and one of the brightest pages of Canadian history would never have been written. If Blair should be returned on account of an overdose of the resources of civilization it would be an intimation to whatever government was in power that we cared nothing for ous winter port trade. (Cheers). It was vital to the interests of every elector to stand to the liberal conservative party and cast their votes for Mr. Foster and himself on Nov. 7. The bes. interests of the constituency demand. ed that they should vote in this way, and he had every reason to believe that they would. (Prolonged cheers). fact that the citizens of St. John have any right to call on the C. P. R. to fulfil their contract. Over $750,000 had been spent by the city in connection with the winter port, and the C. P. R., when that money was spent, had said that it would neglect nothing that would tend to increase the trade of St. John. Had Mr. Foster no condem nation for that party. No, that was not on the brief. The C. P. R. could fix the present situation all right. Mr Foster had devoted much time to the question of Anglo Saxon honor, yet the C. P. R. showed none of it when they broke their agreement with the city. That was not a trivial phase of the question. Has the I. C. R. no interests at all that are entitled to consideration? Mr. Foster thinks not. It is sufficient for him to know that the ( P. R. had demanded it. The C. P. R. had said they would go to Boston What dependence could be placed in that statement, when they had already stated under a solemn covenant that they would stay here for all time. He did not know yet that Mr. Shaughnessy or any officers of the C. P. R. said they would go away. He was not hints and insinuations. He thought the C. P. R. would stay right here. Yes, for they thought there was to be an election then. The pot will be kept boiling until November 7th. After that nothing would be heard about it. The president of the C. P. R. had stated in a letter to Mr. Blair, written in September, in which he stated tha. an arrangement must be reached by Sept. 19th or they would enter into a contract with the Boston and Maine railroad and take their business to candidate for St. John city, was next Boston. The other side had given the advantage of the trace to the down off his high seat and make a weak kneed horse, and Dr. Stockton had been put up to speak against nothing. (Applause.) This gave Mr. tions. No railway man would answer | Blair about two hours in which to address the electors. He (Foster) was left with one scant hour. Just as far as that was concerned, he bespoke the kindly attention of the electors. (Applause.) Mr. Blair had stated that he awakened once at a midnight hour and heard a song wafted from a log in Cape Breton, which bore the refrain, Other Refuge, Have I None. The speaker once heard a song of that kind. It was in 1896, and he heard it all the way from Pestigouche down to Sunbury and Queens counties. It was sung by Mr. Blair. (Applause.) And what did Mr. Blair have to do. He was not happy till he had made the representative in parliament of those counties a post master of Marsh Hill, Ontario,, at a salary of $10, and thus got hold of the constituency for himself. (Applause.) Mr. Blair held that it was necessity rather than choice which impelled him (Foster) to come to St. John. The people knew his record and they knew that of Mr. Blair. (Applause.) They knew whether he (Foster) had to seek a constituency or not. (Applause.) Mr. Blair said he was not going to be beaten by Foster. (Applause.) He admitted that he was going to be defeated (Applause) but said it would be by the C. P. R. and the common council, and the St. John board of trade. (Applause.) There must be something wrong when we found the representatives of the people, the members of the common council, against Mr. Blair. (Applause.) There must be something wrong when the board of trade, made up, as it was, of the business men of St. John, were against him, as Mr. Blair said they were. Who represent you if they do Mr. Blair acknowledged that he was advocating an up hill But what a bad break Mr. Blair had just made when he said he did not want church and Sunday school imported into the contest (Applause). On calling on him he showed me a letter addressed to Mr. Blair which I was led to believe contained a draft. He wired Mr. Pacaud and received a reply to give me the letter and come home. I did not feel authorized to open the letter. The party talked over the matter, and I told him that we would want three thousand more, figuring up the Graft as I liked, but on opening the let-ter I found the draft in favor of Mr. Blair. The result was I could no use it, and I sent a friend up with it, and he had to go thirty miles above Fred. ericton to find Mr. Blair, and assuming we would have the balance they ap portioned it between York, Kings and St. John as I understood. I never had anything to do with the money. Next day I had a telegram stating nothing more could 'e done. Had we had another thousand in Kings Domville would have beaten Foster."

And now, said Mr. Foster, is there any liberal here who will dispute this statement when I tell him that the name at the bottom of this letter is that of Chas. W. Weldon. (Great applause). No wonder Mr. Blair does not like the church and Sunday school. They do not fit in with his idea of polltics, which he declared in Sunbury consisted largely in deals. (Applause). Mr. Blair said further than that that no government could be carried on without deals. (Applause). He (Foster) did not ask what a man's belief was, nor did he care about that, but what he did maintain was that honor and fidelity were standards which ought to be regarded as the highest, his case. If he proved it he was right. (Applause). No one could eradicate (Applause.) Why, then, did he not that from his mind. It was impossible prove it? There were half a dozen for him to cover all the questions row ferred to, as he did not have the time. He wished, however, to call attention to one omission on the part of Mr. Blair. Mr Blair knew it all. He (Foster) did not know anythire according to the minister of railways, nor did Mr. Shaughnessy, the president of the C. P. R. The officials of the I. C. R. had to bow to Mr. Blair, who had all the records of transportation and receipts, etc. He could give us all the information sought by Dr. Stockton. the Hustings

HAMPTON, Oct. 31.—The shiretown of Kings has been a busy place today. From early morning trains have been arriving from all the outlying settlements, and every train cast and west has brought its quota of electors from every parish in the county.

The Liberal Conservative Club threw its front an immense canvas announcing the fact in letters a foot long, "Liberal Conservative Headquarters." All morning the hall was thronged, but the necessary business was transacted with despatch and comfort, every convenience having been provided. The probate court room at the Court House was used by the friends of Mr. Domville, Robert Morrison the recorder of the court, occupying the judge's opened with the remark that it was customary for contestants on entering the arena to shake hands, and he offered his hand to his opponent to show he had no ill-will and that all would be square and upright between them. This over, he said he never stood before them with such a clean record. He came back, like the government. ity of the country showed how well the government had done for the people. They had promised the people in their platform of 1893 to revise the tariff and reduce the duties to a point which would satisfy the demands for a revenue instead of providing for trusts and combines, which put all the revenues into the pockets of a few manufacturers. In 1896 the country was going behind at the rate of two millions a year, but the Laurier government had paid off six millions of deficit and were now twenty millions to the good. Instead of raising the tariff, they did a greater business, with this result. Sir Charles Tupper, whom he denominated "that old reprobate," said if the liberals came into power every factory would be shut down and the country be ruined. Now that there is unbounded prosperity and the libbecause we stole their policy. The trade between Canada and had increased between fifty and sixty man could not get the shortest and millions since the present government came into power. This money had been paid into the banks, and thence went out to pay the farmer, the mechanic and the laborer, as they were employed in the various industries of the country. It went to build railroads and bridges, deepen canals, and all othe other great works which have been carried on, thus giving employment to everybody, so that there was no need of anybody going about the country seeking for work. He declared they had reduced the tariff on cotto ns and woollens, and in many other respects reduced the expense of general commodities. Under the fosgreat iron and steel industries of Cape Breton are being built up, so that steel ships will soon be built there instead of at Glasgow and other British and then broke them it was farewell ports. And the same thing would be done for St. John, where the building of iron ships would take the place of the lost industry in wooden ships. Looking at the past, the present and the future, there was no doubt that the people of Canada were so satisfied that the Laurier government would go back with a greater majority than

was next announced, and as he came to the front he received such an ovation that it was some minutes before he could address the chair. When there came a lull he remarked "That sounds a little different from the reception which greeted my friend. Domville," which brought forth another round of cheers. After thanking them for the rousing and gratifying way in which his candidacy had been received he proceeded to answer every statement of his opponent, whom he characterized as grossly ignorant of the progress of legislation, the growth of trade and commerce, and the condition of the country, or else of falsifying the position of affairs to blind the confiding men who for 28 years had been blindly following him through all the intricacles of his political career. Mr. Fowler Won Many Converts on | He pointed out the gross inaccuracies of fact and figures which the colonel had presented, and in a masterly manner demonstrated the incapacity of the government, its culpable extravagance and its record of abuse and scandal during the four and a half years of liberal rule. He also took up the circular issued by Col. Domville to the electors and scarified him by the force and point of his remarks. Domville claimed to have increased the postage mileage route in Kings county by over 25,000 miles a year, at an increased cost of $56, the utter buncombe of such a claim being shown up in strong terms. His claim to have built five new railway stations on the I. C. R. had no foundation, for there was none at Plumweseep or Passakeag as stateo, and moreover the contract for the latter had not been signed as was claimed by the colonel when brought up with his own statement. ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 3, 1900

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

If any one had told Sir Wilfrid Laurier a few months ago that he would get no advantage in elections by acclamation the premier would hardly have accepted the statement. Did not Mr. Tarte predict that the tories would fail to get candidates in many Queber constituencies? As a matter of fac: every seat in Quebeo but one is contested and with one possible exception every opposition candidate is a straight conservative. The failure to oppose Mr. Lavergne in Drummond seems to have been due to a miscalcu lation, but since the conservative candidate in the last contest did not get nearly enough votes to save his deposit the loss is not serious. In Ohtario the only candidate elected without opposition is Mr. Seagram, a conservative, who was elected in 1896 by a majority of 309, the constituency having been held in the two previous parliaments by the liberals. In South Lanark there is no government candidate, and in North Norfolk no conservative, but the cases differ, since both candidates in Lanark are straight conservatives, while in Norfolk Mr. Charlton has obtained conservative support by joining them on of the government and criticism of preferential trade. support In West Elgin, Ontario, a grit hive the conservatives are supporting an independent. In Lisgar, Manitoba the conservatives have endorsed Mr Richardson, who had been drummed out of the government ranks for his independence, and who is opposed by a Sifton candidate. In Winnipeg the candidates are an anti-Sifton liberal and a labor man. For the rest the issue seems to be joined fairly, and usually without the intervention of a

It will be admitted, then, the govern ment has won none of the honors that are usually obtained by governments on nomination day. All the signs point to the defeat of the government next Wednesday. We look for a goodly list of appointments to office in the next six days.

MR. LYNCH'S CHARGES.

Mr. W. H. Lynch, who was appoint trade of the country, was then and is now a strong liberal. But he is a man with a conscience and some public spirit, and the government has refused to act upon or even consider the information which he obtained. The result is that Mr Lynch has taken the platform to discuss these matters and since he is not allowed to speak at government meetings, he has spoken once in Montreal and once in Richmond county at conservative icably adjusted. meetings. Speaking at Richmond, Mr.

Lynch said: The condition of affairs in Dawson City a the time when Sir Hibbert, Tupper made his charges of official corruption in parliament was nothing less than a disgrace to the good name of Canada. Though it was not his duty to make an investigation of the charges against officials of the government, he had been thrown in close contact not only with the officials, but with the miners. He had no hesitation in stating that there existed among the officials a system of corruption and connivance at wrongdoing, which amply justified Mr. Ogilvie in saying in his report that no more was thought of a man perjuring himself in Dawson than of saluting a friend on the street. It was not the royalty of ten per cent on the gross output that the miners objected to so much as it was the blackmail that was levied upon them—and yet Mr. Ogilvie was unable to do anything to alter this state of affairs, and in his report admitted that he had not been able to severe entires worker. been able to secure evidence against wrong dcers. This was the crux of the charge made by Sir Hibbert Tupper.

Mr. Lynch went on to say that via the miners complained to him he told them that the ministers did not know of these facts, for they were honest men, desiring to govern the country well, and would not tolerate these of fences for an instant.

I assured the miners that I would go back to Ottawa and make a report, which would show the government the real state of affairs, and suggest a way in which that condition of affairs could be improved. I gave my word that I would tell the truth about the wrongs which were being done. I could have made money by recommending that the royalty be reduced in order that the miners should be satisfied, but I knew that it was not the royalty which was complained of, but the corruption which existed incident to the working of the regulations. I returned to Ottawa, made a true report as to the I assured the miners that I would go ba to Ottawa, made a true report as to the condition of affairs, and suggested the remedy. I fulfilled my pledge to the miners, but how was I treated? My report, which, if the government had acted upon, would have corrected the abuses complained of,

have corrected the abuses complained of, was suppressed.

* * And it was simply amazing to see the way in which evidence of the condition of affairs was suppressed. Even members of parliament who visited the country talked big in Dawson of what they intended saying about the disgraceful condition of affairs which existed when they returned home. At Vancouver they hedged, and by the time they reached Ottawa they were dumb. This was Clifford Sifton's work. He was determined the rublic should not know the true state of affairs. HALIFAX, N. S. Nov. 1.-At one o'clock this morning the signal at Camperdown sighted a steamer coming from the southeast. They could not at first make out her lights, but an hour later the craft was made out to be the steamer. Fifteen minutes more and the transport was at quarantine, wo miles below the city, and the royal artillery fired three guns from the Citadel, announcing to Halifax that the Canadian soldiers were home again. The transport anchored to await the dawn.

At seven o'clock your correspondent boarded a tug which steamed down to the Idaho. The officers and men were all on deck, looking up to the city, radiant in bunting and other decora-Already the garrison were at work

If there is one thing on which perfect unanimity exists it is that the men who are returning did what was stayed behind with Col. Otter did so expired details under Col. Pelletier" is how Rev. Mr. Fullerton designated the men who return today, and "The Royal Commandeered Regiment under Col. Otter" is what he called those who stayed behind. Every man on the Idaho heartily concurs in this description of the feelings of the men. Col. Otter, since the question of the stay ing in South Africa or the returning home again came up, has lost a great deal of the popularity he previously had.

The voyage from Capetown was an exceedingly pleasant one. They had very fine weather from the beginning till the day before yesterday, when a heavy gale sprang up and the prys had their first experience of rough weather. Still the voyage was not without serious mishap for a couple of was seized with a paralytic stroke. days after leaving Cape Verde in calm weather two of the Idaho's propellor blades broke off, leaving her with only two. This made the motion of the vessel somewhat irregular, and cut down her speed very considerably. Had it not been for the damage to her propellors the Idaho would easily have been in port on the 30th. The voyage was unmarked by any noteworthy incident. Captain Barker mentioned that a concert was given on board in aid of the funds of the Hull Seamen's Orphanage souvenir; programmes having been prepared by Lieut. Kay, the enterprise netting £35. Besides this many concerts were given by different companies. No drill was performed on the voyage home, the only parade was a daily one for five minutes in spection, chiefly to insure cleanliness There was no sickness worth speaking of, one or two cases of pneumonia having occurred, the patients now being convalescent. Captain Barker mentioned a ball given at St. Vincent by the Portuguese governor in honor of the City Imperial Volunteers, to which the officers of the Canadian regimen were invited. The visit at St. Helene was very interesting, 189 Boer prison ers having been landed there, and a visit made to Napoleon's tomb.

Speaking of the men who stayed be hind with Col. Otter, Sergt. Dixon, of Toronto, and a number of St. John men all fold me that there was hardly one of them who was there of his own free will, except the drafts and the members of the permanent force. "Why were the men so unwilling to port moved up the harbor to the dock ard, was memorable. The shieking of steam whistles, the booming of cannon, the cheering of many thousands along the wharves on the water front, the fluttering of countless wards of benting, all contributed to make the scene one that will never be forgot-At the dockyard the entire military force of this garrison regular and militia, was massed. The civil and military dignitaries of the city were all there. Within an hour after the sumburned and hardy soldiers had anded, the triumphal procession through the streets was on its way. Every soldier and sailor in Halifax that could bear arms was on the arch, and the officers were there as well as the men. The returned heroes vere greeted with tumultuous cheers all along the route, and around H company many of whom are residents of this city, the crowds surged and sway ed in excited enthusiasm.

Knowing that the relatives and friends of those in the contingent are anxious to learn of the safe arrival of the brave lads, the C. P. R. Telegraph company through its manager request ed Major Pelletier, who is in charge of the contingent, to notify the men that the company will transmit free a telegram from each to his friends notifying them of his safe arrival at Halifax.

After a religious service the contingent marched to the armories, which had been beautifully decorated, and it was here one of the finest sights of the reception was witnessed. The troops were met by a band of young ladies, who were arrayed in white and wearing tri-colored sashes. When the soldiers entered the armories, and before they had taken their places at the and glad as the men were to have tables, the ladies formed a guard of honor, lining out on either side of the banquet hall, and waved handker chiefs, and the Canadians passed and took their places at the tables.

Canada and the empire would not soon forget the story of Paardeburg. The procession tonight was a magnificent affair. The streets were a blaze of light. Fireworks blazed in all directions. The procession was superior in many respects to anything of the kind ever attempted in Halifax. The heroes were carried in triumph over the route, and cheers were tumultuous from the great multitudes that lined the streets. The western members leave for home by a special train at 1 o'clock, after having assembled at the armories at midnight. An interesting episode occurred after the men had been paid off and received their discharge. They were asked to deliver up their rifles. This they declined to do, saying they had carried their rifles through the South African war and they were unwilling to part with them now. Lt. Col. Pinault was appealed to, and the men were so persistent that he issued a proorder, pending future action visional allowing them to keep their rifles.

(Special to the Sun.)

HILLSBORO, N. B., Nov. 1 .- Attorney General Pugsley today wired Jas. Blight, J. P., before whom the information alleging perjury against John T. Hawke, G. R. Sangster and others, are laid, that these actions were taken for political purposes and asks the justice to delay further proceedings until he can get copies of the informations. This means that the leading officer of the crown has stepped in and used his official position evidentily to assist the party which is responsible for the creation and polling of the bogus votes to try to thwart the wishes of the honest electorate of Albert county.

A WILD CAT Visited Indiantown Tuesday Morning and Caused Considerable Ex-

There was quite a lot of excitement about the Star Line wharf at Indiantown on Tuesday morning a short time before the steamer Victoria left for Fredericton. One of the Victoria's deckhands discovered a large wild cat lurking ed in coming face to face with a dread-The wild cat's eyes flashed from under the steamer, and at every growl and scream the crowd nearly collapsed, Samuel Thorne, the Star Line freight clerk, produced a revolver and pumped two hot shots into the undomesticated pussy, but these had no other effect than putting the animal in a very aggressive mood. Capt. Frank Akerley rushed into the cabin of his schooner the lay of a poet and the lay of a pul- Pansy and produced an old time musket, which, though every persuasion was used, refused to work. Joseph McAleer took to a rowboat with an axe, but never approached the wild cat within striking distance. William Brogn, one of the Pansy's able seamen, was bolder than the rest, and started to climb down the paddle box hatch, but a long gouge out of one of his hands was the reward he received for his forwardness. Then Sandy Mayes, the Victoria's fireman, tried his trick He borrowed Mort. Day's trusty fowling piece and dosed the wild cat with a generous cartridge full of double B shot. The animal fell dead into the water, and as the Victoria was swinging from her wharf at the time, it was pulled on board, and is doubtless now amazing the natives of Fredericton. It measured 4 feet 2 inches in length. The loupcervier (lucifer), alias Indian devil, alias wild cat, is supposed to have sneaked aboard the steamer at Otnabog, although no definite conclusion as to where or how it got aboard the Victoria can be arrived at.

BARNHILL MILL FIRE.

The firemen of No. 5 company, north end. and their Fairville brethren combated the flames amongst the Barnhill mill lumber as late as midnight. They stood untiringly by their self-imposed work, and when they left there was no danger of any more lumber being destroyed. Today a gang of millmen continued to play streams of hose on the smouldering piles. In all the fire men worked eighteen hours without ceasing, and Mr. Barnhill feels extremely grateful for the great service rendered. About 6 o'clock last evening the Fairville engine broke a kingbolt and had to suspend pumping. No. 4 engine was then taken to the mill pond and started at work pumping out the water. It did invaluable service. William Rivers of Milford and Mr. Jordan have the thanks of the firemen for meals supplied and kind consideration.-Star.

Who Resents Blair's Insulting Reference to Sunday Schools and Prayer Meetings.

ST. JOHN, Nov. 1, 1900. To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-I attended the meeting in the Opera House yesterday afternoon expecting to hear some pretty lively "mud throwing," and in this was not disappointed, but when Mr. Blair went so far as to sneeringly refer to Mr. Foster as a "Sunday school and prayer meeting talker," I had no further use for him, and came out of the meeting fully determined to do my utmost to elect the man who Mr. Blair considered worthy of scorn and ridicule because he is a member of a body of Christian people who consider it no disgrace, but rather an honor, to be either a "Sunday school teacher or prayer meeting talker."

Visit of Mother Fidelis of Mt. St. Vincent-Much Sickness on the North

BATHURST, Oct. 30.-Mother Fidelis superioress of the Sisters of Charity of Mount St. Vincent, Halfax, has been visiting the sisters at Bathurst for some days. The mother is accompanied by Sister LaSalle, chief of the schools, and both ladies are on their W. H. Calder, his brother, at 23 Peters annual tour of inspection to the various branches of the order throughout the province. From Bathurst they go direct to the Ontario branch at Arnuse Kumfort Headache Powders. 10c. prior. An interesting double wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. John B. Beatteay, Prince street, west side, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, when two of her daughters, Miss Elizabeth (Lizzie) and Miss Mary C. (Mamie) Reatteay, were married - the first mentioned to F. Henry Stevenson St. Stephen, N. B., and the latter to G. B. Farlinger of Prescott, Ont. Rev. Wm. Penna officiated. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion, Miss Elizabeth wore a blue travelling suit, with hat to match, while Miss Mary wore a seal brown costume, with hat to match. Only the immediate relatives were present at the wedding. After a collation the two young couples left for Sydney, C. They were the recipients of many presents. The Longfellow club, of which Miss Elizabeth Beatteay was a member; sent her a piece of solid silver. The choir of the Methodist church presented Miss Mary with a handsome lamp, and the Sunday school presented gifts

MACNEILL-McCLASKEY. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the home of A. A. McClaskey, 114 Wentworth street, the marriage took place of Miss Alice Maude Corrina McClaskey to Frederick Chester Macneill, son of Rev. L. G. Mcnelli and accountant in the shipping firm of Scammell Bros. The home was tastefully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, and the bridal couple stood under a heart of evergreen and red berries. Rev. L. G. Macneill performed the ceremony, and a few near friends were the only guests outside of the family and relatives of the contracting parties. Miss Margaret Johnston of Fredericton was bridesmaid and Thos. Dunning, manager of the Telegraph, groomsman. The bride wore a becoming travelling suit of military blue cloth and grey hat. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Johnston was daintily attired in blue organdie, with hat to correspond. A wedding luncheon was served, and on the Pacific express Mr. and Mrs. Macneill left for a two weeks visit to Boston and New York. The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls, and to the bridesmaid a diamond and opal ring. There wer many beautiful presents to the bride and groom from friends and relatives. Both Miss McClaskey and Mr. Macneill are among the best known and mos popular of our city's young people particularly in musical circles.

PICTERMARITZBURG, Thursday, Oct. 18.—General Buller was presented yesterday with a sword of honor subscribed for by the people of Natal. In returning thanks the general spoke

"I landed at Capetown on October 31 last year, a general without an army. My army was to follow. I do not believe any general even with an army ever found so difficult a situation to face as I did at the moment that I disembarked at Capetown.

"At that moment Mafeking was be-leaguered, Kimberley was beleaguer-ed, the two main avenues across the Orange Free State-Bethulie Bridge and Norvals Pont-were in the hands of the enemy, and Ladysmith was in such a state that the first telegram I sent brought the reply that it would only be a matter of hours before that

"At that time there were in Cape Colony two-and-a-half battalions and one cavalry regiment, and in Natal south of Ladysmith two battalions of infantry and some volunteers who had gathered for the defence of their homes

"The situation was this: that my army-and a very fine army it was was not to arrive till December 22 seven weeks ahead, and the most important part-the cavalry and artillery-was, owing to the time necessary for the embarkation of the mounted corps, to be the last to arrive.

"I was never so tempted in my life to take any one at his word. I had begun to look upon the work in Natal as a forlorn hope, and I knew that if I failed in my first attempt to relieve Ladysmith I should run the risk of

I had taken on a task, and I was bound to see it through. "I am glad now that I came, as it has given me the opportunity to become associated with the most gallant army any general ever had the honor and pleasure of leading. I cannot describe to you what my men have done "To the volunteers it has not been a matter of soldiers' work only, but a question of day after day facing the unknown with stout heart and a bold face and with extreme skill.

"The war such as we have been fighting in the country from which I have just come is a war in which the individual soldier is day after day under fire. It is a tremendous strain, such as, I believe, in the history of the world no soldier had ever to undergo before.

WANTED TO DIE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Charles F. Jones, secretary and valet to the late millionaire, William Marsh Rice, whose death occurred under suspicious circumstances, made a desperate effort early this morning to commit suicide in his cell in the Tombs. He hacked the right side of his throat with a small penknife, making a deep wound and slightly opening the jugular.

He was discovered by one of the keepers about 4 o'clock. He had been bleeding for half an hour or more and was extremely weak. A call was sent to Bellevue hospital for an ambulance, and when Dr. O'Reilly reached the Tombs at 4.45 he found the valet lying in a pool of blood. The man would have died had he been fifteen minutes longer without medical assistance. Jones was committed to the Tombs with Lawyer Albert T. Patrick on Sept. 22, on the charge of forging Mr. Rice's name to several checks.

PETRIFIED BODY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.-While workmen were clearing up a cellar formerly occupied by the late Dr. Thomas S. Holmes, who had a drug store in Brooklyn, they came across a box securely fastened, which was found to contain the petrified head and trunk of a girl about twelve years old. The police made an investigation and became satisfied that the skeleton was the property of Dr. Helmes, who, it is said, experimented with an embalming process which he had used during the civil war, and the secret of which he dies without revealing. It was Dr. Holmes' boast that he had discovered a process of embalming that would ossify bodies. He was at work on it when he died.

Saturday evening an appreciative Miss Pauline Johnstone, the well known Indian poet and platform speaker. Her listeners were charmed with her wit, beauty and undoubted ability as an author and elocutionist. Among other nice things Miss Johnstone remarked it was the best conducted house she had ever met in a college town, and also the number of eyeglasses worn the audience a most Bostonese effect. Miss Johnstone was entertained at Senator Wood's, where small informal reception was held at the close of the evening.

Miss Johnstone's anecdote of the English woman's close questioning as to her parentage recalls a story told by the late Rev. Simon Gibbons rec-tor of the English church at Parrsboro, N.S. On the maternal side of the house Mr. Clibbons was a fullblooded Esquimaux, and from his appearance would be pronounced the real article, Simon-pure. During one of his many trips to England, where his eloquence drew large crowds, he was impulsively greeted by a lady, who said: "Dear Mr. Gibbons, do tell me, was it your father or your mother who was a squaw ?"

SOUND FOR GANONG.

Charlotte County Will Return Its Old Member,

By a Largely Increased Majority on the 7th of November.

ST. STEPHEN, Oct. 30.-As voting day approaches the great strength of Mr. Ganong in Charlotte county be-comes more and more apparent. He is surrounded by a united band of endone much to strengthen himself with the electors of Charlotte county and nothing to weaken his well deserved His election is practically conceded by prominent liberals. A King street merchant whose place of business is a liberal headquarters, and who is brought in touch with people from all parts of the county, estimates that they will reduce Mr. Ganong's majority to 300. The most that they hope to do is to reduce the conservative majority, though the liberal candidate still whistles through his paper to keep up his party's courage.

Some of the leaders say that Mr. Blair must have Charlotte county back of him and that he is prepared to spend a lot of money here. One of the heelers has stated that they have asked for $10,000, and expect to get it. They assert that money will go a long way among the islands, where the fishermen have had a season of poor luck, but they will find that the fishermen, like the people on the mainland, are disgusted with the government's record of broken promises and that their votes are not in the market.

The liberal candidate was loud in his announced intention of running a pure and highly moral campaign, but the people's faith in his great moral purposes has been badly shaken by the last issue of his paper. In the previous issue he insinuated that Mr Ganong and Mr. Chipman had pronised office to the greatly discredited John D. Bonness. These gentlemen sent him a communication for publication emphatically denying the assertion and requesting him to publish it. He acknowledged the receipt of the communication, but absolutely refuses to do justice to the men against whom he has borne false witness. / While the conservative candidate is supported by every worker he had in 1896, excepting one spell-binder who apparently follows the party with the longest purse, the liberals have to face important and numerous defections. In St. Stephen five very prominent workers in former liberal campaigns are either supporting Mr. Ganong or have announced their intention not to vote for Mr. Armstrong. These are known of because of their prominence. while scores of other all over the country will be heard from through the

The Burgess Scandal Came as a Great Surprise.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., Oct. 27 .- The will mean to them if there are no football match between Truro and steamers to load and get supplies in St. Acadia, on the college campos, on Friday, resulted in a victory, 3 to 0, in favor of Acadia.

The reception given by the Y. W. and J. M. C. A. in college hall on Friday evening was a very pleasant function. The young ladies of the seminary looked very beautiful in their light evening dresses. The guests were received by the presidents of the societies, B. S. Freeman, Walton, and Miss Minnie Colpitts of Elgin, N. B. Mrs. Lee Raymond is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Canon Brock

L. D. Robinson, principal of the Berwick high school, had a rib broken in a runaway accident, while his daughter had her leg broken.

Miss L. Calhoun of St. John is visiting at the home of the Rev. G. R.

The news of the scandal in connection with the Rev. C. C. Burgess, late of the Baptist church of Dorchester, came to the people of Wolfville as a complete surprise. Great sympathy is felt for the family, two of whom are graduates of Acadia. All the family are members of the Wolfville Baptist church. Mrs. Burgess is at present in Richmond with her daughter, Miss Blanche, who is teaching in the institute for colored girls.

KILLED HER SON.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 29.-Clifford

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 29.—Clifford Cawthorn, 16 years of age, was found dead in his bed today. His head was hacked to pieces with a hatchet.

Mrs. Cawthorn, according to the police, confessed later that she killed her son "because he was bad and smoked cigarettes." She declared, it is stated, that it had been her intention to destroy the whole family. Firemen discovered the crime when they were called to the htus, which evidently had been set on fire to destroy the body.

Mrs. Cawthorn is postrated over the discovery of her deed.

stories. One thing Colonel Domville had done and that was to vote with the government in support of the emergency food ration scandal, which me other strong supporters of the government could not swallow but boldly denounced. The question of preferential trade with England and the reciprocal advantages were gone into at length, the pledges of the lib eral conservative leaders being contrasted with the blundering folly of Sir Wilfrid Laurier when speaking at the Queen's jubilee, and the scorn and derision heaped upon it by other members of the government. The position of the questions at issue between the I. C. R. and C. P. R. was gone into, and the unbusinesslike character of Mr. Blair's action shown, while the widespread injury he would inflict on St. John by causing the withdrawal of the C. P. R. from the port was vividly depicted.

At the close he was again greeted with unbounded applause, which was continued for many minutes. Col. Domville replied for fifteen min utes, when Mr. Fowler again took the stand and for an hour held the crowd with constant outbursts of applause.

A number of liberals openly sald they ame prepared to support Col. Domville, but would now pledge themselves to Mr. Fowler. At the close prolonged cheers were given for Mr. Fowler, and finally Domville called for three cheers for the

Mr. Robinson Made a Telling apeech to the Electors.

NEWCASTLE, N. B., Oct. 31 .- The town was quiet today and the crowd much smaller than at previous nomi-James Robinson and John Morrissey were nominated, and on the public square, after dinner, the candidates made speeches.

Mr. Robinson spoke first. He had been true to his principles and had done his best for the county. Though he had not been in accord with the present government, he had been able to exercise a good deal of influence in regard to local matters, and the pubworks that had been undertaken had been secured largely by his energy in representing the local requirements to the ministers. He paid warm tribute to the late Hon. Peter Mitchell and Michael Adams, and hoped the government would do something to preserve the memory of Mr. Mitchell as one of the fathers of confederation. Mr. Adams was a strong man, a man of honor, whose name would live long and be cherished. The Canada Eastern railway, from Fredericton to Chatham, running through one of the finest parts of the province, should become public property It would comfort the farmers and help the lumber interests. If the government decided to purchase it, he would vote for it. He would also vote to New Brunswick in the Eastern Extension claims, the Indiantown branch railway should be extended to Blackville, and also to Red Bank, and he would do all he could to secure such extensions. The people on the north side of the Miramichi, from Newcastle to Tracadie, should have a railway, and he would do all he could to have one built for them, and a telephone line also. He would use his best efforts to get aid for an extension of the railway from Loggieville through Hardwick. He would promote the fishermen's interests and advocate a commission to inquire into any grievances they may have. They knew his record since 1890. He had been chosen as the liberal conservative candidate and had stuck to his principles He had never betrayed a trust, and would not do so if re-elected. When Island. At its close three cheers were the interests of the county were at stake he would vote without regard to party consideration.

Mr. Robinson made a good impression and was loudly cheered. Mr. Morrissey spoke next. He was the nominee of the liberals and asked for election as a supporter of the Laurier government. Prominent liberals, he said, had desired the party to support Mr. Robinson, because they were with him in the infamous Northumberland deal. It was simply a question of stumpage with them. This was why Mr. Lynch supported Gibson in York and Robinson in Northumberland. He claimed that the conserva-

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 31 .- In every county in Nova Scotia there will be a straight party fight on November 7th. Nova Scotia can be depended on to send to Cttawa a delegation of twelve or fourteen liberal conservatives. The most the liberals expect to hold is seven seats

Sir Charles Tupper's supporters will urely redeem Hants, Cumberland, Colchester, Digby, Inverness, Victoria and the second seat in Halifax, while they are equally certain to retain the seats now represented by liberal conservatives. spoke first. He said a combination of eircemstances had driven the conservatives from power. The literals had been in four years, and it was now for the people to condemn or approve. The liberals had gone to the people in 1896 with a clearly defined policy, that commended itself to many independent conservatives as well as liberals, but they had utterly failed to redeem their pledges either in regard to debt, expenditure or taxation. In fact, where they had promised reduced expenditure they had increased reduced to the catual expenditure of it, according to the actual expenditure of last year, by twelve millions, and, accord-ing to the estimate for the current year, by nearly twenty millions. He showed up the failure of the lineral policy in regard to reciprocity and its hypocrisy on the ques-tion of prohibition in taking a plebiscite at cost of a quarter of a million dollars though Sir Wilfrid knew just how the vot would go, because of the provincial plebis-cites in Ontario and other provinces, and had made the statement in his (Powell's) presence that Quebec was opposed to a pro-hibitory law. The liberals, to make a good showing in trade increase, had included six millions of corn merely going through Can-eda in transit, first as imports, then as exports, thus fraudulently swelling the trade totals by twelve million dollars. He also pointed out that the boasted increase was more apparent than real, as much of it was fue to the increase in the prices of con tities, which was an injury instead of a benefit. His opponent, Mr. Emmerson, wanted to be sent to Ottawa to hold up Blair's hands, but he (Powell) would go to Ottawa to represent the people and battle

MR. BMMERSON accused Mr. Powell of attempting to raise the race cry because he had referred to the Rverything Points to a Glorious premier's coming down here officially to speak in Westmorland against him. He was willing to give the conservatives credit for confederation, but they had only laid the skeleton, and it remained for the liberals to complete the structure and make Canada a united country. He charged that the C. P. R. was running Mr. Foster in St. John, and argued that the conservatives were favorable to the transfer of the Intercolonial to that road. He finished his speech in the darkness and there was considerable confusion. He charged part of the crowd with an organized effort to prevent him from being heard, and Sheriff McQueen said that if the crowd would not hear Mr. Emmerson it could not be expected that they would

He said that this was not a question between Mr. Carvell and l'imself, but between the two parties. He claimed that since he had been elected a member he had voted in the interest of the farmers, though in the case of his vote against free corn he had voted against his own husiness interests. He showed that his own business interests. He showed that the liberal party never meant to keep their premises and had not attempted to do so. With regard to Mr. Laurier, he was unable to separate him from Mr. Tarte and Mr. Bourassa. The conservative party raised no religious cry in attacking Mr. Tarte. For an hour and a half he defended the trade and other policies of the government, and then concluded with the astounding assertion that the only canvass the conservative school room orators used in this cam-paign against the government was that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was a Roman Catholic. A MILL BURNED.

Barnhill's Mill Destroyed Along with Much Lumber.

The Cause of the Fire Unknown-Mill had been Shut Down Since Saturday

(Daily Sun. October 81.) About three o'clock this morning an alarm from box 125, situated in front of No. 5 Engine House, north end, notified the fire department in the city, especially No. 4 company on City road, of a big blaze in Barnhill's mill at Pleasant Point, across from Indiantown. The whistle on Jordan's mill. nearby, was blown and the whole neighborhood aroused. Several of the Indiantown tugs, including the W. H. Murray, hastened to the burning mill. and Indiantown people put out across the river in small boats. Many firemen reached the blaze in this way. The ferry steamer E. Ross was put under steam and did valuable service. All the Fairville fire department was on of an hour for No. 4 engine of City Road to reach the conflagration by the way of Suspension bridge and Milford. By the time the fireman could get any water on the flames, the engines drawing from the Barnhill mill pond and the tug W. H. Murray from the river, the big sawing establishment was almost a mass of ruins. In fact even by the time the nearest neighbors discovered the blaze the mill was nearly consumed. All effort to save it would have been futile, so the attention of north end and Fairville firemen, under District Engineer C. F. Brown and Captain Moore, was direct-hand in a remarkably short space of time, and it only took three quarters

there were nearly a half million feet The flames of the mill and lumber roared and shot high into the air. All about was lurid. Large crowds gathered on the Indiantown wharves and Fairville people flocked to the scene in hundreds. The smoke was dense and stifling, and the heat almost un-

ed to the flaming lumber, of which

Geo. Earle, Beverly Black, Mill Engineer Leggett and others, who lived very near to the mill were awakened by the roar of the blaze, and George Earle's family found it necessary to move out. George Barnhill, owner of the mill, soon arrived on the scene, having been told by telephone of the fire. He, with others, broke into the office and secured the books, papers time after the firemen had got down to work before the mill itself was a heap of red hot ashes. The machinery lay tangled and twisted, and the only familiar spot about it was the winding roadway, baked almost into hard clay.

The blaze in the deal piles had gotten a firm foothold and was eating away at the lumber vigorously Stream upon stream of water was dashed on it, but it seemed next to impossible to dislodge it. Great volumes of smoke rolled forth, almost blinding the plucky firemen and darkening the sky. Up to the time of writing (noon) the fire amongst the lumber was vin-

Barnhill's mill was about twenty years old. It was the successor of a mill built and operated by Geo. Barnhill's father, about a score of years ago, but which also was destroyed by fire. On Saturday last it closed down for the season, owing to the scarcity of logs. The season had not been an exceptionally busy one, owing to the lack of water occasioned by that long summer draught, the run in all being 140 days. The mill was insured. The half million of lumber was insured for $15,000. Geo. McKean, the lumber dealer, owned the deals, and, it is thought about $6,000 worth is destroyed. The insurance on this loss will perhaps be between $3,000 and $4,000. Mr. Barnhill says to replace the mill as it stood before its destruction would cost over $30,000.

No reasonable idea as to the origin of the fire can be arrived at. Many people have whispered incendiarism, and base their suspicions on the fact that a few nights ago a small but vigorous blaze was discovered under the mill by the night watchman. The following clipping from last Thursday's Star explains:

"Night Watchman William Splane found Barnhill's mill at Milford on fire last Tuesday night and was successful in extinguishing the flames before they had gained much headway. The fire was discovered near the sluice and under the mill, and all about was saturated with kerosene oil. It looks as if incendiaries were about, but no effort has been made to trace the origin of the flames, which were just discovered in time." The ruined mill gave employment to between 75 and 100 men, and its loss will bear heavily upon the milling class at Pleasant Point, Milford, and Indian-with his whole soul. It is the man who attempts to do a dozen things who fails. He scatters his forces to such an extent that he accomplishes nothing. He hits nothing hard; his best blows do not amount to much: they may abuse or entertain, but that is all. He needs to localize his efforts. It is the human element of that carries great reforms, Camighty revolutions and makes the ded better. It is the power that is not pushing the world forward in its ni rvellous progress. On lesson I want to impart, and fix in your minds. You must not insist too much en your defects or deficiencles. Find out what kind of capacities you have, everybody has some, and work those for all they are worth. If you do this honestly, you will be successful at what you have undertaken. You may not be able to write an opera, fight a great battle, or paint a great picture, but you will succeed in that thing for which you have genuine capacity and f.tness. Life has no greater prize for any man.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE. ICHAEL KELLY'S COMPLETE REFU TATION OF THE FALSE CHARGES

MADE BY HIS POLITICAL

ENEMIES. To the Editor of the Sun: Sir-Had Progress, which in its issue of the 20th inst. contained an anonymous letter from St. Martins, attributing to me improper reasons for leaving the government ranks, had the fairness in its issue of last week either to have omitted altogether my letter, or to have given its readers its two last paragraphs, which would have fully explained those portions published by it, i should not now claim a little of your space. And Mr. McDonough's attack in Friday's Telegraph would also have been disposed of, as it is simply a repetition of, though written previously to the article contained in Progress.

Progress.

Here is the paragraph which that journal office and secured the books, papers and other valuables.

For a while it looked as if the firewas going to be driven by the fresh northerly breeze right over to Jordans big mill. Most of the Jordan mill gang was by this time on hand, and a steady stream of water was played on the roof and sides of the mill, undoubtedly saving it.

It was but a comparatively short time after the firemen had got down

Mr. McDonouga's sudden rush into print, Mr. McDonouga's sudden rush into print, in which he says that even now I would accept a position from the government and return to the fold, may be better understood if the report of a prominent liberal here be true, that he (McDonough) is to be made collector of customs at this port. This may or may not be true, but if a fact it throws some light on his wish to measure my corn in his own bushel.

Yours respectfully, MICHAEL KELLY. St. Martins, N. B., Oct. 29, 1900.

DOGS AND DEER.

A few nights ago two of the finest deer in Rockwood Park were killed by dogs and another one was considerably injured. The dogs dug the earth from under the fences and got at the animals. They killed two does, one of which last year gave birth to triplets. The loss is a considerable one to the public, for the deer were not only a great attraction, but they were kind, gentle and affectionate animals. As regards dogs, almost everybody appreciates their good qualities, but, at the same time, the laws for their government ought to be as determinedly enforced as the laws respecting other members of the community. Unlicensed dogs should not be allowed, and the law requiring every dog to wear a collar for his identification should be carried out. Those dogs which have no one to pay their license fee or to provide them with a collar or otherwise to give them an orderly and legal existence should at once be banished. The police authorities should at once take steps to have the dog law en-

THE BAILEY MURDER.

Best of Sackville, the Accused Man, in Good Spirits.

Evidence that the Police Believe Will Show that Two Men Took Part in the Crime.

(From our own correspondent.) BOSTON, Oct. 30.—John C. Best, the former Sackville man who is held in connection with the murder of George C. Bailey at North Saugus, four weeks ago yesterday, was brought into court at Lynn today for a third time. The government attorneys asked for a further continuance, and as this was agreeable to Best's lawyers, the case will not be called until Nov. 9. Best is still apparently in good spirits. He declines to discuss the case on the advice of counsel. The authorities are working hard to establish a stronger chain of evidence against Best, and possibly against a cond man.

The latter part of the week the inquest on the death of Bailey will be held. This will be private.

A new clue has been furnished the olice by W. J. Dawson, who lives on ti's road to Floating Bridge, where the pody was found Oct. 17. The night before Mr. Dawson was awakened at midnight by a rapping on the door. He went to the window and a man's voice was heard asking how to reach a blacksmith named O'Connor or Connelly. Dawson went out and talked with the stranger, who had another man with them. They had a black horse, but no wagon was in sight. They explained that they were market men on the way to Boston and that one of their horses had cast a shoe. The man who called Dawson out stood where the light struck him, and Mr. Dawson is impressed with the belief that he resembled the published pictures of John C. Best and in a general way corresponded in person to the descriptions of Best. The other man was tall and weighed about 200 pounds. This would seem to bring the possibil ity of an accomplice into the case, something the police suspected at first but afterwards doubted. Now they have taken it up again. The fact that Best had the black mare shoed Oct. 12 by T. P. O'Connor, a Water Hill blacksmith, gives the police reason to consider Dawson's statement as im-

A TEMPERANCE BAR.

(Portland, Me., Press.) Not all of the bars in the hotels are closed. The bar at the Preble house was open Saturday evening and was doing a good business. It has been open since Wednesday, but nothing is being handled over its counters except

"We have the bar here,' said one of this week we decided that we might just as well use it. We sell no liquor, a manner that drew marked attention either beer or whiskey, nothing save and much applause from those pressoft drinks this trip. It wouldn't do at all to sell anything else. If we did ing cheers for the Queen and Geo. W. the word would get around in a minute and as things are now I guess we would be hanged." At the other hotels the bars are closed tighter than a drum. A few weeks before the September election one of the hotels engaged a swell mixer of drinks from Boston. The expert came down, got the lay of the land and liked Portland tip top. Just before election day he returned to Boston to make a brief visit. When he heard the news of the political landslide he decided to remain in Boston.

The employment agents are finding it hard work to get enough men to supply the demand for loggers, and are scouring the state for recruits to the woods army, while many men have been hired in Boston.

Wages are better, said an employ ment agent, than in 1899. Last year, up to Dec. 1, swampers got $18 to $20 a month, and choppers, teamsters and sled tenders $22, while now the rates the others. Barney Kelley has already brought 150 men from Boston to work in the Penobscot woods, and he left Friday night, accompanied by William Murphy of Oldtown, to get a crew of 50 men for Cornelius Murphy's camps. One employment agent has sent 200 men to Connecticut, and has orders for more. It is estimated that 6000 men will be required to get out the 200,000,000 feet of logs to be cut on Penobscot waters this winter, and 2000 horses. Of this number of men, it is said about 4,000 have gone into the woods, leaving 2000 yet to be hired.

DO NOT FAVOR ANNEXATION

ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., Oct. 30.—At an extraordinary meeting of the colonial council at St. Croix, Monday, the vice-chairman denounced the statements made by A. J. Blackwood, the U. S. consul at St. Croix, and chairman of the colonial council, in an interview printed in the New York Times Oct. 26, in which Mr. Blackwood was quoted as saying the sentiment of the people of the Danish West Indies is strongly in favor of annexation. The vice-chairman said the allegations made were opposed to the facts in the case and that Mr. Blackwood spoke without the council's authority. A resounted allegations made were opposed to the facts in the ease and that Mr. Blackwood spoke without the council's authority. A resoution was adopted to cable King Christian of Denmark "submissively expressing" the wish of the inhabitants to continue under the Danish crown, and expressing the belief that annexation to the U. S. would be against the wishes of a majority of the inhabitants. Some of the members protested against the passage of the resolution, but the vice-chairman overruled them.

There was a torchlight procession Monday night, styled "The people's protest," a very large and orderly crowd, headed by a band of music, marched through the town The houses were decorated with Danis flags, and the procession dispersed cheering for Denmark.

date for the local assembly, made most effective impromptu speech. But perhaps the most telling addres was that of Mr. Branscombe, a school teacher at Somerville, who is evidently thoroughly posted on the politica questions of the day. He said that at the last general election he had presided in the liberal interest at a meeting at Waterville. He thought that some scheme of reciprocity would be an excellent thing for this county, and believed that the liberals if returned to power could secure it. He had watch ed their course since attaining power and was thoroughly undeceived and disgusted. The last liberal vote he had cast was at the general local election At the by-election he had voted for Mr. Flemming. He could see nothing in the liberal policy but a long record of broken promises. Mr. Branscombe's speech had a most telling effect on the audience. E. M. Shaw, who was a delegate to the celebrated Ottawa convention, was given a courteous hearing while he spoke briefly in defence of the present administration. Times were prosper ous, he said, and therefore the government should be supported.

SUSSEX, N. B., Oct. 27 .- The public meeting held in the I. O. The hall was taste fully and appropriately decorated with flags and bunting, and every inch of standing room was taken. In front of the stage were pictures of the Queen, Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper, while the walls were adorned with mottoes and pictures of Hon. G E. Foster, Hugh John Macdonald and others. Col. H. Montgomery Campbell in a few appropriate words introduced the speakers of the evening, Mr. Murray the bar tenders Saturday night, "and and Mr. Morrell of St. John, who discussed the issues of the campaign in ent The meeting broke un with ring

BIG GAME IN MAINE.

(Bangor Commercial)

On Friday the receipts of game were very large, being the second largest of the season. There were received in Bangor 109 deer and 13 moose, bringing the record for the week up to 423 deer and 43 moose and for the season to 1,000 deer and 56 moose. This is a gain of four deer and a loss of two moose over the corresponding week of last year, and a loss of 251 deer and six moose for the entire season as compared with last season. The record for the corresponding period in 1898 was 1036 deer and 62 moose, showing that the falling off this year from that season is but 36 deer and six moose. Leslie Tozier of Patten, Joseph Sears, George Meadows and Daniel Untig of Fort Fairfield, who were brought to Bangor on Thursday night by Wardens Pollard and Nichols on the charge of killing a calf moose, as told in Friday's Bangor Daily News, were arraigned in the municipal court on Friday morning. All but Tozier pleaced are $22 to $24 for swampers and $26 for guilty. Tozier was adjudged guilty and the four were sentenced to four months in jail and to pay a fine of $500 and costs, each. Tozier appealed and furnished bail, the others were committed to jail.

WORLD'S LOST SQUADRON.

If all the ships that go down in a year could be refloated and mobilised, they would form a mighty squadron. No fewer than 263 were lost during the first three months of this year.

"Lloyd's" has just issued their memorial card, the quarterly return, and it it one may trace the shipwrecks and collisions the world round, and note how the various nations have suffered.

The British Isles, for instance, los sixty-seven steam and sailing vessels, being 75 per cent. of the total of vessels owned. The colonies lost thirteen, cr .64 per cent. America lost twentyfour, .88 per cent.; Holland only one, of .26 per cent.; France twenty-three, or 1.95 per cent.; and Germany twentytwo, or 1.31 per cent. The biggest loss was Norway's, fifty-four, or 2.14 per cent.

While Great Britain lost more ships than any nation, the proportion lost to the total number owned was comparatively small.

VIKING SHIP EXHUMED.

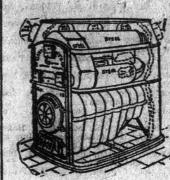

Antiquaries will be interested to hear of the discovery, near Leba, in Pomerania, of a Viking ship in a tolerable state of preservation. The vessel is 13 feet in length.

The upper part was found imbedded in swampy ground, and was in a very clapidated condition, but the lower part, which was buried in sand under the marshy soil, was perfectly intact, The ship has been conveyed to Stettin, and will be deposited in the museum he Conservatives of the Riding Send a Message of Encouragement to Their Provincial

Brethren. BATHURST, Oct. 30 .- Mr. Blanchard returned to Bathursi from the lowmade a careful report to the central F. M. LORD ROBERTS, committee here. He says that without the slightest doubt his majority in Caraouet, Shippegan, Inkerman, Samnerez and St. Isidore will be as large MAJOR-GENERAL if not larger than in 1896. The conservative party is solidly united now. and working to a man throughout the county. Besides public meetings in each district Mr. Blanchard, accompanied by his friends, made a house to house canvass in every parish, with the result that he can almost count his majority. The parish of Beresford is of course Mr. Turgeon's stronghold, but even there Mr. Blanchard counts on a larger vote than in 1896. The Acadians in Beresford are very anxious to elect Mr. Turgeon, as they have ever been, in order to have a man of their own to represent the county and thus control the patronage in the event of the liberals being returned to power.

There is not the slightest doubt of Mr. Blanchard's election by a large majority, and Gloucester sends a mess age of encouragement to the conservatives throughout the province to stand firm and strong to their colors no matter what may be said or what stories may be circulated. Liberal money appears plentiful in and about Bathurst, and we can state for an actual fact that it is going begging on our streets today. We know of several cases where it has been in dignantly refused, and the men who offered it insulted.

HAVELOCK.

A La ge and Enthusiastic Liberal Conservative Meeting-Train to Petitcodiac

HAVELOCK, N. B., Oct. 31.-A large and most enthusiastic audience greeted Messrs. Stockton and Sproul last evening, when they took their places on the platform of the public hall to address the electors of Havelock in the interest of the conservative party. The hall, which was gay with bunting, was crowded to the door, and the best of order prevailed. Conspicuous in the centre of the platform hung a life-size portrait of the late Sir John Macdonald, draped with the Union Jack. Trueman Alward, brother of Silas Alward of St. John, occupied the chair, and a number of prominent conservatives were seated on the platform, among them being several who last dominion election were working in the interest of the liberal party, but who today are prominent conservatives. The addresses were forcible and convincing. That of Mr. Sproul was acknowledged even by his political opponents to be a masterpiece of tive candidate and enthusiastic meeting was held in the Temperance hall on Tuesday night in the interests of the liberal conservative candidate. Spirited addresses were delivered by C. E. A. Simonds, A. W. Baird, Louis Bliss and the chairman, Warden Geo. A. Perley. Although the hall was filled to the utmost capacity the only prominent grit present escaped by the back door, shortly after the meeting was called to order, when he found that he was alone.

MAUGERVILLE

A grand rally will be held on Monday night at the Court House, Burton, at which J. D. Hazen will be present. Archie Harrison has gone with C. L. B. Miles, C. E., on a railway survey. Thomas Cox is home again after a sojourn of several weeks on the North Shore. He brings a good report of the political conditions.

A letter from W. J. Cox, who is still in the fighting line at Pilgrim's Rest, near the Devil's Knuckle, South Africa, states that he is "well and fit." Rev. Mr. Lewis, who has had charge of the F. C. B. church in Lincoln, has moved to Wickham, Queens Co.

New Brunswicker of the Royal Cana. dians Visiting the Hub.

(Anglo-American, Boston, Oct. 27.) Corpl. Jas. Pringle of "G" company, Royal Canadians, lately returned from active service in South Africa, was tendered a reception by a few of his Boston friends on Tuesday evening last. Corpl. Pringle is visiting his friends, W. F. Cadwallader, accountant of the Bank of Nova Scotia, in this city, at his rooms, 552 Columbus avenue, where a number of gentlemen gathered and listened to a most interesting talk on the Boer war. Corpl. Pringle enlisted in St. John N. B., about twelve months ago, and was with the first Canadian contingent in South Africa nine months. Enenic fever cut short his fighting career at Bloemfontein; not, however, before he had seen some ten engagements. and some of the stiffest fighting of the campaign. At Paarderberg he was in the front trench at a distance of 65 yards from the Boers, and describes the fire as most severe. The Gordons with whom the Canadians were brigadthey did the Highlanders in the disas so long continued, it was equally as severe while it lasted. Corpl. Pringle seemed to have borne ed over his head and mutilated many a less fortunate fellow, but he emerged without a scratch.

A particularly interesting and instructive (we might say corrective) part of the talk, showed press reports in America most erroneous in some very important matters. In them Kitchener was blamed for the heavy losses in the charges at Paarderberg. Kitchener had nothing whatever to do with the order. We have been told of the ill-treat ment extended to the Canadians while in England. If our good friends who started such absurd stories could have heard Corpl. Pringle's description and een his photographs of the luxurious home in which he was entertained for two months, along with five other Canodians, invalided home, we should have corrections and apologies galore.

During the evening, Mr. Burns, teller of the Bank of Nova Scotia, on behalf of the staff of that popular instigreved. Corpl. Pringle expressed in a some gold watch charm, suitably engraved. Corpl. Pringle expressed on neat speech his appreciation and thanks, and sat down amid a storm of amplause.

SAMUEL PHILO GOLDEN.

Who Plans to Dio Dec. 31, is a New York Man Who Puts Implicit Faith in Warnings Received in Dreams

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Samuel Philo Golden, who has been warned by four dreams that he will die Dec. 31 next, and that his uneral will be held at 2 o'clock in the after toon of Jan. 2, and who implicitly believes the warnings, is a man of melancholy dis-resition, but of strong will. For years, however, he has been a victim of disease which he has spent a small fortune to rid hirself of, without success. His troubles are rheumatism and Bright's disease.

Mr. Golden is a graduate of. Cornell University, and when he was a student he was a fine athle e, six feet two in height and a fine athle on the state of the weight hill. reighing 208 pounds. Today he weighs but 30 pounds. Several physicians have foretold is early death, but a number of astrologists and phrenologists, who have recently examined him, unite in predicting long life for him. One trait that he has developed while lil has been an interest in medicine, and he has read all the works he could get hold of treating of his own allments. His very studies have tended to make him morbid.

One peculiar trait about Mr. Golden's recent dramm is that he helicone the cent ireams is that he believes he was conscious and wide-awake when he has them. They all agreed as to the time of his death and funeral. In one he read the his death and funeral. In one he read the facts on a tombstone, in another he saw his death notice in a paper, in a third heard the funeral notice read in church, and in the fourth his grandmother's spirit seemed to come and warn him of the approaching end of his troubles.

Until recently Mr. Golden has never been a believer in signs or visions, and he is not a superstitious man. He has written a book and had some success as a public speaker. and had some success as a public speaker He accepts his death with resignation, having made his will and planned to go to his old home at Holmdel, N. smith's shop still remain here, but there no fire, no bellows with a grimy, swarthy stalwart blacksmith swaying on the hand with one hand while he gently pokes the burning coal in the forge wift the other. There is no smoke here and no flying sparks for is there the long familiar odor of the burning hoof when the hot shoe is laid against it. These places are horseshoeing parlors.

One of those uptown occupies a long room that was designed for a store in a building that stands on a corner. The shop proper, occulying the greater part of the space, opened on the side street. The office, or reception iccm, of the horseshoeing parlor at the front end of the store, occupies a square of space, of the width of the building and running back about twenty feet, where an office railling is placed, dividing the reception room from the blacksmith shop.

On the floor of the office or reception room there is a two-hundred-dollar run; there are comfortable chairs around, for visitors of for customers waiting; there is a desk for the management there are potted palms. People's Bank Buliding, Montreal.
