

COLONEL HOUSE VERY USEFUL TO BERNSTORFF

Interesting Sidelights on the Events of the War from Diplomatic Standpoint Made Known.

GERMANS FOND OF WILSON'S ADVISER

House Credited With Referring to Viscount Grey as Most Tractable English Statesman.

Berlin, May 26.—Letters from Count von Bernstorff and other German diplomatic officials have just been made public here in connection with the investigation of President Wilson's general proposal during the war by a parliamentary committee. They contain much ancient history regarding various diplomatic moves, but here and there is given an interesting sidelight on the events of the war from the diplomatic standpoint.

Colonel House, known as "President Wilson's personal representative," came in for a good deal of attention in reports forwarded to Berlin by von Bernstorff, who thoroughly approved of Mr. Wilson's unofficial advice. In fact, von Bernstorff "recommended" him to the German Foreign Office when Colonel House made his second trip to Europe, early in 1918, to represent the United States President.

Count von Bernstorff declared in the same letter that Americans were, at that time, chiefly interested in the restoration of peace and the abolition of militarism and navalism. He added that Germany would be "able to compel England to recognize the freedom of the seas only if supported by the United States and if Germany consented to end militarism."

"If I receive no reply on this point from your Excellency," he concluded, "I will continue to treat Colonel House in a distasteful manner. Up to now he has been very useful to me."

Reference to Grey.

A letter from Mr. Self, Minister of Colonies, to Dr. von Jagow reported the former's conversation with Colonel House at the American Embassy in Berlin late in January, 1918. Colonel House was credited with statements relative to the political situation in England. President Wilson's embassy was quoted as describing Viscount Grey, then British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, as "the most tractable Englishman. It was said he declared Viscount Grey was 'entirely suited and also ready to negotiate, and that his imminent retirement from the British Cabinet would not only be undesirable but liable to prove fatal to Germany.'"

Colonel House was alleged to have told Dr. Self there was a strong anti-American feeling in England at that time, and that "Germany was not aware of the extent to which unkindly notes were being exchanged between Washington and London."

BOLSHEVIK FORCES NOW OCCUPY REHT

British Troops Obligated to Retire Toward Teheran—Rushing Reinforcements.

London, May 26.—Bolshevik forces continued to pour into Persia and occupied Reht, from which British troops have retired toward Teheran, says the "Daily Sketch," which disputes the accuracy of information received here yesterday regarding the situation in the middle east.

Notwithstanding denials, the newspaper declares, Indian reinforcements have been landed at Batum to be followed by other troops as soon as transports are available. Referring to the arrival of Prince Afroz Khan, Persian Minister of Foreign Affairs, in this city, the "Sketch" says Persians are confident of their ability to repel a Bolshevik invasion with the aid of a British fleet sent to Teheran, and are asking a loan for which they are prepared to offer substantial guarantees.

GERMAN MARK GROWS STRONGER

London, May 26.—A notable feature of foreign exchange transactions has been the remarkable recovery, recently, of the German mark, which, today, reached the high point of 125 1/2 marks to the pound. Yesterday the quotation was 146.

During the past few days many foreign exchanges, notably those of Belgium and Italian, have improved. This improvement is said to be due to the hope that something definite will come out of the approaching conference regarding the German indemnity. Paris cables on London today opened at 4 francs and 46 centimes, the closing rate of 49 francs and 90 centimes yesterday.

His neck was caught between the elevator and the floor and was broken. The elevator man who was running at the time was facing the other way and did not notice anything wrong and so did not stop. The body was dragged off the elevator and fell to the basement floor a distance of over thirty feet. Coroner Lawson was immediately notified and an inquest was held.

SUSPENSION OF SUMMER MILITARY CAMPS PROBABLE

Reason Given for Probable Cancellation is That it is Impossible to Get Men to Go to the Camps.

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, May 26.—Summer military camps, which it was announced some time ago, would be resumed this year, are likely to be cancelled, according to a statement from official military quarters tonight. The matter has not yet been definitely decided, but is being considered by the Department, and a final decision will be reached toward the end of the week.

The reason given for probable cancellation is that it has been found impossible to get men to go to the camps. Returned men, it is pointed out, are busily engaged endeavoring to reestablish themselves into civil life; the old militia units, disbanded or discharged during the war, have, in the majority of cases, not yet reorganized, and, in some military districts, appointments of commanding officers have not yet been made. The result is a feeling that it would be a mistake to call out the camps this summer, as it is feared they might not be a success.

GOVERNMENT LOSES ANOTHER SUPPORTER

NOT SATISFIED WITH PROMISES

Ottawa, May 26.—(Canadian Press)—The cross benches obtained a new recruit this evening in the House of Commons, when H. O. Wright, member for Battleford, declared his intention of voting for the Fielding amendment in opposition to the budget. Mr. Wright's announcement, that he intended to support the amendment, was greeted by loud applause from the Liberal members in the House, which was, however, somewhat disappointed when he stated that he "did not think there was anything material in the amendment," but that the rules of the House preclude the moving of any other.

Mr. Wright broke with the Government on the tariff. He refused to be satisfied with the promise of a thorough investigation, followed by a revision during the present year. That promise, he said, had not been kept last year, and had not been given for various reasons. It would take more than the promise of future blessings to secure his support of any budget in the future. He was a farmer, and he stood four-square for the tariff principles contained in the Farmers' platform.

Another Boiler
W. A. Buchanan, (Leithbridge) also broke from the ranks of Government supporters refusing to support the budget on the ground that the time to cut away from protection had come. Development of natural resources demanded duty free machinery for farmers and others.

After the preliminaries were concluded in the afternoon Dr. J. W. Edwards, of Frontenac, continued the budget debate. He supported the government proposals and outlined recent fiscal history of the Dominion to show that Conservatives had done more than Liberals to reduce the tariff on agricultural implements to its present level.

Dr. Edwards, of Frontenac, attacked the Grain Growers' Grain Company of the West in the course of his speech. He characterized this organization as the most selfish and profit-seeking concern in Canada and quoted profits made by the company in support of his statement.

F. P. Pardo, Lambton, was opposed to the new taxes proposed by the government, arguing that they would add a load to that which the consumer were already carrying, and would produce the results expected by the Government. He favored the abolition of the duties on food, clothing and the implements of agriculture.

GEN. CURRIE GUEST OF ACADIA MEN

Lays Corner Stone of $180,000 War Memorial Gymnasium—Complimentary Banquet Tendered General.

Wolfville, N. S., May 26.—(By Canadian Press)—"When I come to meet old comrades, I don't prepare a speech. I just yawn, and especially in this country of orators, of the Howes, the Johnstons, the Ralstons and others who were famous on the platform, I just yawn."

SIR AUCKLAND PRESENTED HIS CREDENTIALS

BEARS MESSAGE FROM THE KING

President Feelingly Replies, Expressing Confidence That Friendly Ties Will Grow Still Stronger.

Washington, May 26.—Sir Auckland Gosden, the new British Ambassador, formally presented his credentials to President Wilson at the White House, and exchanged with the Executive assurances of good will and amity.

The second Ambassador to be sent here by Great Britain since the President became ill, Sir Auckland had been waiting since April 21 to be formally received. His predecessor, Viscount Grey, who came to Washington last October, departed again without laying his credentials before the President.

None of the diplomatic questions pending between Great Britain and the United States were touched on specifically in the addresses exchanged between the President and Sir Auckland.

In addressing the President, Sir Auckland said: "I have the honor to deliver to you this letter, and to say that it is his desire that I should, at the first possible moment, renew to you, Sir, his assurances of the lively interest which he takes in everything that promotes the welfare and prosperity of the United States of America."

"Immediately before I left his court of St. James, I had the honor of being received in audience by him, when he charged me particularly to express to you, Sir, the vivid sense of pleasure which he has in the fact that you, members of your excellency's staff, and that of Mrs. Wilson to him at Buckingham Palace."

"He has heard with deep emotion and regret of the loss of health which you, Sir, have unhappily suffered. He prays that it may be wholly temporary and of short duration, and that a timely recovery will restore you to your accustomed vigor."

"He has asked me, also, to thank you with the utmost warmth and cordiality for the gratifying reception and boundless hospitality which have been extended to his eldest son, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, myself separately, and to the fact that he has visited the shores and lands of this great nation."

"May I, your Excellency, on behalf of the United States, welcome the member of the administration of the United Kingdom, and on my own behalf associate not only them but, also, myself with each and all of the Royal messages of affection, good will and gratitude which it has been my great good fortune and high honor to be permitted to deliver to you?"

"I am devoutly thankful that I am able to say that I believe it to be the unanimous wish and hope of the British peoples, wherever they may be, that the relations of friendship and co-operation between the people of the United States and themselves may be strengthened and developed and that no cloud of misunderstanding may ever arise."

"It will be my unceasing effort ever to serve the peoples whom I have the honor to represent in the furtherance of their wish and hope."

President's Reply.
The President in his reply said: "It is a great confidence, quite unnecessary to say that I accept with pleasure from your hands the letters whereby His Britannic Majesty accredits you as his Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the United States, or that the gracious words of His Majesty, which you interpret to me, are warmly appreciated. May I ask you to be so good as to express to him my sincere thanks for his kindly interest and good wishes."

"I was glad, as were the people of the United States, to welcome his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. We felt honored by his visit. I greatly regret that the state of my health at that time did not permit the amount of personal attention it was my wish to give both on his own account and as, in some measure, a return for the cordial welcome and generous hospitality, which His Majesty and her Majesty the Queen extended to Mrs. Wilson and myself on the occasion of our visit to London. That visit is most gratefully remembered by us, and while we recognize that the reception accorded was not to us as individuals, we cannot dissociate ourselves altogether from His Majesty and her Majesty and are personally grateful."

TO INVESTIGATE THE POWERS POSSESSED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Lengthy Discussion Last Night Over Request by Vocational Board for Fifty Thousand Dollars—School Trustees Want Further Information—Vocational Building Committee Had Not Held Session—Other Matters Discussed.

A special joint meeting of the St. John School Board and the Vocational School Board, was held in the School Trustees building on Hazen Avenue last evening, to consider a motion passed by the Vocational Board requesting the School Board to issue debentures for $50,000 to be used by the Vocational Board in the securing of a building and establishing a vocational school in St. John.

The first business dealt with, was the passing of a motion authorizing adoption by the city schools of day-trip to September the 11th, the final day being the same as adopted by the City Council.

After some discussion it was moved that a committee of the School Board consisting of the chairman, Dr. A. Emery, J. D. P. Lewis, Thomas Nagle and E. R. W. Ingraham, be appointed to investigate the powers possessed by the School Board in regard to the voting of money for the Vocational School Board.

The second motion was passed requesting the Vocational Board to supply the School Board with definite information, plans and specifications as to the disposal of the $50,000 they had requested the trustees to raise for them.

Following a protest from the principal and teachers of the St. John High School in regard to the request of the N. B. Power Co. to the City Council asking permission to lay their street car lines up Union Street, the School Board appointed a committee to be composed of the chairman of the School Board, the secretary thereof, and the superintendent of schools to make a vigorous protest to the power company's request, as detrimental to the mental and physical well being of the pupils and teachers of the High School.

The meeting of the two boards present at last night's meeting were: Dr. A. Emery, Mrs. Richard O'Brien, J. D. P. Lewis, H. Colby Smith, George E. Day, E. R. W. Ingraham, Thomas Nagle, Dr. H. S. Bridges.

At the opening of the meeting Dr. Emery stated that it had been called for the purpose of Vocational Board, asking the Board of School Trustees to take measures as required by the Vocational School Act, to acquire $50,000 for the purpose of securing a building and making the necessary arrangements for the establishing of a Vocational School in St. John.

Trustee Nagle said that, speaking as a member of the school board, he would like to ask Mr. Wilson, the chairman of the Vocational Board building committee what the committee proposed doing with the $50,000. He was a member of the building committee himself but as a meeting of that committee had never been called, he would like to know what they proposed doing. He asked what building the committee proposed buying, as he assumed they must have something on which to make their plans.

The chairman stated that several buildings had been inspected, including St. Michael's Hall, and the Spence building. The building considered the most suitable, however, was the Odd-fellows building, it had been offered to the board for $25,000.

GRANDAINS SPREAD HEAD MANY FOREST FIRES RAGING

There Are Fires Raging Now in Practically Every Forest Section of the Province.

Fredericton, May 26.—A note of warning respecting the forest fires situation in New Brunswick was sounded at the Department of Lands and Mines this morning. So far this season approximately seventy-five forest fires, and slash fires have been reported to the department, but it was not until today that reports of fires in the great woods of the heavily timbered crown lands commenced to come in.

There are three raging now in practically every forest section of the province, and unless heavy rains come within the next day or two it is feared that the situation will become extremely critical. The fires are of the slash type, and the slash is piled up in the woods, and when it dries it becomes a tinderbox. It is feared that the situation will become extremely critical.

Hundreds of men are fighting the slash fires, and the slash is piled up in the woods, and when it dries it becomes a tinderbox. It is feared that the situation will become extremely critical.

The three most serious fires now raging in the province are on the banks of the Miramichi, the Restigouche and the St. John. The Miramichi fire is the most serious, and it is feared that it will spread to the rest of the province.

Among the new fires reported to the Department is one from Sibley Brook, which was reported yesterday afternoon by the Forest Service patrol. Some twenty acres of slash were reported to have been burned, but no details have been learned.

A fire near Crown Lake was also reported by the Forest Service patrol. The fire was reported to have burned about ten acres of slash, but no details have been learned.

Perverted History. "The Ancient Grudge" is the prejudice so many Americans cherish for Great Britain, or rather for England, since they make a distinction between the English and the Scotch and the Irish. This grudge originated, of course, in the War of Independence.

CANADA SHOULD DEVELOP COAL MINES

Has Deposits Which Compare Favorably With Any Country in the World.

Mr. Arthur V. White, consulting engineer of the Commission of Conseryation of Canada, arguing that "there is no menace to Canada's economic and general welfare as all comparative to the fact that she is so largely dependent upon a foreign country for her fuel needs," urges Canadian development of its own coal resources. In report on the coal resources of Canada, Mr. White states that the country possesses coal deposits which compare favorably with those of the greatest coal-mining countries of the world.

TRUTH SUPPRESSED

As far as the revolution is concerned, and not dealing with causes, most educated people in England had so weak that they had to bolster it up by misrepresentation. The author admits that when he left school he had a very strong bias against the English and the Scotch and the Irish. This grudge originated, of course, in the War of Independence.

THE QUEEN AVERTS WAR

In the American Civil War, again, it was not the masses of the English who sympathized with the South. As soon as the English people realized that the result was not a cessation but slavery, the great majority of them openly sided with the North. It was the privileged classes who desired the victory of the South. Bright and Cobden from the beginning stood by the North. The cotton spinners of Lancashire, deprived of their market, were brought to the verge of starvation. Yet great gatherings of them cheered for the North as they drew their belts tighter. When Captain Wilkes stopped the British ship Trent and removed from it Mason and Sillwell, the Southern envoys, the two countries were near war, and the British Government addressed an imperious note to Lincoln. It was taken to Queen Victoria, but she said: "My lord, you must know that I will agree to no paper that means war with the United States." A few years later the British Royal Geographical Society presented Captain Wilkes with her gold medal, ostensibly for exploration, but really because his courageous action with regard to the Trent was in its "gentle language" so much like what an English skipper might have done.

BUURLARY COVER IS VERY ANCIENT IT WOULD SEEM

Now Growing in Popularity Due to Increase of Crime.

One of the reactions of the period following the close of the war was a decided increase in the number of robberies, thefts, and kindred crimes reported in the newspapers.

Canada was not exempt from this so-called "crime wave," and from the larger cities were reported numerous cases of house-breaking, shopbreaking and "hold-ups."

One result of the increase in crime was the growth in popularity of burglary insurance. Companies writing burglary insurance in Canada report that their business has increased by far the records for all previous years, and their statements are backed up to a year or two ago burglary insurance in Canada was written in a very unprofitable manner.

It had been one of the "wisest and likeliest" of the "crime wave," and from the larger cities were reported numerous cases of house-breaking, shopbreaking and "hold-ups."

WAGGING TONGUES

Tongues began to wag. There was a veritable storm of talk, and despite announcements of the King that he had been lawfully married by the Archbishop of the city of Athens, and increased when the Metropolitan of Athens who outranked the Archbishop and whose approval was needed to make the marriage civilly binding appeared in no hurry to take action.

While King Alexander maintained to every one his right to marry whom he pleased, and to install her in his palace, his wife became so tired and angered at the gossip that two months ago, with her mother and little sister, she came to live in Paris.

King Alexander left behind in Athens became disconsolate. He had no member of his family in Greece and his morganatic marriage estranged many of his former associates. Fifteen days ago he informed Premier Venizelos that he desired to come to Paris to see his wife.

It is said that the Premier nodded his gray head in assent, and that the King set about his preparations for the journey. It was merely announced that he was coming to Paris on a personal visit.

He reached the Gare Lyon on Friday, and was taken at once to the Hotel de Ville, where he met Mile Manos. Yesterday they spent the afternoon in long walks in the woods of Versailles and yesterday evening dined with friends. They are sleeping together today, and were seen in a carriage in the Rue de la Prie.

She was wearing a tan suit with a black hat and was in civilian clothes and a straw hat.

It is not announced how long he will stay, but it is understood his should know the exact hour at which their insurance became effective as a horse was scolded on the market place at nine o'clock each evening. After hundreds of years the practice is still continued, and the town walkman in picturesque raiment sounds his horn on the market place each evening at nine o'clock.

But while burglary insurance has an ancient and honorable history of many centuries it has only become popular in Canada during the past few years. There are some twenty companies now writing it in Canada.

And not only is insurance being written on offices, stores and banks, but private residences are being widely covered. In fact some of the largest companies in Canada only write burglary insurance on private residences.

In determining the rates to be charged, the property in the home is divided into two classes, according to the risk involved. A watch, a diamond stick pin, an engraving, or some such article, easily movable and especially desirable to an inquisitive burglar, is rated Class "A" and insurance must be for at a higher rate than in the case of a parlor rug, a divanette, a kitchen cabinet, or household account book, which though it may have a great value, is not of particular importance to a burglar in imminent danger of being forced to make a quick getaway.

And in Class "A" are included "wines and liquors." There is a renunciation of the many well-stocked cellars of the country have been particularly numerous, and having due regard for the desirability of the contents of these cellars the underwriters have included them in Class "A" subject to the highest rate.

MINERS READY TO STRIKE

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 26.—Awaiting official interpretation of the In-Idaho decision relative to the Lever Act, the Tri-District Convention of anthracite mine workers in session here, today, considering disposition of their wage controversy, adjourned until tomorrow without taking action.

The delegates insisted upon the adjournment in order that they might be advised by John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers as to whether the court's ruling would curtail the government's use of the injunction in the event of a hard coal workers' strike.

Despite the opposition of their officials to the strike, the delegates adopted a motion which would permit the taking of a strike vote. The motion sets forth that a separate vote shall be taken on each of the propositions before the convention, which are as follows:

- 1. Acceptance of Secretary of Labor Wilson's contract, granting wage increases of about 12.5 per cent, and recognition of the union.
2. Handing of an ultimatum to the operators, to be followed by the submission of the entire controversy to a presidential commission if rejected by the operators.
3. Declaration of a strike on the part of operators by ordering a war on the coal probable Government opposition.

Antwerp, May 20.—Officials in charge of the Olympic games to be held in August, have so far found it impossible to arrange a straightaway at the stadium for the 200 meter race—the nearest Olympic equivalent to the American 220 yard dash.

The maximum possible length of a straight track in the stadium is only a slightly above a hundred yards, and the 200 meter race probably will be run with one gradual elliptical curve in the course.

Antwerp, May 20.—Athletes who wish to train for the Olympic Games at Antwerp would find training in a low altitude preferable. Antwerp is only a few feet, perhaps 6, above the sea-level and the climate generally is about that of London—some fog and a bit of sunniness.

As to what effect this climate would have on athletes trained in high altitude, none of the atmospheric experts in Belgium ventured a prediction. During August, at which time the games are to be held, the weather is usually warm and perhaps as dry as any other time of the year. Records show that it is comparatively rare during this month.

TROUBLES OF THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT

BIG STANDING ARMY IS NOT NECESSARY

Democrats Think 100,000 Enough—Gossip of Berlin Streets on Many Matters.

(Cross-Atlantic News Service. Copyright.)

By Viggo Toepfer.

Berlin, May 26.—I have just had an interview with Dr. Gessler, Minister of the Interior, (corresponding to the old-regime Minister of War), on whose shoulders lies the task of directing the outbreak of a second military counter-revolution like that of Dr. Kapp.

I found the Minister in anything but an optimistic mood.

"Perhaps nothing will show you better the enormous difficulties I have to contend with," he said, "than the fact that I have at the head of my staff, on whose reports I have to rely to a very great extent, all the old members of the Kaiser's military cabinet, who never hesitate to deceive me in order to protect those whom it is my first duty to destroy. Until I feel sufficient strength to remove all these men from office I am in constant danger of sharing the fate of Herr Noske, who was completely deceived by the false reports furnished by his staff."

"It is encouraging, however, to notice that public opinion is rapidly becoming aware of the danger that threatens Germany if the plans of the militarist clique are allowed to develop, a danger which was plainly pointed out by the British Ambassador not long ago."

"The situation at the present moment is that the high officials and secretaries with numerous militarist centres of propaganda, principally in the Baltic provinces, like that presided over in Stettin by Major von Milkenhausen, one of the politically most influential officers of the old regime, I hope before long to be able to destroy these hotbeds of reaction, and in my endeavor I am warmly supported by the truly patriotic part of the German press."

"In the meantime there is not the slightest doubt that the militarist leaders hope to make use of the constitutional government before we are strong enough to put an end to their treacherous activities."

"The centre of the counter-revolutionary movement is Pomerania. I have reliable information that officers of the old army who have plenty of automobiles at their disposal, have recruited large quantities of arms and ammunition on the estates of the large landowners who are the backbone of reaction."

"Officers of the disbanded Baltic troops are working feverishly to create a new military organization, and at the University of Greifswald, the students are being drilled in the use of hand grenades and machine-guns. The schemes of the militarist leaders meet with the slightest initial success they may safely count on the support of the 'Deutsches Nationale Volkspartei' who are now hesitating in endorsing them openly merely because of the fact which is rapidly overtaking Dr. Kapp and his followers."

"Another powerful political party, that of the German Landowners League (Deutsche Landbund), is now even less cautious, and in its latest proclamation it warns the population against surrendering their arms because they will then be at the mercy of the Bolsheviks. Between the lines of this proclamation one easily reads the threat that the German Agrarians will cease to produce bread for the German people if they give up their arms and dissolve their local military organizations."

"I hope that I have succeeded in conveying to you some idea of the difficulties under which the present government is working while it earnestly endeavors to carry out its obligations under the peace Treaty."

Do Not Want Big Army.

A very considerable part of the democratic German press does not hesitate to express its satisfaction with the decision of the Entente Powers not to permit Germany to keep a standing army of 200,000 men.

"The Berliner Volkszeitung" writes in this connection:

"The demand of the German government for a standing army of 200,000 men is a very considerable part of the democratic German press does not hesitate to express its satisfaction with the decision of the Entente Powers not to permit Germany to keep a standing army of 200,000 men."

WEAK GERMANY AIM OF FRANCE

DIFFERENT STAND NOTED

He Declares Britain and United States Want to See Germany Reinforced.

Görlitz, May 26.—Count Ernst zu Reventlow, editor of the reactionary Deutsche Tageszeitung, and protagonist of American orientation of the German policy, has just issued a warning to the German people against going too far with France in the economic conference which is being held in Paris.

"It would be a grave error for Germany to make any economic program in anticipation of an Utopia for good relations with France," he says. "These good relations are to be had only when we renounce the unity of national feeling and reconstruction."

"Our poverty and lack of freedom require us to organize, but that is all that need be or should be taken into consideration. France wishes us, and Germany wishes us, to reduce the size of our army to the minimum possible under her control; to keep us weak and unproductive, and to strengthen herself. We must bear this in mind, particularly at the United States and Great Britain, through widely different motives, desire in growing measure to see us economically reinforced."

BERLIN DENIES NEW PERIL IN THE EAST

Civil Commission Investigating Report of Revolt.

Berlin, May 26.—Reports of danger of a new revolutionary movement directed from Breslau are hastily denied by the Berlin military authorities, who explain the mysterious movement of troops there as proceeding from orders to reduce the size of the army in fulfillment of the terms of the Treaty of Versailles. However, a civil commission, composed of representatives of the United States and Great Britain, is making an investigation.

The Tugendhatz says that Breslau is planning to introduce the Eimweber-Revolution. The secret is that a meeting which the police interrupted was called to hear a Bavarian officer explain his organization.

ANEMIA ROBS ITS VICTIMS BY STEALTH

Conditions of Thin Blood That Could be Corrected Easily Are Stealing the Health and Energy of Many Men and Women, and Boys and Girls.

Anemia, which literally means bloodlessness, is one of the most prevalent troubles of the present day. If neglected it is apt to develop into pernicious anemia, one of the most hopeless diseases. While anemia itself is more prevalent among young girls and women, and for this reason every woman, particularly every mother, should know how to recognize the signs of this trouble, which makes its approach so gradually and so stealthily that it is often far advanced before the patient is aware of its existence. One general symptom of anemia is pallor. The cheeks gradually lose their color, and the lips become pale and white. There is a tendency to fatigue, a palpitation of the heart, and breathlessness after slight exertion, with occasional headaches. In the more severe cases fainting spells frequently occur.

An ordinary anemic condition, including the anemia that affects young girls in their teens, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all the medicine required. Fresh air, sunlight and nourishing food will do the rest. Any woman or girl taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can tell by the growing redness of her lips that the pills are making her blood rich and rosy.

German-Americans Keep Off.

German-Americans who may contemplate visiting the "Land of the Rising Sun" this summer had better think the matter over seriously before crossing, for there is every indication that they will meet with a decidedly cool reception here. In the eyes of the German public they stand accused not only of having failed to keep America out of the war, but also of coming over here merely to gloat over the misery of their native country, with their pockets full of dollars, which they will spend getting full benefit of the present rate of exchange. This is nothing short of a crime in the opinion of the average German, because it would enable the American-Germans to save money while travelling for pleasure.

Wolves in Great Britain.

Wolves were at one time very common in Great Britain, and the hunting of them was a favorite pursuit for many a day. It was not until the reign of Henry VII. (1485-1509) that they appear to have become finally extinct in England. Their last retreat was probably in the desolate wilds of Yorkshire, in Scotland the wolf maintained his hold for a much longer period. There is evidence of wolves having survived in Sutherlandshire and other parts far into the eighteenth century.

Russian Nobles Say Whole Family Escaped to Japan.

Geneva, May 26.—The Gazette de Lusanne this morning publishes three columns concerning statements of Russian nobles and officers, recently returned to Europe, who declare that the former Czar and his family are still living, having escaped disguised by way of Vladivostok to Japan, where they are now living peacefully. Their existence is being hidden for political reasons, the returned Russians say.

One curious fact is recalled by the newspaper, which says it has been revealed that out of the ten thousand inhabitants of Ekaterinburg, not one saw the murder of the royal family, while even the Bolshevik accounts of the incident lack confirmation. General Logosovskii and Engineer Natsoff, who were both at Ekaterinburg during the imprisonment of the former Czar and his family, confirm other Russian reports of their escape.

Immigration Not Solution.

Windsor, Minn., May 26.—"The greyness of obtaining household workers for western Canada will not be solved by immigration from the Old Country, but a limited girls might be obtained if the provincial governments would advance part of their passage money," declared Mrs. Charles Robson, who has recently returned from investigating conditions in England and Scotland on behalf of the Dominion Government. The result of Mrs. Robson's investigation reveals that England's war conditions have succeeded in diminishing the servant class to such an extent that in England there is a shortage of 40,000 servants.

LITTLE NOTICE GIVEN WHEN HE SET ST

Charles Sweeney, the creator of the Junior League record in strike-outs in a single game, received about as much notice for the wonderful achievement as a player nowadays receives when he hits out a home run.

Sweeney, pitching for the Providence club against the Boston National League club on June 7, 1884, struck out 11 batters in a nine-inning game. At the time, but the record lived and stands today unequalled. It is about the only one of any consequence made by the old-timers that has withstood the onslaughts of the modern day record smashers, and some 35 seasons have rolled by since young Sweeney set up the mark.

Sweeney was going like wildfire that season, and had King Rabbourns in his rival and star of the Providence Grays, in a constant state of worry and jealousy. The rivalry between these two great hurlers was intense, and it was the direct cause of the famous "Pitching War" between them.

The last meeting of the Round Table Literary Club was held at Miss Beesie Kilburn's on Thursday, and a pleasant time was enjoyed.

Rev. J. R. Belyea went to St. John on Monday.

Mrs. Allen Forster returned on Monday from a short visit with the Misses Fraser, Grand Falls.

LITTLE NOTICE GIVEN SWEENEY WHEN HE SET STRIKE-OUT RECORD

Charles Sweeney, the creator of the major league record in strike-outs in a single game, received about as much notice for the wonderful achievement as a player nowadays receives when he hits out a home run.

Sweeney, pitching for the Providence club against the Boston Nationals on June 7, 1884, struck out 19 batters in a nine-inning game. Little notice was given him at the time, but the record lived and stands today unequalled. It is about the only one of any consequence made by the old-timers that has withstood the onslaughts of the modern day record smashers, and some 35 seasons have rolled by since young Sweeney set up the mark.

Sweeney was going like wildfire that season, and had King Rabbourne, his rival and star of the Providence Grays, in a constant state of worry and jealousy. The rivalry between these two great hurlers was intense, and it was the direct cause of their pitching such big games. For instance Sweeney pitched against the New York Giants and held that aggregation to one hit and blanked the box the next day and duplicated his young rival's feat almost to the letter. Sweeney pitched a perfect game outside of allowing one single, Rad-

Rider Wins Big Race For Ninth Time

Leon Georget, the French Rider, Covers 574.5 Miles in 24 Hours Behind Tandem Pace at Paris.

Writing from Paris, George Willy, the former motor-paced bicycle champion, who is campaigning in France and Belgium, hands the endurance bicycle crown to Leon Georget. Willy saw Georget win the Bal d'Or, which is a 24-hour race paced by tandems, in Philadelphia in 1917, and the American declares it was the most remarkable bit of bike riding he ever witnessed.

Opposed to Georget were the best endurance riders of Europe, which produces some remarkable stayers, yet the Frenchman was so far in the lead at the expiration of 23 hours that he could have retired and still been the winner of the classic by a wide margin in miles.

In the 24 hours, Georget covered the remarkable distance of 574.5 miles which averages almost 24 miles an hour. This is the ninth consecutive time Georget has won the race.

Since the beginning of bicycle racing, the 24-hour record has been a favorite target, though of late years it has appealed solely to Europeans. The first record was set by Honeywell in England in 1870, who covered 105 miles on the highways. Eight years later another Briton named Britton added 107 miles to the mark, riding from Bath to London. In 1884 still another Briton named Sutton covered 230.75 miles on the road, 18.75 miles better than the previous record.

The first American to go after the record was A. A. McCurdy of Boston, who ran the mark up to 305 miles, which was only recorded as an American record.

All of these performances were on high wheelers. With the advent of the safety and pneumatic tires, new records came fast. The next mark of 351 miles was set by Monte Bell.

In 1892 the American, Frank Waller, grabbed the record from the Britisher when he rode 383 miles, 320 yards. A month later, F. E. Spooner, of East Orange, added 11 miles to the record.

The first regular 24-hour race was run in England the same year and in competition, the figures were 413 miles. At every 24-hour race at Madison Square Garden new marks were made between 1912 and 1917.

At the St. Peter's National tournament held at Olympia, Prince Henry created great enthusiasm by being awarded the prize for the best individual competitor in the then peggish competition. He represented Cambridge University.

Harry Walker, hero of the cross-Atlantic flight, won the automobile speed race at Brooklands.

Objects To Change In Davis Cup Rule

Australian Critic Says Elimination of Challenge Round Would Hurt.

Australia's leading tennis critic, Austral, who generally has been regarded as the spokesman for the Australian tennis association, has taken an emphatic stand against the change in the Davis Cup rules as suggested by Watson M. Washburn of the American international committee and as approved by the English tennis authorities. "Progress involves change," Austral admits, "but change is not necessarily progress," and he adds that it would be a great mistake to eliminate the challenge round of the Davis Cup tournament and to substitute for it an annual event that would be held in rotation in the tennis playing countries of the world. Under the proposed system, Austral asserts, the tournament would lose its worldwide attraction and importance.

"Let us analyze what would happen if the proposals were carried into effect," says the critic. The contests would be played first in North America, then in Europe and then in Australia. Take Europe first. At least five nations of Europe have competed—British Isles, France, Belgium, Holland and Roumania. Each would be entitled to its turn. Therefore each would have the tournament once in fifteen years! In North America Canada would be entitled to a turn. She would get it once in six years. Australia would get it once in three. South Africa, under the scheme, never would get a turn.

"Now imagine that in 1921 Australasia and send a team, say, to Roumania, or if you prefer, England. If Roumania would get enough gate money to recap us for the expense of close on to $1,000 that would be incurred? Even if we went to England and had a week team, we might have to play our preliminary round at Folkestone. The gate might be worth $200 to us and we might lose the match. We would be $200 to the bad. Once hit we would be forever shy. If we were to send a strong team we would have to play, say, three rounds, each taking at least a week and preceded by at least a month's practice. Where would our team practice, and how would the English season, filled to overflowing with tournaments, all fixtures for twenty years, be got rid of?"

"Again would England, certain of the teams coming there, say, in 1922, bother to send a team to Australasia in 1921? Would they not say, 'We will wait till next year when the teams which are due will come to us?' Each nation would say the same and 'chamber' would be written over the Davis Cup contests. The glory would be departed.

"Let us not drop the bone for the reflection. Institute if you will a tournament on the lines proposed by Mr. Washburn. See how it works and when it is an assured success, greater than the Davis cup, then abandon the Davis cup, if you will."

MONTE CARLO WINNINGS AVERAGE OVER FIVE MILLIONS ANNUALLY

Cercia, probably the greatest gambler Monte Carlo has ever known, a man who won $500,000 at the tables within an hour, ended his days in extreme poverty, and, in his later years, was often seen walking along the Paris boulevards in broken boots and with his coat collar turned up to disguise the absence of a white collar underneath.

The present Earl of Jersey (then Lord Villiers) starting with a capital of $12,000 and playing only one hour each evening, always on black, once won $150,000 in a few days' gamble at the trente-et-quarante tables.

Mr. Wells, "the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo," is credited with having won a million and a quarter francs in two days' play, only to lose every franc of it through not knowing when to stop.

Mr. Darborough, a U. S. gambler, after winning $140,000 at roulette and losing the greater part of it, stopped playing for a time; and, on resuming, won $40,000 in the first days' play.

Colonel News-Darwin told of a man from Chicago who won $100,000 at roulette in a day, and actually had the good sense to leave Monte Carlo the following morning; and he himself looked on while another American played maximum at a trente-et-quarante table and pocketed $30,000 within 60 minutes.

But the players usually lose every cent they win and more. As a witty proverb invented in the days of M. Blanc, the founder of the Casino, truly says: "Black often loses and Red often loses, but White (Blanc) always wins." And the winnings range from $5,000,000 to $7,500,000 a year.

Brains As Well As Money Needed

There is only one club in either league that has a net worth of as much as $125,000 for the services of one player. And that club is either the Yankees or the Boston Red Sox. And yet New York, with all its gold, is having its troubles buying pennants. The Giants tried it last year and fell down. The Reds, a poor club and without any high priced stars, romped home with the bunting.

The Yankees tried to buy the American League pennant last year but failed.

It is generally admitted that John McGraw is a great baseball manager. Wonder how great he would be without the tremendous bank behind him? Wonder if he could do so well? Wonder if Miller Huggins would do so well without his high priced stars? Miller is brainy. Other brainy managers get along without putting out a fortune to grab a good ball player.

High priced ball players are temperamental and generally hard to handle.

A real asset dragged out of the brush generally is one who is not only a good player but also a good manager. This Speaker and his manager, Tris Speaker, are no exception. Tris Speaker, of course, that he could spend any amount within reason. Jim Dunn wouldn't hand out any $125,000 for a single player. Nor $50,000, if necessary.

Jimmy Burke has a good team at St. Louis, but it wasn't bought with lavished outlay of gold.

John McGraw is one manager who has gotten along with the combination. No Yankee manager ever has. If Miller Huggins, or some of his predecessors had been forced to go out and find his players, and then develop his chances are New York would have finished higher up in several American League races.

The Yankees on paper compose a good looking ball club, but they're butting in on Huggins all the time. Because they are so individually rich and their value in dollars has been exploited gives them an idea they shouldn't be handled like other ball players.

It is really a handicap to Miller Huggins for Miller has plenty of base ball brains, but he doesn't seem to get anywhere.

New Record In Empire Day Game

Cross-Atlantic News Service, (Copyright.)
London, May 26.—Empire Day and Whit Monday synchronized this year and was celebrated by glorious weather and a carnival of sports. Lord Meath, the founder of Empire Day, gave out the following message: "Though peace be signed, let us not forget the responsibilities of Empire."

Wonder if Miller Huggins would do so well without his high priced stars? Miller is brainy. Other brainy managers get along without putting out a fortune to grab a good ball player.

Braves Won The South End Game

The Braves took the Franklin Inn camp on the South End grounds last evening by a score of 10 to 7.

The Pirates are also to enter in the South End League, and the All Stars are expected to make the fourth team.

There was a fair audience at the game last evening, but South End residents are not taking as much interest in grounds and activities as is desired.

The Executive Committee met last evening and decided to erect swings and teeters for the children. A one hundred yard track will also be made for the sprinters.

The Athletics and Cuba, two junior teams, will be seen in action this evening.

At Southampton, Notts were left with 69 to beat Hampshire, and they won by two wickets. Hampshire scored 243 and 200, and Kent 365 in the first innings.

Northamptonshire beat Leicestershire by seven wickets, scoring 325 and 119 for 3 wickets, against 105 and 234. Wells had 5 wickets for 40 runs in Leicestershire's first innings.

Essex, with 501, defeated Worcestershire 31 and 119, by an innings and 51 runs. Worcestershire won an exciting match with Somerset by one wicket. Bridges, for Somerset, took six wickets for 19 in the first innings, and Parson, for Gloucestershire, took 8 for 45. The scores were: Somerset, 111 and 151; Gloucestershire, 77 and 186 for nine wickets.

Trapshooting At Truro Yesterday

O. J. Killam of St. John and Mr. McLaughlin Made Good Scores in a Special Match—Killam Cleaned up on Day's Shooting.

Truro, N. S., May 26.—There was some shooting at the traps here today and among the outside shooters present was O. J. Killam of St. John and Mr. McLaughlin of the Dartmouth Rod and Gun Club. Killam won all four matches making 97 in the total.

A special match was shot between McLaughlin and Killam with the result that the St. John shooter broke 48 and McLaughlin 47. These two trap experts are the highest scorers in the Olympic trials in the Maritime Provinces and will undoubtedly both make the Canadian team which will be sent to Antwerp. Although McLaughlin represents the Dartmouth Rod and Gun Club he is one of the organizers of the St. John Association.

The Shamrock IV. Takes To The Water

Challenger for America Cup Was Launched at City Island Last Night—Looked on as Dangerous Seeker After the Cup.

City Island, N. Y., May 26.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's Cup was launched here at high tide tonight, at the yards of Robert Carr, where she has been since last November.

The Green racer, with Sir Thomas Lipton's private signal and the burgee of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club proudly flying in the evening breeze, slid down the way and hit the water at 7.15 p. m. As she took her first plunge since she has been altered from an extreme scow to a more convenient racing machine, her crew and the representatives of Sir Thomas sent up a cheer. They all were of the opinion that Shamrock IV is the most dangerous yacht that has ever come after the America's Cup.

Ball Players Star Shooters At Traps

Baseball and trapshooting are synonymous to a large number of diamond stars who hope to emulate the feats of Chief Bender some of these days. The old Athletics pitcher is good for a break of 95x100 under normal conditions. Grover Alexander, the Cubs pitcher, ranks next highest averaging 82x100 at the traps.

Hod Eller, Eddie Rousch and Pat Moran of the Cincinnati Reds are considered excellent shots. Tris Speaker and others on the Cleveland team make good showings at the traps. Walter Johnson is considered the best shot around Coffeyville, Kan. Joe Jackson, Claude Williams, Ty Cobb, Bob Shawkey, Frank Baker, Hour Wagner, Bill Carrigan, Harry Davis, Christy Mathewson, Clyde Milne, Eddie Collins, Jack Dunn, Clifford Cravath, Ed Walsh, Roger Bresnahan, Fred Luderus, Jake Daubert, Jack Coombs and Eric Lott have good marks to their credits.

Orvis Overall, former Cub pitcher, is the doubles target champion of California; Fred Clarke, former Pirate manager, is president of the Kansas State Sportsman's association and has built a gun club in Windfield, Kan., and Ad Lambert, a former major league hurler, is the guiding hand behind the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooting League.

FOR WOMEN

One's Health Breaks Down Like the Old One-Horse Chaise

You can get along in life far better by building up your strength than by throwing it away through carelessness and neglect. Strength comes from the blood, and strong blood comes only when it is not neglected. The best and safest way to be strong and well is to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Tablets. These readily overcome anemia, or thin blood. They put a feeling of vim, vigor, strength and renewed ambition into those who take them. Most people would feel better, stronger and happier if they took a few of these Tablets. You can't afford to be sick when it costs so little to get well. Men "with a wallop," men with vim, vigor, are those who take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, composed of herbal extracts, without alcohol, and found to be a wonderful tonic for the manufacture of red blood within the body. For sale by druggists in tablet or liquid form, or send ten cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalid Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

BRAMPTON, Ont.—"A couple of years ago I was in a nervous and run-down condition, and felt greatly in need of a tonic. A friend who was being helped by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advised me to try it, too. It helped me from the very start, and eventually restored me to perfect health. I feel in a position to praise the 'Golden Medical Discovery' very highly, and take pleasure in recommending it to all those who are at all nervous, weak or run-down."—Miss ESTHER PEATSON.

Princess Mary Planted A Tree

Visited Home for Incurables and Charmed All Who Met Her—Chatted With Patients—Looked Very Pretty

Princess Mary won the hearts of all the incurables when she visited their hospital and home on Putney-hill yesterday, says the London Daily Express, looking very pretty in a black crepe de chine frock finished with a white collar and a black straw hat. Most of the invalids lay in the porch and watched the royal guest as she walked through the grounds carrying a bouquet of pink roses tied with pink tulle, which had previously been presented to her on her way to plant a little hawthorn tree with a silver trowel.

I thought the Princess worked very energetically in her efforts really to cover up the roots of the tree, and the head gardener of the hospital grounds, who was in attendance, some time nodded approvingly while she worked. Before the tree-planting ceremony Princess Mary received many purses of money from subscribers to assist the upkeep of the hospital, and after tea with the Duchess of Wellington, Lady Stamfordham, and Miss Norton, who was in attendance, she walked through the wards chatting with all the patients, who afterwards had many tales to tell of our King's daughter.

Girl Scouts from Clapham formed a guard of honor, and long lines of people filed past the Princess as she strode across the grounds to catch a glimpse of the Princess as she drove away. Before her visit to the hospital, Princess Mary visited the Wandsworth Infants' Centre, in which she is interested.

Suggested Reform Of Prayer Book

Modern Democracy and Democracy Responsible for Some of the Changes—Word "Obey" Under Discussion

By Lydia K. Commander. London, May 26.—The latest object of reform here is the Church of England prayer book, which is being revised by Canon Dalton, of Windsor. His brought out a new edition of the prayer-book containing a number of alterations, first and foremost among which is the omission of that unadorned word "obey" in the marriage service. Another change is to substitute "property" for "wealth" in the prayer for the King, as it is believed in modern meaning "wealth" conveys too material an impression. A democratic suggestion is to substitute "The Ministers of the Crown" for "All the Nobility" in the prayer for those set in authority.

Other alterations are being made in the marriage service. The forcible Elizabethan English of the exhortation at the beginning of the marriage service is being modified to suit the delicate delicacy of modern ideas. But the subject of most interest to the new bride is that in place of the old, "With thou obey and serve him, love, honor and keep him" in the question to the woman, we are to have "With thou love him, comfort him, honor and keep him." And again in reply she says only that she will take his name, and obey him.

GRAVING GARDEN BEANS

Beans Are An Important Truck Crop—The garden bean is one of the important truck crops and practically every farmer should grow a patch either for sale or for home consumption, according to his location. Being a leguminous plant, this vegetable stores in the soil nitrogen gathered from the air, and the cultural methods generally given to it leave the ground in splendid shape for the following crop. The consumer also has great variety in his choice, and beans are considered a very healthy food indeed.

One or More Varieties? To be profitable and palatable, garden beans should be eaten when the pods are well grown but still green, and this period only lasts during about a week of the plant's life. This is why a succession of sowings is generally made by persons who desire to have this fine vegetable on their table for any length of time. It was suggested that a number of varieties of different seasons, put in the same day, might do as well, and this prompted an experiment at Cap Rouge.

The Cape Rouge Experiment.—The object was to compare the yield of green pods from one variety, sown at four different intervals of about a week, with that of four varieties of different seasons the same day. The results of five years showed that Round Pod Kidney Wax, sown at four different intervals, yielded at the rate of 3,139 quarts of green pods per acre, whilst Round Kidney Wax, Stringless Green Pod, Early Red Valentine, Refugee, sown the same day, yielded at the rate of 3,298 quarts per acre.

One Variety Generally Enough.—The difference between the two methods was only around five per cent, which is practically negligible, and it seems that either will about give the same results. Persons who would rather make only one sowing, and be done with it, will have, of course, to choose varieties of different seasons, whilst others who prefer to sow intervals of a week or ten days, should take an early variety, such as Round Pod Kidney Wax or Penold Pod Wax, so as to get the first edible pods as soon as possible.

Save Your Own Seed.—Probably the latter way is preferable as ripe beans

I. O. O. E. TO FIGHT CLASS DISTINCTION

Appeal Made for a More Democratic Spirit Among the Members.

Calgary, Alta., May 26.—The National Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire convention opened an amendment to its constitution at the morning session, today, eliminating individual members. Miss Doyle and Miss Gooderham made an appeal for a more democratic spirit among the members of the Order, which, it was reported has enlarged its membership to include chapters for shop employees, all those women who go out to work by the day. Several speakers emphasized the need of living down the general opinion that Daughters of the Empires are like society women, who have no other aim in life than to loiter around, dress up and attend social functions. Close touch with all classes toward the final elimination of class distinction was strongly urged.

The resolution was carried almost unanimously, and it is now a matter of time before women will be admitted to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. Now, the University degrees conferred by degrees will apply equally to both sexes; and members of the women's faculty will sit on the same boards and committees.

Witanstede School At The Y.M.C.A. Gym

Physical Demonstration Given Last Evening Proved Delightful Entertainment—Programme Divided Into Two Parts—T. C. Armour the Director.

Youth, grace and skill combined to make the Physical Demonstration at the Y.M.C.A. Gym last evening a very delightful entertainment. The demonstration marked the close of the season's work, and was given under the direction of T. C. Armour, who with his pupils, must be congratulated upon the excellent results of the season's training. The programme was divided into two parts opening with Figure March in which the entire class took part, and which was carried out with precision, the girls looking neat and pretty in their gym suits of navy blue with white middie. A very pretty waltz was played consisting of hair, bustle, head and tail tag, and doggie tail. Two squares then did mat work, while parents and friends gazed with surprise at the accomplishments of the girls who could with such apparent ease repeat the "stunts" done by the instructor.

The next item was an exhibition of very creditable running high jump given by the four girls who have the best records of the season in athletic work—Margaret Page and Margaret Stevenson jumped 4 feet 1 inch, and Marion Currie and Edith Ellis 4 feet. A Folk Dance was both graceful and well done by all those taking part. Next followed apparatus squads who did the parallel bars and flying rings and splendid work was done on both these, the girls being heartily applauded in several instances.

A Highland Fling in which each girl added to her costume a gay tie of plaid closed this part of the programme. It was well followed, with lightness of foot and easy motions.

Music for the physical drills was supplied by Miss Valde Fenton and Miss Audrey Rankine a pupil of Witanstede who presided at the piano and played in excellent time.

In The Pool. The audience adjourned to the swimming pool for the second half of the programme which consisted of a very fine exhibition of speed swimming, back stroke, freestyle, diving and four man relay life saving. Those taking part in this were Miss Margaret Page, Daphne Patterson, Margaret Hayes, Marion Currie, Viola McAvity, Constance Murray and Lois Fairweather.

Daphne Patterson fell into the pool fully dressed and was rescued by

"Monte's Wife" Pleasing Comedy

Rockwood Comfort Club Delighted Large Audience in St. Paul's School Room Last Evening.

The presentation of "Monte's Wife," a comedy in three acts, by the members of the Rockwood Comfort Club in St. Paul's Hall, delighted a large audience. The entertainment was exceptionally good and the various members of the cast should feel proud of themselves. They went through their parts with ease and precision and gave evidence of clear interpretation of the parts assigned them. The play is set in a New England village with the old homestead about to be sold at auction and only the timely arrival of Darius Dubs the Man from West Virginia saved the trying situation in which Rose Raleigh was placed.

In the leading role of "The Man from Old Virginia," J. J. O'Toole, the old favorite of amateur productions, handled his part in a most capable manner and won his audience from the start. He received a most enthusiastic ovation on his appearance and, when the last curtain dropped he was the creator of many hearty laughs.

Donohy May, just out of college, Miss Kathleen Crawford in the leading feminine role gave a pleasing portrayal which was most refined to a degree. This in Miss Crawford's first appearance in "a lead" and her acting in this role is worthy of much favorable comment.

J. J. McGrath, J. Morrison and Joseph Fitzgerald pleased all with their acting and received a goodly share of the numerous plaudits.

Miss Alma O'Toole and Leslie Rogers in the character parts of "Yankee Yensens" and "Deuteronomy Jones" were the recipients of much hearty applause.

There is a tendency among livelihood-earning women to think that the "plum" is all professional, commercial and industrial careers are gained through influence rather than merit, claims a writer in the London Standard last evening.

This outlook has a very detrimental effect upon the prospects. In thinking that influence is the surest stepping-stone to success they subconsciously prevent merit from having the chance to assert itself. They set up a bogey to demand the recognition she feels entitled to, or too nervous of being shown out of a berth to stick up for her rights—all signs of a lack of self-confidence. But when merit is built on a bedrock of either technical knowledge, ability to grasp detail, or conscientious work, it is unusual for it to let her over her head, and she is content to do that, although he often raises mysterious barriers to test our skill in surmounting them.

We must not confuse merit with experience. Experience is a great teacher only so long as we are eager to learn, anxious to expand mentally, and determined to acquire knowledge.

If we want success we must chain our thoughts on the word merit and drive the word influence out of our sub-consciousness. The girl who harbors hopes in her mind is merely asking for failure.

The St. Rose's Dramatic Club

Large Attendance Last Night Enjoyed Production of "A Man From Old Virginia"—Conclusion of Season's Productions.

A large audience attended St. Rose's Hall last evening and greatly enjoyed the last production of the season of the Dramatic Club, when they presented "A Man From Old Virginia."

The hall was taxed to capacity and those who witnessed the play were most enthusiastic in their praise for the members of the cast who displayed their efficiency in the handling of the various roles. The play is set in a New England village with the old homestead about to be sold at auction and only the timely arrival of Darius Dubs the Man from West Virginia saved the trying situation in which Rose Raleigh was placed.

In the leading role of "The Man from Old Virginia," J. J. O'Toole, the old favorite of amateur productions, handled his part in a most capable manner and won his audience from the start. He received a most enthusiastic ovation on his appearance and, when the last curtain dropped he was the creator of many hearty laughs.

Miss Kathleen Crawford in the leading feminine role gave a pleasing portrayal which was most refined to a degree. This in Miss Crawford's first appearance in "a lead" and her acting in this role is worthy of much favorable comment.

J. J. McGrath, J. Morrison and Joseph Fitzgerald pleased all with their acting and received a goodly share of the numerous plaudits.

Miss Alma O'Toole and Leslie Rogers in the character parts of "Yankee Yensens" and "Deuteronomy Jones" were the recipients of much hearty applause.

NIGHT TRAVELLING.

By Margaret Wildemere. All along the way, As through the night we go, I see the little houses In lighted row on row.

The train goes flying by And sounds its whistle clear, And all the waiting houses, They hold their lights and cheer.

A million houses, miles on miles, I press the pane to see, And each has lights that wait for me, As my light waits for me.

All the little houses, And every one a light! God, keep the people happy That wait in them tonight!

HOW NEW YORK IS OBTAINING ITS BOOZE SUPPLY

Claimed That Most of it is Shipped from Canada as Luggage—St. Lawrence River Comes in Handy.

DILUTED WOOD ALCOHOL USED

New York, May 26.—When is a law not a law? is a question that is being freshly asked in this city, by those who favor prohibition and by those who oppose it. Investigations just completed by several leading newspapers of New York purport to reveal the fact that "more intoxicating liquors are being sold in this city in saloons, restaurants, hotels, dives, speakeasies and kitchen barrooms than at any previous time since national-wide prohibition went into effect January 16 last."

The enterprising newspapermen, carrying on what was no doubt a popular quest, claim to have discovered that in New York at least the dry laws are being openly disobeyed, and that it is not at all difficult for a stranger to obtain his favorite drink at an exorbitant price. In most of the saloons, it is said, 100 proof bonded whiskey is being sold at 75 cents a drink, and when watered, the price paid by the drinker ranges from 10 cents to 60 cents a drink. In first class restaurants as high as $2 is charged for a gin and tonics highball which contains about 10 cents worth of whiskey, even at present prices.

Colored "hootch," which is better known as diluted wood alcohol, is still being sold in large quantities in trunk saloons in the poorer neighborhoods, and is also being peddled in newly-opened dives commonly called kitchen barrooms. The price per drink ranges from 30 cents to $1.

The question naturally arises: Where does the supply come from, since manufacture of liquor in the United States is forbidden? This question the investigator of the New York Times answers as follows: "They say that our neighbors up north are the most kindly disposed to us when it comes to letting us have some of their sparkling spirits. The sum of our Geographers tell us that the St. Lawrence is a long beautiful river, whose banks are dotted with charming little hamlets and cities. It is true. The St. Lawrence is a long, beautiful river. And at points it is quite narrow.

"In circles true and tried they tell a story of adventure and romance such as might make the brigades on the coast of Spain blush with shame at the tamesness of the tale. On a still night, the story begins, when the moon is hidden behind the heavy clouds of darkness, there are little boats that go to and from the North coast of the St. Lawrence to the South. Each of these little boats is filled with liquor. Much liquor, most of which is packed in trunks. The trunks are handled carefully, lovingly, gently. The boats silently make their moorings on the banks of the St. Lawrence, where the trunks are unloaded. From there they are carefully shipped to points South. New York is the main market for the South. There are others. A good many of these trunks, it is said, go to hotels. Where else should a trunk be sent? Others are sent to private rooms above saloons. There are many places to which a trunk can be sent."

It is generally admitted that whether the liquor comes from Canada, from warehouses, or from stills, commercial and private. The United States government has not provided sufficient funds for the enforcement of prohibition in places where the people do not want it enforced. The same Congress that headed the prohibition crusaders in passing the enforcement law now decline to set aside the money funds which would be required to stop smuggling across the borders of illicit traffic in the cities. Conditions in New York are such that at little expense set from other parts of the United States. Albany for instance is famed for its wetness, and similar reputations are borne by various cities in East and West.

The newspaper investigators declare that drinking in the home has grown to proportions equal almost to those of European countries. Many a family has its private stock. If it has not, it gets it or makes. It follows that it will have spread fast. Formulas for whiskey, beer and wine are given as freely as in days long past when

Flour prices likewise dropped sharply. Mill quotations varied widely, but the average decline for patents was about 75 cents per barrel. Very little business was done and in many cases mill representatives advised their customers to buy only for pressing needs on account of the uncertainty of the market. Flour stocks are still fair, although the freight situation has caused local shortages. The output continues as an recent weeks with the Kansas, Oklahoma, mills reporting an output representing sixty-six per cent of capacity, the Ohio Valley mills forty per cent, and the spring wheat mills forty-six per cent.

BRINGING UP FATHER

ITALY BULKS BIG IN MOTOR FIELD

Promises to Become One of the Largest Exporters in the World—Her Tractors Finding Favor in America. Italy's importance as a motor manufacturing nation is now freely admitted by the entire industrial press of the leading English papers devoted to the motor industry has issued the statement that Italy at the beginning of the war was the second most important motor exporting nation in the world, and has given proof of this by publishing official statistics. Now that the big army contracts have ceased, Italy is naturally interested in maintaining her position on the international motor car market, and the estimate of an English authority that she will export at least one-half of her production appears to be quite reasonable. At the present time the Fiat Company alone is exporting two-thirds of its output, and there is every reason to believe that this proportion will increase. In 1915 Italy was second to the United States only, and in 1916 its exports had increased to $3,161,280, while England and France were third and fourth with $1,481,040 and $604,490 respectively. Notwithstanding the difficulties of the war Italy has maintained her position as the head of the European motor exporting nations, with a total of $4,603,220, while England and France each had little over one million. During the war Italy not only met all her own motor requirements, but contributed largely towards the needs of her Allies. It is interesting to note that war contracts having ceased not a single one of the big motor factories has been converted to other uses. They have all been put on a peace footing, but they are all continuing the construction of appropriate facilities. Naturally they have been changed, and among the new activities is the agricultural tractor and motor cultivators which have been developed in Italy. They have met with unusual success not only in the countries of Europe, but in different parts of America and Asia.

HAMILTON BANK TO ISSUE NEW STOCK

Hamilton, May 26.—The announcement is made that at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Hamilton it was decided to issue $1,000,000 of capital stock, which, when taken up, will make the paid-up capital of the bank $1,500,000. The new shares will be allotted at $150 per share to the shareholders in proportion of one new share for every four shares held. The present rate of dividend is 12 per cent. It will make the new shares yield 8 per cent per annum.

Bar Tuberculosis Contingent

Montreal, May 26.—Joint petitions to have the Montreal contingent of the tuberculosis barred from entering the Dominion Government by Ottawa and towns in the province as the result of a conference held between Almeron G. H. Webster, of the city civil committee, and S. C. Carlyle, provincial livestock commissioner.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Many favorable comments are being expressed in press and public about the inauguration of the improved Canadian Pacific summer train service between Montreal and the Maritime Provinces, particularly in reference to the double daily service which was every day in the week, and Sundays, too. Ever before in the history of railroading have such exceptional facilities been provided for taking proper care of the passenger traffic over Canadian Pacific tracks between St. John and Montreal. The trains themselves, in the matter of equipment and constructive art, are the last word in the matter of modern railroading. The electric lighted berths, scientific ventilation—in fact, every modern conceivable contrivance for comfort and luxury—High grade standard coaches and luxurious diners; everything of the best, plus Canadian Pacific courtesy and efficiency. The schedules of the express are fast and regular, and patrons of the Direct Short Route are assured that "time" is a paramount feature with every adequate regard for safety. Passenger traffic originating in St. John has the choice of trains leaving at 4:30 p.m. or 7:45 p.m. Atlantic time, the former being due in Montreal at 7:30 a.m., making direct close connections with the "Canadian" for Toronto, Chicago, etc., also Ottawa. Traffic directed via St. John which originates in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and points in New Brunswick, East of St. John, is taken care of on the 7:45 p.m. train as also passengers from Nova Scotia, etc. via Bay of Fundy Service. This train is due at Montreal at 11:35 a.m. At Montreal both trains from the east connect with Canada's Most Famous Train, the Trans-Canada Limited, leaving at 5:00 p.m. and completing the run to Vancouver in ninety-two hours, and the only change is from track to track in the depot in Montreal. Toronto to Vancouver eighty-eight hours; Montreal to Winnipeg, forty-one hours fifteen minutes. Owing East the first train arrives in St. John at 4:30 a.m., making direct connections with Nova Scotia via Digby, and points east of St. John via Canadian National system. The second express arrives in St. John at 1:00 noon making close connections with C. N. R. train for the East. The establishment of this new C. N. R. Pacific double service each seven days in the week provides a wonderful connecting link in travel between the Lower Provinces, Quebec and the West, in fact, between all Points East with all Points West, the importance of which is apparent, and most appeal to all classes of travel, and at the same time marks a new era along lines of national development and commendable prosperity.

THE WEATHER.

Toronto, May 26.—The barometer is fairly high throughout the Dominion and such disturbances as existed have become quite feeble. Rain has occurred quite generally in Manitoba and more locally in Saskatchewan. Elsewhere the weather has been fair.

COUNTY COURT. The May sitting of the County Court stands adjourned until Monday, the 31st day of May instant.

ON DAYLIGHT TIME. Beginning today the schools of the city will open and close on daylight time until the summer holidays.

THE NEW HOTEL. H. R. McLellan, secretary of the Commercial Club, yesterday received word from George H. O'Neil, Canadian manager of the United Hotels that he and Mr. Dunlop would be in St. John about June 15.

RESIGNED FROM FORCE. The resignation of James Power from the city police force has been accepted by Chief of Police Smith. Two new patrolmen are to be appointed in the near future.

HAS BEEN PROMOTED. William Tansley, car service agent at C. P. R. headquarters here, has been promoted to the same position at Toronto, and left last night to take up his new duties. He will be succeeded here by O. L. Lehighy, of Moncton.

HAS COMPLETED INSPECTION. The examination of the under-water part of No. 1 berth has been completed by Diver Fred Doyle, and his report will be submitted to the Commissioner of Harbors at an early date.

OLYMPIC FUND CLOSED. The fund collected by Mayor Schofield for the purchase of Olympic prizes has been closed, and the amount, $201.50, will be handed to W. K. Halsey, president of the Playgrounds Association.

ROADS SPEED. The New Brunswick Automobile Association has received word from the Minister of Public Works, Hon. P. J. Veniot, that the speed limit on the Rothesay road is twenty-five miles an hour. It is understood that when the Government erects its signs on the trunk roads, boards with twenty-five miles an hour will be placed along this highway.

COL. GRANT MORDEN. H. R. McLellan, Secretary of the Commercial Club, has received the following telegram from Col. Grant Morden: "Certain developments have made it impossible for me to go to St. John next week. Will endeavor to arrange for following week, but will wire you more definitely in the course of the next two days."

"W. GRANT MORDEN." "Fort." THE POLICE CAT. A new member of the city's police force was sworn yesterday in the person of David Floyd. A returned man, twenty-one years of age, six feet tall and weighing one hundred and seventy-five pounds, police constable Floyd may be considered a decided addition to the force. Robert Story is also a recent addition in the ranks of the "bobbies." He too is a big man, young and active. Both seem fittingly suited to uphold the traditions of their stately mother.

Heard in Chambers. In Chambers yesterday morning, before His Honor Mr. Justice Barry, argument was heard upon a writ of habeas corpus in the matter of ex parte Wm. H. Sharpe. His three children, George, Doris and Joan, were ordered to be returned to his care from the mother, who it was said had taken them under her control during the absence of the father. Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., appeared for the father yesterday morning, and C. P. Incher for the mother. After ordering the children to be placed in the care of the father, His Honor gave the parties a fortnight to hear any further questions which might arise in connection with the matter.

Clean-Up Day Most Successful

Teams Worked Overtime All Day Yesterday and Great Deal to Do Today—City Backyards Never Cleaner Than at Present Time.

St. John is not famed for being the most tidy city in the world but it will be admitted that piles of rubbish and strangely shaped bundles of old clothes topped with a rusty Christmas tree are unfamiliar sights on our residential streets. Yet there were yesterday and instead of criticizing, everybody beamed approval, and all because it was the first of the "Clean-Up Days" and the discarded treasures on the street meant a house-cleaned back yard and consequently a healthier neighborhood.

Yesterday was a clean-up day and from early morn till long after the sun had set, even according to daylight time, the teams employed in the work of making St. John a better place to live in were seen being driven towards the various dumps or places designated for the disposal of rubbish.

In the history of the city there has never been such a cleaning-up and officials are greatly pleased with the result. Commissioner Prisk stated to The Standard last evening that all teams had been taxed to their capacity and it was the biggest success of any such day. Great credit is due C. Price, superintendent of streets, who was in charge of the teams, and the citizens must congratulate themselves on having acquired a good habit which must not be allowed to lapse.

The Boy Scouts as usual did splendid work living up to their motto of helping in whatever is for the general good. They distributed the posters urging all citizens to do their share in making the enterprise successful.

A list of the make up of some of the heaps put out to be carted away would be of interest. The favorite decoration seemed to be a Christmas tree and it was hardly possible, up to this time, to realize that almost everybody in the city had a tree. Shorn of its glory far from "evergreen" with branches brittle and looking like the end of a perfect day, it was a dejected object. Stove pipe perforated and bent was a close second to the spruce tree, and almost every home contributed its quota of it. Baby carriages minus three wheels, hat boxes, packing cases, flower pots, including the jardiniere with the large crack in its side, rat traps, old mattresses, parts of sauce pans, ancient tin cans, and other articles of household furniture lacking a back or legs, all were pathetically left out on the sidewalk awaiting their fate.

In front of one house an apparently good old arm chair, and one wondered what uncomfortable new fashioned interior rocker had taken its place that it would be utterly thrown to the dump.

A city of clean back yards will result and no one can tell what far-reaching benefits may be obtained from this annual cleaning.

Trinity Troop Won The Thorne Trophy

Trinity Boy Scouts Gained 112 Points During the Year in the Competition—Century Troop Was a Very Close Second.

The coveted Thorne trophy awarded to the Scout Troop which has the best all round record during the year has been again won by the Troop of Trinity church. Trinity's success was really due to the number of points that it gained in the various badges. The Scouts of Trinity Troop gained 112 points during the year from this branch of the competition.

The runner up, and the troop that contested the issue all through the year was Centenary. They gained 66 points from badges, and when it is considered that the margin of points at the conclusion of the competition, between Trinity and Centenary was only seven it is easily seen that the Scouts of the latter troop must have excelled in the other branches. In fact, the work of Centenary troop has been the feature of the competition. They were the best troop on the inspection, and the condition of their troop records was perfect. Trinity lost a point on troop records.

Another factor in Trinity's success was the fact that it is mostly made of older scouts. They are older and more advanced than the scouts in other troops, and are thus able to qualify for more proficiency badges. This gave them a decided advantage. If the Centenary troop makes the same improvement during the next year as it has during the past it should win the trophy. Last year it was about 90 points behind the leader, this year only seven. The scoutmaster of the troop is J. B. Dinmore, and every credit to him for the success of his troop.

St. Luke's troop and Mission troop have also made decided strides, and great improvements have been shown. In fact all the troops have shown gratifying improvements. The scouts are more keenly interested in their work, and the interest being manifested by the general public in scout work is rapidly growing.

The committee in charge of the awarding of the trophy in the scope included A. C. Skilton, provincial commissioner; R. Ingleton, district commissioner; L. H. Narraway and H. O. Esmans. William McIntosh, curator of the Natural History Society, examined the Scouts for pathfinder badges. Matron Metcalfe, of the General Public Hospital, was the examiner for missionary and healthy man's badges, while the scouts were independently examined for pathfinder badges, also.

The Thorne trophy is awarded to the troop which secures the greatest number of points from Badges, Inspection and Troop Records. A scout has to know the scout law and to be able to tie the simple knots. After passing on these subjects he takes the Scout oath, and becomes a real scout.

The next badge that a scout earns is called the second class, and for every badge of this nature a troop receives ten points. To gain a second class badge, a scout has to know how to read a compass. He must also pass an examination on elementary signalling. Fifteen points are awarded a troop for every first class badge that it issues. To receive a first class badge a scout must make a journey and then give a description of the country he has passed through. The length of this journey depends on the scout's mode of travel. On foot it is seven miles; by a cycle somewhat longer. He must also be able to render first aid and be able to read advanced signals.

To become a King's scout it is necessary that a scout gain six proficiency badges. Every proficiency badge that a scout obtains adds to the total of his troop's points in the competition. Proficiency badges are given for all manner of subjects, ranging from air-ship to woodworking. To gain some of these badges it is necessary that the scout have a deep knowledge of his subject, not merely a superficial one. To gain a Rescuer's badge a scout must be able to undress in the water, while the examination that he has to gain a pilot's badge would phase an old "sea dog."

Quite recently a new type of badge has been added to the number which a scout can gain. This is known as the healthy man's badge, and to gain one of these a scout has to have a clear knowledge of the principles of health. Some of the other badges issued are pathfinder's, missionary's, plumber's, naturalist's and entertainer's. The points that the scouts have earned for their efficient work in connection with the city clean-up are applied to a community service badge, which a scout receives for rendering a certain number of hours' work on behalf of the public welfare. These points count on next year's competition.

The Scouts will hold a Field Day on June 3, while later on in the summer they will go into camp for a fortnight.

People Going To England Take Care

Should Book Their Return Passage or They Will Have Considerable Difficulty Getting Back Home.

People going to England should take care to book their return passage, or they will have considerable difficulty getting back home, according to a well known New Brunswick traveler who arrived home yesterday. He neglected to arrange for his return passage, and when he wanted to return he was told he could not get passage before September. By a duke he managed to get the revision of the ticket of a party who had to abandon his intention of coming to Canada.

All this migration lands at Montreal or Quebec, and flows west mostly. Alive to the situation the Western Provinces are making a special bid for British immigration, and the work of the Government departments is being supplemented by companies which have bought up tracts of land and are planning on colonizing them. At present the New Brunswick government is not showing any great interest in the possibility of attracting immigration to this province, but there are those who think it will wake up when the rush is over.

Public Employment Agencies Matter

N. B. Gov't Expected to Take Action Presently—Every Province Except Maritime Have Agencies—Returned Men Out of Positions.

The New Brunswick Government is expected to take action presently on the question of re-establishing employment agencies in the Province, and in any case Dr. Roberts will be asked what he is going to do about it. Every Province except those of the Maritime have public employment agencies, and at the last session of the Legislature of Nova Scotia, Col. LaSalle returned a member introduced a bill to prohibit the operation of private employment agencies in the sister province. The closing of the employment agencies here threw some returned men out of employment, and left returned men generally to deal with private agencies which have since been established. The Federal Government is ready to pay the cost of maintaining an employment agency here. The city of Moncton is keeping its agency in operation evidently in view of the fact that the Provincial Government will take up, and assume its proper obligations.
