MAY DAY STRIKES INVOLVE THOUSANDS

PETROGRAD IS BEING EVACUATED BY THE BOLSHEVIKI

ESCAPED MURDERER, FRANK McCULLOUGH REPRIEVED UNTIL JUNE 2

MONTREALERS BENT ON HAVING SUPPLY OF "HARD STUFF" FOR FUTURE BUY AND CARRY AWAY ALL STOCKS OF THE DEALERS

All Records in Quebec Metropolis For Liquor Sales Are Broken On Day Before Beer and Wine Law Becomes Effective—Parade of Thirsty To Stores Was Like a Celebration.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

All records in the retailing of liquor were broken in Montreal last night when at nine o'clock the provinces went virtually dry, that is dry so far as the hard and stimulous liquor is concerned. For months the "Cut-rate liquor stores" whose stocks consisted of the surplus left over by other provinces, when they went dry have been urging the people of Quebec to remember that "it may be four years and it may be for ever," but it would appear as if only yesterday was full significance of the warning appreciated. From early morning the liquor stores were thronged and mobbed. Street cars brought an unusually and significantly large number of apparent travellers laden with suit cases and grips, so much so that a local humorist declared the city had succumbed to another epidemic of grip, not Spanish grip this time but Scotch grip. Owing to the carter's strike deliveries have been almost impossible for a fortnight. As a result private automobiles and rigs of all kinds were pressed into service and were to be seen speeding suburbanwards with large cargoes. Comparatively little liquor was sold by the glass yesterday, as the public were too seriously concerned in getting a supply for the future.

Prepared for the Future.

All purchases were made by the bottle, gallon and even barrel. The better classes of whies have been almost unprocurable for weeks. A few days ago cocktails which are manufactured in the States gave out, then the better classes of Scotch whiskey began to get scarce, and yesterday unknown brands filled the windows. By night it was only possible to get liquors with little-known names of whose last the public was unfamiliar and odds and ends of brands that were never favored. Many of the liquor stores were cleaned out early in day and closed their doors the manager of one big grocery store which had a few bottles left at 6 o'clock declared: "This is not our stock; that was cleaned out long ago. We are only selling on commission now for the man at the corner." Never were the liquor stores so crowded. Never had they so many women patrons. Women with bundles and grips were a familiar spectacle. Young girls are blamed for the scarcity of cocktails, a dealer arguing that the men would make their own. Yesterday was the last day of the bar and the sale of the beer and wine have issued these drinks must be served at little tables, and as a consequence the barmen have today turned waiters and will rejoice in this. As this is moving day, the stores of liquor accumulated by residents yesterday are brought into public view, and the sight of cases, bundles and grips full of the new beverage being conveyed across the city attracts much comment. Quebec Province will taste the new beer for the first time today.

U. S. AUTHORITIES TRYING TO DISCOVER SOURCE OF BOMBS

New York, May 1.—With the discovery and frustration of a nation-wide bomb conspiracy here yesterday against the lives of many prominent men, every agency of the Federal and municpal government was at work today, not only in an attempt to trace the authors of the terrorist plot, but to guard against the "reds'" boast of a country-wide surprise on May Day.

While 30 bombs have been delivered or intercepted in various cities—all apparently mailed from New York in identical parcels-post packages—Postmaster Patten said: "The likelihood that other infernal machines will be brought to light in the next 24 hours does not comfort me. This is absolutely appalling."

If any bombs other than the sixteen were mailed here they have passed out of the jurisdiction of the metropolitan districts postoffice. Postmaster Patten said this morning that inquiry at all the postoffices in the city had failed to disclose any other package.

GERMAN RIGHTS AT KIAO CHAU ARE TRANSFERRED TO JAPAN

Shantung Province Is To Be Handed Back To China by Jap an.

Paris, April 30.—All German rights at Kiao Chau and in Shantung Province are to be transferred without reserve to Japan, according to an agreement reached today by the council of three. Japan voluntarily engages to hand back Shantung Province in full sovereignty to China, retaining only the economic privileges granted Germany and the right to establish a settlement at Tsing Tao, south of Kiao-Chau. Confidence is felt that the league of nations, which will have control over the future relations between Japan and China, and which will guarantee the future territorial integrity and independence of China, will be sufficiently strong to safeguard Chinese interests and insure the return of all China's rights in the Shantung Province. Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau and President Wilson are all especially eager for the withdrawal of Allied troops from all enemy colonies, and are confident that the league of nations can speedily solve pending disputes when military pressure is eliminated.

CHINA OBJECTS.

Peking, April 30.—Both houses of the Chinese Parliament passed a resolution today protesting, through the foreign office to the delegates of the five great powers at Paris against the transfer of the control of Kiao-Chau to Japan. DINING-ROOM IN VERSAILLES HOTEL READY FOR DELEGATES

Versailles, April 30.—The spacious dining-room of the Hotel Trianon today received its peace congress installation—three long tables in horseshoe form, covered with the traditional green cloth of diplomacy. The installation is imposing in the size of each of the side tables, which extend some forty or fifty feet through the room. At the head of the apartment is a table about 35 feet long at which the representatives of the great powers will be seated, with President Poincare or Premier Clemenceau in the centre. Inside the horseshoe is another table covered with red plush and in the space between one side of the horseshoe and the window is a similar table. In the window opening are a number of square tables for the secretaries.

This is a scene for the handing over of the terms of peace. The exact date of the ceremony has not been announced.

GERMAN DELEGATES' CREDENTIALS BEING CLOSELY EXAMINED

New York, May 1.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following: Possible delay in the handing of peace terms to the German delegates at Versailles is indicated in late advices from the Paris conference. The function may have to go over to next week, while questions as to the powers of the enemy's representatives and their qualifications as spokesmen for Bavaria are being looked into.

Today was set for the handing over by the Germans of their credentials to a commission for examination.

The Chinese-Japanese dispute over Kiao-Chau and the adjoining Shantung province territory, has been settled by the council of three of the peace conference. Announcement is made that the former German holdings are to be given without reserve to Japan which would engage to hand the Shantung peninsula back to China, with relations between China and Japan and the future integrity of China to be under the control of the league of nations. All German rights in Shantung are to be held by Japan. The Kiao-Chau railway will be guarded by special police forces composed of Chinese, which will be trained by Japanese officers selected by directors of the railroad.

THOUSANDS OF WORKERS IN CANADA AND EUROPE OUT ON STRIKE TODAY TO ENFORCE DEMANDS ON EMPLOYERS

Ottawa in the Grip of Biggest Strike the Capital City Has Ever Known—Men in the Winnipeg Building Trades Decide On Walkout by Overwhelming Vote.

Toronto, May 1.—Labor's traditional strike day finds many Canadian cities suffering more or less from industrial disturbances. In Montreal, while no important strikes have been reported, police are preparing for trouble this afternoon between returned soldiers and Socialists, if the latter persist in carrying revolutionary banners or red flags. Toronto has 6,000 metal trades workers and 600 painters on strike, with no prospect at present of settlement. A big labor demonstration, with somewhat Socialistic tendencies in Queen's Park, was dampened by heavy showers, but another meeting has been called for the Arena tonight.

In Ottawa and Winnipeg building operations are almost completely tied up by strikes, although more serious difficulties with civic and public service employees in Winnipeg seem to have been tided over.

In addition there are minor strikes of various workers in other cities, but the prospects for settlement of many of them within a few days appear bright.

OTTAWA BUILDING TRADES ARE EXPERIENCING GENERAL STRIKE

Ottawa, May 1.—Ottawa people awakened today to find the city in the grip of the biggest strike known for many years. Three thousand men employed in the building trades laid down their tools tonight, and will not take them up again until the difficulties existing between them and the members of the Canadian Builders and Contractors' Association are settled. A last abortive attempt to effect a reconciliation was made yesterday when representatives of the union and the association met in a conference. Contractors finally retired saying that they could not accede to the demands of the men, and the men refused to submit their case to arbitration.

WINNIPEG EXPERIENCES STRIKE IN ALL THE BUILDING TRADES

Winnipeg, May 1.—By a practically unanimous vote, the men employed in building trades decided last night to go on strike today. The offer of the employers was rejected after a secret ballot by 1,199 to 74. This would give an advance to come trades of ten cents an hour and to some five cents.

The men by their vote, reaffirmed the demand made by their representatives of a general increase of twenty cents an hour. The strike affects the following classes of employees: Bricklayers, carpenters, painters, hoisting engineers, sheet metal workers, structural iron workers, plumbers, steamfitters, electricians, plasterers, laborers and asbestos workers.

PARIS PARALYZED BY MOST COMPLETE STRIKE IN HISTORY

Paris, May 1.—Paris presents a mournful and gloomy aspect this morning, there being no carriages, autobuses or taxicabs on the streets owing to the one-day strikes. No newspaper appeared. The metropolitan railway was shut down this morning in conformity with the decision to cut off electricity for two hours beginning at 7 o'clock.

The most conspicuous feature of the government's measures against possible trouble was the occupation of the Place de la Concorde by cavalry, to insure the enforcement of the order against street demonstrations.

The cessation of work for the day, in accordance with the plan for the 24-hour shut-down, was virtually complete. Not a wheel was turning in any of the transportation systems, the subways and tramways ceasing to operate and taxicabs and buses keeping off the streets. Restaurants and cafes were closed, and guests in hotels had to go hungry if they had not supplied themselves with food beforehand, as no meals were being served in any of the capital's hundreds of eating places. Even the drug stores closed their doors.

There was no solace for the city's population in the way of amusements, such as theatres, music halls and other resorts, for these were closed tight for the day. No newspapers were published, and senders of letters or telegrams found their facilities hampered by stoppages in the postal and wire services throughout the day.

Industry on all sides was in a state of complete inactivity, work being suspended by artisans in the building and other trades, the miners and shipworkers—every class of labor, in fact—taking the day off.

1,200 SHIPBUILDERS AT HALIFAX STRIKE FOR HIGHER WAGES

Halifax, May 1.—Approximately 1,200 men employed in the shipbuilding trades in Halifax struck this morning, the sheet metal workers alone remaining at work. A general wage increase approximating 18½ per cent was conceded the plumbers, pipe fitters, plasterers, painters and carpenters, in addition to the overtime and working day demands made by the men, but the proposal was turned down, and construction is practically at a standstill today.

1,000 EMPLOYEES OF WHEELING TRACTION COMPANIES STRIKE

Wheeling, W. Va., May 1.—One thousand employees of all traction companies in the Wheeling district went on strike last midnight, following refusal of their demand for a 33 per cent increase in wages. Thirty-five miles of street car lines and a power plant which supplies lighting service to 10,000 people in Wheeling suburbs are tied up by the strike.

IRELAND'S WORKERS ON STRIKE TODAY

London, May 1.—All Irish workers except those in the northern parts of the island have entirely ceased work today. The railroads, newspapers, factories, shops and other industries are closed down in compliance with the order from the powerful transport workers' union.

Although the one-day strike will not be observed in the north there will be labor delegations and processions in the cities there. Civil servants in Dublin have been officially notified that any absenting themselves from work today will be liable to instant dismissal.

HEAVIER TAXES ON WEALTH AND BUSINESS IN GREAT BRITAIN

Decided Increase Is Made On Inheritance Taxes.

GREATER BEER OUTPUT

Total of 20,000,000 Barrels Per Year Can Now Be Manufactured.

London, April 30.—The features of the Government's budget, which was discussed in the House of Commons by Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, which are exciting most discussion here, are the continuance of the policy of heavily taxing wealth without an increase of taxes for people of moderate means and the launching of the scheme of preference for imports from the dominions and colonies. The taxation on wealth and business is illustrated by the increase on inheritance taxes, beginning with five per cent on £15,000 estates, so that they pay ten instead of five per cent, as at present, while an estate of £1,000,000 pays thirty instead of twenty per cent.

Beer Output Increased.

Business is taxed by the retention of an excess profits tax of forty per cent, which is half the existing rate, but which brings complaint from businessmen, who argue that it discourages enterprise. The policy of imperial preference on imports begins, after years of discussion with the colonies, without any arrangement for reciprocal favors done by the colonies for British products. This is the first wedge for the introduction of the protective system, because preference for the colonies means a tariff on goods from other countries. Free trade sentiment, however, is far from dead, and the old-line free traders promise a strong fight. The popular demand for more and better beer is granted, with the allowance increased by an output of fifty per cent, which, with a twenty-five per cent increase sanctioned in January, means seventy-five per cent more than in 1918. This means a total of 20,000,000 barrels per year, which many consider to be favorable to the profiteers.

BIG LABOR LEADERS NEEDED TO REDUCE INDUSTRIAL UNREST

J. J. Coughlan of Shipyards Firm Gives Evidence Before Commission.

CO-OPERATION IMPOSSIBLE

Demands of Workers Will Mean Overthrow of Entire System, Says Employer.

Vancouver, B. C., May 1.—Before the industrial commission last night, J. J. Coughlan of the Coughlan shipyards, submitted his evidence. He said that the policy laid down by the trade union groups would mean no co-operation between employers and employees. They say, he stated, that profits, rents and interest should be eliminated and all instruments of production continued by the workers. "I think they desire to overthrow both economic and social systems," he added.

A great difficulty was the lack of responsible leaders of labor and the presence of men like Gompers or Peter Wright would do much for present-day conditions, he thought.

He thought the "reds" were losing prestige because they had gone too far in their demands.

Approves Permanent Board.

Mr. Coughlan approved the appointment of a federal permanent industrial board to make a continual study of economic and industrial conditions and work through provincial and subsidiary boards in the settlement of local disputes. The Coughlin works had a production committee, which he explained, consisted of three employees and the representatives of the management, which was working to increase efficiency and decrease production cost that recent wage increases could be met. This was new, yet he thought it would work out very satisfactorily and it proved materially beneficial in the adjustment of differences. W. D. S. Cook, manager of the Lyall wooden shipyards, in North Vancouver, thought unrest was general, and not confined to industrial circles. The idea of industrial councils was sound, he thought, and he disapproved of minimum wage laws.

"My greatest difficulty," he said, "is that when there is a difference between a committee or delegation and myself, there is no higher authority to whom we can refer it."

MORMON TEMPLE FOR SASKATOON IS NOT BEING CONSIDERED

Saskatoon, Sask., May 1.—The Presbyterian church officers at Toronto are misinformed in stating that a Mormon Temple is about to be dedicated. There are only a few dozen Mormons in the city. SOLDIER'S POETIC TRIBUTE TO GIRLS OF TROUBLED RUSSIA

The following tribute to the Russian girl is paid in a copy of the American Sentinel of February 8, published weekly for the American Expeditionary Forces in Northern Russia, and equally enjoyed by the Canadians, half a dozen of whom are well-known London boys.

The American Sentinel has been forwarded by Signaller E. W. Harrison of the 67th Battery, stationed south of Archangel, one of several grandsons of Superintendent Joseph Sanders of the Children's Aid Society, who has given valiant service in the war.

"To a Russky Barishna," taken from the "Poet's Dugout" of the Sentinel, has been written by a young American soldier, Sergt. R. S. Clark:

"TO A RUSSKY BARISHNA."

I wonder, little sister, as I see you pass me by,
With your coarse, ill-fitting garments
And your huge, ungainly feet,
If a lot of things aren't true of you
The which your looks belie,
If some very minor changes
Wouldn't make you mighty neat.

I know a lot of damsels with twice the chance you've had,
Who are twice as prone to grumble as you ever seem to be,
Who are twice as quick to anger, and every bit as bad
As their husky Russka sister ever yet appeared to me.

While they sigh at washing dishes and deplore their bitter fate,
You labor like a stevedore and do it like a man.
It is you, in my opinion, who will build the Russian state,
And I'll back you, little sister, in every way I can.

If you could change your clothes for some my Yankee sisters wear,
I imagine they would envy you the roses in your face;
With some proper Yankee footgear and a ribbon in your hair,
You would spot them several tallies and give them second place.

In the dusk the other evening a score of you I met,
And the evening stars were twinkling in the chill December sky;
And I heard you ere I saw you and I shall not soon forget
The pretty, mellow treble in your voices shrill and high.

It's a weedy row you're hoeing, but the way you hoe is great.
And I'm proud of your acquaintance just as proud as I can be.
It is you, in my opinion, who will build the future state,
Who will shape the greater Russia as a true democracy.

—Sergt. R. S. Clark.

Too Romantic, But Young Girl Gets Valued Signature

E. P. Oppenheim Acknowledges Her Suggestion For Story.

With a strong leaning to the romantic side of life, one of London's pretty, young maidens read an advertisement in the pages of The Advertiser which asked for a small loan to tide over the financial difficulties of a refined girl. The ad. stated that a personal call would be made if requested. The romantic one saw possibilities of a good story, and she clipped the ad. and sent it to E. Philip Oppenheim.

Some time ago she received a letter from the author, who intimated that she was somewhat too romantic. "I am afraid that the newspaper clipping with offer of a personal call from a refined young lady does not strike quite the right note from the romantic point of view. But this may be my cynicism," says E. Philip Oppenheim, who signed the letter.

This letter is one of the treasured possessions of the young lady, who refused to have her name used in connection with the case.

LIEUT.-COL. W. J. DOUGLAS LEAVES FOR WINDSOR POST ON SUNDAY OR MONDAY NEXT

Went Overseas With 34th and Served With 1st Battalion.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. Col. Douglas went overseas with the 34th Battalion with the rank of major. When the battalion was broken up in England he was offered and accepted an opportunity to join the 1st Battalion in France, and he was with that famous unit in the fighting line until rather more than a year ago, when he was invalided to England, and later to Canada, with shell shock.

For several months he was in command of the Special Service Company, and when the company was reorganized as the garrison regiment early last year he was transferred to headquarters as D. A. A. and Q.M.G.

COUNTY COUNCIL IN SESSION; ARRANGING SUIT AGAINST CITY

Sum of $7,500 At Issue Between Them.

OTHER CASES PENDING

Several Persons Want Compensation For Damages Said To Be Sustained.

Chiefly for the purpose of completing arrangements for suing the city for $7,500, which it is alleged it failed to pay as its part of the cost of maintenance and construction of roads within the suburban area, the Middlesex county council met at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the county buildings. It is expected that before the session is finished County Treasurer T. E. Robson will have been instructed to take the necessary steps to the issuing of a writ against the city.

Three notices of damage will be dealt with also. Roy Butterick is seeking settlement for damage which he alleges was caused to him while driving a horse on the town line between Westminster and South Dorchester. He claims that the damages resulted from the road not being in proper repair. Stanley M. Hallam, the Toronto man who was seriously injured when his auto went over an embankment on the Longwoods road near Christina several weeks ago, has instructed his lawyers to issue a writ against the county, but has notified the council, in case that it wishes to settle out of court. T. B. Brown is seeking settlement for alleged damages to his auto while driving on the Longwoods road in Westminster Township, about four miles west of the city. He claims that this was the result of the bad condition of the road.

Mrs. William Stewart of Komoka, who has been keeping Charles Foley, a little crippled boy who is a ward of the county, for $3.50 per week, is now asking the county to pay $4.50 per week.

Outside of general business, there is no other business to come before the council.

PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN FOR CHILD WELFARE WEEK

Will Be Mapped Out at Meeting This Evening.

The whole of the publicity campaign for Child Welfare week, the first week in June, will be mapped out this evening at a meeting of the large publicity committee, of which Gordon Philip is convener, called for 8:15 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms, Tecumseh House.

The publicity work is regarded by the Child Welfare Association as extremely important, owing to the fact that on its efficiency depends the interest taken by the citizens of London and surrounding district in the exhibits, clinics and lectures of child welfare week.

The publicity will involve not only newspaper advertising, but reaching the public through every possible educational avenue.

Ottawa, April 30.—Sir Thomas White today cabled on behalf of the Government, felicitations and best wishes to Lady Blanche Cavendish on the occasion of her marriage.

ALLIED NATIONS AND NAVY BAZAAR NOW ON AT CRONYN HALL

Proceeds For Purpose of Renovating Cathedral.

SCENE IS DAZZLING

Excellent Musical Program Adds to Event—Booths Well Filled.

Not since the good old days before the war has a bazaar in the city equalled in picturesqueness and perfection in carrying out of every detail as that of the Allied Nations and Royal Navy, in progress in Cronyn Hall, under the auspices of the women of St. Paul's Cathedral, the proceeds to be devoted to the renovation fund of the cathedral.

A bewildering array of kaleidoscopic coloring greets the eyes of the visitor upon entering Cronyn Hall, a scene of dazzling gaiety which resolves itself into a well-ordered picture of attractive booths, each representing one of the allied nations with "H. M. S. Britannia," holding the centre of the stage, the feature upon which the attention of juvenile visitors is especially focused from the fact that delectable ice cream cones are dispensed from the good ship's cabin. First Cousin, the American Republic, has been given a place of prominence to the left of the entrance, the Stars and Stripes working out an effective scheme of decoration, while the Statute of Liberty has given valuable hints adapted in the costumes worn by the conveners, Mrs. Robert Reid, Miss Aspinall and Mrs. W. J. Robinson.

U. S. Is Cooking Booth.

Since the United States was in such bountiful measure the "food giver" during the war, it is fitting that the offerings in this booth should be tempting home-made cookery, including cooked meats, pickles, jellies, preserved fruits and fresh eggs, and no less, as well as the usual bread, buns and cakes of non-food regulation days.

Mrs. Gordon Hunt made a charming "Rule Britannia" Wednesday afternoon, in charge of the Great Britain booth, displaying all manner of fascinating garments for infants, the dainty knitted sweaters provoking especial admiration. Mrs. Allen McLean is the convener of this booth, with Miss Alwyn Williams and others assisting.

Bags, and still more bags, with articles useful and ornamental are heaped in "Little Italy," canopied with marguerites in white and yellow, bright with the Italian colors.

Costumes of various periods in Italian history are worn by the hostesses in this booth, adding to the interest and general "picture effect." Particularly striking and eminently becoming is the stately eighteenth (or perhaps earlier) costume of Mrs. T. H. Carling, with lace headdress arranged in double points. A number of young girls are assisting Mrs. Carling and the assistant conveners, Miss Louise Meredith, Mrs. Fred Farncombe, and Mrs. A. V. Becher.

"Books grave and books gay" gave a distinctly intellectual atmosphere to the Serbian nook. Mrs. John Puddicombe appearing in the Serbian costume, enriched with pearls, and Miss Kate Elliott, a charming picture as "Lavendar and Old Lace."

A dashing bit of color combination and a touch of the Oriental are given in the representation of "Rumania," the national colors, green and orange yellow worked out in a realistic-looking orange tree, each yellow-orange globe when unwrapped proving to be a surprise gift. Mrs. Mongo Nelles and Mrs. Harry Elliott, with a bevy of brunette girls, in striking headdresses and aprons of tangerine and green edged with black, completing the Rumanian holiday costume, are the attendants of the tree.

Belgium Keeps Sweets.

Everybody with a sweet tooth sooner or later found the way to "Belgium" yesterday, not a Belgium all bereft, but a Belgium gay with spring flowers, and irresistible with dainty baskets and boxes heaped with delicious home-made candies. Mrs. Matthewson, convener, with her assistants, Mrs. Moorhouse, Mrs. W. T. Strong, and Miss Jane Elliott and other helps, were kept busy filling orders yesterday afternoon and evening, but announce a generous stock in reserve for today's patrons.

Dainty and fresh as an early morning is the French booth, entwined with many-hued morning glory trumpets and displaying a fascinating array of interesting things, including such desirable novelties as clever little watercolor sketches, pretty hand-made clusters of silk flowers to grace a hat or adorn an evening frock, sachet pads, fetching dolls and still more dolls.

Talking of dolls, quite the most luxurious lady doll that has been seen in many a day, boasts her own white enamel bed, complete in every particular in coverings, pillow slips, pillows and all. But this isn't by any means the extent of her possessions. She has a tall chest of drawers in enamel and a wonderful trousseau. The doll's hats, in exquisite crochet have been made by a granddaughter of one of Napoleon's generals, and the hook used was the very first one bought at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Mrs. A. H. Smith is assisted in doing the honors in France by Mrs. David Williams, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Gordon Philip.

Mrs. Walter Brown and Miss Annie Elliott have been responsible for the Royal Navy exhibit.

In such a cosmopolitan gathering, a Hawaiian orchestra is entirely in key, the Kilelau Boys' Orchestra furnishing enlivening music with tunefulness and tirelessness.

Orchestra in White.

The members of the orchestra, in their white costumes with orange necklaces (or whatever the halter effects around their necks may signify) are Bob Shaw-Wood, leader; Stan Cahill and Edward Daly, each of whom plays the Hawaiian guitar; Jesse Shaw-Wood, a regular guitar; Herman Oettinger, a violin, and Harry Jarvis, the ukelele.

Nobody dreams of going to the bazaar without stopping on the way out at the Japanese tea room, a delightful bit of realism to be found in the committee-room. The grey rough cast walls have become the background for delightful real Japanese panels, prints and dados. Immense Japanese umbrellas and lanterns are suspended from the ceiling, while a soft radiance is shed from crimson-shaded electric lights. (Too much danger of fires from real lanterns!)

Tea, coffee, sandwiches, bread and butter, rolls and cakes are served at Japanese wicker tables by bewitching girls in Geisha costume. Mrs. Niven, Mrs. C. B. Hunt, Mrs. Harley Brown, Mrs. Baker, Miss Matthews and Miss Harris are in charge of the inviting corner of Japan, entered through curtains formed of strands of beads.

A musical program under the direction of Mrs. William Parker added to the enjoyment of those who attended the bazaar last evening. Those who took part were Miss Dorinda Abbott, contralto; E. N. Harding, baritone; Miss Margaret Coleman, pianist, and Harry Milligan, violinist.

The conveners of the bazaar are Mrs. Niven, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. T. H. Carling, Mrs. Thomas Baker and Mrs. A. H. Smith.

CITY MISSION WILL HOLD ITS TAG DAY ON SEVENTH OF MAY

Much Good Work Accomplished During Last Year.

Another year has rolled around, and the City Mission is about to come before the people of London for its annual tag day, an occasion when all citizens, irrespective of creed, may contribute to the broad humanitarian work of the institution.

The past year has been one of splendid achievements for the Mission, both in the spiritual sense and in the moral and physical aspects of the work. There have been many cases where a definite start has been made towards a better life, coal has been given to many poor families out of the Mission's own supply, hundreds of baskets of food have been distributed, also many parcels of clothing. Two cases of utter destitution were encountered, where the Mission superintendent and his wife were forced to assume the expenses of the burial of men without friends or near relatives to arrange the funerals. Thanks are given Rev. A. C. Bingham of Egerton Street Baptist Church who officiated at the last of these.

The Mission is now maintaining its own missionary in South Africa, having undertaken to support a man in this field by voluntary contributions from its own people.

There is a constant call upon the Mission for many worthy charitable needs of which the public knows little, work which is done quietly and efficiently, and ultimately results in a fresh start and better life for many.

On Mission Tag Day, Saturday, May 10, the Mission Hall will be open at 7 a.m., and Mrs. Matheson, the assistant superintendent, will be on hand to instruct the taggers and send them out on their willing task. Each year many girls and women from all the churches volunteer for this work and encounter amusing and interesting experiences. Dinner and tea will be served to the workers in the Mission Hall, and, as was the case last year, they will be plentifully supplied with ice cream donated.

Ladies and girls willing to assist Mrs. Matheson and to tag for this worthy cause are requested to phone the City Mission.

MAGISTRATE GETTING STERN WITH VAGRANTS

Remands Girl to Jail for Week While He Considers.

"I have just received a communication to the effect that I am far too lenient with girls of your sort," stated Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in court today as he remanded for one week a girl who pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge.

"Some people," continued his worship, "seem to think that I should send girls like you down to Mercer for a term and let it go at that. However I will remand you for a week to get in touch with your people."

On April 2nd the girl was fined ten dollars and costs in the Carling street court, following a raid made by the police on a disorderly house.

KOMOKA SOLDIER HOME.

KOMOKA, April 30.—The funeral of Mrs. Aldridge was held from the family residence Friday afternoon, and was largely attended. Deceased had resided here for a number of years. Her daughter, Mrs. David McDougall, lives in Komoka.

Pte. Charlie Smith returned home last week after nearly three years of overseas service.

NOTES OF INTEREST FROM CITY HALL

NEW HOSE NEEDED.

Ald. S. R. Manness reported to No. 1 committee that the fish depot is in need of new hose. "The old hose are all full of holes," he said.

"You should purchase holeproof," suggested Chairman E. S. Little. The piece of hose will be bought.

FEARED COMPETITION.

Possibly they thought that it would be impossible to secure a quorum of the council in the event of the meetings on the federal square and in the council chamber being held concurrently, but the members of No. 1 committee refused the request of Rev. E. Armstrong of Dundas Street Mission, for permission to erect a platform on the square for the purpose of holding gospel meetings during the summer.

HOME WORK FIRST

London will be busy enough on fire prevention methods at home, and so the committee decided it would not be necessary to send a representative to the fire prevention meeting at Ottawa next week.

FOR PERMANENT ARCHES.

Thomas Scatcherd likes the appearance of the civic victory arch so well that he suggested that the city erect a couple of permanent ones at the main entrances to the city. The members of No. 1 committee decided to lay the question over for future consideration.

FEAR THE FUTURE

They have no desire to peer into the future, and so the members of the committee decided that the citizens of London in general should not dabble in such things, especially when the future is told by a little bird who picks out the fate of the inquisitive one for a small consideration. For this reason the request of Mrs. Caroline for a fortune teller's license was not favored. It was jocularly left with Inspector J. W. McCallum with power.

MAYOR A PRIVILEGE.

One of the first honors, aside from presiding over a body of famous and illustrious men, that will be accorded the acting mayor will be the privilege of filling the chair at the special mothers' day meeting, which will be held by the Associated Kin on Sunday, May 11.

GOODBYE FOR EVER?

Notification has been given the council that the military authorities will vacate Queen's Park by the end of June.

QUITE SO

Electric light poles will not be converted into "sandwich men." It was suggested that decorative shields be placed on the poles in the down-town districts. The members of No. 1 committee thought that as the citizens are doing a great deal of decorating it is unnecessary to take any action.

POPULATION INCREASING.

London had a net increase in population during March of 31. This is an increase of 11 over the net increase for the same period of last year. During March this year there were 109 births, 56 marriages, and 78 deaths, as compared with 106 births, 48 marriages, and 88 deaths for March of 1918.

OPIUM DEN RAIDED AND KEEPER IS FINED

Lee Waugh Has To Pay $100 To Court.

TWO TINS WERE FOUND

Together With Pipes and Other Portions of Smoking Outfit.

Convicted of keeping an opium joint at 222 King street, Lee Waugh, a Chinaman, was today fined $100 costs in the Carling street court by Police Magistrate J. H. M. Graydon as the result of a raid made last night by Detectives Robert Egelton and Harry Down.

Following the arrest of Waugh, Detectives Egelton and Down found two tins of opium, two opium pipes and a quantity of other paraphernalia used by those who "hit the pipe." One tin of raw optium was located by the detectives in a safe. The other was hidden on a shelf. The two pipes were the usual cheap bamboo ones with nickel mountings.

Were Scattering.

"Detective Down and I entered the place," said Detective Egelton on the witness stand, "and on the safe being opened discovered one tin of opium. Eight Chinamen upstairs were all making for different directions as I got to the head of the stairs. One was hiding a pipe under a sort of bed. A pipe and lamp were quite hot, while the room was full of the opium fumes. The second pipe was found in another room."

Detective Harry Down corroborated Detective Egelton's evidence.

Magistrate Doubtful.

Lee Waugh denied all interest in the opium, save that he was giving a little each day to his partner, Quong Zict, who was attempting to slowly break off the habit. Zict, through his interpreter, Charlie Chue, failed to satisfy Police Magistrate Graydon that the opium was there for him alone, and as the place was shown to have what were said by the police to be especially built bunks, Waugh was found guilty.

Long Reported Missing, Now Believed To Be Dead

Pte. R. H. S. Horwood Officially Declared to Have Been Killed.

Pte. R. H. S. Horwood, 332 Ridout street, is believed to be dead, according to official reports received from Ottawa. He was reported missing on August 16, 1918.

When he enlisted on the 29th of May, 1917, his chum, George Farquhar, a former resident of Detroit, enlisted with him, and they were not parted till in France on the 16th of August, 1917, when they were taking the town of Fresnay Le Roy. As they were both scouts, they were detailed for scouting duty and were parted. That was the last time that Pte. Farquhar saw his chum.

He waited till the 20th of August, and when Pte. Horwood did not turn up, he wrote to Mr. and Mrs. Horwood a detailed account of the whole affair. That was the last heard in regard to the matter till the official message last week stating that he is believed to be dead.

Pte. Horwood was a former employee of R. C. Struthers & Co.

The Epworth League of Empress Avenue Methodist Church held a social evening on Monday. It was featured by an address by Arthur Guymer "Three Years at the Front with the Air Force," Arthur Rossiter, Miss Pearce, Miss Terryberry and others aided in the program.

Sunday Cars Agreement of Last Year May Be Renewed

Committee Will Recommend This and Ask Commission to Deal With Springbank Question.

Monday night next the council likely will take the first step towards renewing the agreement with the London Street Railway Company in reference to Sunday cars. At the meeting of No. 1 committee last night it was decided to recommend to the council that the agreement be renewed this year on the same terms as those of last year. If the council approves of this, instructions will be issued for the preparation of the bylaw.

It is probable that the council also will approve of the resolution asking the utilities commission to take steps towards securing Sunday cars to Springbank.

Chairman Philip Pocock of the commission says that the question will not be dealt with officially this this afternoon. In all probability a special meeting will be called next week.

JOHN M'CLARY SEES RUIN FOR CANADIAN CITIES IF TARIFF IS SERIOUSLY CUT

London Manufacturer Has Vision of Empty Homes and Factories Toppled Over Like Ninepins—Says the U. S. Would Use Country As a Feeding Ground.

Declaring his visions to be that if the protected industries of Canada are touched by tariff revision "our factories would tumble like ninepins," John McClary of the McClary Manufacturing company comes forward once more to caution Canadians in a letter to Hume Cronyn, M.P., for London.

Nothing less than blue ruin for Canada and Canadian cities is forecast as the result of lowering the tariff "beyond safe limits." Mr. McClary does not indicate what might be safe limits at which to place the tariff, but again expresses his well known conviction that Canada will be laid waste, with houses empty and factories and banking institutions ruined if the protective wall is broken down. As during the reciprocity campaign, Mr. McClary believes the United States, from which Canada now purchases some half billion dollars worth of goods, would gobble up this country. Reciprocity, as is well known, was a much milder form of tariff revision than that which is now demanded by the west and by the farmers of Ontario.

Mr. McClary presents the extreme protectionist view of the situation in his letter, which is as follows:

London, April 30, 1919.

Hume Cronyn, Esq., M.P.,
Ottawa, Canada.

Dear Mr. Cronyn—Permit me, through your valuable services, to say something on the tariff question.

The present persistent efforts of the west to lower our tariff beyond safe limits for this country, if successful, will bring disaster on our cities. I estimate that more than one half of the population in our eastern cities is supported directly, or indirectly through the factories. Should seriously disturbed taariff be enforced our factories would tumble like ninepins. Banks would suffer losses through advances to manufacturers. Insurance, loan and trust companies would suffer heavy losses through loans on city property. Labor would have to seek employment from our ample, protective neighbors across the border. We would be required to remit our liquid assets, so necessary for the development of our own country, to keep control of exchange within moderate limits.

What U. S. West Wanted.

The United States has passed through the same persistent efforts in settling up their great western country. The west wanted to sell in an open market regardless of the interests of the other sections of the country; when manufacturing began to develop and build up cities in the west, creating great home markets for the products of the farm—the best of all markets; this counteracted the farm influence. The great cities built through wise, substantial protection insured employment to the people, creating wealth that is the envy of the world, in developing their great resources which were second to none except possibly the great undeveloped resources of our own country.

Are we to pursue a similar course in developing our country, or are we to be permitted to see our tariff broken down, destroying the basis of development and affording an opportunity for our great rivals across the border to utilize this country as a feeding ground?

Our government is loaning money to cities to build dwellings, in order to relieve the present necessity of housing the people. Should our tariff, unfortunately and unwisely be broken down, within two or three years dwelling houses would go begging for occupants for the payment of taxes. This may appear to many to be a wild assertion. The Good Book tells us "Where there is no vision, the people perish." This is my vision. I think it is well within reasonable anticipation of the thoughtful man.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed).
JOHN McCLARY.

White Wife Waits for Chance to See Chinese Husband as He Passes in Courthouse; One Fond Embrace

Then Men Charged With Theft Go Back To Jail, While the Worried Wife Hurries To Purchase Delicacies For Her Spouse.

Following the decision of Joen Soen and Dong Wai, the two Chinamen charged with stealing cloth from Selak's tailor shop, who were remanded for trial by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, and who appeared before Judge Talbot Macbeth for election of trial this morning, to be tried by judge on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, a touching incident occurred.

Time for Embrace.

Since the courthouse offices opened this morning, Joen Soen's wife, who is a white woman and who, it is said, has been married to him but a month, waited anxiously for the time when he would be brought to the judge's chambers for his election. She had known him for several years. As he was being taken back to the jail he stopped in the courthouse hall for a moment to embrace her. Both seemed fond of each other, and while Constable Robert Northgraves was taking Soen back to the cells, his wife hurried to the nearest grocery store to buy some delicacies for him.

Chance of Bail.

If friends of the men will furnish bail amounting to $400 in cash for each of them, they will be allowed to go home until the time of trial. Each man has two charges hanging over him, and in order to get bailed out, $200 must be provided to cover each charge. It is not known whether the bail will be furnished.

TWO BUTTER SEIZURES ON MARKET THIS WEEK

Inspector Gets 59 Pounds and Owners Will Be Prosecuted.

Two butter seizures have taken place on the local market this week. Today a man who resides in Lucan had his butter seized by Inspector J. W. McCallum and Market Clerk W. C. Maker for being short weight. He had 21 pounds, of which 17 were one to two ounces short. The other four pounds of butter which were supposed to weigh a pound apiece, when weighed by the inspector only weighed three-quarters of a pound each.

The other seizure took place on Tuesday. A farmer from Bryanston had 38 pounds of butter. He sold it to different stores in the city. Complaints were made and when the butter was weighed it was found to be three ounces short on each pound.

These seizures were both made in the basement of the market house. All this butter was confiscated and the farmers will be prosecuted.

W. T. Strong Seriously Ill At Home From Pneumonia

Had Slight Operation on Nose and Trouble Followed—Little Hope of Recovery.

No marked change has been reported today in the condition of W. T. Strong, who is seriously ill at his residence. His physician does not hold out much hope for his recovery.

On Saturday last he had a slight operation. He was recovering rapidly from the effects of the operation when pneumonia set in yesterday. All that medical skill can do for him is being done by physicians who are watching his case carefully. Mr. Strong is a highly-respected druggist of the city and is also a valued member of the board of education. His fellow members express the hope that he may recover speedily.

J. A. Coughlin, Well Known Here, Badly Gored By Bull

Cattleman Tossed Four Times, But Escaped With Life.

J. A. Coughlin of Toronto, well known in London and vicinity as a cattleman, was badly gored by a ferocious bull at the Union Stock Yards, Toronto, on Wednesday.

He entered the pen where the animal was tethered, and while he had his back turned, the animal charged and threw him against the wall. He was thrown this way four times, the last time landing in a trough, where he could not be reached by the animal which was tethered.

He was in a badly-bruised condition when he was taken home, but later he was in much more favorable condition than had been thought possible, though the extent of his injuries had not been fully determined. His escape from death is regarded by the doctors as most miraculous.

Alluring music was furnished by the Lombardo orchestra.

The Good Cheer Club wishes it said that it is greatly indebted to Dr. Robinson for his kindness and to the patronesses, Mrs. Greenway and Mrs. Jewell.

ANY OLD TIME GOES IN CITY AT PRESENT

Council Meeting Called On Standard Time.

COUNCIL MAY ACT AGAIN

Deputation Expected To Press Adoption of Railway Time Here.

London is still working on any old time, as one man expressed it this morning. Several good things have been said for the grand muddle in which the city has been placed. One of these is that the confusion enables one to provide alibis for husbands who remain out late at nights.

Notices have been sent out from the city hall calling the council together on Monday night at the old time. This action is being taken on the advice of City Solicior T. G. Meredith. At this meeting the council will pass a resolution setting the time for the future meetings of the aldermanic bodies one hour ahead of the standard time.

Deputation Expected.

It is expected that a large deputation will be present at the meeting to urge the council to take some action towards establishing daylight saving time in the city by resolution.

Acting Mayor E. S. Little stated this morning that there is no need and no use of the council taking any action at all as far as the general public is concerned. Each citizen is at liberty to adopt the time which suits him best. This liberty is limited to the extent in which he must work in conjunction with others. One of the firemen at the central station this morning stated that the majority of the firemen in the city are in favor of the old time, and that this department will probably revert to standard time next week.

While several of the factories of the city have reverted to standard time, others have simply commenced work from half an hour to one hour later and maintained the new time.

Store Reverts.

One of the retail stores opened this morning on the old time. This confused some of its employees. One of the fair ones who daily boosts the goods of her department, started out for work this morning at the usual time. She was surprised to find the girls from the other stores on the same car until she awoke to the fact that she was going down an hour early. She explained this by saying that someone, in a moment of thoughtfulness had undertaken to make the clock correspond with the old time and had put it one hour ahead.

There is only one topic on the cars just now, and every person makes the perfectly obvious remark that as far as London time is concerned, there is none.

Broader Interpretation of Christianity His Aim

Rev. E. M. Hawkins, M.A., May Strike Out On a New Path.

Rev. E. M. Hawkins, M.A., who has recently resigned as rector of St. James' Anglican Church, Hamilton, to enter upon what he regards as a broader field of Christian service, arrived in the city on Tuesday evening and purposes making London his headquarters.

"I will make a full statement in your paper tomorrow," said Mr. Hawkins to The Advertiser this forenoon, "in order to make my exact position clear. I am retaining my allegiance to the Church of England, and for the present my orders. My idea is to give perhaps a broader interpretation of Christianity than would be possible by remaining as a rector in a church; an interpretation that will apply to political and economic conditions.

May Rent Hall.

"It is with this aim that I am considering the renting of a hall here for the purpose of conducting work along the lines of broad evangelism and service."

Mr. Hawkins graduated in arts from the Western University in 1912, taking his theological degree in Huron College the same year. He subsequently studied a year in McGill, Montreal, obtaining his M. A. degree. He was ordained in Montreal, where he was curate for a year at St. Stephen's, returning to London as curate of St. Paul's for nearly two years.

Was in London, England.

In the autumn of 1915, he went to London, England, engaging in church work there for almost a year. On his return he took charge of Durham parish for some months, and later of the Cronyn Memorial Church, this city, during the vacancy following the resignation of Rev. Robert W. Norwood. It is less than two years ago that he was appointed rector of St. James' Church, Hamilton.

Mrs. Hawkins was formerly Miss Heartsease Marshall, daughter of Joseph Marshall, ex-M.P., and Mrs. Marshall, "Cedar Terrace," London Township.

JEWS ARE BRUTALLY TREATED AT PINSK

Forty Persons, Including Women, Are Flogged and Imprisoned.

London May 1.—Fifty-six Jews have been killed in a pogrom at Pinsk, according to an announcement from the central office of the Zionist Association, which received its information from the organization's Copenhagen bureau.

Forty persons were imprisoned and brutally treated, it is said and three women were flogged, one school mistress being rendered insane by the torture. The synagogues at Pinsk are reported to be closed and the Jews have been impressed at forced labor. Military leaders are said to have demanded 100,000 marks, threatening to shoot Jewish leaders if that sum is not paid within 24 hours.

JUDGMENT FOR $10,000

Hamilton Woman Awarded This Amount From Estate of Edman Brown.

Toronto, May 1.—Miss Lottie M. Sheehan of Hamilton gets $10,000 under a judgment of Mr. Justice Clute given at Osgoode Hall today. She is held entitled to this sum out of the estate of Edman Brown, a Hamilton moneylender, who died in November, 1915, at over 80 years of age. His wife had predeceased him by five years.

Miss Sheehan had been employed as his bookkeeper prior to 1901 at $10 a week. In 1913 he gave her a document which read: "This is to certify that I have this day given to Miss Maida Sheehan a promise of $10,000. Miss Sheehan is to have payment at my death.

Miss Sheehan sued on this as a promissory note, and also for damages for breach of promise of marriage and for payment for services rendered. The court holds that the document is not a promissory note, and that she cannot recover on it, nor can she get damages for breach of the promise of marriage made before the wife's death. Subsequent promises of marriages were made, however, and upon these she can recover, as also for her services rendered. Judgment is given for $10,000.

TWO-PLATOON PLAN HAS BEEN STARTED IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

Men More Than Pleased With Change.

THIRTY ALWAYS ON DUTY

And Other Thirty Are On Call in Case of Emergency.

London inaugurated the two-platoon system in her fire department this morning. To say that the men are pleased with it would be putting it mildly. Using a word made famous by Col. Roosevelt, they were "delighted." One Irishman among the number says that they are now daylighted but they will not be next week when they revert to the old time. That the adoption of the system marks one step forward for London, is the general opinion. The men will now be able to spend a reasonable amount of time making the aquaintance of their families. Sixty men are on the department now.

Thirty Always on Duty.

Thirty men are on duty all the time and the thirty off duty are always on call for emergencies. The day shift will work eleven hours during the summer months and ten during the winter. A change of platoons will be made every twelve days. The change of officers will also be made every twelve days, but the officers will change one week and the men the next. Thus the officers will be in charge of each platoon for one week.

Back to Dinner Pails.

Dinner pails have been called into use by the men as they are on duty for the full number of hours each day that their shift requires. Formerly they were allowed to go home for their meals, but they point out that this was all the time they were at home then. They also have sacrificed their one day a week holiday under this two platoon system.

Once every twenty-four days they will have a twenty-four hour rest during the change of shifts, but they will also have to put in twenty-four hours on duty every other shift. Taking it all around the men are pleased with the system.

GRAIN.

Chicago, May 1.—Improved shipping demand from the east gave considerable strength to the corn market today. Besides the weather was unfavorable, and there were predictions that planting would be delayed by the combined influence of a late season and of a shortage of farm labor. Shorts covered freely and found offerings rather light. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛c higher, with July $1 56¾@1 57, and September, $1 52@1 53, were followed by material gains all around.

Oats were strong with corn. After opening unchanged to ½c higher, with July, 69⅜@69½, the market continued to harden.

SCHOOL TIME QUESTION IN SOLICITOR'S HANDS

Board Unlikely to Act Before Next Regular Meeting.

In reference to the time of opening the schools, Chairman J. S. Barnard reports that the question is in the hands of the solicitor of the board, T. G. Meredith. As the regular meeting of the board will be held next Tuesday, there is little likelihood of a special meeting being called to consider the situation.

Notice was served on Mr. Barnard yesterday that unless the board opened the schools on standard time an appeal would be made to a Judge of the supreme court for an order compelling the board to take this step.

ELECTRIC WORKERS WILL MEET EMPLOYERS NEXT FRIDAY TO DISCUSS WAGE

Action Decided on at Meeting Held Last Night.

At the request of the employers, the inside electric wiremen of the city have agreed to meet the employers on Friday afternoon to consider the wage situation. The men held a meeting last night and decided on this action. One of the officials of the union this morning stated that the men are willing to go half-way, but if the employers do not meet them on equal terms there will be a strike on Saturday morning.

The committee of the men which is meeting the employers on Friday has the power to accept the terms which may be offered if satisfactory. If not, the committee will report to a meeting of the union on Friday evening, when the men will decide as to what action is taken. It is generally agreed that if the committee refuses the terms there will be a strike.

Miss Chloe Terry of this city is the guest of Miss Lucille Casey, Sandwich street, Amherstburg. Miss Casey spent the Easter holidays in London.

Thora and Nirvana 235001

"THORA" by Weatherly-Adams will be welcomed by all admirers of these talented writers, known the world over. The subdued opening of this beautiful song and the tender undulation of the voice gives a mellowness of beauty that at once gains the attention of the listener and the expressive singing of this gifted artist infuses a note of appeal and tender affection throughout the whole song. The lines:—

"I loved you in life too little
I love you in death too well" are rendered with telling effect. The finish in particular furnishes a fitting finale to this beautiful song.

"NIRVANA" by Weatherly-Adams is a song that has rightfully won a place amongst the immortals. Full of richness and beauty of modern melody and has at the same time a touch of florid elaboration of the older music. The tones are soft and round and leave an effect of simple grandeur. The whole is finely rendered and this artist's varied gifts of expression are beautifully exemplified.

WARNING TO PARLIAMENT

Mennonites of West Are Objected To—Those of Western Ontario Good People.

OTTAWA, April 30.—Hon. J. A. Calder's immigration bill was the one subject of debate in the Commons today. The most interesting development arose out of a statement by R. L. Richardson, of Springfield, that there was a serious situation amongst the Ruthenians in his constituency, and that the prime mover in the trouble was Bishop Budka. He said the information had been given him by D. A. Ross, M.P.P.

With the House in committee on Mr. Calder's immigration bill, Donald Sutherland opposed alien immigration. W. A. Buchanan emphasized the fact that Western Canada needed immigrants, but it neither required nor wished for persons who would not become good citizens.

Mr. Buchanan took the ground that the new citizens of Canada must learn English if they were to become good Canadians. The Mennonites' property rights were vested in a single individual. One reason why these people had come to Canada from South Dakota was that the United States authorities wished to divide their property rights among the various individuals. The Mennonites also refused to recognize certain of the laws of the country to the south.

Mr. Richardson of Springfield, declared that the Ruthenians had been debauched by politicians on both sides. In Manitoba the Ruthenians were organized into clubs and herded. They were supplied with whiskey and beer. Their votes were bought. Members from their own class were given offices and used as political bosses. Mr. Richardson did not think any greater crime had been perpetrated than against the foreign population. The present Government in Manitoba, however, was pursuing an excellent policy, Mr. Richardson said, in regard to the Ruthenians.

Uprising This Month?

He stated that he had received disturbing reports from his own and other constituencies and an uprising was expected. There was a large Ruthenian population in his riding, and of course, they were not given the vote at the last election. He said he had a letter from D. A. Ross, a member of the Manitoba Legislature, which inferred that great danger existed. Mr. Ross had also asked him by telephone while he was in Winnipeg, to warn the Government at Ottawa. He had made a tour of the constituency and they were talking of rising on some date in May.

Bolshevism prevailed, said Mr. Richardson, and the people had got the idea that the profiteers in Canada had made immense sums of money; that they should be conscripted and their money taken from them. Mr. Ross, he said, had told him about Bishop Budka, who, he said, was behind the trouble. Mr. Richardson said he had no personal knowledge of the doings of Bishop Budka, but Mr. Ross had assured him that he was a very dangerous man.

Soldiers Threaten Action.

He had heard that the returned soldiers were going to deal with Bishop Budka, and he felt assured that if they did so they would do it in a summary manner. He thought Bishop Budka should be called upon to show why he should not be deported.

Dr. Michael Clark said he did not agree with the policy of the immigration bill. The Government had taken extraordinary steps to prevent unemployment, and he could not see consistency in the policy of relief measures for the present population and increasing the population at the same time. A more fruitful line of Government activity would be to see what was wrong with the methods of taxation and the trade policy. If Canada were governed properly she would not need to go over the world seeking to give inducements to the people to live in the Dominion. Dr. Clark favored closing the borders of Canada for say three years, except to carefully-selected citizens of allied countries.

Government Should Act Now.

Major Andrews of Winnipeg emphasized the strength of the feeling in Western Canada against admission of the Hutterites, and Major Redman of Calgary urged that the Government should pass an order-in-council now excluding Hutterites, Mennonites and Doukhobors.

Dr. Whidden of Brandon said there must be provision made for the education of immigrants coming into Canada, so as to fit them for Canadian citizenship. Letting down the bars and admitting all classes of immigrants was not the way to build a nation. Such action would result in Canada becoming a group of states.

Mr. Richardson told the committee that he wished to emphasize the fact that he was absolutely opposed to the entry of Mennonites, Doukhobors and Hutterites into Canada.

Defends the Mennonites.

Dr. Michael Steel declared that the Government should realize that every imigrant landed in Canada was its ward, entitled to an education in Canadian citizenship. Dr. Steel strongly defended the Mennonites located in Western Ontario. He said these people were good farmers, industrious workers, and lived moral lives. They were not pro-German in their sympathies in the last war, and contributed largely to Red Cross and war funds. They were, however, absolutely opposed to fighting.

James Douglas of Strathcona also spoke in support of the Mennonites. Those of Northern Alberta, with whom he was familiar, lived very similar to Canadians. He thought that Mennonites should not all be classed as bad citizens because some of them proved unsatisfactory.

W. D. Euler of North Waterloo agreed with Dr. Steel as to the Mennonites of Western Ontario. He had a colony of them in his own constituency, and he thought they were in the best class of Canadian citizens. The majority of them in Western Ontario had not come from an enemy nation, but had emigrated to Canada from Pennsylvania.

Dr. Edwards of Frontenac was of the opinion that the Government should take immediate action top revent the entry of Hutterites into Canada.

Just before the House rose, Mr. Mackie of Edmonton, read a telegram which he had received from Lieut. R. Keymar, dated from Winnipeg. The deputy speaker ruled that Mr. Mackie could not read the telegram except as a matter of privilege, but D. D. McKenzie suggested that he could do so by general consent. Mr. Mackie was proceeding to read the telegram, but he heard someone object. He thought it was Mr. Richardson, and said so, but the member for Springfield explained that he had no objections.

Mr. A. L. Davidson, Annapolis, was the objector, and Mr. Mackie, therefore, was unable to give the House the contents of the telegram.

Backbone of Unionists.

Mr. Mackie subsequently gave the Canadian Press the telegram, which was as follows:

"The Ukrainians are the only solid backbone behind Union Government in Canada. Charges against Bishop Budka same as in 1914. Conspiracy to get him out of Canada by a bunch of scoundrels. You know me for years, and you may depend on my word. You know what I have accomplished for the British flag amongst Ukrainians in Canada, and you may tell the Government that they can rely upon Ukrainian element notwithstanding what an organized camarilla may invent. Ukrainians all over Canada calm and supporting all the measures of Union Government for reconstruction, not Mr. Ross, nor any other prevaricator can shake their confidence in the Dominion Government. Tell straight to the House that Ross is lying."

The police believe that boys were secured to make the house-to-house distribution, and expect to make arrests of the principals.

MILLION UNEMPLOYED IN THE BRITISH ISLES

LONDON, Tuesday, April 29.—In defending the Government's policy of donations to the unemployed, Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, the minister of labor, in the House of Commons today said it was unnecessary to take a gloomy view of the unemployment question.

Since the armistice, he said, four million persons have been demobilized from the army and naval forces and from civilian employment, and one million remain unemployed.

BOLSHEVIK LEAFLETS WIDELY DISTRIBUTED IN THE GARDEN CITY

ST. CATHARINES, April 30.—The most wholesale distribution of Bolshevist literature since the propaganda was started, was carried out last night. It was nothing less than a May Day call for action. Many hundred pamphlets were circulated during the night and found under doors and in letter boxes this morning. They tell workers that the only hope lies in red revolution and the program of the communist party is fully outlined.

BRANTFORD GETS IT, TOO.

BRANTFORD, April 30.—Brantford had a similar distribution of "Red" literature to that reported from St. Catharines.

U. S. OFFICIALS RECEIVE BOMBS THROUGH MAIL

Infernal Machines in Some Cases Marked for the Cabinet Ministers.

Washington, April 30.—Postoffice inspectors at New York City reported today the discovery there of seventeen infernal machines put into the mail addressed to prominent officials, including cabinet officers.

Every agency of the national and municipal governments was at work tonight trying to track the "Reds" responsible for the terrorist bomb plot which has startled the country.

The seventeen bombs were found, literally by chance. Apparently they were identical with six others which went through the mails safely and were delivered to the persons to whom they were addressed. How many others have been mailed no one can tell.

From all the information available tonight it was apparent the makers of the bombs hoped to exterminate everyone who has been prominently involved in the prosecution of members of the Industrial Workers of the World.

BOMBS MAILED TO 'FRISCO.

San Francisco, April 30.—Two bombs were delivered by mail to the district attorney's office of San Francisco Saturday morning. One was addressed to Charles M. Fickert, district attorney, and another to Edward Cunha, assistant district attorney. They were mailed from New York.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD FAVORS LANGUAGE TEST BEFORE VOTING

Woodstock Session Bars Aliens From Ballot For Five Years.

WOODSTOCK, April 30.—At the concluding session of the Presbyterian Synod of Hamilton and London today the alien question came up for discussion, the result of which was the passing of a resolution to be forwarded to the general assembly asking that body to memorialize the Dominion Government to restrict all aliens coming into the country from voting until they could both read and speak the English language. It was the opinion of the meeting that aliens should at least live five years in the country before being allowed to use the franchise. At present, it was pointed out, aliens did not vote intelligently. As a rule they lived in settlements, spoke and wrote their own language, and simply voted as they were instructed.

Dr. McDonald of Toronto was appointed by the synod as its representative to the American General Assembly, which meets at St. Louis this summer. On the invitation of Rev. C. S. Oke of Brantford the 1920 meeting of the synod will be held in Brantford.

ITALIANS MAY SOON RETURN, PARIS BELIEF

Italian Premier's Speech Has Hopeful Ring.

CHINO-JAP SETTLEMENT

Plenary Session of Peace Conference on "Responsibility" Likely on Friday.

PARIS, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—In spite of the optimistic views of the French press on the effect of Premier Orlando's speech to the Italian Parliament there were no indications in peace conference quarters today of any feeling that the situation had altered materially. The temperate tone of the Italian premier's address was commented upon favorably, but on the part of the council of three there were no signs of yielding from the previous position, as was suggested in dispatches from Rome.

If the Italians expect some proposal from Paris, they will find no response. In conference circles it is believed that the Italian delegates soon will return.

In the meantime the work of the conference is proceeding uninterruptedly toward the signing of the peace treaty. The situation was summed up in the remark of one or two, who said that it was inconceivable that the peace of the world should be prevented by one nation over one city.

Kiao-Chau Settled.

Announcement was made shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon that the dispute over Kiao-Chau had been settled. The peace treaty will provide that Germany must surrender Kiao-Chau to Japan. Japan will transfer the territory to China in due course. It is added that Japan's other agreement with China will not be affected.

The Belgians have asked the council of three for a first advance of two billion francs on their share of the German indemnity, according to French circles, and it appears that they have received definite and satisfactory assurances.

Plenary Session Tomorrow.

It is reported that there may be a public plenary session of the conference Friday to discuss the "responsibility" article of the treaty.

The continued friendship of France for Italy was expressed by President Poincare in a message today to the Italian people sent through the Association of France and Italy. The message said:

"Italy and France, as closely as in war, will remain united in peace; nothing will separate them. A break in their friendship would be a disaster for Latin civilizatic and humanity. France remains faithful to its engagements, its sympathies and its traditions."

SENDS SEVEN COPS TO HOLD 2,500 MEN AND WOMEN STRIKERS

Detroit Workers Get $6 a Day and Not Satisfied.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, Mich., April 30.—Rioting strikers at the plant of the Wadsworth Manufacturing Company, on East Jefferson avenue, were brought up with a sharp turn today, when Mayor Couzens took a hand and ordered Police Commissioner Inches to send an adequate force of police to the plant. The commissioner responded with seven lone officers, who had a busy time trying to hold in check 2,500 men and women.

When the mayor heard the trouble was continuing he took a walk over to police headquarters and ten minutes later a detachment of 70 blue coats were on their way.

The Wadsworth Company manufactures automobile bodies and has a force of nearly 2,000 men, who are paid a minimum of $6 a day. The strikers say they are satisfied with their pay, but want the company to meet their committee to consider some changes. This, the firm declines to do, believing the wages paid justifies it conducting its affairs in its own way.

Half Peace Treaty Already Cabled to State Department

PARIS, April 30.—Forty thousand words, about half the draft of the peace treaty, have been cabled to the state department at Washington. The balance is going forward steadily.

Thus the entire treaty will have been transmitted in a day or two for release for publication upon authorization by the conference.

PARIS INTERCEPTS AN IMPORTANT BOLSHEVIST OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION

Lenine's Foreign Minister Advises Bela Kun, Hungarian Official, to Seize All Clothes, Factories, Banks, Newspapers, Food, and Starve the Bourgeoisie.

PARIS, April 29.—M. Tchitcherin, the Russian Bolshevik foreign minister, is unable to communicate with Munich, according to a wireless dispatch from him to Bela Kun, the Bolshevik foreign minister of the Hungarian Society Government, which has been picked up here. Bela Kun is asked to send a message to Munich, instructing the Soviet leaders there how to organize their Government.

M. Tchitcherin made the following inquiries of the Hungarian foreign minister: "Have you seized all clothing, supplies, factories, banks, paper stocks and print shops, so as to issue newspapers for workmen? Have you established a six-hour day, taken the bourgeoisie as hostages and given them less food than is given workmen? Have you forced the bourgeoisie to share their homes with workmen and have you doubled or trebled workmen's wages?"

ATLANTIC FLIERS MAKE READY, THEN DISAPPOINT CROWD

Change Their Minds About Venture at the Last Minute.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., April 30.—A large crowd which had gathered to witness the heralded start of the trans-Atlantic flight was disappointed today, when Capt. Frederick P. Raynham, the British aviator, and Harry G. Hawker, his Australian rival, were compelled by last-minute weather reports to abandon their plans. Both fliers had announced their intention of making the "hop off" today. Capt. Raynham setting the hour for the start in his Martinsyde plane for 3 o'clock, and Hawker announcing his Sopwith would get away fifteen minutes later.

Reports were received of a gale and heavy fog off the grand banks and a snowstorm at Belle Isle and the fliers agreed that it would be impossible to make the flight today.

Flour Shortage Facing Canada, Millers Report

Even Predict That Wheat Substitutes May Again Be Rule.

TORONTO, April 30.—As an indirect result of the world food shortage it is thought not improbable among Toronto bakers and millers that it may be once more necessary to exercise the most rigid economy in the use of breadstuffs in Canada before the next wheat crop is harvested. The suggestion has even been made that it may be once more necessary to resort to the use of wheat substitutes in order to eke out the supply of flour.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS WORTHLESS OIL STOCK SOLD ON N. Y. CURB

NEW YORK, April 30.—Sales of worthless oil stocks running into millions of dollars are believed to have been made on the New York curb market since January 1 and an investigation into the activities of brokers dealing in these "wildcat" securities will be started by the county district attorney's office.

According to Mr. Waugh, assistant district attorney, unscrupulous operators on the open market in Broad street have taken advantage of the recent boom in southwestern oil fields to the extent of selling stock in oil companies that never existed or have never produced oil.

PAINT—It's like bread; there is as much in the making as from what it is made

Take two women—your wife and your neighbor's, for example. They both use the same flour and yeast. Both bake bread in the same kind of oven for the same length of time.

Your wife's bread invariably turns out best. Why is it? It's in the making—her way of making it.

It's exactly the same with paint. The list of materials from which it is made is only half the story—hardly that.

The difference in the making, users have learned to know, is one of the big things that makes the dependable paint it is. It also has much to do with its lastingness. It is one of the main reasons for its splendid covering qualities—for its economical spreading properties.

Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD LIQUID · PAINT

We recommend this good paint to you because we know it will give you satisfactory service.

Mackenzie and Mann Still Hold the Whip

The Liberals in the House of Commons fought to a finish against the passing of the railway bill, which permitted an extension of contracts made by Mackenzie & Mann for some forty branch lines in the west. The bill, it was shown, was framed by Z. A. Lash, K.C., formerly one of the chiefs of the Canadian Northern, and the whole thing was a product of the same old lobbying influences that kept the C. N. R. crowd at the trough for many years and for many millions.

The same Toronto financial elements that have had such a share in the control of public policy since 1911 were interested in the passing of the railway bill. Nationalization of railways was not the issue, despite the fact that Sir Thomas White used it as the most convenient red herring to be found, and sought to attach upon the Liberals the stigma of being opposed to the railway bill simply because it vested powers with the Government.

The Opposition saw the fine hand of Mackenzie & Mann in the whole deal. The same influences that benefitted from contracts from the C. N. R. while the public paid the deficits of that railway, and later had to adopt the white elephant, are the same influences interested in the Mackenzie & Mann contracts. All that has happened since it was indignantly denied in the House that the Government contemplated the loan of $30,000,000 to Canadian Northern has been subject to such influences. The lobby for these railway builders, who the Government's commission said were not entitled to one cent in compensation, and who received $10,000,000 directly by a reversal of that commission's finding, has been active at Ottawa for many years, and it has not removed its influence, but has more and more fastened its clutches in the organization which is now declared to be the first link in a national system of Canadian railways. Hanna, former C. N. R. chief, runs the railways; Lash frames the bill.

The least the present Government could have done to remove suspicion from the C. N. R. and from the railways which will come under the system of nationalization was to remove the men connected with the great lobby movement which won its points in the face of all opposition, and which perpetuated its standards and methods by practically taking over the road, with the Government guaranteeing the revenue and framing the bills whereby millions of dollars in contracts given to relatives and friends of these former owners were perpetuated.

Government ownership of railways will be rotten with politics, and the forces of these railways will be the forces turned to intrigue and sharp election methods until a clean sweep has been made of every member of "the old gang." The Liberals fought against this, but the Mackenzie-Mann lobby was too strong for the Opposition. It held the fort and won the day, as it has won since the present Government was elected to power, commanding vast loans at a time when it was known the system was beyond hope of redemption unless operated under scientific and non-political railway methods.

Canada is a free spender in these days. Free spending is in the air. The Government knows the people have money, and it is rushing through vast appropriations. It is heaping up a tremendous debt and a tremendous deficit. It must be well aware of the sinister look of such transactions as the adoption of closure to rush through the railway bill. But it will not realize that while it plays the same old game with the same old gang it is jeopardizing the future of the country and adding to the unrest of the people.

Fair Play Demands All Letters Should Be Signed

After serious consideration of and long experience with the question of letters sent to the editor for publication, The Advertiser has decided to adopt a rule that no letter will be printed in these columns unless it bears the name of the sender for publication.

At certain periods newspapers find that controversial matter sent for publication bulks far larger than at other times. Recently a large amount of such correspondence has been received. One of the impulses for a renewal of letter writing to the press was the controversy that resulted from statements made by Rev. Dr. Norman L. Tucker, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral, and replied to by Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, Catholic bishop of London. Letters came to The Advertiser by the score on this subject; it was impossible to print the number received in the first few days, and it was decided to confine a discussion of so serious a nature to the principals. This was not the only reason, either. Half of the letters bore pen-names and no other clue to the authors. Many others were found to be signed with fictitious names, having no existence in city and other directories. Much of the most bitter invective came from those who did not sign their names either for publication or as an evidence of the good faith of the sender, while others assumed a name in the belief that it would not be investigated.

Hereafter it will be necessary for all letters to be signed for publication, and to have such facts regarding address attached as will place the authenticity of a communication beyond question. It is with no desire to check the flow of correspondence that The Advertiser takes this position. In fact, it is to be hoped that the fairness of the attitude will be reflected in an increase in letters that are fit to print, that do not seek to make scurrilous attacks from ambush, and that deal with contentious questions, if contentious they must be, in a more dignified manner than is customary. Newspaper communications as a medium of reaching an estimate of public opinion, and as an expression of valuable ideas and suggestions, have a high place in the opinion of those responsible for the conduct of this newspaper.

At the same time occasions have arisen when unfair statements have been made behind the cloak of anonymity which the newspaper provides. This week, for example, several letters have been received containing personal attacks upon a citizen holding public office. The writers did not wish to have their names published, yet they wished to have printed the worst kind of opinion regarding the man attacked. It is doubtful if they would have made such statements to his face, and they did not wish to have their identity revealed. In The Advertiser's opinion, the responsibility for such an attack rests with the newspaper; while it may plead liberality for speech and thought, it realizes that first of all the public likes fair play.

The Advertiser will endeavor to give fair play to all those who write letters under the conditions announced. In the event that a reader has information of service to the public, and in connection with which he cannot divulge his name, The Advertiser will be glad to receive such information in confidence and to make thorough investigation. This newspaper desires to have the most democratic use made of its columns; it will assist rather than retard fair criticism and expression of opinion. It trusts that it will receive more letters than ever, and that all those who write will be glad to come out into the daylight and make their statements over their own names. In any event The Advertiser means to be relieved of the charge of permitting unfair use to be made of its columns for the attacking or discomfiting of any citizen.

Great Britain and the Copt

The British Government is sending a special commission, headed by Viscount Milner, to study Egyptian unrest and work out a system of co-operative control that will safeguard British interests and satisfy national aspirations of the Copt. This should put an end to charges that Great Britain's suzerainty of Egypt has been a tyrannous and selfish one. Had that been the case there would be no such liberal treatment as is proposed for Egypt, following the recent exasperating outbreaks.

Considering the patience and unselfishness with which the British have governed, the Egyptian has shown himself singularly forgetful and ungrateful. Great Britain has spent vast sums and legions of lives to make of Egypt a safe and prosperous land. On the one side they kept the Turk in check; on the other they removed the menace of fanatical tribesmen. Gordon, Kitchener and Cromer, for the good of Egypt and the world, cleansed the land of the Pharoahs of Moslem terror and sloth. A great agricultural country teeming with life was lifted from stagnation to a large degree of enterprise and commercial success.

Britain's way with Egypt is just another illustration of the fact that the uplifting of nations, like the uplifting of individuals, is often a thankless and costly task. All honor to John Bull that he has never allowed the ingratitude and the treachery of the backward ones he helps to interfere with his plans for their betterment.

Jarring Note From the Coast

A section of union labor on the Pacific coast officially refuses to have anything to do with the royal commission investigating industrial conditions. This is a wrong attitude to take and one that will certainly not be supported by the trade unionists of this country as a whole. The reason given for refusing to attend hearings of the commission is that that body is merely a tool of the employers. But if there is substance to the charge, what better place to air it than before the board of inquiry? The publicity would mean a sharp rap to any selfish interests attempting to dominate the commission or to members of that body inclined to show favoritism.

As we understand it, the duty of the traveling board is to collect information and facts bearing on every angle of Canada's grave industrial problem and to sift from the evidence recommendations that will insure a more harmonious co-operation of labor, employer, capital and consumer. Until this testimony is all in and a judgment presented, it is distinctly unfair for any element to prejudge the motives of the commission or any of its individual members. The fact that Tom Moore, the most representative labor leader of this country, is on the board, should be sufficient guarantee that the investigation is not under the dictation of any one section of the industrial and social world. That gentleman is too alert-minded and too concerned for the broadening and strengthening of labor unionism to permit of his being used as camouflage for interests hostile to labor.

The commission is at least entitled to a trial. Action which off-hand condemns the inquiry before it is fairly started savors of an extremism that is harmful to all classes represented on the board. This spirit, shown on one side or the other, has only too often brought on the industrial confusion and hostilities for which the commission is seeking a remedy. It will hamper the effort to bridge the gulf that lies between employer and employee.

THOSE TIGHT SKIRTS AGAIN

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

WHEN LANDS DO NOT MATTER.

By S. B. Hackley.

He had been on the road with the six fine saddlers he would not trust to anybody else's care, several hot, fatiguing days, and his long form slid wearily into the restaurant chair.

"A bite and a sup for you, Gilbert Shore, then bed—the glories of Frisco can wait," he thought.

Just across from him dined a man of fifty with a neck and a girth the like of which young Shore never remembered seeing outside the stockyards. The slim young waitress who served him brought iced water and hot soup, cold milk and hot coffee, and it seemed to the Kentuckian every known meat, salad, vegetable, but censure only rewarded her efforts.

"What have you for dessert?" the eater finally demanded.

"Lemon pie, snow pudding, raspberries, and strawberry ice cream."

"I'll take 'em!" he growled; "and bring 'em quick!"

Watching this interesting specimen devour, the young man did not notice that the girl was standing at his own elbow.

"Your order, please," she was saying.

Her cheeks were flushed with her encounter with the fat brute, her soft voice was not quite steady and there was a mist in her eyes—eyes deep and dark blue like the ocean when the summer sun is over it.

A wave of protecting tenderness swept over Shore; he had much ado to keep from pushing away his simple order and feasting his eyes on her winsome face, but he was a diffident young man, and a gentleman, so he pretended to eat, and used his eyes only by stealth.

And the girl? Long ago Allsie Randolph had learned that silent unresponsiveness to all social advances of the young masculine customer was a girl's safeguard from insult, but she looked at the young man with his fine eyes, his clear, healthy skin and his charming manner and almost wished that he would ask her to go out with him. But he did not.

However, on his third day in San Francisco, the aristocratic old lady with whom he lived on the great Blue Grass stock farm received a telegram: "Will be detained longer than I expected. Start back Tuesday."

"Oh, Grandmother Girl, if you knew why I am staying!" he thought whimsically, "you'd say I'd been sleeping in the moonlight and lost my senses!"

On the evening he ate his twentieth meal at the Bay View Restaurant, the man of the thick neck was leaving just as he took his seat at the next table.

"That man needs a man to punch his head for bullying a little thing like you," he remarked. "I'd just like——"

"Oh, sir, please," she interrupted him, half-frightened, "he's a regular customer here! I—I don't really mind. One—one gets used to the unpleasantness here!"

Shore's heart prompted him to say, "Little one, let me take you away from all this unpleasantness forever!" But he only said somewhat diffidently that if she would let him, he would take her to see a good play somewhere that evening.

Allsie's heart leaped, but she faltered. "I do not go out with customers!" Then she fled to the kitchen. When she came back he was gone, and a twisted bit of paper and a single Marechal Neil rose lay beside his plate.

"Oh, Little White Apron," the note said, "I wish I could feel that you trust me, stranger as I am! I like to think there is nothing in my face to frighten a girl. I'm leaving in the morning, but I shall see you again, for I'm coming back to see if you believe the message of the rose!"

It was signed Gilbert Shore, Bon Aqua Farms, Treadwell, Kentucky."

What is the sentiment of the Marechal Neil rose, Sissy?" the girl asked her widowed sister that evening.

Corona reached for the dictionary. "'Adoration,' or 'yours, heart and soul'," she quoted.

Allsie slipped back to her room and held the delicate rose for a long tremulous moment to her lips. "If only I knew he meant it!" she whispered. He was so lovable and so good-looking, but there were so many with good looks and bad intentions! "And," she thought bitterly, "he is rich and I am a beggar!"

One evening in February she saw him enter the restaurant again. He came straight to her table, his brown eyes, eager, glad.

"Oh, little White Apron," he said softly, "I couldn't stay away any longer! Do you believe what the rose told? Do you trust me enough to go out to the theatre with me this evening?"

Allsie fought back the happiness looking out of her eyes. "I must work until 12," she told him, but you may go and call on my married sister and my invalid father. But do not stay late. Father must sleep early."

"He will not go," she told herself bitterly. "He will not go! They never do!" But even as she said it her heart whispered that she believed he would.

"He is rich and we have nothing, Corona," Allsie remonstrated when Corona told her in delight she had accepted Shore's invitation for them all to go motoring with him next day. "We are not the people he belongs with."

When two weeks later Shore asked Allsie to marry him the girl could not keep the glow of joy out of her face, but she crushed it from her voice.

"I cannot," she told him. "You might remember one day that I was poor and think that your riches tempted me. That would break my heart."

"Oh!" he said, easily, "I'm not a millionaire, if that's what's worrying you. Don't punish me because of the little grandfather left me."

But she was obdurate. "I cannot marry you," she repeated.

"Don't you love me?" he insisted. But she turned her telltale face away.

"I will come back," he said then, white, and unhappy, "when you have had time to think it over."

"No," she said, her voice shaking, "do not come. I cannot ever marry you."

In May the city was full of fair visitors. One noon when Allsie's whole body ached with weariness, her heart most of all, two southerners sat at her table.

"I heard Gilbert Shore got badly smashed up out fox hunting about two months ago," the younger man remarked to the older. "How is he these days, doctor?"

"He's doing no good," the older man answered, and Allsie's heart stood quite still. "When I told him the other day if he didn't try he'd never get so he could walk or get well, he said: 'I wish to please you, doctor, I could take more interest in getting well, but what's the use?' Something besides his injury's troubling him, Raymond. I'm going to prod him into telling me when I get back!"

A few days later a young man sitting in an invalid chair on the porch of a fine country home in the Blue Grass, his eyes closed, suddenly felt a pair of arms around his neck.

"O Gilbert," a soft voice breathed, "tell me you are not going to die! I came—I came——"

For a moment he looked at her, uncomprehending, then his eyes lighted with triumphant happiness. "And so you came to do good to the dying? O, Little White Apron, can't you do good to the living and stay with him forever?" Then he added in tender, whimsical pity, "I ought to tell you, Particular One, I've still got what Grandad gave me!"

She raised her head from his breast. "I've thought it over," she said, "it doesn't matter!"

CIVIC GRANTS.

[Guelph Herald.]

Civic grants are something like political patronage—they are a source of vexation to all concerned—except those who land the plums.

WHAT SHOULD BE.

[Calgary Herald.]

All railwaymen who enlisted and went overseas will get their jobs back again when they return, according to announcement by the Canadian railway board. That should be true not only of railwaymen, but of all others who quit their jobs to defend their country.

THERE'LL COME A TIME SOME DAY.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The man of optimistic turn of mind is sure there will come a day when the whole world is bone dry. It will come, he feels positive, when somebody discovers a method of halting nature's chemical process of fermentation distillation.

A JUGGLE SOMEWHERE.

[Baltimore American.]

There is a juggle somewhere, somehow, that has put the cost of peace coal higher than the cost of war coal. Fooling the people all the time about coal price is hardly a workable game. There should be no letup in the hunt for the price juggle—in the business of mining and shifting coal.

NOT FORGETTING QUEBEC.

[Port Arthur News-Chronicle.]

Over 100,000 men have been returned to Canada, and the vast majority have been cleared through Halifax and St. John. The men themselves and the country at large are under obligation to the people by the sea, who are making the coming back of the men to "God's Country" an epic of welcome.

FUTURE OF AVIATION.

[Manitoba Free Press.]

Private initiative will not be lacking in the development of aerial activities so soon as conditions become more stable. Time is required for capital to flow into what will become a profitable and extensive industry, and for the knowledge gained during the war to apply itself in new and strange directions.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN SERIOUS.

[Singapore Press.]

A motor car accident which might have had serious results occurred in Orchard road on Centenary day. A bullock was killed, two Tamils were injured seriously, while the two Europeans in the car miraculously escaped with a shaking, one having been pinned under the upturned car for nearly an hour.

ALMOST A TOTAL LOSS.

[Melbourne Argus.]

According to a calculation officially issued in Washington, the expenditure of all the nations in the war up to the close of 1918 was £35,800,000,000; and a very large expenditure due to the war is still being maintained. Except for that portion of profits, salaries and wages that has been saved by persons manufacturing or in other ways working for the war, the world is poorer today to the extent of all that has been spent on the war and all the devastation that the war has caused.

THE KING SPEAKS.

[London Chronicle.]

It was twenty years ago that his late majesty King Edward used words which were quoted yesterday by King George. "There is no question at present," he said, "of greater social importance than the housing of the working classes." The subject is one upon which all parties are agreed, but the new housing measures, good in themselves, can only achieve great results if local enthusiasm is kindled, if municipal leaders realize that the health and well-being of the community depend upon them."

A GREAT HUNTER'S DEATH.

[Buluwayo Chronicle.]

It was an unlucky spent machine gun bullet which hit Captain Selous. Little hope was entertained of saving him, owing to the nature of the wound. Selous died as he wished in a game country where few if any white men had ever before penetrated. Near a giant baobab tree, where nothing but the song of birds disturbs his sleep in the day and the roar of the lion at night, he rests, beloved by all who had the pleasure of meeting him, a gallant soldier and a world-famous hunter.

LONDON-ON-THE-LAKE.

The action of the L. D. A.
Looks to me rather rum
In opposing Sunday street cars
To the Sanatorium;
Are they afraid some war-worn vet
The Sabbath day may break
By visiting some friend in town
To try his tea and cake?

I note they never interfere
With Adam's costly toy,
Which uses juice on Sunday,
And carries us, oh, boy,
Down to the ideal playground
He has started at the Port,
Where all day long on Sunday
One may have all kinds of sport.

You may watch the half-clad fairies
Sauntering up and down the sand,
If you've coin to pass the barrier
He has built round Erie's strand—
And when your eye has taken in
All that there is to see,
And still have any money,
You may buy a self-serve tea.

The L. D. A. don't interfere,
So it's been told to me,
Because they say they're up against
A technicalitee;
My own opinion is,
The L. D. A. no action take,
Thinking that Byron's "out of town,"
While "London's on the Lake."

Bad Breath IS CAUSED BY CATARRH

Canadians suffer more from Catarrh than from any other disease. On this account Catarrh is dangerous and should be checked at the outset.

It isn't necessary to take internal medicine to cure Catarrh. There is a far better method.

Doctors now treat Catarrh by sending a purifying, healing vapor through the breathing organs. In this way the germs of Catarrh are destroyed.

The only successful vapor treatment is CATARRHOZONE, which the patient breathes through a special inhaler to the real seat of the trouble. The rich, piney essences of Catarrhozone heal and soothe all inflamed surfaces. They effectively treat the nose, throat and lungs with a powerful antiseptic that destroys irritation at once.

Catarrhozone brings into the system the balmy air of the pine forest. It cures completely colds, coughs, catarrh, weak throat, and bronchitis.

Once tried, Catarrhozone is always used. Nothing so pleasant, so simple, so quick to relieve, so absolutely sure to permanently cure. Accept no substitute. Large size lasts two months, and costs $1; small size 50c; sample trial size 25c; at all dealers.

TENDER GUMS —A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

SPLENDID WELCOME IS GIVEN DEPENDENTS ON ARRIVAL IN ST. JOHN

Different Organizations of Women Have Share in Welcome.

No matter how often ocean liners may come there is an air of subdued excitement about the port when one is reported to dock within the hour. When the boat is laden with a thousand or more members of families of returning Canadian soldiers there is exceptional reason for the stir, for ten hours of the most strenuous activity is before those who compose the port committee to welcome the arrivals.

To St. John, N. B., has fallen the honor and responsibility of receiving the first contingent of these soldiers' wives and children—whatever the exact number may be which was returned during the first five months—and of creating an impression so favorable that it cannot fail to influence all future impressions. There has been a tremendous responsibility, but in the mind of each of those who has been at the head of the various committees there has been the firm conviction that this first warm welcome and display of genuine friendliness will have a far-reaching and never-failing effect upon humanity in general, and returning soldiers in particular.

Daylight Saving or Standard.

"Does the M. 'ta dock at 2:30 local time or daylight time?" queried the anxious convener of one of the port committees, who wished to have her workers across the ferry in ample season. "Madam," came back the weary voice of the official, "the tide knows nothing about daylight saving, and will come in as usual." The fact that during the month of April St. John was the unusual possessor of local, standard and daylight saving time added somewhat to the confusion in the mind of the outsider. But the Melita—or the Grampian, or the Scandinavian, or the Corsican, or the Minnedosa, as the case may be—never docked before the workers were all in readiness, and the portion of the immigration hall given over as a rest-room, prepared to make as comfortable as circumstances will permit several hundred weary women and upwards of one hundred tired babies, who, after spending hours waiting their turn to leave the boat and pass the immigration, must spend several more hours waiting for their several trains.

Different Organizations.

One likes to consider this work as a welcome from a group of women who represent all the women of Canada to women who will play such an important part in Canada's future. And so it is, but at the same time that group is composed of units which are the official representatives of different national organizations, each of which is responsible to a trusting and generous public for an account of its stewardship. And so there must be a disintegrated as well as a general survey.

For instance, the Canadian Red Cross Society has been for months past spending in the vicinity of $1,500 per week in connection with the arrival of the dependents' boats. How? By maintaining a staff of graduate nurses who have traveled on every train carrying women and children from the port, and have at all times been on duty during the disembarkation, and the subsequent period of waiting for trains. In the beginning boats arrived laden with influenza-stricken patients. Numbers died at sea, and after landing; very many more would have done so had it not been for the prompt and efficient co-operation of the Red Cross personnel, equipment and supplies with that of the Army Medical Service.

At St. John.

At St. John Red Cross nurses have accompanied the port doctor on each boat; have attended the ambulance patients to the hospital; have staffed the emergency hospital which was established as an annex to the military hospital and equipped overnight by the Red Cross. All Canada has had a hand in this work, for it has been maintained by the Dominion headquarters. The St. John Red Cross workers have done much, but their freewill voluntary service at each boat, which leaves them worn and exhausted, with scarcely time to recuperate before another boat arrives, overshadows any monetary expenditure, no matter how great. A boat may arrive on Saturday afternoon, and the last train leave at 1 o'clock on Sunday morning; or a boat may arrive on Sunday morning and the trains get away that evening. No matter what day or what hour, the representatives of the various committees are in evidence, and remain as long as there is a need.

Hot Drinks, Etc.

A kitchen furnishes hot drinks and sandwiches, which are served—and also made in advance—for the Y. M. C. A. by trim Y. A. D.'s. A Red Cross dispensary and washroom, with trained nurses in charge and many voluntary assistants, give the babies a fresh start in life. Small garments are ready, and many are given out, for many mothers have failed to grasp the fact that several days on the train must succeed the days on the boat before home is reached. Surprise is manifested when it is explained that it is an impossibility for husbands waiting on the prairies to meet the train with a horse and buggy upon its arrival at Montreal. A country vast enough to permit five days' continuous journey is beyond the comprehension.

"We have heard stories about eggs being thrown at us English brides, but we have never heard anything about such kindness as this," is one frank declaration often heard. "Have you treated us all like this?" There are no dissenting voices raised to the general opinion expressed by soldiers and their wives in regard to the treatment accorded the arrivals at the point of embarkation.

The port for dependents' boats changes from St. John to Quebec at the beginning of May. The five ferry boats must ply for many months to come, for while there were 50,000 women and children to come in the beginning, there are the same number still to come. The weekly marriages of Canadian soldiers in England explains the phenomenon. Until the last boatload has been landed the port committees will continue their work, and the Canadian Red Cross Society will maintain its staff of nurses for train duty.

Wortley Road Club Puts on Concert at Byron Sanatorium

Over One Hundred Members Attend the Affair Personally.

The Wortley Road Mother's Club put on a most enjoyable concert at the Byron Sanatorium on Tuesday evening, over one hundred of the members going to Byron for the occasion. The program was varied and interesting, including selections from the Henderson orchestra. Vocal solos were rendered by Messrs. Widdowson and Scott, Mrs. Wilkins, Miss McEvoy and Miss Angus. A duet by Mrs. Cook and Wilfred Richmond and a quartet in which Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, Mrs. Cook and Mildred Richmond took part, were also enjoyable numbers on the program. Hartley and Dorothy Upshall favored with a piano duet, and Gordon Thompson gave an exhibition of club swinging. Readings by Allan McDonald, Mr. Renny and Lieut. Rankin, and a dance number by Marion Stark and Isobel Grange completed the evening's enjoyment.

Advocates November 11.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you kindly send the stocking pattern? I am afraid you will one of these days be putting it in the antique collection, and I surely want one first.

Come, you ex-flu victims, and tell us what you did about your tresses. Mine had to be shingled, and as "misery likes company," would like some more to 'fess up. Doesn't it make one look strange, though? But it has been such a terrible thing that we are glad to be left our heads, and the hair may grow again some day. Mine is coming in nicely now.

Think it would be a splendid idea to have November 11 for permanent Thanksgiving Day. There will be more genuine heartfelt thanks on that day than any other the officials might choose, and just about the right time of year too. Hope they decide to keep it. Must hasten away, as there is always work, even though it rains all the time these days. FLUZZY.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Dreaming on Cake.

Dear Cynthia,—Going to dream on a piece of fruit cake tonight. Hope I'll meet and recognize my fiance; but my idea is—single blessedness. I'll let you know, Cynthia, if I happen to dream of you.

I am inclosing the words of "The beautiful picture in a beautiful golden frame" someone was asking for. Oh! What grand roads we have, Ira Kidd, come out to our farm and I'll give you a horseback ride. I love riding, and you seem so funny I'm sure you'd enjoy it. Am taking vocal lessons now, and when I begin to sing you should see the birds fly (away). Well you'll be so tired of my loquaciousness so I'll go and get my fruit cake.

FULL-FLEDGED FARMERETTE.

Ans.—You know they say that if you EAT the cake instead of placing it under your pillow, you'll stand a sure chance of dreaming. This might be especially true if the cake was accompanied by a good-sized wedge of mince pie, a few pieces of shortbread, etc. Anyhow, let us know if you dream of HIM!

Boil the Solution.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw in the Mail-Box some time ago where someone was asking advice about washing with coal oil. I always wash that way, and my clothes are nice and white, and I think they last longer, because you don't have to rub them to pieces to get them clean. I generally prepare the solution beforehand, and have it ready for wash day; it can easily be warmed up again.

To a cake of soap, cut fine, I use 1-3 cup of coal oil, and enough water to dissolve the soap, and boil it for quite a while. The secret of its success is in boiling the solution; it needs to be boiled until there is no odor of the oil left. You must watch it, too, as it boils over very quickly. Then on wash day fill your boiler with cold soft water, add your warm soap solution, put in your dry white clothes, and let them come to a boil. I then dump them into the washing machine and run it a short time, and unless they are very dirty, they need no rubbing, but you need lots of clean water to rinse them. Sincerely yours, INOHOO.

Censoring U. S. Films.

My Dear Miss Grey,—The "war" in the Pages is somewhat subsiding, and it is not my intention to start it up again, but just as a sort of fitting climax from a Canadian point of view, am sending you the inclosed editorial, which appeared in our home paper (Sarnia) the other evening.—D. M. E.

"An important and altogether satisfactory announcement was made the other day by the provincial secretary in connection with the bill before the Provincial Legislature, amending the theatres and cinematograph act. The provincial treasurer informed the House that the board of censors are to be given power to ban entirely all films which laud too much the United States in the war.

"It is time that some action along these lines was taken. Almost every American picture film that deals with the war, depicts the greatest occurrences in the world's history as though the whole thing was American. In spite of the fact that it took the Yankees three long years of inaction and swallowing of insult after insult from Germany before they had the courage to enter the fight, and in spite of the fact that they had only two million men in the field as compared with Britain's eight million, and France's six million, these movie films depict the war as being fought and won by the Americans. Common decency and generosity in acknowledging the mighty work done by Canada and Britain and France and Belgium before the Americans drew a sword would debar them from boasting of their achievements it would be thought, but that is not the American way.

"Forgetting that the war was more than half won when they went into it, and that the Hun armies they had to face were a very different and inferior tribe of fighters from those who faced the Allies in 1914-15, these movie pictures flaunt their unseemly propaganda before the public in the most brazen and unblushing manner imaginable. Bragging "We won the war."

"The work which the American army did was beyond praise and there can be no lessening of British gratitude to America for coming to the assistance of the Allies, but she was not moved solely by superior disinterestedness in doing so. She had her own axe to grind, and her own coasts to defend after they had been defended by the British navy for three long years. Credit to whom credit is due, but America owes more to Britain in this war than Britain owes to America.

"We must not allow our children to be misled by these American films into thinking that the Yanks were the whole thing in this war. These pushing neighbors of ours deserve their proper place but that is all."

Who Makes Devon Cream.

Dear Miss Grey,—Have you ever heard of Devonshire cream? I would like to know how to make it. Wishing the Mail-Box good luck, I will sign myself, HEART OF THE WEST.

Ans.—Yes, ma'am, I've heard of the delectable stuff and partaken of it, too, on one or two occasions. Must confess to no personal experience in its manufacture, though, so can only offer you this method, taken from a very reliable cook-book: Devonshire Cream—The milk should stand 24 hours in winter and half that time in warm weather; then the milk pan is set on the stove, and should there remain until the milk is quite hot, but it must not boil. When it is done, you will note that the undulations on the surface look thick and small rings appear. The time required for scalding depends on the size of the pan and the heat of the fire, but the slower it is done the better. Set the pan back in the dairy again after scalding, and the next day skim.

If any reader knows of a different and "tried" method for making Devonshire cream, I wish she would send it in.

Baby's Teeth.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see in last Saturday's paper where Silver Star asks about baby getting teeth. Being the mother of five children, I can say mine cut theirs at different ages. Some at five months old, while our baby was ten when his first came, and they all crept under twelve months. I know several children who didn't have any teeth until nearly thirteen months old.

Am sending a cake recipe that we like very much: Marble Cake.—For the light part—Whites of 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter, ½ cup sweet milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder; flavor with lemon or vanilla; add flour to the thickness of any light cake. For the dark part—Yolks of 2 eggs, ½ cup brown sugar, 1-4 cup butter, * cup molasses, 1-2 cup sweet milk, ½ nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cassia, 2 teaspoons baking powder, and flour. Drop light and dark part, spoonful about, in well greased pan. ADAH.

Girl's Crocheted Tam.

"M. M." sends the following directions for girl's crocheted tam, which she thinks are more easy to follow than those recently appearing on this page:

Girl's Crocheted Tam—Begin with a chain of 4 stitches joined to form a ring.

Row 1—Work 6 single crochet in each stitch of chain, having 18 single crochet in a row.

Row 2—One single crochet, in each of the next two stitches, always taking up both stitches of preceding row, * two single crochet in next stitch, one single crochet in each of the next two stitches, repeat from * around. This gives you six sections.

Row 3—One single crochet in each of the first three stitches, * two single crochet in next stitch, one single crochet in each of the next three stitches, repeat from * to end of row.

Continue in this way, always having one stitch more in each section every row until work measures eight inches from the centre; then decrease as follows:

Row 1—Skip one stitch at each widening place and one in the centre of each section.

Row 2—Same as row one.

Row 3—*Work three single crochet, skip one stitch, repeat from * around.

Row 4—*Work two single crochet skip one stitch, repeat from * around. Repeat in this way until cap measures twenty-two inches, or size of the head, then work round and round until the headband is completed.

Blessings In Trials.

Dear Miss Grey,—As I read Evangelist's letter it brought back to my memory many lonely days that I spent, and I just want to tell him that it is a blessed experience. He may not be able to see it at the present time, but as year go by he will find all such trying times only tend to sweeten our lives and make us sympathize more with others. But I do hope he will have found many a dear friend long ere this. HUMBUG.

Corda Thanks Belle.

Dear Miss Grey,—Belle, do you know you are a dear to copy "The Kindergarten Tot" for me. It must have been a lot of copying. Thank you very, very much for it.

Someone (I forget who) was asking for the pieces entitled "Katie Lee and Willie Gray," and "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight," and as I had them I am forwarding the same to her with pleasure.

Miss Grey, I have a pair of grey moleskin cloth spats which have become soiled and spotted. Can you please tell me how to clean them? As ever, CORDA.

Ans.—It's quite possible that a gasoline bath would renovate them quite satisfactorily. They would likely need two washings, and be sure not to do the work near an open flame of any kind. Do scrub with soapy water and a nail-brush (instead of using the gasoline), then rinse well, dry and press on the wrong side, might make them presentable.

From Sunny Alberta.

Dear Miss Grey,—I must thank the person who sent in "Fair Charlotte" for me, also the crochet pattern.

I am copying a comic recitation for "Hettie," who asked for one.

I am learning to play the piano, but am not making much progress just now, as I am very busy with my lessons.

Wishing the Box good success this summer. The same,
M. F. P. (Alberta).

Will Not Turn Dark.

Dear Miss Grey,—Someone asked some time ago what would keep potatoes from turning dark after they were boiled. If potatoes are left in cold water for a half hour or longer they will not turn dark. Could some kind reader supply me with the words, "On the Banks of the Wabash Far Away"?
CANADIAN THISTLE.

By Quite a Number.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am inclosing 24 coupons for the lame boy. I hope he gets his bicycle all right. I am also inclosing the song, "Just Before the Battle, Mother," which seems to be asked for by quite a number. I remain,
AMETHYST.

Uses Brother's Boots.

Dear Cynthia,—I see that "Mrs. Sam," was inquiring how to care for her Christmas Cactus, so my 'Maw' told me what to tell Mrs. Sam, and I hereby do so, with Mrs. cheer etc: Place the cactus outside where it is warm and sunny, but do not allow outside on a chilly night, or the buds may get injured. Do not water as often as other plants; Just give it enough to keep it alive. Keep in a good-sized pot, but do not disturb the roots if re-potted.—There now! That's over with! Glad I was of help to you about the skirt, Mrs. Sam. I could often make over my clothes if I had the time.

Well, my dream garden is flourishing dandy, that is—what I have planted. The weather has been just abominable. All the gardening I've managed to do has been in my soldier brother's 'seven leagued boots.' Some class to me when I go farmeretting!

Ashur Url has a box of candy and won't give the puppy dog one. He has been sick all day but miraculously recovered when the candy appeared. Oh yes, I 'most forgot—my big sister wants to know what will take the brown spot off her electric iron. URA KIDD

Brother In Russia.

Dear Miss Grey,—Another newcomer looking for information. I have a brother that went overseas in 1918. He is one of the volunteers for Russia. We have his address as to North Russia Expeditionary Force, so can you please tell me, will the force he is in be included with the Canadians coming home from Siberia?

Could any of the pagetes supply me with the words and music of these songs, "The Yellow Rose of Texas," and "Dark Lochinvar"? I will watch for an answer. DAFFADOWNDILLY.

Ans.—The movements of the Expeditionary force in North Russia are very difficult to get definite trace of, and no one here appears able to say when their return is hoped for. In all probability though the month of June will see the lads all home, or homeward bound, at least.

Work Sold Itself.

Dear Miss Grey,—You asked me where I sold my work, as so many had tried to sell theirs but couldn't find buyers. Why, I never tried at all. People just came and asked me to make things for them. At first it was just friends, but they told their friends, and so I often make things for people I have never seen. I have orders enough now to last me till June. So you see I don't have much trouble to sell.

For those who sell their crochet work I would advise to ask high prices. If you sell cheap you don't value your own work, and people regard it as a favor to buy of you, instead of being the other way round. Nothing is nicer than hand-made work, and if you ask to see it in the stores, the price they ask you makes you feel faint. No nice yoke that is worked evenly and kept clean should be sold for less than $3, no matter how plain the pattern. Some of the more elaborate ones should bring $5.50 to $6.50, especially those made of medallions. Hoping I have not talked too much "crochet" work, sincerely, MADELEINE.

Recipe for Farmer's Wife.

Dear Miss Grey,—Perhaps this is the recipe Farmer's Wife asked for:

Green Tomato Mincemeat.—One peck green tomatoes chopped or cut fine, one pound seeded raisins, one pound currants, two pounds brown sugar, two cups vinegar, one nutmeg grated, two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon ground cloves, one tablespoon salt. Boil tomatoes fifteen minutes, add sugar, vinegar and spices. Boil these two hours, add fruit and boil one hour. Pack in jars and seal hot. Yours,
FARMERETTE.

Songs That Live.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have not written to your Page for some time, but have read all the warm discussions between the Yanks and Canucks. It is time something else was cropping up. The Yanks are certainly a lively bunch, but they live too fast to suit me.

I notice a great many requests for such songs as "K-K-Katy." If only the time spent on these were put on songs that LIVE! I wonder if a day will come when ragtime will be all out of date? People would be much better without it, the same as they are without booze.

I would like to see a beruffled summer dress pattern printed, PEONY.

Ans.—Re your private query I have been unable to locate the address of any such teacher, but you might insert a small ad. under "Wanted," or write to Dr. K. P. R. Neville, at Western University.

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY.
May 4, 1919.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.
[By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.]

Man Made in the Image of God.—Genesis i., 26-28; ii., 7-9. Ephesians iv., 20-24.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

10. Gen. ii., 7-9.—How long did it take God to make man, and how long did it take Him to make a garden, park, or agricultural environment where man could fulfill his high destiny?

11. God seems to have put life into every particle of matter, in earth, sea and sky; can man make life, or, in what respect can he modify, perpetuate and improve it?

12. Eph. iv., 20-24—In what respect is the moral image of Christ a duplicate of God?

WE MAY BE RESTORED TO GOD'S IMAGE.

Paradise was lost by man's sin and the world has been cursed by man's inhumanity to man. Instead of earth being a place of peace and prosperity, its inhabitants dwelling together in love and concord, it has, by man's sin, been turned into a place of hatred and revenge. The advent of Jesus into the world was to bring man back to his original purity, to restore the image of God, which was originally stamped upon him. Christ has already accomplished this great work in the case of hundreds of thousands who have come to him for that purpose, and the day is coming when all men on the earth will be so restored. This earth, through the advent of Jesus Christ, is yet to become what God originally intended it to be.

Strong Infield for London Tecumsehs

Players Put Through Stiff Practice at Tecumseh Park Yesterday—Exhibition Games Next Week—Will Hold Workout Today—Gadsby With Local Team.

Manager Keenan and his squad of baseball players put in a big day at Tecumseh Park yesterday training for the opening of the Michigan-Ontario League. The weather was fine, and the players were put through a stiff training. The men were able to get on the diamond, which has been covered and brought closer to the grandstand. The home plate has not been laid yet, but the bases were placed in their proper places.

The old-time baseball fans and a few new ones turned out in the afternoon to get the first glimpse at the London Tecumsehs.

Gadsby of St. Thomas, who was to report to Manager George Gibson, but was ill at that time, turned out with the London team yesterday and made a good showing.

Pitcher R. Hansen, who was turned over to London by the Toronto Leafs, did his share of hurling. Big Ben Gilbert, who hails from Philadelphia, and Leishman, a Canadian boy from Walkerville, also took turns in the pitching box.

Jack Vermilly covered shortstop, and Alex. Hill, a former Toronto player, was on third base. Allen Flanders held down the second sack.

Only one casualty was reported. Gadsby received a bad hit on the arm, when big Ben Gilbert threw a wild ball.

Bob Donnelly, who comes from the Bronx, New York, showed lots of speed at first base. Clark also played first.

The players will hold a workout at Tecumseh Park this morning at 3:30 o'clock, and will also do a little training this afternoon.

Detroit Cuban Giants will play exhibition games here next Tuesday and Thursday. The Maxwells from Detroit will stage a game on Saturday, May 10.

Gleanings from Yesterday's Games

Brooklyn and Philadelphia National league teams set a record for the 1919 season yesterday, when they played a 20-inning tie. The score was 9 to 9. In the 19th inning both teams scored three runs. The Dodgers made 22 hits and the Phillies 15.

The Giants and Braves also played an extra-time game. The Giants scored three runs in the tenth.

Chicago White Sox won the third straight game from Detroit Tigers yesterday.

Boston Red Sox got fifteen hits off Thompson and Shaw, two Washington pitchers, in yesterday's contest.

Thormahlen, New York Yankees' pitcher, went wild yesterday in the sixth and filled the bases. Shawkey took his place in the pitchers' box, and, with one out, made a double play, saving the game for New York.

Cleveland Indians scored one run in the first and three in the second innings yesterday, wining the game. St. Louis used four hurlers during the game.

Toronto Leafs defeated Newark by the score of 7 to 1 in the opening game at Newark. The game was played before 5,000 persons.

George Gibson, manager of the Toronto Leafs, caught for the Canucks. He was at bat four times and got one hit.

Brady, the first sacker for Rochester, made the first home run in the International League this season when he hit the ball over the left field fence at Baltimore.

Weinert, formerly of the Phillies, and Bitter, who was with the Giants, pitched the opening game for Reading.

DODGERS AND PHILLIES PLAYED 20 INNING TIE

Brooklyn Gets Twenty-Two Hits and Philadelphia Fifteen—Both Teams Made Three Errors.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 30. —Philadelphia and Brooklyn battled 20 innings today to a nine-run tie score in the final game of their present series here. It was one of the most sensational baseball contests ever played on the local National League field. Both Oeschger and Grimes performed in the box throughout the four hours required to play the game. Brooklyn led 5 to 4 until the eighth inning, when the Phillies scored two runs. An error by Pearce enabled Hickman, who ran for Krueger, to score the tying run in the ninth. In the fourteenth inning each team filled the bases. Myers for Brooklyn grounded to Peace, and Baird was a strike-out victim. It was a sensational home run by Myers in the 19th, with Olson and Griffith, who had singled, on the bases, that gave Brooklyn three runs, and what appeared to be victory. Myers' hit was over Whitted's head. Whitted was playing in midfield at the time, and was unable to overtake the ball, which bounded into the bleachers in left centre field.

Griffith's muff of Williams' fly in the locals' half of the 19th started their rally. Bancroft forced Williams, but Luderus and Whitted singled, and after Baird tapped to Grimes, Meusel batted for Pearce, and walked. Cravath, pinch-hitting for Cady, banged the ball against the right field wall for two bases, but Meusel was run down at third as he hesitated there.

HAMILTON DEFEATS BRANTFORD TEAM IN SEMI-FINALS

Hamilton Boys Secured 29 Points Less in First Game.

BRANTFORD, April 30.—Hamilton scored a neat victory over Brantford tonight in the first of the home-and-home games of the semi-finals of the O. B. A. The score was 54 to 25. The Brantford team, after starting off with a rush by scoring three baskets, slowed up appreciatively, and the visitors were comfortably in the lead at half-time. The Hamiltonians were much the heavier team and looked superior to the locals in combination and defence work. Webster and Stevenson played a fine game for Hamilton, while Whittaker and Siemen starred for Brantford. The game was free from fouling and there was no rough play. The winners of the series will play in the finals with Broadviews of Toronto. The line-up:

Brantford — Buckborough, Boddy, Whittaker, Woodley and Siemin.

Hamilton—Vogt, Philpott, Webster, Stevenson and Thompson.

Referee, George Moseley.

Four Good Lessons to Remember

First—Once your kidneys are affected, chronic complaints are sure to follow—if you don't remove the cause immediately.

Second—You can't neglect kidney or bladder derangements and stay healthy. Putting off will never cure. You must assist Nature.

Third—The symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble—the commonest symptoms—are: Pains in the back and sides, swollen joints, painful urination, brick dust deposits, and constant headaches or dizziness.

Fourth—The sure and safe remedy for all afflictions caused by weak or deranged kidneys is Gin Pills.

Gin Pills have been the means of restoring thousands of chronic sufferers to health and strength again. If you suffer from kidney or bladder troubles—use Gin Pills. They seldom fail to bring relief.

Read what Gin Pills did for Mr. James Stackhouse, of Toronto. Mr. Stackhouse became convinced that he was in for an attack of Kidney trouble. Although subjected to X-ray treatment, the cause could not be located. Finally he was forced to leave his work and go to a hospital. His place was filled by another, as he never expected to go to work again.

Five boxes of Gin Pills put him on his feet again, and to-day he is physically fit again and ready for work.

Sold everywhere for 50c a box. A free sample on request by writing to The National Drug & Chemical Co of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ontario. U. S. residents should address Na-Dru-Co., Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y. 179

"Do You Want to Marry Him?" Asked the Doctor Abruptly.

At 7.30 I first saw him
At 7.31 I fell in love
In 3 days I was engaged
Then I married him

The marvelously fascinating story of an American girl who became a war-bride: who married "a man who didn't know one soul I knew, neither had I one acquaintance of his. Moreover, he was a man whose whole outlook was diametrically opposed to a romance which, improbable as it may sound, is not only true, but which is so acutely personal that with only one motive do I consent to tell it: I may be able to help some other girl or woman who will find her part in the war begun, not when her husband, sweetheart or son went to battle, but now that the war is forever finished, and he returns to her again."

She Whacked Him In The Face The First Time She Met Her Future Husband

Being Courted By Buffalo Bill

The Greatest American Romance Ever Told by a Woman

Here is the West: when it was young, uncharted and boisterous: a No-Woman's Land into which the bride of Buffalo Bill went with him. Day by day she lived amid quick death: now in a tent: then in a wagon: again under the sky and in the back of a frontier saloon. You see the great West opening up: you see the great prairies: you see life held cheaply: you hear the death-barbed arrow of the Indian spin through the air: the crack of pistol, and in the midst of it you see an American woman—the wife of the most romantic Indian scout in history. The real American breaks through every line of this autobiography of Buffalo Bill's widow.

6,000 METAL WORKERS ARE OUT ON STRIKE

Toronto Faces Most Serious Labor Situation in History.

OTHERS MAY QUIT PLANTS

225 Factories Involved—Painters Threaten To Tie Up Building Industry.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, April 30.—With the required sanction from the international unions affected and the official authority of the metal trades section of the American Federation of Labor, the metal trades council at 5 o'clock tonight called a strike in 225 factories, employing in the neighborhood of 6,000 skilled workmen. At the last moment five employers not members of the employers association signed the schedule of the council, which J. G. Merrick declared to be impossible.

Packers Are Restless.

The ultimatum of the packing house union expires on Friday, and a meeting is to be held on Sunday to accept or reject the offer of the packers. E. N. Compton, on instructions of the labor department, called representatives of the packers into conference today to avoid a strike. Louis Braithwaite, organizer of the union, stated that it was with difficulty that the packing house workers were being held in check. The union is organized along industrial lines and embraces every worker except the office staffs. It is demanding a $1 a day increase, eight-hour day.

Tie Up Building.

The painters, who are on strike, placed their case before the industrial council of the Building Trades League, which handed out an award of 57½ cents, which is much lower than is being paid by independent painters who are not members of the master painters' association. The painters have refused the award and are demanding that the Building Trades League of Toronto, which has the authority, use its full economic power, which would tie up the building trades industry.

Another Move.

Another development of the dangerous labor situation in Toronto was the decision of the carpenters' council tonight to send for 15,000 pamphlets dealing with the One Big Union, in spite of the mandate of the international president, who threatens with expulsion any one who discusses the organization which is causing considerable concern to the American Federation of Labor.

Will Meet Leaders.

The strike on the Welland and Chippewa canals has been held up. It was called for May Day, but, according to representatives of the Niagara District Labor Federation, who passed through Toronto today, the Government at the last moment induced Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways and canals, to change his mind regarding negotiations with the unions, and Hon. Adam Beck called the representatives of the federation into conference.

Blames Government.

John Flett, general organizer of the A. F. of L., expressed the opinion tonight that labor troubles were inevitable, since the Government by its actions had caused labor men to regard with suspicion all its associations and because there is no evidence yet of any change of heart on the part of the employers, of whom so many have been profiteering.

The department of soldiers' civil reestablishment has instructed all soldiers undergoing vocational training in factories where strikes are in progress not to go to work.

Would Run Plants.

One of the first resolutions which the metal trades council will consider today will be a request that the Government take over the factories and run them on the eight-hour basis until the employers agree to do so.

Have Big Fund.

H. W. Harper of the Machinists' Union stated tonight that his craft was determined to win its strike. In 1907 the union was on strike for 28 months for the nine-hour day with an empty treasury, while today it had $2,000,000 behind it. The molders' and boilermakers' unions have strike funds of similar proportions upon which they may rely.

WILL TIE UP WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, April 30.—This city is facing grave industrial unrest, and May Day may witness a complete tie-up of street railway service, police and fire departments and thirteen building trades —affecting about five thousand men altogether. The increasing cost of living, it is said, has caused organized labor in almost every trade and industry to demand increased pay, and there is a tendency to insist on shorter hours and the closed shop. Strenuous efforts are being made to effect settlements, but little progress is being made.

3,000 OUT AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, April 30.—In Ottawa a strike tomorrow morning of every members of the different unions employed in building and construction work, involving upwards of 3,000 men, is a practical certainty. Local machinists have filed demands with the local employers for an eight-hour day and a 25 per cent increase. The matter is still under negotiation.

Pulp and sulphite workers and papermakers in the Booth mills have requested a wage increase, but as yet have received no reply.

You need not shake the bottle

H.P. sauce

is the same all through —the last drop is as delicious as the first.

DEADLOCK AT HALIFAX.

HALIFAX, April 30.—There is no settlement yet of the wage dispute between local contractors and building trades journeymen. Several of the unions have called special meetings for tonight, and it is hoped that an amicable adjustment of the wage schedule will be made before tomorrow, when the present one expires. Some contractors, anticipating a continuance of the deadlock, are prepared to cease operations for a time.

TERRIFIC FALLING OFF IN CANADA'S EXPORTS LAST YEAR

Decline Reached Huge Total of $332,413,982.

IMPORTS CUT IS SMALL

Export of Domestic Agricultural Products Was Split in Half in 1918.

OTTAWA, April 30.—A decrease of $372,322,922 in the total of Canadian trade for the fiscal year ending March 31, as compared with the previous year, is shown by the statement issued through the customs department. The statement shows that the value of Canada's trade during the year ending with the 31st of last month was $2,176,378,717, while in the previous year it amounted to $2,548,691,639. The decrease in exports, $332,413,982, is largely responsible for the falling off in the total amount of Canadian trade value. Domestic merchandise exported was valued at $1,207,613,806, against $1,540,027,788 the previous year. Imports decreased $46,078,415, the totals being for 1918-19, $916,443,432; 1917-18, $962,521,847. Duty collected fell off to $158,044,456, as against $161,588,465, a decrease of $3,544,009.

The exports of domestic agricultural products reached $369,519,832, as compared with $567,713,584, in the previous year, a decrease of $297,893,751. There was a decline of $87,318,248 in the value of domestic manufactures exported, the total for last year being $549,284,268. Slight increases are shown in the total value of minerals and fish exported, and the exports of animals and their products was greater last year than the previous year by $25,000,000. The export of forest products last year was about $20,000,000 greater than in 1917-1918.

Fair Words, if Sincere, From German Official

VERSAILLES, April 30.—When the German delegation to the peace congress reached Versailles last night it was received in the name of the French Government by M. Challere, prefect of the department of Seine-et-Oise, to whom Count von Brockdorff Rantzau expressed thanks on behalf of the delegation. The count's secretary, Herr Rudiger, subsequently remarked to the newspapermen present: "Words fail me to describe my feelings as I crossed your devastated regions. I hope the peace which we are about to sign will give satisfaction to all the nations which participated in the war."

NO FAITH IN GOVERNMENT

Two Large Employers Favor Principle of Industrial Councils and Profit-Sharing.

VANCOUVER, April 30.—Approval of the principle of industrial councils was expressed before the Mathers commission today by the executive heads of two important concerns. W. G. Murrin, assistant general manager of the British Columbia Electric Company, declared the control of the individual business by a council composed of representatives of those employed in that particular establishment, and representatives of the management was the ideal system.

F. M. Sylvester, manager of the Granby Consolidated Mining Company, said he thought industrial councils would prove successful developing gradually in their usefulness, as both parties were educated in their capabilities. Witness agreed that one council should be formed for each plant. Each industry could best work out its own salvation, said Mr. Sylvester, and the plan might be developed by degrees into larger units.

A Real "Welfare" Town.

Mr. Sylvester explained the system of administering the affairs of Anyox, the company's town on the northern coast of British Columbia. The company owns and operates the town, profits from which, all except the mining operations, go back into improvements. The company has expended $1,600,000 in providing housing accommodation. Means of recreation are provided. Houses were rented to the men practically on maintenance charges. The employees work on a wage scale which is adjusted automatically by the price of copper, a system which, he said, had worked well, except during the war period when the price of copper was fixed by the United States Government.

"We consider," said Mr. Sylvester, "that our system of basing wages on the price of copper is the most feasible automatic method of dividing profits with the workmen."

The company consulted with the men through the agency of a joint committee which met monthly. The men held no share in the operation of town enterprises, except in the case of the hospital.

Mr. Murrin and Mr. Sylvester agreed that there was no one isolated cause for existing unrest.

"There has been a general distrust during the last few years," said Mr. Murrin. "There has been more freedom of thought, and men have decided that they are entitled to more."

"I don't think it is possible," said Chairman Mathers, "to put a finger on any specific cause of unrest. Probably it is a cumulative effect which is being felt now."

Suggests "Elastic" Rates.

Mr. Murrin said there was difficulty in public utilities which were operating under franchises, in meeting wage demands, which often were thoroughly justified, suggesting the advisability of some system of "elastic rates" to meet labor conditions.

"You cannot expect men to work for less than a living wage in order that the public may have transportation at less than proper rates," said the chairman.

"Some machinery for stabilizing and supervising the cost of living and some really accessible machinery for settlement of labor disputes which got beyond direct negotiations between employer and employees," were suggested by Mr. Murrin.

M. B. Coatsworth ascribed much of the unrest to what he called "political exploitation of industry." He instanced the Mackenzie and Mann operations in this connection. He went into the history of mining and lumbering in British Columbia and claimed that the raising of prices to the consumer through corrupt exploitation had destroyed the workers' faith in law and government and created their determination to try something else.

Talk of Revolution.

"The remedy is simple," he said. "It needs merely the application of the public utilities principle to business. Most employers are fair, but there are some 'cold-blooded drives,' who would cause a revolution if their ways are unchecked. If there is a revolution, it will start here, for we have been exploited so much more than any one else."

"Competition with the Oriental," was held as a leading cause of unrest in British Columbia by William McKenzie, representing the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union. There were about 5000 Chinese employed in the catering business in Vancouver, he said.

He declared he had no doubt his organization would welcome a law prohibiting this, and he complained that the railroad companies paid their hotel waiters 50 per cent less than the prevailing rate. Mr. McKenzie held that Orientals lived 75 per cent cheaper than Occidentals.

Let Public Share Profits.

A statement presented from the Society of Friends in British Columbia and Alberta declared that the status of workers as full partners should be officially recognized. Surplus profits of industry should be applied, it is said, as a public utility, for the benefit of the citizens generally, either to reduce prices of commodities, to provide pensions for widows and old age pensions, or for the relief of taxation.

David D. Priestman, supporting the claim, said industrial unrest was due largely "to the way the public press is muzzled to a very large extent as to labor news." Finding that they were refused a free voice in the ordinary press, he said, labor men had to provide their own mediums, which sometimes took extreme views. He approved of the industrial council plan.

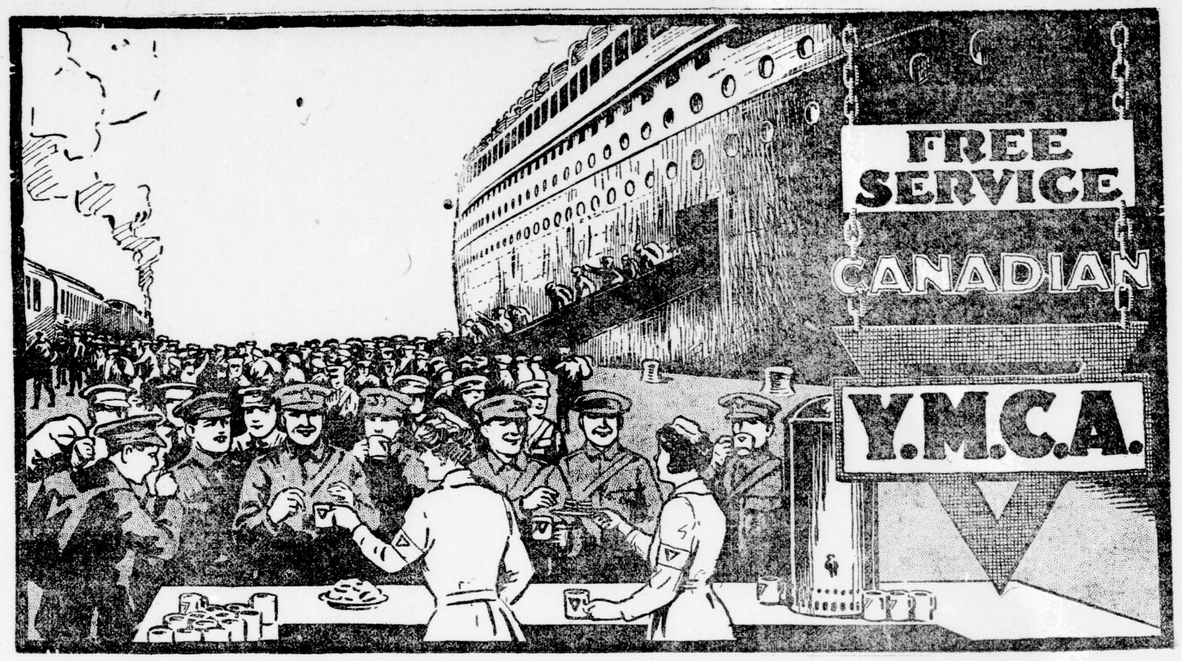

Detroit, Largest Dry City in World, Shows Prosperity

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, April 30.—This city today completes its first year of prohibition, which makes it the largest dry city in the world. The city is prospering, and the work of the police is reduced, according to the table comparing the final year of the wet regime and the first year of the dry. Hotels and theatres have enjoyed a record twelve months' prosperity.

SPORT FOR THE ANGLER.

To the excellence of the fishing to be enjoyed in Algonquin Park there is undisputed testimony. Fish caught in the waters of the park have won each year many of the national competitions open to the anglers of the continent. The brook trout of Algonquin Park are of the genuine square-tailed, red-spotted or speckled variety. Black bass are plentiful in the Rock Lake district, and are of the small-mouthed variety. Salmon trout are found in all the waters of the park. Splendid camp sites, unlimited canoe routes and hotels if you want them. "They're Coming Home!"

The Y.M.C.A. will keep its chain of Service unbroken to the end!

Four and a half years of war—anxiety—separation—and now they're coming home! Help to make their home-coming happy. Help the Red Triangle maintain its chain of service unbroken until the last man is discharged.

Nation-Wide Appeal

CANADIAN Y.M.C.A. Red Triangle Campaign CANADIAN Y.M.C.A.

$1,100,000 May 5th to 9th

The Red Triangle has been with the Canadian Army from the first—from Valcartier to the Rhine. During demobilization we have maintained full service to the soldiers both in Canada and overseas, and we will continue to do so until demobilization is completed—if you help us.

But please note that for the military work in Europe this year you are not asked for further contributions. The gradual liquidation of assets overseas will suffice to maintain full service while the soldiers remain. The war work you are asked to support this year is for the soldiers coming home.

What We Are Doing for Returning Soldiers

On every troop ship a trained Y.M.C.A. man is on duty. He carries a supply of literature, writing materials, games, a magic lantern and slides, a gramophone and records. In some cases he has a piano or an organ.

He takes charge of the entertainment of men, organizes concerts, lectures, singsongs, religious services, sports and games on ship-board. He helps and advises, explains the government plans for re-establishing soldiers into civil life, stimulates sociability and wholesome good cheer.

At Ports and on Trains

When the transport reaches Halifax, St. John or Quebec, The Red Triangle welcomes the soldier back to Canada. Free canteen service awaits him on the dock, with hot coffee, or tea, cold drinks, eatables and cigarettes. Reliable information is furnished. Facilities for telegraphing home are at hand. If the men have to wait for trains, the Y.M.C.A. is there to organize entertainment.

Every troop train leaving the ports of debarkation has on board a Red Triangle man. He distributes cigarettes, candies, and other eatables, reading materials and games—free of charge. He furnishes needed information, and helps, by entertainment, to make bearable the monotony of the train journey. Every one hundred dollars subscribed provides these facilities for one troop train.

In each of eleven big Canadian Cities stretching from coast to coast, where soldiers are held over, or where they may have

For Soldiers' Wives and Children

Out of the Red Triangle Fund $175,000 will be set aside for the Dominion Council of the Young Women's Christian Association, who are looking after soldiers' wives and children coming to Canada. Y.W.C.A. secretaries help mothers on boats, and render to the women and children a service similar to that which the Y.M.C.A. does for the men. Y.W.C.A. rest rooms and refreshment service welcome the soldiers' families at the ports of arrival. The sick are attended, children cared for, and the women folk cheered with the kindly word and the helping hand. At the big railway stations the Y.W.C.A. representatives are there to help, comfort, advise and direct. And in certain cases, where money is lacking, funds are provided to complete the journey. The budget of the Dominion Council, Y.W.C.A. provides also for the extension of its many forms of service among Canadian girls.

business, the Y.M.C.A. maintains a fully equipped Red Triangle Club, where soldiers are provided with comfortable board and lodgings at nominal rates. Here they may meet to talk, play or read, write letters and make themselves at home generally.

At every dispersal centre in Canada, the Y.M.C.A. maintains its Red Triangle service, with free canteen, reading and writing facilities and information bureau.

In Military Hospitals

In each of the military hospitals in Canada, in the military camps and barracks where men remain on duty during demobilization, the Y.M.C.A. place a trained man in charge of full Red Triangle service, providing entertainment, recreation, instruction and social stimulus.

Besides the work for the men returning, your support is asked for the maintenance of four Red Triangle Secretaries and auxiliary staff with the Siberian Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Every returned man is offered six months' full membership privileges free, in any local Y.M.C.A. The National Council is aiding the local Y.M.C.A.'s to meet the cost of dormitory accommodation, bathing facilities and other privileges and the employment of special secretaries in connection with local service to these men.

For Coming Men of Canada

The Y.M.C.A. asks your support for a greatly enlarged programme of service to Canada's boys this year, as the most valuable reconstructive work that can be done to repair the awful war-wastage of Canada's man power (60,383 dead and 156,799 wounded.)

The Red Triangle will be carried to the boys and men of the towns and villages and the open country this year, upon a plan of county organization.

You are asked to help construct the manhood that will reconstruct Canada.

For Soldiers of Industry

Something of what the Y.M.C.A. is doing for the soldiers in khaki, will be done this year for the army of workers in Canada's industrial plants. A programme of social activities and recreation will be promoted under the guidance of trained Y.M.C.A. men.

The Y.M.C.A. is establishing Red Triangle service also for the men and boys in the "front trenches of industry"—workers in isolated industries like lumbering and mining.

FALL WHEAT NEAR ILDERTON "SIZES UP" LIKE BUMPER CROP

ILDERTON, April 30. — The farmers of this district have been busy seeding this week, but have been held up by rains. Some fields of spring wheat and oats have been sown, but the land works heavily, owing to the wet spring. Fall wheat promises a bumper crop on the dry, well-drained land. The clover crop is not so good. Pastures are looking green, but cattle will not go out for some time yet, as most farmers are well supplied with feed. It may be the 10th or 15th of May before the export steers are put on the grass for finishing.

BEN SPENCE CONVICTED; $500 OR FOUR MONTHS

TORONTO, April 30.—Rev. Ben H. Spence was this afternoon convicted of having published extracts of "The Parasite," a book under the ban, and fined $500 or four months at the jail farm.

BUMPER FALL WHEAT CROP EXPECTED IN ST. MARYS DISTRICT

ST. MARYS, April 30.—Farmers throughout this district are elated over the prospect for a bumper fall wheat crop. Several farmers told The Advertiser that the seedlings passed through the winter in splendid condition, and the indications are that the grain crop will be the best for many a year. Regarding the spring wheat, they are not so optimistic, owing to the fact that it was a late spring, and the farmers had not been able to get on the land as early as in previous years. They are just beginning to get out now, and in a month or so will be able to pass judgment on the spring crop. Grass lands never looked better.

Gen. Shannon Presents Charter to London Unit of Army and Navy Veterans at Big Banquet

Tested Comradeship of Battlefields Is To Be Continued in Civil Life — Excellent Toasts Mark Evening.

The spirit of that tested comradeship of the front line trenches in France and of earlier British wars was rekindled last night at the organization meeting and banquet of the London unit of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada. Sergt. Fred Young, the newly-elected president of the organization, was presented with the charter from Canadian headquarters of this empire-wide federation of soldiers by Brig.-Gen. L. W. Shannon, C.M.G., commanding officer of No. 1 district. Fifty charter members attended as well as a number of guests and the night was dedicated to the principles which sent the members forward in the fight for freedom.

Comrades the men of the organization are called in the old land and in the dominions, and it was as comrade that Lieut.-Col. E. Elmsley, chaplain of the unit, proposed the toasts of the evening and introduced the speakers. Surrounding the toastmaster were Brig.-Gen. Shannon, Rev. Harry Ashby, Acting Mayor E. S. Little, Comrades Frith, Secretary Lance of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, Comrade Drake and others. The charter members of the organization who attended are as follows:

P. S. Aldridge, Sergt. Aldridge, S. Boyce, E. G. Brewer, J. F. Battersch, R. R. Baker, A. Burling, W. E. Capewell, W. T. Charles, C. T. W. Collard, A. H. Davis, — Davis, J. M. Dillon, E. A. Drake, W. H. Elmsley, J. C. Frith, L. Falconer, H. Galbraith, J. H. Glennie, G. E. Gordon, L. E. Glass, S. Grant, E. Hewerdine, M. J. Hanley, C. S. Herrington, C. T. Harris, Q. M. S. Henderson, W. Hambly, J. Haldane, P. E. King, S. Lydiate, W. E. Macrow, H. W. Marsh, A. Maynard, W. Mitchell, Major Millard, F. McKellar, H. V. McFall, H. E. McKendrick, J. Niblock, L. O'Connell, C. P. Pettit, S. M. Rawlings, F. Sheehy, G. S. Snelgrove, E. S. Leggin, F. Tilbury, J. J. Travers, C. F. White, N. V. Wellwood, Fred Young.

Fought in Foreign Fields.

Col. Elmsley called for a toast to "The King," after which Comrade Glennie welcomed the visitors of the evening, stating that the soldiers present were forming a young unit of an old association. The charter members had fought in Europe and other foreign fields for those at home, and now one of their chief functions would be "to fight with you and for you for a better country, and to make Canada a better part of the Empire in which to live."

President Young, responding to "The Army and Navy Veterans," said that anyone at the banquet was really among veterans, and that there was no doubt in the minds of those present as to the need of the unit in the old home town. There were two reasons for joining an association, first, to get out of it all one could, and, second, to put into it all one could. He firmly believed everyone had joined the veterans with the firm determination of putting all he could into it. There was an inflexible law that a man could not get something for nothing. Into the new unit must be put real comradeship, loyalty, and the patriotic spirit of 1914. Many of the men present had joined up in 1914, when there was no question of what a man was going to get out of his war service, but the whole thought was how much he could put into it. A war gratuity did not enter anyone's mind at that time. That old spirit had taken them into the front line and had conquered Kaiser Bill. The president pledged himself to put all he had into the unit and to be ready, day or night, to help a comrade. It should be the desire of all to make the unit one of the leading units of the Dominion.

Toast to the City.

The toast to "The Mayor and Corporation of the City of London" brought an eloquent response from Acting Mayor E. S. Little. He said:

"The formation of this London unit of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada is an indication of the strong bond of friendship that was formed by the men who served together, fought together and endured together all through the course of the war that has just closed. The highest type of friendship is that which is cemented by common sacrifice, formed in mutual adversity just as iron is most strongly cemented by the fiercest heat. The men who went through the raging fiery furnace of the western front and have come out of it, while so many of their chums stayed behind, must for all time to come have an attachment one for the other that is far beyond any of the ordinary friendships of life.

"It is to maintain this bond that you are organizing that in a common spirit of good fellowship, friendliness and good comradship you may both keep the old days in your memory and help one another in the days that are to come.

"London has had a remarkable war record. From that Sunday evening in August of 1914, when the old K Company, R. C. R., marched to the Grand Trunk depot and left for a destination unknown there has been the steady tramp of marching men on London streets, all with their faces set towards the front for a long time, and then gradually a few coming back; this backflow of the sick and wounded increasing month by month and bringing home to all of us the real character of the struggle. Then, in these last few months, we have had the privilege of seeing the movement of marching men turned right about, and day by day and week by week we have welcomed back to London the men we saw go away. They came first in little groups, then by the dozens, then scores, until lately we have been able to welcome whole units returning again to Canada, prepared to go back into civil life and take up again the task of making this a greater and better country.

Survivors of Mighty Test.

"The men who form this London unit of the Army and Navy Veterans are men to whom we said good-bye months, years ago. They are the men of whose deeds we read day by day. They are the men who were at Ypres, Hill 70, Vimy, Passchendale, Givenchy and other historic battle grounds on the western front. Men of the front line, all of them, survivors of the mightiest testing that men have ever faced. Now you are back in Canada again the bond that unites you one to another is a bond that time can never break. It is a special pleasure to have a part in the formation of this new unit, made up of men who know war as none others can know it, and I know that it would have been a particular pleasure for Mayor Somerville, had he been in the city, to have been present at the presentation of the charter to the Army and Navy Veterans in London. He, as you know, is trying hard to get over to France that he may visit the grave of the boy who left his home and never came back. What that means to him, you, of all men, will best appreciate. To you there will be special appeal in the little poem, written in the trenches, and that first appeared in the trench paper, "Blighty:"

Little white crosses all in a row,
Under a foreign sky;
Time cannot dim the picture
That rises to every eye,
It might have been you,
It might have been me,
When death was stalking about,
That marched through the wire and curtain of fire
And stayed—when the rest came out.

Will Never Forget.

"You may be sure that the citizens of London will never forget the part that her men played in the war. Now that they are back the duty remains with all of us that we shall see to it that the veterans receive that recognition and reward which is the due for the services they rendered for Canada, for Canadians and for humanity. The Army and Navy Veterans is not a local concern only, but an historic British organization that has for long linked the men of the army and the men of the navy, for we must never forget the navy's part in bringing victory. You will have a connection with men in the British Isles, with men in Australia and South Africa, with men in every part of the British Empire who fought for freedom and sacrificed for freedom. That is surely a connection worth while, and I know that you will be prepared to bear your part in carrying out the common aims of your Empire-wide association."

Secretary Ed Lance paid a hearty tribute to the women of the soldiers who had watched the homes while their men were gone. The letters from home were an incentive to the men to do their bit, and many a man might have been less willing to serve had he missed the words that came from home.

Rev. H. B. Ashby spoke to the toast of "Absent Comrades," and paid a tribute to the noble memory of the fallen men, to those who had laid down their lives on the artar of empire. The supreme thing was to keep faith with those who had gone, for they had made the name of Canada live for all time by their fearless service. In days to come great things were to be expected of this country because of the men who had died, and those others who had passed through the furnace of affliction in the presence of the Eternal. They were the dominant asset in the country's national life. The ideals of those who died must be carried on, fulfilled in the memory—those who had given Canada such a mighty name.

Must Forge Ahead.

Geo. S. Gibbons paid a hearty eulogy to the men gathered to form the London unit. He said there is and always would be need for every effort of these men to build up the citzenship of the country. Everything depended on how these men played the game, and if they played the game in civil life as they played it in the war, the country must forge ahead, and Canada be made a leader in the world's progress toward real democracy.

Musical selections were given by Master Sam Munro, Master Sammy Chapman, which were heartily enjoyed, and by Oliver Sinclair, who rendered two rousing patriotic numbers.

The presentation of the charter by Gen. Shannon was marked by the testimony of the toastmaster to the worthy and splendid service performed by Gen. Shannon as commander of No. 1 district. Gen. Shannon said he especially liked the framing of the veterans which permitted the recognition of service performed in other wars. He read the principles of the organization and the wording of the charter, and declared that the London unit had a great prospect of fine service. President Young received the charter with an expression of heartfelt appreciation on behalf of the members, and the evening came to a close with cheers for Gen. Shannon and the singing of the National Anthem.

Comrade W. E. Capewell has been active in the organization of the new unit, and as secretary has had in charge arrangements for the banquet, which reflected so much credit on the whole organization.

All Wounded.

Of the 50 charter members, all wore a wound stripe and some two. They also represented every battle on the western front that the Canadians were engaged in, from February, 1915 until the signing of the armistice, November, 1918.

Other wars members had been engaged in were: Egyptian 1883-84-85; Soudan 1896; South African, 1899, 1900-01. Quite a few wore the 1914-15 British Empire Star, and other decorations included the M.C., M.M., D.C. M., Criox de Guerre and the Royal Humane Society's Medal.

A letter received from Dominion President J. T. Tupper, K.C., and the Dominion Secretary R. C. Ir[illegible] said that they immediately g[illegible]d the charter to the London u[illegible] when they saw the petition, as [illegible]h a strong nucleus of men they [illegible]ad never seen and wished the [illegible]ondon unit every success, and furth[illegible]r said that if Londoners wanted anything they had only to ask.

Strongly Officered.

The London unit has a strong slate of officers who are acting pro tem until the association is strong enough to hold a general election as they think it only fair to elect the officers permanently when the organization is stronger. The following are the officers: President, Com. Fred Young; 1st Vice President, D. G. S. Aldridge; Secretary, W. E. Capewell; Treasurer, J. T. Frith; Chaplain, W. E. Emsley, (Rev. Lieut.-Col.); Hon. Chaplain, Canon Tucker; Marshals P. E. King and C. F. White; Auditors, J. F. Batterson and W. E. Macrow; Chairman of Membership Com. H. Galbraith; Executive, Comrades Young, Frith, Capewell Galbraith, Aldridge, White, McKellar, Brewer and Falconer; Membership Committee, Com. Galbraith, Glennie, Mitchell, Macrow and Wellwood.

The association is open for membership and all particulars and application forms can be obtained at the Sergeant's Hill 60 store, Dundas street opposite the armories.

The next general meeting will be held in two weeks when all new members will be initiated.

The butter market looks weaker and a drop is expected on Saturday's market. There is a good demand for potatoes, and the market is firm.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Long Strides With Feet Straight Right Way to Walk

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,

DR. HIRSHBERG

There are 26 joints that work in your feet when you walk. The joints of your spine, hips, shoulders and neck all co-operate with them and with one another in the walking process.

When you either stand or walk at the end of a definite time you may be weary. To walk for a great length of time is far from playing; you thus do work of the most exhausting type. When you stand you even do harder work, and for that reason it is necessary to know just how to save as much as possible of our energy in the walking or standing process.

Posture is nature's method of economy to save energy. Correct posture is assumed to acquire grace and ease of movement as well as to store up strength to walk.

The position of your feet, of course, has much to do with a correct physical attitude. Take a look at your own feet some time, and make an investigation of the feet of your associates. Nine times in ten, perhaps, the feet point outward.

Observe most people as they walk past you. Their feet are turned outward. Some of them walk slowly and some fast, but their feet point in a northeast and northwest direction instead of being pointed directly forward.

With the facilities to measure exactly the angle which your feet make when everted, you would probably find that it is about 90 degrees, or one-fourth of a circle. When in this position, the narrow heel or the instep arch bears the greatest part of your bodily weight. As a result fatigue not only comes in a comparatively short time, but also a lopsided, ungraceful poise. There is, besides, the possibility that flat feet may develop when the arch gives way.

The foot in a straight position throws the weight upon the fore part of the pedal, where the joints are flexible and the surface is broad. In this posture you are not only more comfortable, but more efficient and energetic.

If you permit your muscles and joints to relax for a while, you may do some mental work, but in general your mind is utterly incapable of the best task imposed upon it. After you have bethought yourself and gathered yourself quickly together, sat up straight, your back stiff, your shoulders back, chin in and your feet flat upon the floor, you have felt quite regenerated, your mind has become suddenly clear and active, and your work proceeds more rapidly.

See to it as a rule that your feet point straight forward. If you stand on both feet and each of them bears your weight equally, not much energy is wasted even if they do not happen to be turned forward. If you use one of your feet at a time for support, however, it becomes imperative that the supporting foot be pointed forward, so that the whole foot and not only a part of it bears the bodily weight.

The straight foot is the strongest position of the foot itself, and helps to keep the knee joint and spinal column straight. It also reminds you to keep the chest thrown forward and your chin in, which gives your entire framework a posture of alertness. The mind, as a result of this, becomes equally wide awake and alert.

Perhaps it is hard to break up habits or to learn to stand and walk with your feet pointed straight. This practice may help you. Stand up before a mirror and place the pressure upon the outside of the thigh. You will find that your stride is then measured by the whole length of your feet, which is therefore longer than the stride made with your feet everted.

Exercises That Train.

If you must walk a whole day because your livelihood depends upon it, the sooner you learn to make longer strides at the cost of less energy, the more you will accomplish in less time. You may at first have to exert a bit of energy to give the feet a little inward turn, but it will soon become habitual and walking will become a pleasure.

In order to strengthen the knee joint as an aid in walking or standing, rise slowly from your chair several times, assume a walking attitude, and sink back again slowly into the chair. Practice this knee movement at least once a day.

The hip joints, too, must be made flexible in order that locomotion may not be a laborious process. Bend the trunk forward, backward and sidewise, and then move the trunk in a circle to bring each muscle in the vicinity into play. These movements should be done very slowly, for otherwise a jerk of a muscle or a joint may cause serious injury.

When knees and hip joints are strong and the feet are straight, energy will be saved and greater mental efficiency acquired, and gracefulness will become a by-product.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, MAY 2.

The prospects for this day, based on the astrological hypothesis of planetary influence or sublimary life, are brilliant. The benefics hold dominant sway, promising success and good fortune in all the affairs of life. There may be great activity, with resourcefulness, initiative and enterprise under a Martial figure, and the rewards for such adventurous spirit are assured under the pslendid mutual figure of Sol sextile Jupiter, fortified and brought into operation by the Lunar semi-sextile to Jupiter. Those in employment and in the professions may benefit, and the general good spirit and prosperity, as well as pleasure, will enter into interest, social, domestic or affectional.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a pleasant and prosperous year, meeting with much success as well as financial gain. A child born on this day will be clever, popular, artistic, and will rise to position in life.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Dicky Surprises Even Madge

What did Dicky mean to do about the Bayview festivities.

This was the question that hovered above me as might a pestilent mosquito during my toilet of the morning following my unfortunate attempt to write Dicky's speech. I tubbed and dressed and arranged my hair to the annoying accompaniment of its buzzing. And when finally, attired in my new suit, and with even my new hat adjusted to the correct angle, I descended the stairs, I felt my knees trembling, so nervously uncertain was I of Dicky's intentions.

But Dicky is always full of surprises, and it was a most unexpected angle of behavior which I met as I entered the dining-room. He sprang up, pretended to stagger, and put his hands to his eyes as if overcome by my sartorial splendor.

"My word!" he exclaimed with one of the mannerisms brought back from the other side. "Just cast your eyes upon this vision, will you?" He turned with hand outspread toward my father and his mother, already seated at the breakfast table. "Don't know whether we ought to turn her loose upon an unsuspecting world, do you, dad?"

My father's eyes twinkled.

"Perhaps you'd better tag her before she leaves," he said, smiling lovingly at me.

My mother-in-law stiffened as she always does when Dicky praises my appearance. This attitude of hers used to grieve and anger me, now I realize not only that it is distinctly subconscious on her part, but that in her heart she is as proud of my presenting a good appearance as is Dicky. But she would die before she'd admit it.

"Struck Twelve on That Rig."

"May I remind you that the cereal is getting cold?" she said icily. "Margaret is late now," her tone expressed the belief that I had purposely tarried upstairs. "We did not wait for you," she went on, to me, "for, as you know, I am always faint until I get my morning coffee."

"Of course," I said placatingly, slipping out of the coat of my suit and into the chair which Dicky was holding for me with exaggerated courtesy. My mental thermometer had leaped from subnormal to a fever record at my husband's unexpected friendliness. Yet there was a glint of mockery in his eyes which made me uneasy, as I think, perhaps, he intended it to do.

"You sure struck twelve on that rig, old girl," he said as I settled to my grapefruit. "It suits your type exactly. Lil went with you, didn't she? I thought I detected her fine Italian hand."

"She had wonderful judgment," I acquiesced heartily, but I couldn't help flushing at the implication that I would have been unable to select so modish a costume without Lillian's help. The mocking glint in Dicky's eyes deepened. I realized that for some reason or other he was deliberately teasing me, and I resolved that he should not have the satisfaction of knowing either that he had succeeded or that I guessed his intention.

Dicky Refuses To Go Alone.

"I say, Madge," he said suddenly after an interval devoted to Katie's delicious muffins and parsley omelet, "are you coming here to go with me to that shindig today?"

I thrilled with joyous surprise. So he meant to go after all. But his question troubled me.

"Why, I couldn't possibly do that, dear, unless I took a taxi both ways, if I could get one at that hour, and even then I wouldn't have a minute for lunch."

"All right," he said with exaggerated indifference, "but if you think I'm going to trek over there by myself and hang around the entrance sitting up on my hind legs and begging prettily, 'Please, I'm Missis Graham's husband. Will some kind person tell me where to find her?' you've got another guess coming, that's all."

A high-pitched giggle startled us. Katie, her face red with the effort to suppress her laughter, turned and bolted to the kitchen, a crash of china accompanying her. She evidently had found it impossible to carry a cup of coffee and suppress her merriment at the same time.

"I hope you're satisfied, Richard!" My mother-in-law's look and tone were intended to crush her son to earth. "That cup is one of a set which is now closed stock and cannot be replaced. Besides, the language you use is positively disgusting and especially demoralizing to an idiot like Katie. As for the contention, which I imagine you are making—though your meaning is almost obscured by your absurd language—your disinclination to go to the school unaccompanied is understandable, but the absolute dullness of both you and Margaret is inexplicable. Is there no decent restaurant or inn in Bayview where Margaret could meet you for lunch, and then return to the school with you?"

SOME HOUSES WERE WRECKED.

Coons in their nice high house in the tall Hemlock tree, trembled, fearing the water would rise to the tops of the trees and Father Coon comforted them saying, "Why, look at the Beavers' new houses. They are so wise, they know the water will rise no higher than their dam."

Then Father Coon cried at the top of his voice, "Mr. Turtle and Grandpa Frog, why in the world are you so stupid and lazy? Why don't you go over and wake up the Otter, Mink and Muskrat families before they all drown? I would do so myself, but I fear I'll get my feet wet. I've had an awful cold, and been awake all night, and almost coughed my head off."

Mr. Turtle and Grandpa Frog looked very sheepish, and started off to wake up the little people. It was a funny sight to see Mr. Turtle and Grandpa Frog crawl up on the top of the little houses, and shout down the ventilators, "Get up quickly, you sleepy heads. Don't you know the Big Flood will drown you all in a few minutes, unless you get out of your beds?" And you would have laughed to see the funny sights, the next few moments.

Dick Otter was the first to show his wet and towseled head; and he was carrying his new mattress on his back. Dick was bound he would not lose that new soft bed. Then Betsy showed her brown head above the water. Her new bonnet, trimmed with brown fur, looked ruined with the muddy water. Betsy was carrying their new dining-table on her back.

Benny Mink appeared swimming in front of his house. He yelled to Sammy Muskrat, "Look here, Sammy, see these big pickerel I caught yesterday. I'm going to eat them for my breakfast." And the fish were about as big as he was. But even in the Great Flood all he thought about was his stomach. I suppose his bed was so wet and old that it was not worth saving.

Then Bobby Skunk and Peter Rabbit poked their little heads over the banks of Mirror Pond. Both of them, I'm sorry to say, kicked up their heels and turned somersaults on the bank and were awfully tickled to see the strange sights. Bobby Skunk cried out to Dick Otter, "Dick, what in the world are you going to do with that old wet mattress? Can't you swim without that life-preserver?" And Peter Rabbit rolled over on the bank, laughing at the funny sight.

Peter Rabbit yelled out to Benny Mink, "Benny Mink, you better look out for those big fish you caught yesterday, or they'll drown in this big Flood!" Bobby Skunk thought that remark was so funny, that he stood on his head and laughed.

Tomorrow—Dick and Betty Otter had a Bad Neighbor.

NOTED CLEVELAND SURGEON ADDRESSED LOCAL ACADEMY OF MEDICINE ON WEDNESDAY

Physicians from all Western Ontario came to the city to hear Dr. G. W. Crile, the noted surgeon from Cleveland, address the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine on "Abdominal Surgery in Military and Civil Practice," at the Normal School on Wednesday afternoon. During his lecture he spoke highly of the work of British and Canadian doctors overseas, and mentioned the friendly relationship that existed between Canadian, British and American surgeons.

Luncheon was served later and many of the local medical men had an opportunity of meeting Dr. Crile, who was one of the first American doctors to serve overseas, having sailed for France with a medical unit at the beginning of the war. Late in the afternoon, he left the city for Cleveland.

ARBITRATION BOARD TO HEAR COMPLAINT OF SHOEWORKERS

An arbitration board will settle the difference between the boot and shoe workers of the city and the employers within a couple of weeks, according to reports. The men have asked for a 44-hour week, and the companies have offered as an alternative a 49½-hour week.

A. M. Jarvis of the Murray Shoe Company says that all of the companies are planning to operate on a scale of 49½ hours a week.

The men assert that they have had only a ten per cent increase since the beginning of the war. To this, Mr. Jarvis takes exception saying that they have had from 35 to 40 per cent increase since the war. He intimated that this was taking everything into consideration.

It is anticipated that the arbitration board will have the questions under consideration shortly. In the meantime, the work is being carried on in the factories.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Service has always been uppermost in the minds of students and ex-students of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. When the Great War came, over seven hundred of the best of these men answered the call of their country and joined the armies of the Allies in humanity's fight to the finish against the horrible Hun and the unspeakable Turk. These men risked all, that the ideals which they held most dear should not perish. They were willing to lay down their lives for their friends, and of the number who crossed to the blood-soaked fields of France and Flanders, who fought in Mesopotamia, in Africa, on the Eastern Front, or aboard his majesty's ships on the high seas, and in the Air Forces one hundred, one in seven, are numbered in the lists of the "unreturning brave." They were in the thick of the fight. They acquitted themselves like men. They fought. They died. They won. They did their bit and their best to insure permanent freedom for all. The greatest effort of the man at home who served his country by increased production and by giving of his time and his money to the cause, paled into insignificance beside the sacrifice of those who risked their all and gladly gave their lives. Their deeds live after them. They have given vastly more for the cause of humanity than all other O.A.C. men combined. Their memory must be perpetuated. Students, ex-students, staff and friends of the Ontario Agricultural College and Macdonald Hall realize that they can never pay the debt they owe those who fought and died for them, but they see their duty clearly and will deem it a privilege to give till it hurts, that an appropriate memorial be erected to commemorate the lives and the needs of the best of their brothers who stood between them and the Hun and cracked the "kuiture" of the kaiser and his war lords.

It has been decided to build a Memorial Hall on the college campus and every student and ex-student of the college, and of Macdonald Hall, together will all those who have taken any of the short courses at the institution, and all friends of the college are asked to subscribe to the fund for the erection of this ornamental, yet useful, monument to the memory of our noble dead. A committee has already been formed with Dr. Creelman, president of the college, as chairman and treasurer, and Prof. D. H. Jones as secretary. The purpose is to erect an assembly hall to seat at least 800, the architecture of the cut stone building to be modified gothic in design with tower and chimes, the interior to be fitted with a large stage, pipe organ and everything which goes to complete a modern assembly hall.

The men who lie beneath the poppies in Flanders fields were big men. They lost their lives that others might be saved. The saved must do their biggest and best in honor to our glorious dead. The building will cost $100,000 or more. The Ontario Government has voted $40,000 as a contribution to the cause. The committee in charge desires to raise, by popular subscription, the remainder of the money necessary to complete a building in which all of those in any way interested in the Ontario Agricultural College should have a part. This includes students, and ex-students, graduates, staff, friends and acquaintances. Every individual must play his part and by team-work, such as that shown by the boys who stemmed the tide of German field gray as it flowed toward Paris and the Channel ports, the fund will go over the top and there will be erected a fitting memorial at the O.A.C., sacred to the memory of those who fell daring to do their duty and with the undying faith that Right would finally prevail.

Subscriptions should be sent to Dr. G. C. Creelman, treasurer, Memorial Hall Fund, O. A. C., Guelph, Ontario. Make them as large as possible. Affection should bind all together in this cause. Together, O. A. C. and Macdonald Hall students and ex-students are strong. The committee requires the assistance of all in locating ex-students. Send in your donation and names and addresses of other ex-students, either of the regular or short courses.

The staff of the O. A. C. has already been canvassed and heads of departments are giving $100 each, associate professors, $75 each, and lecturers and demonstrators, $50 each.

WADE TOOLE,
Chairman Publicity Committee,
O. A. C. Memorial Fund.

THANKS FROM BELGIUM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Please allow me to send, through your esteemed paper, the heartfelt thanks of the Belgian Protestants for the help in men, food and money which Canada has sent to Belgium since the beginning of the war. Your gallant Canadian soldiers have fought during more than four years in the mud of Flanders; the flour from your wheat fields has helped to feed our starving population; the money from your purses has helped our Red Cross and other war organizations. Even the children of your Presbyterian Sunday schools have devotedly come to the help of our children, by sending more than seven thousand dollars to support our Brussels Protestant Orphanage. Without this providential help reaching us from Canada through a secret Dutch agency, in monthly installments, we dare not think of the dire distress in which the dear children confided to our care would have sunk. Will every Sunday school of London which has contributed receive the expression of our deepest gratitude?

The acutest forms of our national misfortunes are past—invasion, fire, murder, oppression and hunger. Canadian soldiers have been to the forefront of all rejoicings and thanksgivings when during those wonderful November days were celebrated our great deliverance. But our sufferings are by no means past. All necessities of life are at fabulous prices, lack of machinery and raw materials prevent the resumption of industry and commerce, while the lowering of the people's health and vitality adds to the general depression. Before the war our orphanage was almost entirely supported by the working people of our congregations, but now we must almost entirely depend on our friends from allied countries. Will not Canada continue being "the friend in need which is a friend indeed"?

Before the war the total expense per child—and we had 35 to 40 fed, well-dressed, well-trained, happy boys and girls—was $85 a year. Now each orphan costs us $170. Although this expense is double what it was before the war, it comes only to 47 cents a day per child, which, with the fantastic cost of living, is an incredibly small sum, and means the greatest economy and thrift on the part of the management. This sum cannot cover the urgent extra expenses brought on by the penury of war time. Our roof needs extensive repairs; we must have the painter, the plumber and the carpenter if our house it to remain habitable. The furniture, the bedding, the house linen, the children's wardrobes, all must be renewed. We should need, at the very least, five thousand dollars. Will our Canadian benefactors send us this sum?

I close with one more cordial "Thank you," said with a renewed appeal for continued support on behalf of our big family of orphan children. Your truly,

KENNEDY ANET.
(Rev. R. Anet, D.D., president of the Belgian Protestant Orphanage.)

April 1, 1919, 11 Rue de Dublin, Bruxelles, Belgique.

Note.—Will all Presbyterian ministers and superintendent transmit these thanks and this appeal to their Sunday schools, and remind them that their support has been pledged for one whole year after peace is signed? Will also soldiers returning from Belgium see what they can do to spread the interest for the orphans of the martyr nation, on whose soil they have fought, suffered and conquered? The treasurers for the Belgian orphan fund are Mr. J. H. Gayford, 60 Victoria Square, Montreal, and Mr. J. T. Bost, 86 Bathgate street, Toronto. They receive funds and supply literature. Three Sunday schools of the same city or province each giving $55 a year could adopt one Belgian orphan. Write about this plan to Madame Charles Bieler, 98 Columbia avenue, Westmount, P.Q.

The Sunday schools of Ontario contributed $2,205.01 out of the $7,356.44 sent from Canada to the Belgian orphange.

FINANCE BODY LEFT DAYLIGHT SAVING ALONE

Faced Two Petitions, For and Against, But Sent Them to Council.

DISCUSSED SUNDAY CARS

Ask Utilities Commission to Move in Regard Service to Springbank.

What the committee did:

Recommended that the utilities commission be asked to take action in reference to securing Sunday cars to Springbank.

Referred the petitions re daylight saving to the council.

Decided to take up with the G. T. R. the question of making Egerton street crossing safe.

Granted $400 to the reception committee to aid in decorating the armories for the reception of the 18th Battalion.

Adopted Chief J. Aitken's report that it would not be desirable to reinstate T. Tozer.

Decided to allow all returned soldiers to secure peddlers' licenses without payment of fees.

Rebate for Y. M. C. A.

Approved the rebate of Y. M. C. A. taxes to the amount of $300.

Recommended a grant of $100 to the Order of the Eastern Star towards a convention in London in June.

Decided to recommend to the court of revision that the business tax on Westminster Rink be rebated to Mrs. Lancaster.

Daylight saving was introduced at the meeting of No. 1 committee yesterday afternoon by two petitions, one signed by about 140 asking for the adoption of old time, and another one, signed by all the hotel men in the city, asking that daylight saving time be retained. The latter was presented and supported by Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop.

Chairman E. S. Little submitted that City Solicitor T. G. Meredith stated that the council did not need to take any action, as the bylaw affecting the city generally is quashed.

Affects the Council.

If the council wishes to continue to hold meetings on the new time it will be necessary for this body to meet at the old time and pass a resolution setting forth the time of the meeting one hour ahead. Thus, instead of meeting at 7.45 o'clock new time, it would be called for 6.45 o'clock old time.

J. B. McKillop urged the council to pass a resolution calling on the citizens to maintain the daylight saving time. Chairman Little pointed out that clause 4 of the bylaw merely requested the citizens to adopt the new time, and it was quashed.

Mr. McKillop submitted that a resolution could be passed without any fear of its being quashed. He pointed out the inconvenience to the travelers and others if the railways continue on the new time and the city reverts to the old time.

Opposition Not Strong.

Ald. F. E. Harley thought that, inasmuch as the petition against the measure which was presented was signed by only 140 citizens, it did not show strong opposition. Ald. F. R. Watkinson stated that 85 per cent of the city is against it.

Chairman Little reported that he had received a petition from the McCormick Manufacturing Company, signed by 90 employees, asking that the new time be retained.

At length the members of the committee decided to sidestep the measure for the present and passed it on to the council, without any recommendation.

Sunday cars came up for some discussion. Ald. S. R. Manness suggested that the committee recommend that last year's agreement be continued for this year. This was approved by the committee and the recommendation was passed on to the council.

Sunday Car Question.

Alderman F. E. Harley called attention to the fact that the company had asked for consideration of Sunday cars to Springbank in conjunction with the city Sunday cars, and that the utilities commission must be a party to the agreement respecting Sunday cars to the park.

The question was asked as to who should make the first move, the council, the commission, or the company. This was answered when the committee, on motion of Alderman F. R. Watkinson, decided to ask the commission to take steps towards securing Sunday cars to the riverside. Alderman L. S. Holmes reported that the jewelers' petition for Saturday early closing was sufficiently signed and the committee recommended that a bylaw be prepared.

Get Licenses Free.

Sergt. G. A. Cresewell was granted an auctioneer's license for the remainder of the year without fee. It was also decided to authorize License Inspector J. W. McCallum to rebate the license fees to all London returned soldiers who wish to take out peddlers' licenses. They must furnish a certificate from the secretary of the S. A. C., which will be accepted as a voucher for the fee by the inspector.

The city clerk was authorized to proceed with the necessary routine work in connection with the closing of the purchase of the Traction bridge. He reported that the city solicitor has everything about ready for the closing of the deal. It was agreed to back the city of Hamilton in its effort to have legislation passed to deter the C. N. R. from being allowed to lay its tracks through any corporation without first geting the consent of the corporation.

Aid 18th Reception.

Major C. M. R. Graham appeared before the committee to request that financial aid be given to purchase decorations for the Armories for the reception to the 18th Battalion.

On motion of Alderman Watkinson, it was decided to grant $400 towards this fund. The larger part of this will be used for bunting and flags, which the city will retain in its possession for future use.

Chief John Aitken reported that under the conditions which exist between T. Tozier and the firemen's union it would not be desirable to reinstate him. This had been referred to the chief with power, so the committee merely adopted the report. T. Tozer, who was present, called the chief into the hall after the adoption of the report, and, judging by the sounds, the two engaged in a battle of words. No casualties reported.

Interview G. T. R.

Alderman Watkinson called attention to the dangerous crossing at Egerton street and the G. T. R. He thought something should be done immediately. Alderman Harley suggested that if the company would do its switching from the east end of the sidings rather than from the west end, the danger would be materially lessened. It was decided to recommend that the company be approached to see if it will take this action.

The request for a grant of $100 to the Order of the Eastern Star to aid in the securing of a hall for a convention in the city in June was readily granted. It is expected 400 members will be present.

On motion of Alderman S. R. Manness it was decided to place half-page ads in the papers instructing the citizens with reference to clean-up week.

Rebate Tax On Rink.

Mrs. W. Lancaster appeared, to ask that the city buy Westminster Rink or, at least, do something to reimburse her for the loss of business through the establishment of free rinks in the city. The committee decided to recommend that the business tax be remitted.

It was thought that this was all that could be done.

It was decided to accede to the request of the board of education that a third high school area be defined. This does not call for the outlay of any money at present.

J. M. Moore asked for the use of the old board of education rooms for the Soldiers' Aid Commission. As Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant, who is temporarily using the rooms, agreed to vacate them, it was decided to allow the S. A. C. to move into them.

IN "TEST OF HONOR" JOHN BARRYMORE IS SEEN AT HIS BEST

Famous Stage Star Scores Well in Dramatic Film.

In a character entirely new to the screen the famous and versatile actor John Barrymore in his first dramatic role in pictures, "The Test of Honor," at the Majestic Theatre made a triumphal success with the silent drama if last night's audience is to be taken as a criterion. It is a picture play that made the audience grip their seats as the star of speaking-stage drama gave one of the best exhibitions of powerful screen acting seen here. A picture drama of modern society, it portrays as Martin Wingrave, a Virginian, John Barrymore is madly in love with Ruth Curtis, the wife of a clubman whom she despises. She is also loved by George Lumley, but she favors Wingrave. Curtis discovers his wife being kissed by Wingrave and a fight follows in which he receives a mortal injury. Ruth refuses to help her husband by offering him stimulant and he soon dies. When she fails to reveal the truth, Wingrave is sentenced to a seven-year's term in prison for manslaughter.

Ruth marries Judge Ferris, and when Wingrave is released he determines to obtain revenge upon her. Judge Ferris has no knowledge of his wife's past, and she promises Wingrave that she will introduce him in her set if he will destroy her letters. Wingrave is loved by Juliet Harris, a young woman, and Ruth attempts to place him in a compromising position without, however, shaking the faith of Juliet in Wingrave. When Lumley informs Judge Ferris of the truth, Wingrave is recognized as a martyr. He burns Ruth's letters and tells her to return to her husband, while he turns to Juliet.

Mack-Sennet's comedy feature, "The Foolish Age," kept the audience in one continuous uproar. With an all-star cast of the usual beauties and comedians, it was above the average slapstick variety.

A splendid opportunity is given Londoners to see the return of the First Battalion on the screen. A reel of exceedingly bright film shows the movements of the famous "First" from the moment their train arrived at the Grand Trunk Station until they were demobilized on Carling Heights.

Frank Callan in song and story found favor with the audience, and his act, coupled with a good orchestral program, gives the Majestic a program that is well worth seeing.

FANNY WARD IN "COMMON CLAY" AT THE GRAND TODAY

The Grand today will resume its popular vaudeville and picture policy with a splendid list of feature attractions. The feature offering on the vaudeville program to be presented today, tomorrow and Saturday daily at 2:15 and 7:30 (standard time) will be "The Revue a la Carte," described as a glittering panorama of music, mirth and girls. Charles Ireland Marsh, Hazel Kirk and Edith Laros are the principal entertainers; they are ably assisted by an attractive chorus, who can sing, dance and wear pretty clothes.

Undoubtedly one of the daintiest and most delightfully entertaining offerings seen in some time is the offering presented by the Melroy Sisters, who will be another big feature on this bill. This clever pair of remarkably handsome and fascinating young women will offer singing and dancing of exceptional classiness.

Jim McWilliams will offer an exceptionally clever bit consisting of impersonations of various prominent artists, who attempt notice through their exhibition of piano playing. "A Burst of Clean Comedy" is the title of the offering, and as a laughing number it can most assuredly be called a scream.

The Ambley Brothers will present an act under the caption of "The Act Sensational," a most clever conception of an acrobatic act. From start to finish they display an ease and grace in the execution of their extraordinarily marvelous feats that seem miraculous. Their routine consists of risky equilibrium accomplishments, requiring the utmost strength and nerve.

Nixon and Norris in a comedy musical novelty will conclude this splendid bill.

Fannie Ward in "Common Clay."

"Common Clay," a gripping, absorbing, sensational photoplay, with beautiful Fannie Ward as the star, will be the feature screen offering at the Grand today, tomorrow and Saturday. "Common Clay" deals with one of the gravest problems of big cities—the girl full of the joy of life, reared in poor surroundings and without proper parental direction. It is a woman's play through and through, pulsating with feeling and tense with the anguish of tortured souls. It is a play that no one can afford to miss.

MITCHELL LEWIS IN "NINE-TENTHS OF LAW"

Mitchell Lewis, in the role of the trapper, will be remembered by picture "fans" for his remarkable character work in "The Barrier," "The Bar Sinister" and "Sign Invisible." In this offering, "Nine-Tenths of the Law," he goes a long way towards strengthening his claim to a high place among the screen character actors at the Star Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

In roles of this type, the hunter, the trapper, prospector, more or less uneducated, except in the love and traditions of the great woods, robust, hale and hearty, accepting battle under provocation, but never seeking it, endearing himself to women and children and in the same way that he becomes a terror to certain classes of men about him—one who laughs at great tragedies and weeps at trifles. Mitchell Lewis after a diversified screen career in character roles, has found his proper place, with the likelihood of permitting no second man to approach him. Twice in this picture he battles savagely with "Red" Adair, and lovers of a good fight will find their fondest expectation fulfilled in "Nine-Tenths of the Law." The second fight picturized here is one that will take rank with his very best, and the "fans" know what this means.
