LOST IN THE KLONDIKE.
SEVENTEEN GOLD SEEKERS DROWNED AT HOTIUM INLET.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Sept. 27.—The steam schooner Fulton, has arrived, fourteen days from Seattle, having encountered severe gales during the voyage. She brought fifty-nine miners, representing almost every mining district in Alaska. The crew, according to the statement of the purser, has been between $50,000 and $100,000 in gold dust.

Among the passengers were John Emerson, of Minnesota, and Charles Daniels, of Honolulu, who left Zetse Bay on Aug. 29. They had been expected almost every steamship along the coast, but found nothing but the sea. They had been nothing of the reported strike on the Kowak River. About 1,000 men were on the beach awaiting the schooner to return south. All the business houses which had opened there to catch the trade of the miners, had their goods packed ready for shipment to some other point.

Seventeen prospectors are known to have been drowned during the season at Hotium Inlet. Many others are missing. It is supposed they lost their lives in attempting to ascend the small rivers. Favorable reports from the district are brought out. Capt. Robert J. Danham, of the river scowboat Ride-out, says that a number of new strikes along the creeks in that district have been reported and the prospects are most favorable. He also reports the discovery of two veins of coal on the Yukon River about 900 miles from its mouth. The coal is being mined and sold to the residents at $25 per ton. It will render navigation on the river much cheaper, as wood is scarce and expensive.

State Senator J. W. Range, of Seattle, who is among the returning Dawsonites, said just before leaving Dawson that Col. Davey, President of the Relief Committee of the combined secret orders, told him that the average death rate was five per cent during the last two months. The highest number of deaths in one day was eighteen.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 27.—Sixty-five Klondikers are reported to be in the steamer ship. A majority of the Klondikers are under the necessity of consulting any one. They are in the R. V. City and are on their way to Seattle. Several thousand men are on the trail, but only a few could reach Dawson, they say.

Several accidents have occurred recently, but not less than claimed that both sides are anxious for a respite, the one to get the congressional elections in the United States and the other by the elections in Canada before meeting again.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Out of a party of twenty-six men, who left San Francisco early in the year to go to Dawson via the Stickeen trail, Herman Black and his party, the only one that pushed through. Two out of the party were drowned, two are insane and the others are far in the interior endeavoring to repair their health at trading points.

In the Swift Chesley River in the north river zone of district four, the dished to pieces on the rocks and the outfits were lost. In two of the wrecks Dr. Black and a man named Morgan, both from California, were drowned. Long says that many of the men became temporarily insane after their previous success to give out. They had to be watched continually, as several attempts at suicide were made.

TROOPS FOR CUBA.
ABOUT 12,000 MEN MAY BE ON THE WAY WITHIN SIX DAYS.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—A comprehensive programme for moving troops to Cuba has been outlined by the War Department and its initial features have been decided on. It is the result of a dispatch given by the President on Sept. 19 to the effect that details of troops be made for Cuba. Acting on these directions, Major General Miles ordered the first under command of Major General Miles to leave in the morning of the second, under Major General Fitzhugh Lee, to leave in November. Each division to embrace about 6,000 men, so that the plan is to have some 12,000 troops in Cuba or on the way there within the next sixty days. It is not contemplated, however, that any large number of that force shall be assembled at any one point in this country or in Cuba, the desire being to keep them scattered as they can thereby be handled to better advantage.

QUEEN OF DENMARK DEAD.
HER MAJESTY WAS KNOWN AS THE MOTHER-IN-LAW OF EUROPE.
COPENHAGEN, Sept. 29.—The Queen of Denmark died at 5.30 o'clock this morning.
The end of the Queen was peaceful. At her bedside were the King of Denmark, the King and Queen of Greece, the Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Denmark, and all the other members of the royal family.

Queen Louise of Denmark was born Sept. 7, 1817. She was the daughter of Prince Louis of Prussia, and was married May 26, 1842, to Christian, fourth son of the late Duke Wilhelm of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg. Christian was appointed to the succession of the crown of Denmark by the treaty of London of May 8, 1852, and by the Danish law of succession of July 21, 1853, he succeeded to the throne as Christian IX, on the death of King Frederick VII., on Nov. 15, 1863.

For the last thirty years of her life, the Queen exercised such influence in the politics of Europe that she was sometimes called the mother-in-law of the continent. Another title which was sometimes given her was the 'royal match-maker.'

THE CHILDREN OF KING CHRISTIAN AND QUEEN LOUISE ARE PRINCE FREDERICK, THE HEIR APPARENT, BORN JUNE 3, 1843, WHO WAS MARRIED NOV. 9, 1862, TO ALEXANDER III., THE LATE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA; PRINCESS ALEXANDRA, BORN DEC. 1, 1844, WHO WAS MARRIED MARCH 1, 1862, TO THE PRINCE OF WALES; PRINCESS WILHELMINE, BORN DEC. 24, 1846, ELECTED KING OF THE HOLLANDS, UNDER THE TITLE OF GEORGE V.; PRINCESS MARIE D'ORLANS, ELDEST DAUGHTER OF THE DUC DE CHARTRES. THE QUEEN HAS BEEN DIGNARILY SILENT FOR SEVERAL MONTHS, BUT AN EFFORT HAS BEEN MADE TO KEEP THE CONDITION OF THE ROYAL SUFFERER FROM THE PUBLIC; HER DAUGHTER, THE PRINCESS OF WALES, WAS MARRIED TO DENMARK IN HAUTE, A FEW WEEKS AGO.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A despatch to the Times from Copenhagen gives the following account of the death of the Queen: 'The King of Denmark and Greece and the Princess of Wales, accompanied by the Emperor and Empress of Russia, the late Emperor of Denmark, and the late Emperor of Russia, were present at the funeral of the Queen, who for a few moments recovered consciousness, but did not speak. Her husband wept and the physicians requested him to retire to rest, but he replied: 'I will stay at least while the Queen is conscious.' The Queen did not die of any special illness, but of increasing debility.'

THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE.
AN AGREEMENT SAID TO HAVE BEEN REACHED ON SEVERAL POINTS.
QUEBEC, Sept. 27.—It is understood that the new finally settled that, after the dinner to be given by the American commissioners to their British and Canadian colleagues on Oct. 9, the International Conference will be adjourned to meet at Washington a month or six weeks later. Several reasons are assigned for this postponement. In the first place, the deliberations of the conference will not be so profitable as a stage that the American commissioners would consult their government daily. It is also stated that the Canadian commissioners, being mostly laymen, would not be able to do so. It is also stated that the American commissioners are under the necessity of consulting any one. They are in the R. V. City and are on their way to Seattle. Several thousand men are on the trail, but only a few could reach Dawson, they say.

In the first place, the deliberations of the conference will not be so profitable as a stage that the American commissioners would consult their government daily. It is also stated that the Canadian commissioners, being mostly laymen, would not be able to do so. It is also stated that the American commissioners are under the necessity of consulting any one. They are in the R. V. City and are on their way to Seattle. Several thousand men are on the trail, but only a few could reach Dawson, they say.

Several accidents have occurred recently, but not less than claimed that both sides are anxious for a respite, the one to get the congressional elections in the United States and the other by the elections in Canada before meeting again.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Out of a party of twenty-six men, who left San Francisco early in the year to go to Dawson via the Stickeen trail, Herman Black and his party, the only one that pushed through. Two out of the party were drowned, two are insane and the others are far in the interior endeavoring to repair their health at trading points.

In the Swift Chesley River in the north river zone of district four, the dished to pieces on the rocks and the outfits were lost. In two of the wrecks Dr. Black and a man named Morgan, both from California, were drowned. Long says that many of the men became temporarily insane after their previous success to give out. They had to be watched continually, as several attempts at suicide were made.

What is the Government going to do about it?

By the plebiscite vote taken last Thursday the citizens of this Dominion gave direct and authoritative expression to their judgment on a question of vast importance, and one that has been troubling the Dominion since the late war.

They gave their opinion on a disputed question the government desired they should settle. Now the fundamental assumption of the men of government of this country is that the majority of its citizens will be true and just in their decision on every question submitted to them, and that the decision of this true and just majority will be the decision of justice and the decision of justice will be the law both for the majority and for the minority.

In order that the decision of the majority might be determined on the question of prohibition, the citizens came to the polls. They there rendered an honest decision, it is impossible to misunderstand their meaning, they have spoken in such forceful terms as to compel obedience. A majority of lawful votes lawfully polled is supreme authority and must be obeyed.

The day has been over, the potter moulder the clay, destiny today in master, Man was master yesterday.

The will of the majority must become law. A political party is not the government of this country. Political parties have been overthrown and the government of the country may have been as well for their overthrow. A party is a mere channel under government through which the people may exercise their judgment and decision in matters relating to the public welfare. There is great danger here, we should allow party to rule us instead of obeying law. We must think of time and purpose and use parties for the accomplishment of the same. What our country needs at the present time is intelligent, honest, hard-headed, public spirited men, with no axe to grind but to serve their country, the very best of their ability. We are none of us debtors to a party, but debtors to our country and to our manhood. The will of the people must be regarded as the supreme authority and there can be no offense against a people more flagrant than an intentional disregard for the lawful, authoritative, and clear expression of the public will. Public sentiment and public opinion have been expressed when they could not speak with greater authority. The rule is that the majority shall have its way.

It might be asked, have we any right to assume that the government will not pass a satisfactory prohibitory measure at its earliest convenience? The mouth-piece of the government in the city of St. John would lead us to suppose that the government will take no action whatever in the matter. We should be willing to give the government of the country every time to take in the situation; to frame a satisfactory law, to devise means for its enforcement and punishments for its violation. But the attitude of all the government organs does not point that way. They have fore-stalled the action of the government and declared that nothing can be done. There seems to be tendency on the part of the government press to minimize the vote taken on this question, and to state at once that nothing can be done. It seems somewhat remarkable that while some of the government organs speak of the indifference of prohibitionists on this question none of them speak of the indifference of the liquor party. Do they assume that the minority vote represents the entire strength of the liquor party? If so that party is very decidedly in the minority. If the vote polled does not by any means represent their numbers and their strength then they must have been very indifferent about the issue and not strongly opposed to prohibition. The Daily Telegraph states that "the government are as much in the dark as we were before the plebiscite was ordered." The darkness must be very dense in which the government is found if after all the provinces, save one, of this Dominion have given a very decided majority in favor of prohibition they are as much in the dark as before the plebiscite was ordered. There are none so blind as those who will not see. The statement made by Telegraph does not sound very complimentary to its party. If the statement be correct there the government must be very stupid and dull, and it would be a great relief if someone could give them a little perception. It is too bad that the government has been in the dark at all, but it is worse to know that after all the light that was given last Thursday that they are still "in the dark." Can not some means be used or something be done to dispel this darkness and bring them into the light? Or must they remain in the dark. It may be that the government is not so much "in the dark" as the Editor of the Daily Telegraph would lead us to suppose; perhaps it is the Editor himself who is "in the dark." He says, "from the fact that the vote for prohibition was so small they have a right to infer that the people of Canada do not want it." How about the vote to continue the liquor traffic? It was very much smaller than the other. If the prohibition vote was small the vote to continue the liquor traffic was small. Why not say that the vote in opposition to prohibition was small that there is a comparatively strong standing in the way of the government giving up prohibition at its earliest opportunity?

What is the government going to do about it?

The Total Vote

During the day yesterday all over the city, business went on as usual, and even back-keepers did a thriving trade.

It may be hard to believe the fact, but some back-keepers actually were manifested as deputy returning officers. Some very remarkable votes were cast too. For instance, a good many dead and absent voters polled their ballots, and it is even related that one woman voted in a local division. In one division in which a good many dead men's names are on the list, it seems that all, almost to a man, voted. There really is no doubt that an unusually large amount of "telegraphing" went on, and the comparative absence of checkers on both sides was largely responsible for this fact.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 30.—The vote yesterday in the prohibition plebiscite in Nova Scotia was probably 20,000 less than the vote at the plebiscite four years ago. At the Dominion general election the vote was taken on 28th July, 1892, and the total vote polled was 25,722, or 55.18 per cent. of the registered vote at the previous Dominion election of 1890, or 52.41 per cent. of the registered vote for prohibition, and 1,925, or 7.99 per cent. against.

"Nova Scotia voted on prohibition on 15th March, 1884, when 43,756 votes were cast for and 12,850 against, making a total of 56,606, or 50.96 per cent. of the registered vote, as per revised Dominion list of the following year (1885) of the polled vote 30.40 per cent. of the registered vote was for prohibition, and 11.09 per cent. against. At the Dominion general election in 1881 the registered vote was 90,045 and the vote polled 87,825, or 73.33 per cent. "Ontario was the last province to vote on prohibition, the vote was taken on the 18th June, 1884, when 192,497 votes for and 110,575 against, making a total of 303,072, or 46.65 per cent. of the registered vote of the following year (1885) of the polled vote 20.41 per cent. of the registered vote was for prohibition and 17.04 per cent. against. At the Dominion general election of 1891 the registered vote was 398,789, and the vote polled 369,464, or 63.57 per cent. against.

"Taking the four provinces together it appears that a total vote of 361,008 was polled for prohibition, and 132,158 against, making a total of 493,166, or 50.14 per cent. of the registered vote. The time the various plebiscites were taken, or 47.26 per cent. of this 47.26 per cent. was for prohibition, 31.37 per cent. was for prohibition and 15.89 per cent. against. At the Dominion general election of 1891 the total registered vote in the provinces of Ontario, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island was 729,578, and the vote polled was 498,225, or 68.31 per cent. of the registered vote, as compared with 47.26 per cent. of the registered vote polled at the different plebiscites. It does not appear, therefore, that the vote on the prohibition question has been as high as is generally stated, it being only 16.65 per cent. below the vote of 1891, after one of the latest political campaigns ever known in Canada.

Notes of the Day

THE "WITNESS" BULLETIN. An enormous crowd gathered last evening in the vicinity of the "Witness" office to read the returns given by lantern. They were enthusiastic, too, to the back row, and they cheered every place that recorded a majority "for." The scene was a most occasioned much amusement. A big majority by Quebec province against prohibition was greeted by a liquor dealer in the thorough-going "boiler" boat. "What we have, we'll miss," in words had not left his lips when he appeared on the sheet a bearded, tattered individual, clinging to a telegraph pole with one hand and to a bottle with the other. The picture which he presented had raised a smile; but in conjunction with the phrase just used it was funny, if not the crowd roared with delight.

Naturally the voting on such an occasion, when the saloons had their doors wide open, could hardly pass without many interesting incidents, some of them ludicrous.

In one of the polls of St. Lawrence division a man who in the morning voted "yes," being then quite sober, returned in the afternoon drunk, and wanted to cancel his vote. A peculiar thing which occurred incident is that the polling clerk was so uncertain whether he had the right to grant the request, and made a note of it in case there was trouble.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—The result of the vote in the cities and towns of Ontario justify the warnings given by the Ontario Alliance leaders that the liquor men were pushing herculean efforts to pull down the prohibition majority of the provincial caucus instead of, as in the provincial campaign, allowing them to go by default. There is no doubt, too, that considerable trafficking was done at the ballot-boxes, by the traffic. Mr. Spence puts the franchise vote in Toronto at two thousand.

Prohibition had prohibited in Toronto yesterday. The bars throughout the city were closed, and for the twenty-four hours ending at twelve o'clock last night, not a single arrest on the charge of drunkenness was made.

THE VOTE IN KINGSTON. KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 30.—The prohibition party made a good showing in face of many obstacles. They had the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches in opposition and a big following of Presbyterians—Graftonites. The majority against prohibition was only 417. There were 2,713 votes in 1884. At the Ontario plebiscite vote 195 women voted "yes." In view of the increased vote, the absence of the women voters and the large number of registration voters—men who hold no property in the city—the victory of the anti is not so serious.

QUEBEC, Sept. 30.—There is great rejoicing in temperance circles here over the prohibition victory throughout the Dominion, but it is feared that the government will make an excuse that the majority is too small compared with the total electoral vote to warrant it passing a prohibitory law.

At New Brunswick

At New Brunswick the captain of the civil guard, with his wife and four children, his lieutenant, the latter's wife and four other women have been murdered. Three children are missing.

The fact that the leaders of the anti-Aguelino movement in the northern provinces, which centres its hopes in the United States, were not officially represented at the independence celebration and were invited individually, has caused a serious impression.

MANILA, Oct. 3.—The National Assembly at Malolos at a recent meeting voted Aguelino a civil list of $72,000, but Aguelino declined to receive anything until the army should have been paid. An attempt was made by Paterno, the Speaker of the House, to have inserted a clause granting him an allowance because of the office but the proposal was rejected. The assembly is now engaged in discussing the constitution of the new republic.

The Spanish community is telegraphing to Madrid in an endeavor to secure the enforcement of the release of prisoners. Personal investigations made in the provinces emphasize the determination of the Spaniards to obtain a specific guarantee of favorable terms before releasing the prisoners now in their hands, and it is certain that they will never cheaply relinquish their dearly bought conquest.

Everywhere there is evidence of appalling struggles. Popular opinion favors autonomy, which is generally expressed with the most decided determination at the moment. The people rather than the Americans, who, beginning to realize this fact, sent the cruiser Raleigh to the northeastern part for the purpose of showing the American flag and making friends with the natives. The cruiser's officers endeavored to arrange an interchange of hospitalities, but the natives at first were unwilling to visit the ship unless hostages were furnished. They, however, finally feeling was established, and the natives were agreeably surprised at the American attitude.

A sanitary board with an American at its head has been established here. A corps of physicians are superintending the sanitary work in all the districts of the city and vicinity.

Bridgeport Horror

ARRIVED AT LONDON, ENGLAND. DR. SAMUEL GULFORD IS NOW UNDER LOCK AND KEY.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Dr. Samuel Gulford, the mid-wife of Bridgeport, Conn., who is wanted by the American police on the charge of having been connected with the death of Miss Emma Gill, the young woman whose body, cut into several pieces, was found some time ago, near Bridgeport, has been arrested.

Dr. Gulford was arrested by Inspector Frost of Scotland Yard, who has been on his track ever since she landed at Liverpool from Montreal, on Tuesday last, from the steamer Vancouver.

She was taken into custody at a middle class boarding house and gave the name of McAllister, though on first arriving in London she declared her name was Catherine Wilber. The prisoner was taken to Bow Street police court, where she was formally charged and remanded.

Two Lives Lost

BY THE BURNING OF A HOUSE IN KENT COUNTY.

RICHMOND, Oct. 3.—Sunday afternoon, during a strong breeze of wind, the residence of Martin Dalgie, St. Charles, seven miles from here, was burned to the ground.

Mr. Dalgie's father, about eighty years of age, who was asleep in the house at the time the fire started, received such injuries that he died two hours after.

A three-year-old child was burned to death.

Coroner Bernice left town this morning to hold an inquest.

Yesterday's Yacht Race

The Miramichi Yacht Club held the last yacht race of the season yesterday off Newcastle. The wind was about north west and blew a fine sailing breeze. The boats entered were Mandie, Oriam, Spray, and Spry. The course taken was from an imaginary line of the public wharf, down to the buoy off the Mill Cove, up to a boat anchored off Sargents' Mill and then back starting point. This course was sailed over twice, a distance in all of about nine miles.

The boats crossed the line in the following order: Mandie, Theis, Oriam, Spray, and Spry. The course taken was from an imaginary line of the public wharf, down to the buoy off the Mill Cove, up to a boat anchored off Sargents' Mill and then back starting point. This course was sailed over twice, a distance in all of about nine miles.

The sail down to the lower mark was very close and exciting. Mandie increased her lead and Oriam overhauled and passed Theis, while the latter and Spry turned the buoy almost together. On the last lap, Mandie still increased her lead on the Oriam, while the other boats fell to the rear. Mandie kept her lead throughout the remainder of the race and sailed 10 minutes and 10 seconds ahead of Oriam.

The following is the time made by each:

hr. min. sec.

Mandie 1 7 14

Oriam 1 8 24

Theis 1 14 52

Spray 1 18 37

Commodore Miller was on hand with his steam yacht Florence and signalled the boats as they crossed the line at the finish.

Mr. James A. Willis Dead

The lamented death occurred here Friday night of Mr. James A. Willis, aged 84 years. Mr. Willis was born in England at Newcastle on Tyne, and came to this country when only 14 years of age. He was 51 years in the employ of Gilmore, Rankin and Co., between Bathurst and St. John. Mr. and Mrs. Willichee lived the past ten years in Newcastle with their daughter Mrs. G. Nicholson.

Mrs. Geo. N. Waring the only other daughter lives in St. John. Mrs. Willis survives her husband and still enjoys excellent health. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended. Messrs. Ritchie's was in charge of the interment and a large number of their employees attended the funeral.

St. Johns, Nfld., Sept. 28.—The British government has privately advised the Colonial Ministry of the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Sir Henry McCollum of the Royal Engineers, to the Governorship of Newfoundland.

This step is believed to be a preliminary towards fortifying St. John's, the new capital having been designed and built the Singapore fortifications.

Hill Climbing Champion

Mr. Randolph Mason, who works at Barrett's Cycle Shop and who has this season made quite a reputation as a racer, has accomplished a feat which no other cyclist has been able to do. In the presence of several reputable witnesses he rode up the famed Stanley hill, which is very steep and said to be nearly a mile in length. He mounted the hill on a bicycle geared at 77. He thinks that he may without undue egotism claim the hill climbing championship. There are few who will dispute this claim, if riding a bicycle up Stanley hill is involved in the dispute.—Gleaner.

The Country For Big Game

A letter received by W. T. Chestnut from Crosby, the Bangor taxidermist, gives an idea of the prominence which this province is assuming as a big game centre. Mr. Crosby writes that as an accommodation sent him this season for mounting only three from Maine, all the others having been shot in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Of those sent he sent to him to mount the largest, is that shot on the Resurgence by E. W. Grett, of Boston. It has a spread of 69.2 inches, and contains 24 points. Mr. Crosby says it is one of the finest heads he has ever seen.

Big Woods Will Be The Fed.

Those cyclists who are periodically in search of something new or a little different to the machine which the ordinary wheeled possessors, will be accommodated next spring with bicycles having wheels of 24 inches diameter. Such wheels are now made on a small scale, generally to order, but indications are that a majority of the large manufacturers will place a 30-inch wheel on the market, in the spring—not as a leader, probably, but as an accommodation to those enthusiasts and faddists who want to appear up to date.

The Sailer Who Assaulted Miss Richardson at Campbellton Sentenced to DORCHESTER.

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., Sept. 28.—Arrested, the sailor who assaulted young Miss Richardson last week, was brought before County Court Judge Wilkinson at Dalhousie today and led to be tried by him under the Speedy Trials Act. He pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and was sentenced to imprisonment in the District penitentiary with hard labor for two years.—Sun.

three days, however, I began to think that it was but just that my visitor should help to replenish the larder which he continued voraciously to deplete.

So, on arising early the fifth morning after his advent and finding the day suitable, I proposed that he should take his gun and accompany me on a moose-hunt.

'You go hunt,' he said. 'Me mind camp.' This reply, coming from his greasy, dirty indolence, made me boil with sudden indignation.

He made one jump for his gun, but I was expecting that, and my double-barrel instantly covered him.

Now that it was too late, I began a little to regret my act, for I rather feared that he might hang around and shoot me from behind a tree.

Four days after, when I was returning about noon from an inspection of some marten traps.

My heart misgave me still more when I came in sight of the cabin and saw the door standing wide open.

My scanty stock of flour, of tea, of sugar, the large canister of gunpowder, the little bags of shot, the loaded shells and the reloading tools—all were gone.

I at once set myself to examine the trail of the robber, and as I expected, I found the distinct mark of the patched cross-bar in the snow-shoe.

I instinctively I dropped, and the shadows near the ground concealed me. So I lay motionless for some minutes, till I began to fear that I should be frozen.

I could hear the creak and crunch of his snow-shoes, and did not need the moonlight to identify my treacherous guest.

At any rate, I expected that he would camp for an hour or two at nightfall for a cup of tea and a nap, and I felt sure of coming upon him before he could start again.

When I awoke in the morning he occupied the same position, but his pipe was gone and the kettle was boiling over the fire, which led me to infer that he had not slept all night.

There was none; he had been completely enguiled, and I set myself to dig him out with a snow-shovel which I took off for the purpose.

I was somewhat at a loss to know what to do with him, for I had no right to execute the death sentence upon him, and if I turned him loose, he would in all probability repay me with another load of buckshot.

We hear a great deal about purifying the blood. The way to purify it is to enrich it. Blood is not a simple fluid like water.

It is made up of minute bodies and when these are deficient, and the blood lacks the life-giving principle, Scott's Emulsion is not a mere blood purifier.

If you want to learn more of it we have a book, which tells the story in simple words.

It was a Yankee seaman on the Dago who gave me the information with Fanny. 'Give me that rope in the stern, captain,' said he.

As the boat pulled away, the dog was dragged after it by a rope fastened around her body behind the forepaws.

Another method even simpler than Sylvester's, but one which has not been tried so often, is that of 'tongue traction,' recommended by Doctor Laborde.

I tied him head and foot, and went to look for the toboggan-load of my possessions.

Finally it occurred to me that the toboggan was growing on, that I should have returned to the city long ago, that all my moveables of value were now snugly packed away on the toboggan.

In the course of a week we arrived at a little village, called Ramey, upon the Canadian Pacific Railway, where I lodged my captive in the lockup.

I was never called upon to give evidence against my late guest, for he soon managed to escape, and was not recaptured.

Not many months ago Fanny was struggling for life in the Atlantic's icy waters, a thousand miles from home.

When the captain left the white cliffs of England on the Dago, bound for Baltimore, the weather was so pleasant that the dog was a 'deck passenger,' going from stern to forecastle, and taking her afternoon nap in the sun.

down the altar steps. In falling he struck his head, and was carried to the vestry quite unconscious.

Perhaps it was this incident, together with the child's unbounded delight in the organ music he heard in the street, that induced his father, who was an innkeeper, to add a spinet, or pianoforte, to his worldly possessions.

But it was several years after this that his vocation was temporarily deferred for him, though fate already stepped in and undid the decision.

Verdi said, shyly, that he had brought no music with him that day, and had been improvising.

So I played as I felt,' said he, 'I advised you wrongly. You must be no priest, but a musician.'

After that the way was easier. The priestly influence on his side opened many a door to him.

A DOG OF WAR. A hard-looking young colored man leaned against an awning-pole at a street-corner in Washington, says the Post, while a very ordinary cur sat at his feet.
