

JURY HOPELESSLY DIVIDED IN ITALIAN MURDER CASE

Despairing of Reaching Verdict, Court Was Adjourned at 1 O'Clock This Morning and Jurymen Locked Up for Night--Decision Turned on Matter of Premeditation.

The case of the King vs. Andy or Giovanni Rossi, charged with the murder of a compatriot named Diego Saracusa, in the latter's house on North street, opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the court house.

After the counsel had addressed the jury and his honor had delivered his charge, that body retired at 11 o'clock. At half past twelve this morning they returned to court for instructions and again went back to the jury room.

The features of the trial were the masterly cross-examination of Deputy Chief Jenkins by Mr. Baxter and eloquent addresses to the jury by the counsel for the crown and defense.

At the morning session the following jury was selected: William J. Nagle, Gilbert C. Jordan, Waldemar Pedersen, Nedham S. Spurgeon, Walter B. Irving, George W. Folkins, Alex. Corbett, Charles Robinson, Thomas J. Dean, David B. Pidgeon, Thomas E. Dillon and William C. Magee.

Enoch O. Parsons, Harry R. Coleman, George Dick, Samuel Eberhardt and Charles H. Knodell were challenged. The others summoned were not present.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said Mr. Hazen, "you have just heard read over the indictment charging the prisoner with the murder, on June 25th, of a compatriot, Diego Saracusa. Both of these, I understand, are Italians, and have been living in St. John for some time.

Antonio DeBenedetto, scissor grinder, was the first witness at the afternoon session. Witness was acquainted with the prisoner. He said he saw Saracusa on the Friday before he was shot. "I saw him in his shop. I buy some macaroni and cheese."

Witness told about speaking to the deceased on his deathbed and getting no answer. Witness was not cross-examined. Charles A. Cain was next sworn. Witness lives at 67 Smythe street. He is a Frenchman. I saw prisoner Saturday night before the crime was committed.

Cross-examined by Mr. Baxter, witness said that a couple of days before he had a conversation with the prisoner in which the latter said: "I am discouraged; I am going to poison myself."

cheaper price than he charged other customers. Joseph Jones, another brother of Mrs. Grigor was next examined by the attorney general. Witness said that on midnight of Saturday, June 25 he was passing Saracusa's shop on North street. Heard both Saracusa and the prisoner having a "growl" (argument) in the Italian language.

Cross-examined by Mr. Logan witness said that the shop was small and that he could easily hear the accused and deceased talk. Witness testified that the loudness of the voices of the two were about the same as his (witness) while giving the present testimony.

The Doctor's Testimony. Dr. Walter W. White was the next witness. Dr. White was present at the post mortem examination of the body of Saracusa. Dr. White told of the result of the examination. He described the path of the bullet and said that when a bullet strikes a bony substance it is likely to travel in any direction.

Dr. Doulay of the hospital then testified. The doctor told of the operation on the head of Saracusa. Dr. Corcoran, who conducted the post mortem, corroborated the testimony of Dr. White.

Detective Killen. Detective Patrick Killen was the next witness. Witness told about visiting the house on Sunday, June 26 p. m. Mr. Killen then went to Westford where he arrested the prisoner on a charge of wounding Saracusa. The following is what the detective said on examination in chief by Attorney General Parsons:

"I got on the car next to the baggage car and sat in the last seat from the engine in that car. I went to where he was sitting, sat down myself and said 'Hello Andy.' He replied, 'my name ain't Andy, it is John. He then admitted that his name was Rossi. He said 'yes' I said I was arresting him and would take him back to St. John. I took this watch and this money from him. I then warned him legally. I said, Andy Ross I am going to warn you as the law directs."

Mr. Baxter—Did you question the accused? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did he make a statement in consequence of those questions? A.—Yes.

22 Statements Admitted. Mr. Baxter objected to any statements or alleged confessions made by the accused in answer to questions put by the witness.

Mr. Baxter argued at some length in support of his objection. Mr. Baxter (to witness)—The prisoner did not seem to comprehend the nature of the warning?

Mr. Baxter then continued his argument. He cited a number of authorities. Attorney general in reply gave an exhaustive review of the authorities against Mr. Baxter's contention.

His Honor admitted the statement. Mr. Baxter intimated that he would ask for a case reserved on a number of points arising out of his objection.

Q.—Then he said in fun, "I will cut his throat." A.—Yes; in fun.

Re-examined by the attorney general witness said he believed Rossi was serious when he told he would cut Saracusa's throat. The former went out with Mr. Killen. Witness said that if he had not seen Rossi meant to kill Saracusa.

The Woman in the Case. Mrs. Minnie Grigor, or Jones as she is sometimes called, was the next witness. Witness' evidence under direct examination by the attorney general was a repetition of her testimony at the preliminary examination.

ANDREW ROSSI.

Q.—Was it put down just that way? A.—I could not swear that the answers as put down were the exact words uttered by the prisoner.

Witness described the conversation before the statement which he took down was made. After the detective explained the purpose of the interview to the prisoner the witness asked the prisoner if he understood what had been said. The latter said that he did not and the witness then repeated the warning saying that he might be making evidence against himself.

Cross-examined by Mr. Baxter the witness said he understood what had been said by the prisoner understood what was meant by the word "warning." He only had heard him speak four words previously. He assumed that the prisoner understood when he answered "yes."

He took down the exact words of the prisoner. If the latter in response to a question where he came from had said "Montreal," the single word would have been put down with nothing to show its meaning. Nothing was said by the prisoner that was not taken down. The answers were secured without difficulty. He could not say that the prisoner would not have made the statement if he had desired.

In reply to the Attorney-General witness said that the prisoner had no difficulty in speaking English. He had to ask him if he understood only one expression which he used. That was the word "instant," used in connection with a date.

Mr. Baxter—I would formally object to the admission of the evidence on the same ground as before. I would also ask that the whole evidence of Detective Killen be struck out. It now appears that the form of warning given by Detective Killen was the same as that given by him on the train and the form was not understood by the witness.

His Honor—"It is my belief that the prisoner understood what was said to him but strongly doubt whether he understood that he could refuse to answer without prejudicing himself. Owing to my doubt I will admit the confession subject to objection."

The Attorney-General then said that as His Honor believed that the prisoner understood the questions and answers he would ask that the confession be admitted.

Confession Read. The witness then read the statement to the Attorney-General the witness again declared the prisoner said every word before he wrote it down.

To Mr. Baxter witness said that he would not swear that the words as set down were first heard from the prisoner's lips. He could not swear that the sentences were not framed up between them before the prisoner said them. Killen might have done it; he could not recollect. He did not recollect that the prisoner said very much more than was put down on the paper. With regard to the laughter mentioned, witness believed that the prisoner meant sneering and provoking laughter.

Mr. Baxter—"Then, as man to man, in the name of all that was fair minded, why did you not make an effort to get something of that down on the paper, something to explain the man's position, something to give a reason for his conduct?"

Ans.—"I took down what he said." Q.—But everything he said was in answer to a question was there no one there to ask a question to give the prisoner a chance to explain his action?"

Ans.—"I did not think about that?" Q.—Then what did you think about; where you simply taking down the statement to recollect. He did not say "I did it because Killen asked me to."

Regarding the questions put by the detective the witness said that they were not suggestions. He could not remember what the questions were. Q.—Then how could you remember whether or not they were suggestions?"

A.—I remember the way the questions were put. Q.—Did not the prisoner mention an indirect expression which Saracusa had used to him?"

A.—I do not remember any. The witness said that he knew nothing of the reputation of the witness Minnie Jones. She was not known in police circles before this event. This concluded the evidence of Deputy Chief Jenkins. Patrolman Chas. H. Rankine was then sworn and described entering Saracusa's house, finding the wounded man lying on the floor.

O. S. READY TO NEGOTIATE RECIPROcity

Department of State Awaits Word from Ottawa as to Intentions of Canadian Government in Matter.

NEWFOUNDLAND MAY BE INCLUDED.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—The department of state, under President Taft's directions has made all preparations to act as soon as word is received from Ottawa, indicating the intention of the Dominion government concerning the proposed reciprocity negotiations. With the return of Sir Wilfrid Laurier the Canadian premier and the various cabinet ministers to the Canadian capital, and with the recent arbitration at The Hague, eliminating the Newfoundland fisheries dispute from all controversy, the way has been cleared for negotiations for commercial agreements between this government, on one side and Canada and Newfoundland respectively, on the other.

Secretary Knox, four months ago, advised the Ottawa government through the British Embassy of the readiness of the United States to negotiate immediately in accordance with the understanding reached when Canada was granted minimum tariff rates, and in turn conceded to the United States intermediate tariff rates. The former negotiations were deferred on account of the absence of Premier Laurier in the northwest, and Minister of Finance Fielding in England. It is suggested here that the Ottawa cabinet has not yet had time since its return to consider reciprocity negotiations but may take action shortly. As to Newfoundland, an informal interchange of views indicates a probable satisfactory agreement, now that the protection of fisheries irritation has been removed.

STIMSON CHOICE OF REPUBLICANS

Former District Attorney Nominated of Roosevelt Won Out in Fight With Bennett.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Republican State Convention this evening, nominated Henry L. Stimson of New York, as its candidate for governor. The nomination of Mr. Stimson was one more victory for Col. Roosevelt, who personally led the fight for the nomination of his candidate, completing the unbroken service of triumphs from the moment the convention was called to order yesterday afternoon until its final adjournment. The remainder of the state tickets follows: For Lieut. Governor, Edward Schoenck of Syracuse; for secretary of state, Samuel S. Koenig of New York (renominated); for state controller, James Thompson of Valley Falls; for states treasurer, Thomas F. Fennell of Elmira; for state engineer, Frank H. Williams of Onondaga (renominated); for attorney-general, Edward B. O'Malley of Buffalo, (renominated); for associate judge of the court of appeals, Irving Van of Syracuse, (renominated).

The vote for governor stood as follows: Henry L. Stimson, 664; Wm. S. Bennett of Rochester, 36; James J. McEwen of Albany, 28; scattering, 23. The slate was made up this morning by Col. Roosevelt, Senator Root and his advisors went through without a hitch. With the exception of the nominations for governor and comptroller, there were no contests. Representative Bennett, who had been conducting the only open campaign for the nomination for governor, kept up his efforts to the end, and this persistence and his strength with the New York City threatened to break the slate. Col. Roosevelt is reported to have said he will stump the state for the ticket.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Henry Lewis Stimson, whom the Republicans have nominated for governor first came prominently into the public eye as a United States district attorney for the southern district of New York a post to which he was appointed by Theo. Roosevelt in Jan. 1906. In the three years and two months in office Mr. Stimson prosecuted the so-called sugar trust and the New York Central railway for rebating. He appeared personally before the United States supreme court and argued the appeals taken by the New York Central. He was also a member of the winning every appeal. The proceeding to compel the late Edward H. Harriman to answer questions put to him by the interstate commerce commission was also won by Mr. Stimson and his next legal victory was over the American Sugar Refining Company for fraud in weighing imported sugar. The case resulted in the government recovering more than $2,000,000.

There were loud cries from the alarmed spectators, and a warning call to be down. The sovereign and the Count threw themselves to the ground and the machine just cleared them.

Democratic Outlook. Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 28.—There was no prominent candidate tonight for gubernatorial nomination at tomorrow's Democratic State convention. Surface indications showed no great variance in the proportions of the candidacies of representative William Sulzer, Representative Jas. S. Havens and Thos. W. Osborne, former mayor of Auburn, who are seeking the nomination. This was the day the bands began to play "Tammany." Leader Murphy had said, "I have no candidate and I have no opinions. Wait till the delegates arrive." Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo, chairman of the National Democratic convention had said: "Mr. Murphy has told you that he is waiting to learn what the delegates wish. He controls the situation."

When told of the nomination for governor of Henry L. Stimson, by the Republicans at Saratoga, William Sulzer said: "Six months ago I protested Mr. Stimson's nomination. I have nothing to say at the present time as I am too busy trying to get the Democratic nomination, and if I will succeed I will beat Stimson a hundred thousand."

Members of the New York League of Democratic clubs, after listening to addresses by Representative Sulzer and T. M. Osborne, at a meeting held today, immediately adopted a resolution calling for "an open and free convention; nomination of a clean and honest man, and a tried and true Democrat, who will stand for progressive Democracy and demand equal rights for all."

Resolutions endorsing Congressman Sulzer for governor were adopted by a rising vote.

New Zest in Contest

The last voting coupon printed in The Standard will be issued Wednesday, October 5th. All single coupons (cut from the paper) must be in the Ballot Box by 5 p. m. Friday, October 7th, to be counted. No single coupon accepted Saturday, October 8th. The Standard has received expressions of approval from all parts of New Brunswick on the decision arrived at and published in yesterday's paper, that of combining districts two and four, thereby making possible an extra trip for some one of the contestants who has polled a high vote at the end of the contest, but finds she is second in her district. The Standard wishing to give everyone an equal opportunity to win, and knowing that the fight would be hottest in a few districts, is pleased to know that its decision was favorably received. Contestants who, after the special prize close, thought they had little or no chance to win out over the big gain, their sister contestant had made, should take advantage of the new chance presented to them in the way of an extra trip. Every nook and corner of the city and province should be covered by the busy Bermuda girls, and it should be impossible to find any one not acquainted with the terms of the contest. BERLIN POLICE USED SABRES ON STRIKERS

Chief Orders Men to Suppress Disturbances Without Mercy and Many Innocent Persons are Attacked.

BLOODY NIGHT ON STREET CORNERS

Berlin, Sept. 28.—"Suppress disturbances without mercy," were Police Commissioner Von Jagow's orders today. The police followed out their instructions to the letter. They rode down, and sabred mercilessly wherever a small group of people gathered in the district of Moabit. For two days this district has been the scene of riots, the like of which have not been witnessed in Berlin for many a day. Hundreds have been injured and ventricle pitched battles between strikers, their sympathizers and the police have occurred at every street corner and open places in the Moabit precinct.

The result of the severe repressive measures taken by the police was that scores of persons whether participants, onlookers or mere passersby were bruised or wounded during the course of the evening. The correspondents of the Reuter Telegram Co., the New York Times, the New York World and the New York Sun were among the victims while watching the progress of events from a motor car. The police swept down on them with drawn sabres apparently without provocation. Notwithstanding the strictness with which the cordons were maintained the strikers and their sympathizers held meetings at the street corners which in several instances caused bloody fights. The police charged furiously and beat down the workmen on every side. In this way they rode through Emdener Strasse and Turn Strasse.

WATER BOARD RECOMMENDS NEW MAIN TO HOSPITAL

At the meeting of the water and sewerage board last evening Dr. Daniel, M. P., and Ald. McGoldrick representing the general public hospital, asked for better service for the institution, and the board decided to ask the municipal engineer to provide the money to put in a new main, etc. The pulp mill and the St. John Boat Club's complaint were again discussed and a large amount of routine business was dealt with.

Ald. Likely presided, and there were present Ald. Smith, Wigmore, Sprout, Scully, Hayes, White, and Russell, with the common clerk and the city engineer.

Dr. Daniel, M. P., was heard. He said he and Ald. McGoldrick were a committee from the general hospital to bring up the matter of securing a more effective water supply. The present 4 inch pipe which supplied the water for domestic and fire purposes was put in when the hospital was half its present size. They were afraid that if a fire occurred the results might be disastrous to the inmates of the hospital, most of whom would be unable to help themselves.

The city engineer recommended the installation of an 18 inch main for fire purposes, leaving the present pipe to supply the water for domestic purposes.

Would Cost $2400.

He estimated the cost of providing the necessary water service at $2400 including a stand pipe in the rotunda with hose and fittings.

Ald. McGoldrick spoke along the same lines.

Ald. White moved that the Board send a communication to the Municipal Council requesting them to issue debentures to cover the cost, and have the work done as soon as possible. This was adopted.

Stanley Elkin was heard in connection with a previous request for an installation of a six inch main to supply the sprinkler system of the Maritime Nail Works. He said his company had extended the main on its own account, and thought they were entitled to a refund of $302.42. The matter was referred to the engineer to report back.

Geo. E. Day brought up the matter of directing the sewerage away from the St. John Boat Club house. He said the engineer's estimate of the cost of securing rights-of-way was too high. He presented a petition signed by about 300 rate payers requesting that the location of the sewers be changed.

No action was taken.

Sewer Tenders.

The tender for digging a sewer in St. John street, Carleton was received from Herman Wheaton: Rock, $3.49; earth 69 cents. It was accepted.

Tenders for digging a sewer in King street, West End, were received as follows: Pollock & Nice, Rock, $5.00; earth, 42 cents.

John Wheaton: Rock, $3.00; earth, 67 cents.

The tender of Pollock & Nice was accepted on motion of Ald. Smith, and the engineer authorized to have the work done immediately.

Mrs. O'Brien, Somerset street, asked for a free entry to a sewer. The engineer recommended that request be complied with as the sewer did not pass within a reasonable distance of the house.

The recommendation was approved.

Ada Murphy's claim for damages to his cellar through water overflowing from the street was again brought up. The engineer reported that the trouble was that Miss Murphy had no sewer, and when an arrangement had been proposed she wanted a sink installed in the house.

The board took no action.

Gandy and Allison Complaint.

The engineer submitted a report dealing with the complaint of Gandy and Allison that the city had accepted Canadian cement from the W. H. Thorne, contrary to the terms of his contract. The engineer said he had no recollection of telling Gandy and Allison that he would not accept Canadian cement. Some cement in bags had been accepted, but the bulk came in barrels.

In reply to Ald. Hayes the engineer said that W. H. Thorne had supplied White's English Portland cement the very brand offered by Gandy and Allison. At any rate 3/4 of the total amount delivered was White's English Portland cement.

The engineer was instructed to be careful in the future and make the specifications more explicit and adhere to them.

New Sewer in Clarendon street.

The engineer recommended the construction of a sewer in Clarendon street, at an estimated cost of $2800.

Ald. White said the sewer was much needed. The board of health was after the residents. He moved that the recommendation be carried out.

This was adopted.

J. Ernest Long complained that sewerage was invading his property on Lancaster street. The engineer recommended the construction of a sewer and water main on the street.

On motion of Ald. Scully it was decided to carry out the recommendation of the engineer.

The city engineer submitted a report on Dr. Melvin's complaint regarding the sewers on Mill street.

man and the attendant circumstances. Patrolman Jas. H. Gossline, next to the market wharf between the Marsh Road with the detective and the prisoner and finding the prisoner's revolver.

This closed the case for the crown.

Witness for Defence.

Pasquale Ferraro was then called by the defence to give evidence regarding the conduct of the witness Minnie Jones while in Lynn, Mass.

He stated that he was a barber living at Lynn, Mass., and was married to a sister of Minnie Jones. He met her latter four and a half years ago. She was married to an American named Grigor and lived with him. She was known to the police and had been arrested for drunkenness and street walking.

The attorney general—I object to this method of taking away a woman's character.

His Honor—I see no object to the question except to discredit the witness.

Mr. Baxter—That is just it. We purpose to show that one of the Crown's witnesses perjured herself. The attorney general finally withdrew his objection.

The witness said he knew of the charge because he was in the court room. He knew that Minnie Jones left her husband and went to New York with a man named Randolph. As far as he knew the reputation of the woman in Lynn was not less than that of a common prostitute.

To the attorney general witness said he came to St. John on a vacation with no intention of taking part in this trial. He had been in contact with the police twice during the past year. He was sent to the home of correction for firing a revolver at his wife and was fined $50 and given three months for violating the liquor laws. He was dismissed on a charge of larceny.

The attorney general—Then, with a reputation like that you presume to come down here and give evidence regarding a woman's character.

Mr. Baxter (in re-examination)—Why did you shoot your wife?

Ans.—Because I found her with another man.

Mr. Baxter—That is a very good reason.

Address by Counsel.

The counsel for the defence then addressed the jury. He pointed out the seriousness of the charge and the heavy responsibility which lay on the jury as well as on the advocate. The penalty of the crime charged was one which made reparation impossible after it was carried out. He feared that the jury might be swayed in the wrong direction by the eloquence of the attorney general and asked them to consider the unfortunate plight of the prisoner. A stranger in this country probably unfamiliar with our institutions. He pointed out that the presence of revolvers in the house was nothing unusual. Regarding the evidence of Julia Jones, he said that the girl was too young for them to lay very much weight on her testimony. Her recollection was not clear and apart from the different versions she gave, she said that the prisoner laughed when he said that Saracusa would never walk out again. It was a joke and showed no signs of premeditation. Another witness spoke of a threat to cut Saracusa's throat but he admitted frankly that he considered it a joke.

"Gentlemen," he said, "we do not question that the deceased came to his death by the hand of the prisoner, but we do claim that the crime was not a premeditated one, done with malice aforethought. The boy who told of what seemed to be a quarrel could not understand the language in which they were talking and when asked as to the loudness of the voices he only used a tone such as he should have used in giving his evidence.

Do you think it fair that a man should go to his death on such evidence as to the loudness of the voices? I found it necessary to take a course which I would not have adopted if the case had not been one of capital importance. You heard her evidence and can you believe that she told the truth? If this woman, a common harlot, was playing with the passions of these men of fiery southern blood, if the deceased, tortured prisoner with sneering laughter, can you not understand how in a flash the revolver was pulled and the fatal act performed? That is the way I believe it happened. If he had planned a murder he had lots of better opportunities. You must find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter, but you cannot from the evidence find him guilty of murder. If the unfortunate prisoner was guilty of murder there is enough suffering in the rest of his life to punish him, even if the verdict is manslaughter. In thinking of your verdict, think as if it were your own last moment, and, gentlemen, think in mercy as you would wish mercy extended to you.

Attorney General Hazen.

The attorney general in opening his address said that the admission of the counsel for the defence was unnecessary for him to lay stress on the fact that Diego Saracusa came to his death at the hand of the prisoner. Regarding a remark of the counsel for the defence, he said: "God forbid that I or any other crown officer should urge a jury to bring a verdict of guilty against an innocent man, or to bring a verdict for a greater crime than that of which he was guilty."

Reference had been made that the prisoner is a foreigner. While it is our boast that every man in this country will receive justice, yet to make life save we must insist that the law be enforced and a foreigner cannot claim more of mercy than a British subject."

Taking up the legal aspect of the case, the attorney general submitted that the crime was committed with malice aforethought, and therefore was murder. He pointed to the evidence to show that the act was not committed in any sudden gust of passion. In cold blood the prisoner had slayed the man whose hospitality he had enjoyed.

Taking up the various threats made by the prisoner, the attorney general claimed that they were no jokes, but evidence of a determined intention to put Saracusa out of the way.

Speaking of the Jones woman, the attorney general asked if she was a woman of loose character what claim had the prisoner on her and what excuse was this for his conduct. Tracing the conduct of the prisoner before the shooting, he asked if there was any evidence of passion, and quoted authorities to show that there was nothing to justify the reduction of the verdict from murder to manslaughter. He closed with an appeal to the jury to find a verdict as dictated by their sense of duty.

The Judge's Charge.

In his charge to the jury His Honor said: "The admission by the counsel for the defence regarding the killing makes me feel shorter than it otherwise would have been. I must, however, explain to you the distinction between murder and manslaughter. If the evidence and the circumstances seem to call for it you can find a verdict of manslaughter instead of murder, although there is but one count in the charge. This does not give the jury liberty to regulate the punishment. You have nothing to do with the punishment, it is a matter for the judge alone. The judge cannot exercise his own discretion and neither can the jury. Your duty is simply to decide whether the prisoner is guilty of murder or manslaughter.

The jury retired with the result above stated.

Nickel Has New Features Today.

Today the Nickel has a new musical bill. The MacBrady Children will enter upon their last full week of their engagement with a double number—(1)—Musical sketch, and—(2)—Sambo and Dinah. These little ones have proved excellent entertainers and this final bill will be the most attractive of their stay in St. John.

Mr. J. W. Myers has selected the serio-comic ditty "Someone is Lonesome," for his picture-song, and the orchestra will resume its New York popular programmes after three days of ecclesiastical music. The Nickel's leading picture feature is a delicious old Irish romance which ensures its quality in every way. Particulars of this film are given in the advertisement. "Jim, the Ranchman" will be repeated, and there will be comedy numbers as well.

Every Active Contestant Has Good Chance to Win as Rearrangement Gives the Girl of Energy an Almost Certain Opportunity.

Continued from page 1. Careful and shrewd planning and campaigning is what does the work. It has often been said that "it is the steady stream that wears the rock"—the steady stream of ballots will finally win out. These ballots are now being collected by our contestants in large numbers, by girls too, who heretofore have been considered as too far behind to possibly win out. This is the greatest delusion—our leaders especially—can have. The slightest slackening of interest at this time will be fatal as there is without doubt a surging force of energy, aggressive energy, urging many to fight to the last ditch, and these will surprise their sisters ere the race is done. There is but ten days more to work, and no available minute should be lost in lining up the friends for year's subscriptions. And hundreds of people only too eager to help any of the contestants are wondering why, oh why, none of them come to them and ask them for their support. New yearly subscribers are the daily with their 2,250 votes are the real counters in the contest, and some will subscribe if they are asked, for two, three, or even four years. Why not get a few of these? Absorb it and act upon it these next few days. A new subscriber for two years gives a girl 5,000 votes. This is the ideal. It is then a foregone conclusion that you will sail in the middle of next month to the land of the lily and the rose.

TOMFOHED ESTATE IMPROVEMENT OF CHATHAM BUILDINGS

WORTH $1,000,000 Boston, Mass., Sept. 27.—The will of Andreas Tomfohrde, who came to Boston a poor immigrant boy from Germany 50 years ago, and opened a small restaurant which later assumed considerable proportions, was filed today, showing a total fortune accumulated of $1,500,000.

Chatham, Sept. 28.—The property next the post office belonging to Samuel Johnston, has been acquired by the Dominion government at a cost of $2800. The additional ground thus secured, will be used in extending the present government building and provide additional facilities for the post office, customs and public works department, all three of which are much overcrowded now. The present building will be torn down and it is understood that the addition will be of the same style of architecture and material as the present post office, so that the two buildings will harmonize. W. B. McKenzie, chief engineer of the I. C. R., and other officials were in town yesterday looking over the route of the new road into the town and inspecting the work already done. Mr. McKenzie expressed himself well satisfied with the progress being made. In a few days the contractors' camp will be moved to the new location close to Bacon road, and work will be carried on to the lower end. The right of way has been cleared and fenced off as far as the cemetery. Still Cut Off. The telephone cable to Partridge Island has not been repaired yet. Divers were at work yesterday trying to locate the trouble.

Reports Presented by Officers Yesterday Show Year of Progress—Mrs. Rutherford Represents Dom. Asso.

Hartland, N. B., Sept. 28.—The fourth annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of New Brunswick and P. E. Island, had its opening session in the Baptist church yesterday. Most of the officers and many delegates were present, including nearly all the superintendents of departments. Favorable reports were heard. No new business was brought up. At the evening meeting addresses of welcome were read by representatives of the town, the churches the school and the local union, to which Mrs. Sprague of Sackville and Mrs. Gray of Fairville made replies. Mrs. Sprague introduced Mrs. Rutherford of Toronto, honorary Dominion President, who was the speaker last night. A pleasant social hour, with refreshments served in the vestry followed.

This morning further reports of departments were heard, and at the afternoon meeting the reports of the corresponding secretary, the treasurer, and of the world's convention were presented by Mrs. Gray.

THE FOREST'S REVENGE.

...According to the most recent estimates the total number of newspapers now published in the world is about 56,000, of which the United States and Canada have 24,000 and Great Britain and the other colonies 9,800. A searching investigation carried on in Germany reveals the fact that these records of the every day life of the world cannot hope to have any permanency. Within a comparatively short period, as records go, the paper will disintegrate and the print will become illegible. The fabric of the paper, being manufactured out of wood-pulp, has no lasting qualities. Books also are coming into the same category. To an imaginative writer the situation might suggest an interesting tale of the future, entitled, "The Forest's Revenge."

The alarm was first sounded by Germany twenty years ago. One hundred leading newspapers in the country were at that time examined, and it was found that only six of them were printed on paper that promised to resist the wear and tear of time. Since then matters have gone from bad to worse. Books as well as newspapers are now printed on paper made of wood, and the librarians feel that they are wasting money and time in accumulating volumes that will not endure.

The daily or weekly newspaper appears so regularly and so often that the majority of readers have come to regard it as ephemeral. Its value as a record of events, or as a source of reference, is only recognized by the few. But the loss to posterity, for example, of the history of the reign of King Edward VII., as told in the press of the period, would, nevertheless, be severely felt when the time arrived, and that time, we must now believe, will surely come unless some remedy is adopted.

The head of the University Library in Berlin not long ago sent a communication to the royal "Materialprüfungsausschuss" and Professor Herzberg, who is director of that department has co-operated with him in getting at the facts. Borrowing from the university library 435 books and newspapers, he submitted them to microscopic and chemical analysis. It was found that only 12 per cent. of them were made of paper such as the government prescribes for important documents. As permanent records the remaining 88 per cent. were useless.

It is clearly recognized that it would be impracticable to compel publishers of books and periodicals to again resort to paper manufactured of rags, and the sensible suggestion is made that each country should insist that at least those copies of all publications which have to be sent to the government libraries must be printed on paper less perishable than that now made of wood-pulp. By this means the hand of time may be stayed.

FLAG LEGISLATION.

St. John is happily free from those little unpleasantnesses which have come to be known elsewhere as "flag incidents." Whenever occasion calls there is a proper and liberal display of bunting of the right sort. Suggestions which have been made from time to time by patriotic citizens for the more frequent recognition of the British national flag, have met with universal approval, and, as in the case of the school buildings for instance, have been generally adopted. Canadian cities in the West, with their mixed population of many nationalities, are wisely inaugurating a movement to regulate the display of national flags by civic by-laws. Winnipeg already has an ordinance requiring the prominent display of the British flag in all processions or parades and Calgary, according to the Calgary Daily News, is likely to enact similar legislation. Notwithstanding the recognized patriotism of this Loyalist city, the subject is well worthy the attention of the Common Council.

The following article in the Western Municipal News, dealing with Winnipeg's flag by-laws, well expresses the sentiment underlying the movement from a western standpoint:—

"Patriotism in terms of by-laws. That is the latest decision of the City Council of Winnipeg. It is a very excellent judgment too, and quite time that our national sentiment was worn a thought more visibly. When any flag but the Union Jack can be bought in the places of business, when at a city's big exposition, the same Union Jack is all but absent, when our own First of July passes as a mere holiday, with scarcely a thought of its larger and fuller aspects, either by patriotic observances or by giving any celebration truly national significance, while our own people load their motors and carriages and adorn their homes with the flag of another country on that country's day of birth, then every city and every town, and every village and every municipality that has power to pass by-laws should pass a by-law dealing with the display of the national flag.

We Canadians are so desperately afraid of any expression of our sentiment, we take our loyalty so as a matter of course. That was all right in the days when we were all Canadians and abode soberly in that knowledge. But now look at our population! Of course nation and kindred and tribe and tongue they have come to become Canadians, most of them, and the rest are always subject to the leaven working through the whole lump, but they do not know our aims, our spirit, our ideals, our history, constitution, laws, government and aspirations. A flag they understand, and they know to some extent what any flag stands for. Give them this tangible thing, then, to start from, everywhere and always unfurl the Union Jack, and gradually an outer recognition will grow into an inner understanding.

The two by-laws read as follows:—
"In every procession or parade in which the applicant for any such license shall display any national flag or flags, the said applicant shall display the British National Flag, unfurled, of not less than 4½x9 feet in size at the head of such procession or parade. If any flags of other nations are displayed in such procession or parade, the same shall be unfurled behind the British National Flag; and for every flag of any other nation so unfurled or displayed there shall be unfurled or displayed at least two British National Flags of the same size and dimensions. The due observance of the provisions of this section shall be a condition to the granting of a license under sub-section 26 of section 11 of this by-law, and upon a breach thereof, the city may recover the amount of the bond or retain the cash deposit to be furnished by such applicant in terms of section 34 of this by-law.

"3a. No procession shall parade in the streets of the city of Winnipeg in which national flags are displayed without having at the head of the said procession the British National Flag, unfurled and flowing, and, wherever the said procession has any flags other than the British flag displayed, there shall be displayed the British flag as the proper emblem, in a position above and in precedence to all other flags.

"No procession shall parade the streets of Winnipeg without first giving three days' notice thereof to the chief of police, who shall, upon receipt of such notice, receive from the persons in charge of said procession, an understanding that the British flag shall be most prominent and most conspicuous flag in such procession, in case it is proposed that any other national flag shall be displayed in such procession."

"The Winnipeg City Council," adds the Municipal News, "is to be congratulated on an insistence on at least good taste, and it is to be hoped that every municipal body will soon have a similar by-law on the by-law books."

PROVINCIAL REPRESENTATION.

Since the recent meeting of representatives of the three governments of the Maritime Provinces to discuss the question of united action to prevent the further diminution of the representation in the House of Commons, there have been comments both favorable and unfavorable to the claims of this portion of the Dominion. The Toronto World raises a point, not hitherto brought out, by emphasizing the injustice of having representation depend altogether on the accuracy of the count of the population of the Province of Quebec, which is absolutely in the hands of the citizens of that province. This the World regards as the real issue, and as affecting not only the Maritime Provinces but Ontario and all the western provinces as well.

"Mr. Bourassa and his associates," says the World, "propose to take charge of the enumeration of the population of Quebec next year and naturally they will see that every name that can be counted in as resident of Quebec will be enumerated. The other provinces up to the present have been afraid to speak out against this unfair system, and when we say that it is unfair we are making no charges against the people of Quebec other than this: that inasmuch as they have a vital interest in keeping down the representation of the other provinces in order to strengthen their own ascendancy as much as possible, they are in duty bound to see that every name that possibly can be counted is counted; and we do know that as a matter of fact in past enumerations, people were numbered who had left the province and gone to New England or who came back on a holiday visit and then instructed their friends to have them put in the count. Other people of equal industry were not slow to enumerate their friends who had left Canada for good.

"To come back again to what we said before, while we say we have no great fault against Quebec trying to get in all she can, we do put in a protest against the other provinces not having some kind of supervision of the enumeration of Quebec inasmuch as their representation is governed by what is called 'the unit of representation,' a number that is found by dividing the total population of Quebec by 65, which is the limit fixed by the British North America Act for the representation of Quebec in the House of Commons. It will likely be found that the Province of Quebec has increased since the last count and therefore instead of the unit of representation being about twenty-three to twenty-five thousand, it may go by a very full count over thirty thousand, and in that case, the Maritime Provinces will lose quite a lot in their representation, and the western provinces will not gain anything like what they expect in their representation in the next House of Commons.

"What we say, therefore, is that all the provinces, without making any direct charge of unfair count against the Province of Quebec, should see that they are entitled to some kind of supervision of the counting of the population of Quebec, and for that matter, Quebec is equally entitled to some kind of supervision of the count in the other provinces in order that the fairest justice may be done. It looks to us that some change must be made in the law, but we do not think that the Maritime Provinces can make out a good case by saying that their representation must not be reduced. We must find a way to secure substantial representation by population, and the present plan does not conduce thereto."

CURRENT COMMENT

(Woodstock Press.)

The people of this country were given to understand at the last federal election that if they elected a Liberal as their representative, they would secure many public works much needed. They fell into the trap. Everyone knows what has happened. Outside of the building of the armory and a few minor repairs to public offices nothing has been done in this country in recent years. What the people looked for was that our representative would leave no stone unturned until he would get the government interested in the all important question of a railway down the valley of the St. John. Instead of doing so, judging from the surface, he is rather working against the movement to have the road commenced in a short time. This part of the province was never served worse than it has been since a Liberal was elected to represent us.

(Yarmouth Times.)

It is stated on good authority that the provincial elections will take place the latter part of October. It is further stated that Attorney-General Maclean wanted to pull them off two months ago, when the building of a railway on the eastern shore was announced, but Premier Murray said, "not yet." The contest will, however, be on at the time stated above—unless Hon. W. S. Fielding decides otherwise. Grit hot-air ships are now moving and there are other indications that the battle is on. That the Murray government will be defeated is an opinion expressed by even its own friends.

(Montreal Gazette.)

From Northern New York comes the first story of the season of a man being taken for a deer by his hunter companion and shot dead. Every fall and winter the woods are the scene of such tragedies, the lesson of which in any one case does not seem to extend beyond the circle immediately concerned with it. There would be fewer occasions for grief if the eager huntsman would pause to think that it is better to miss many wild animals than to kill one human being.

CLOSING MARKET LETTER.

By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

New York, Sept. 28.—For a time there were evidences of a disposition on the part of professionals to follow the reactionary tendency which the stock market developed yesterday, but early sales from this seemed to be quietly but effectively absorbed. No attempts were made to bid up prices, but it was clear that the market was receiving concerted support on the declines, just as it became evident yesterday that the market will be more or less subject to political influences for the next six weeks to come. During this time it is not expected that there will be any vigorous initiative on the part of the big interests, although the general run of commission houses are confidently recommending purchases of stocks for the pull on every moderate reaction.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER.

By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

New York, Sept. 28.—Further unfavorable crop reports were the dominating influence in today's cotton market, causing directly and indirectly an advance of 23 points, more than half of which was retained at the final price. The early buying was based upon additional adverse reports published by the Journal of Commerce this morning, which strengthened the unfavorable census report, which is due Monday at 12 o'clock.

Reports to the Journal of Commerce state that the boll weevil have wrought havoc in Louisiana and Mississippi. The condition of the crop in the former state is estimated to be low last month's figure of 71 per cent. The crop is gradually being converted to belief in another short crop. The heavy buying of December by large spot interests has been a feature for some time past. The reason for this buying is something of a mystery, but the theory is that spot interests are bent on accumulating a large local stock of the staple in order to prevent a repetition of the August deal.

Crushed Coffee— what it is

By a process of crushing between steel rollers, instead of grinding, the skin, which remains in the eye of the bean after roasting, is separated from the kernel and removed by air suction, while the kernel is broken into small even grains. These grains when steeped, being free of the skin or chaff, settle quickly, leaving the liquid clear and bright, and give the true coffee flavor.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of hothouse and garden flowers and presented a very attractive appearance. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Allan W. Daniel, rector of St. Paul's, assisted by Rev. W. B. Armstrong, of St. John's, who was given away by her brother, Frederick P. Robinson, of Winnipeg, who was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chene over white silk, with bridal veil and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Katherine Robinson, sister of the bride, was gowned in yellow silk. John H. Davidson was the groomsmen. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Fairweather left on their wedding trip, the details regarding which were not revealed to their friends. The ceremony took place in a tastefully formed arbor of evergreen and flowers. The bride wore a braided gown of brown Amazon and carried a handsome shower bouquet. The little cousin of the bride acted as flower girl and was dressed in white. The party entered the parlor to the strains of the bridal music from Lohengrin. ## MR. GRIMMER AT MONTREAL

Surveyor General Talks of Federal Representation and Growth of Provincial Revenues—Going to London.

(Montreal Gazette, Monday.)

It looks very much as if the three maritime provinces were about to approach the federal authorities with a view to securing a modification of the British North American Act by the Imperial Government. This was the intimation given yesterday at the Windsor by Hon. W. H. C. Grimmer, surveyor-general of New Brunswick, who is considered to be Premier Hazen's right hand man in the administration of public affairs in that province.

Mr. Grimmer, whose portfolio comprises Crown lands, fish, game and mines, stated, during an interview, that Premier Hazen, of Prince Edward Island, and Attorney-General Maclean, of Nova Scotia, came to St. John to interview Hon. Mr. Hazen, and although Mr. Grimmer said he was not a member of the conference he believed that a common basis would be reached by which united action would be taken by the provincial authorities of the three lower provinces to ensure against a further diminution of their federal representation in the House of Commons. If something in the nature of this was done in this direction, the representation from Nova Scotia would be cut down following the coming census to thirteen federal members, that of New Brunswick to about eleven, and as for Prince Edward Island, her representation would be reduced to three and perhaps less.

Serious Problem.

Asked if a modification of the B. N. A. Act in the manner indicated would not open the door to a demand of a like nature on the part of Quebec, the surveyor-general admitted that it would. He said, in fact, that it was a very serious problem and one that would have to be handled with care and deliberation by the statesmen of the Dominion, as well as those of the interested provinces. Something, however, he added, would have to be done if the maritime representation was not wiped out altogether or nearly so, so great was the development in the west.

Mr. Grimmer said that all the efforts of the Government and the great railways are being concentrated to the same end, and no doubt they are right, but the maritime end of the Dominion must also be looked after. In New Brunswick they were doing all they could in a small way. The Government of New Brunswick had appointed a man in London, who as a practical farmer had been successful in the Fredericton district, and was already making the agricultural, mineral and industrial possibilities of the province known to the people of the British Isles. He had already sent 350 people out to the province and a close watch was kept on the farms for sale, with the result that people who left for the west were replaced by a very fine class of agriculturists from the United Kingdom.

Going to London.

People, said the surveyor-general, would go to the west when they could do just as well at home. Many of the New Brunswick exhibits at Brussels were being brought over to London, and the best show possible made for the resources of New Brunswick. During next month the surveyor-general himself will leave for London and more extended steps will be taken to bring the resources of that province before the eyes, not only of the agriculturists, but the investors as well.

Hon. Mr. Grimmer announces that the financial situation is in good shape, and as for the population, they are holding their own. Speaking for his own particular department, Mr. Grimmer said that two years ago the revenue from all sources amounted to $220,000, and it has now reached no less than $500,000, or an increase of $180,000, which he thinks should be placed to the credit of the new revenue which came into power in New Brunswick as a result of the last general provincial elections. This change has been so very general that the Government has been able to greatly improve the bridge and highway service of the province.

Questioned as to the matter of the St. John valley railway, Mr. Grimmer announced that the surveys, or rather all the field work, has been completed, and as soon as the work generally has been brought to a finish the Government would come to a decision in the matter. The present administration had guaranteed a bond issue of this road to the extent of $25,000 per mile, and Ottawa had assured a subsidy of $6,400 per mile, but, of course, this would not build the railway, which Mackenzie & Mann said would cost from forty to forty-five thousand dollars per mile. He would not say that any company had been negotiating with the Government with a view to building the road, for the entire survey work must be completed before any intelligent appreciation of the enterprise can be made.

OBITUARY.

A. Arthur Vincent.

A Saskatoon despatch says that Constable A. Arthur Vincent, of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, was drowned near Wilkie, Sask., on Monday evening, while duck shooting. Deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Vincent, of Fair Vale, Kings county, and joined the N. W. M. P. two ish the Government would come to a decision in the matter. The present administration had guaranteed a bond issue of this road to the extent of $25,000 per mile, and Ottawa had assured a subsidy of $6,400 per mile, but, of course, this would not build the railway, which Mackenzie & Mann said would cost from forty to forty-five thousand dollars per mile. ## DISCOUNT RATE SOARING ABROAD

New York, Sept. 28.—The world's money markets responded again today to the strain of preparations for the coming October settlement. The private discount rate was higher in London, Berlin and Paris and the resulting demand for remittance from New York caused a responsive advance in the foreign exchange rate here. The rise in the London discount rate was sharp and gave point to the prediction that the expected advance in the official discount rate of the Bank of England tomorrow would be a full one per cent. Instead of half per cent., establishing a 4 per cent. basis. The call money rate in New York was held at 2 1/4 per cent. and above, marking the highest rate since the last week in July. The coming disbursement of $170,000,000 in New York for dividends and interest in various forms of securities, and the movement in prices from that source. The belief that a substantial absorption of bonds by investors, especially by institutions, had been accomplished in the recent past had an encouraging effect on financial sentiment. The revival of such demand and its restoration to effective proportions, is regarded as a necessary preliminary to any substantial recuperation of stock market values, or to any widespread participation in stock market operations. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,469,000. United States bonds were unchanged in the bid price on call.

Tip Wright Sizes Up Chicago Cubs for World's Championship Baseball Series

Sporting Writer Watches Chance's Wonders Play Against Pirates and Tells How They Work as a Team and Individually--Cub Quality Stands First for Gameness.

The two big major baseball leagues have at last settled their association championships and that yearly classic—the world's championship series—is almost upon us.

Which is the best team—the Chicago Cubs of the National league, or the Philadelphia Athletics of the American league? Which in your opinion will carry off the flag in the series in October?

It is a mighty ticklish question to answer—an opinion extremely hard to form. The best experts in the country disagree.

Tip Wright has written two stories for baseball readers of The Standard who want to size up the abilities of the two teams in advance. He journeyed to Chicago to see the Cubs play against the hardest proposition in their league—the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A few days later at Detroit, he watched the Athletics play the toughest and hardest losing team in the American league—Jennings' Tigers.

Tip, in his two stories, tells how the Cubs and Athletics play in team and individually. The articles are up-to-date, interesting, authoritative. The following about the Cubs is the first. The Standard will also print "Tip Wright on the Athletics."

Cubs World's Most Highly Developed Baseball Organization.

By Tip Wright. This story is about the Chicago Cubs. I went to Chicago for the express purpose of watching the last series between Chicago and Pittsburgh, present National league champions, and the Cubs' strongest opponents.

I watched them, not as a fan, but as a writer. I am going to tell you what I think of the Cubs as a baseball organization. Here goes:

Man for man the Cubs may not outclass some other teams, but collectively they are the most highly developed organization the baseball world has ever known.

Critics say they aren't as strong as in 1907-8. Then the more credit to them. Despite this fact and numerous accidents, they have won the National league pennant hands down.

Mordcaj Brown has not been right all year. But the team goes right along. "King" Cole has filled Brown's shoes; Zimmerman took Tinker's place, when the shortstop was out of the game, and is now playing third in Steinfeld's place.

The Cub quality which stands above all others is gameness. No matter how heavy the impost, how hopeless the battle, they never give up. They play best when three or four runs behind. Then are they most dangerous.

Not a Cub knows how to spell "quit." With but one great pitcher—Cole—the Cubs have stayed in front through sheer determination. Wonderful defensive play has given confidence to pitchers who would have gone to pieces with loose support.

Foremost in the defense has been the incomparable Kling. Upon his shoulders has rested the burden of a medocors hurling corps. His brain and arm have made the defense air tight.

Working like a machine with the pitchers, Kling and the infield have broken up more rallies and inside plays than opponents care to recall.

Shulte, Hoffman and Sheekard in the outfield have backed up the infield line in a manner truly amazing. Because the Cubs shift ground for every batter to reduce the "safe" territory to a minimum, they make the safe place of long drive hits a task.

Not many long hits are registered against Cub pitchers. The Cubs don't play the sacrifice game because the pitching is not good enough to warrant it.

When the pitchers are mowing down the opposition, Chance won by playing the "inside" game to the limit. Now his pitchers aren't right, the hit and run and the old-fashioned "hit 'em on the seam" style has come.

And to prove that the Cubs are "there" wherever you find them, they have been hitting the ball consistently ever since Chance changed the play. Which disproves the idea that the team is not a bad hitting outfit.

Had they played the game all season they have played of late, the "dope" upon which many base their conclusions would show the team hitting far better than the figures indicate.

The Cubs are versatile in attack. If one thing fails they try another. They are adepts in the art of upsetting the plans of their opponents.

CAPTAIN-MANAGER FRANK CHANCE OF THE CUBS.

and once they find the slightest hint of weakness they attack with a spirit and a dash that is irresistible.

The Cubs don't stick on the first ball pitched. Every man on the team makes it his business to get the pitcher "into a hole" when on the paths.

But Dufresne, as most people know is different from the majority of pugilists. Few pupils of the manly art ever stoop to manual labor and the thought of working all day on a farm would drive them to suicide.

Not so with Dufresne. Ever since he has been in the ring and that is a number of years, he has been saving his money and today he is well situated, so to speak. He has a farm of over 100 acres and he has life insurance on himself, his wife and his children.

MEETING TO ORGANIZE FOR HOCKEY

H. K. Clawson Issues Call for Enthusiasts to Meet and Discuss Prospects--Two Senior Leagues Suggested.

A meeting of hockey enthusiasts will be held in White's restaurant on Friday at 8 o'clock sharp, to which all interested in the formation of a strong St. John hockey team are invited.

It is expected that at the meeting tomorrow evening the question of forming a provincial league will be discussed. It is suggested that there should be two senior leagues, one for the southern district and the other on the North Shore.

A good deal of interest is being manifested in the proposal and it seems likely that there will be some first class hockey played here this winter.

FARMER AND PUGILIST, HE WANTS MATCH

For a prize fighter to turn farmer is unusual, yet in Lewiston Napoleon Dufresne, champion featherweight of New England, has bought a farm on the outskirts of the city and has been carrying on the place with success for over three months.

Not so with Dufresne. Ever since he has been in the ring and that is a number of years, he has been saving his money and today he is well situated, so to speak.

NEW RULES IN FOOTBALL

Experts Declare Game Has Improved Under New System -- Big Colleges Have Tryout Yesterday.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 28.—Modified and perhaps improved, American football developed from the Rugby game of 40 years ago, was played at soldiers field this afternoon between Harvard and Bates, with little fatigue for the players, scarcely an injury, and to the delight of an appreciative crowd.

The score at the end of the four periods was 22 to 0 in favor of the crimson. Both eleven ran off plays under the new rules that nearly always yielded five yards or more. Forward passes, outside kicks and runs and dashes through broken fields kept the ball travelling long distances and were executed by both teams with a perfection never seen before so early in the season in the game.

All the officials knew the rules and there was not the slightest pause for argument. It was probably the cleanest played football game ever contested at Harvard.

Yale, 22; Wesleyan, 0. New Haven, Conn., Sept. 28.—In the opening game of the football season at Yale field here today, Yale defeated Wesleyan by a score of 22 to 0. Both teams showed good knowledge of the new football. A failure on Wesleyan's part of the use of the forward pass gave Corey the ball and he ran 25 yards for Yale's third touchdown. The officials had few questions to decide.

RUBE WADDELL PLAYS SOCCER WITH NEWARK

Rube Waddell, the erratic south-paw, who helped Joe McGinnity in his futile effort to capture the Eastern League pennant, likes Newark so well that he has written President Hodges of the St. Louis Americans, to be allowed to remain with the Tigers next season, according to a New York report.

Rube also intends to take an active part in soccer football, at which he is no novice. During the winter months he intends to remain in Newark and get into the game. He played with several teams in St. Louis, and is rated as a good goal tender. This position he will fill next Sunday for the Scottish-Americans of Newark, in the game with the Hyde Park Blues.

YOUNGSTERS FOR M'GRAW NEXT YEAR

New York, Sept. 28.—Manager McGraw has announced privately that in future he will adopt the tactics of the Highlanders' owner in building up the Giants with young players. McGraw says he realizes that oldtimers do not possess the same amount of ambition that youngsters show and that the Giants' scouts will scour the country for new talent of a promising nature.

STARTLE AND JOAN WINNERS

Result in 2.09 Pace at Columbus Was Big Surprise--Grace G, Betsy and Creighton Other Winners.

Columbus, O., Sept. 28.—Startle, a Michigan gelding, which is raced by Joe Gahagan, of Toledo, astonished an overflow crowd at the grand circuit races today, by winning the first two and necessary heats of the 2.09 trot from a high grade field, in which General H was thought to have the best chances. Startle's time in the first heat was 2.5 1/4.

Joan, winner over Dudie Archdale, last week in two of three heats, made it three straight today when they met for the buckeye stake of $5,000. In the first two heats Joan did the trailing and showed the best speed when sprinting started after the half was passed.

The final half of the first mile was in 1.01 1/2. The last quarter, with the two mares all but lapped throughout, was made in thirty seconds. Joan won by a whip's length. The next finish was not so close. In the third heat Dudie Archdale tried coming from behind but was pocketed by Baron Penn.

Grace G was the choice, and a handy winner in the 2.13 pace. Border Guard was singled out to win the second division of the 2.19 trot, but the award went to Betsy G. in straight heats and slow time. Creighton starting with one heat in three from Monday, took the next two and the winners end of the first division of the same trot.

Tomorrow The Harvester will start in an attempt to lower the world's stallion record of 2.01.

44 CARS IN VANDERBILT AUTO RACE

New York, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Two late entries were received yesterday for the Vanderbilt cup race and the list has been officially closed with 44 cars entered. Of this total 39 are named for the Vanderbilt cup contest for the Wheatly Hills and 5 for the Massapequa sweepstakes.

The latest entries are a Columbia, to be driven by Harold Stone, winner of the Los Angeles-San Diego road race, the Bures Hill climb at Redlands and other Pacific coast events; and an American, to be in charge of J. Wallace. Additional prize money has been offered to the winners of the sweepstakes events by the Bosch Magneto Company. LUKEMAN TO MAKE HOME IN OTTAWA

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Frank Lukeman, the M.A.A.A. crack athlete, who took three firsts at the Canadian championships, will hereafter, for some time at any rate, run under the colors of the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Club. He leaves for the capital tomorrow evening to take up a position in the civil service.

Lukeman for some time past had been considering a change of residence, and had been negotiating for an Ottawa position for some time. Last week he received a letter from a prominent Ottawa sporting gentleman that a temporary position, which may become a permanency, was open for him. Lukeman made his final arrangements over the long-distance telephone tonight. Lukeman expects to run in the American national championships this Fall, and will probably do so under the colors of his new club.

At the M.A.A.A. club-house the officers of the association said that Lukeman had given them no word of his sudden departure, and expressed surprise that he should have given the news to the press before informing them.

COMMISSION WILL HEAR COMPLAINT

H. A. Powell, K. C., Notifies Public Utilities Board That He Will File Petition Against Higher Telephone Rates.

At the meeting of the Board of Utility Commissioners yesterday H. A. Powell, K. C., appeared on behalf of the Telephone Committee of the Board of Trade, and announced that he would file a formal complaint with the secretary in a few days. The company will then have twenty days in which to file its reply to the charges. Both parties are then entitled to fifteen days more in which to prepare their cases. The Board will hold its next meeting on October 28. It is hoped that both parties will be ready by that time, so that after the transaction of routine business the Board may proceed to take up the case against the Telephone company. It is expected that the arguments of opposing counsel, and the subsequent investigation of the Board will occupy about ten days. All the members of the commission were present at the meeting yesterday. They assembled about 3 p. m., and after the transaction of routine business, telephoned to Mr. Powell to know if he intended to bring up the case against the Telephone company. Mr. Powell heard.

A short time before 4 o'clock Mr. Powell arrived and was given a hearing. Mr. Powell stated that the Telephone committee of the Board of Trade had asked him to draft a complaint against the Telephone company charging that the rates in St. John were unreasonable. On looking over the mode of procedure, relative to bringing up the complaint, he found it was rather elaborate, and he had not been able to draft the complaint in the time at his disposal. Mr. Powell added that he would have the complaint drawn up and submitted to the secretary and the Telephone company within a few days. The Chairman said the commission would give the complainants a hearing as soon after the next regular meeting as was convenient for both parties.

The Commission went over the schedules of the Telephone company and found that there had been no increase in rates since the act creating the commission came in force, while there had been slight decreases in the mileage rates in other parts of the province.

Comparison Will Prove That It Pays to Buy Suits Here In order to fully appreciate the value of our Suits you must compare them with Suits sold elsewhere... There are three questions that enter in when you begin to compare prices of clothing, they are first quality, second, fit, and third, style. If you can get all these equal, then prices count. You cannot tell by looking at a garment through the window whether it contains all these qualities or not. You must get your fingers on the goods, examine the linings, and try one on. If you will compare our suits in this way others, you will then understand why this has been the biggest Suit year we have ever had, and that our Suits have no equal at the prices. SUGGESTION FOR GROWING OF TREES

Civic Improvement League of Halifax Scatter Seeds in Places Where They Will Do the Most Good.

Here is a suggestion which a city father commends to the attention of Col. G. West Jones and his band of co-workers for the city beautiful: For a number of years it has been the habit of members of the Civic Improvement League of Halifax to pick up acorns, beech nuts, hawthorn berries and other tree seeds, and saving the seeds of apples, pears, plums or cherries, and when taking a walk through any of the parks or other open places about the city, or in the wild country beyond, to plant them in favorable places where they thought they would grow well and be useful to some one in the future. If a number of people in St. John would adopt this simple custom, thousands of beautiful ornamental trees and useful fruit trees could be very easily and economically planted, and it would be surprising how rapidly they would attain fullness of growth to add beauty and blessing to the place.
