TRIAL OF ADAM LLOYD

Did He Kill and Burn His Wife For the Sake of $60.

Amount is "Better For One Than For Two." Says Brother of Deceased on Witness Stand—Medical Evidence That Woman Was Struck With a Blunt Instrument and Clothing Set On Fire.

Bellefonte, June 18.—The preliminary investigation into the murder charge against Adam Lloyd of Hungerford, was begun here Saturday morning and lasted till 5:30 this p.m. when an adjournment was made till next Saturday.

The charge against Lloyd, who is 25 years of age, is that he caused the death of his wife, and suspicion points to the woman having been killed by blows in the head, her clothing being afterwards set on fire after coal oil had been poured on her.

Thomas Smith, brother of the deceased Hannah Lloyd, testified that after he heard of his sister's death he went to Lloyd, who said, "Well, the property's all mine now, and I can do as I like with it." This property, it seems was a small farm owned by the late Mrs. Lloyd, which she had deeded to one Brickman, a son-in-law, she to retain a life lease of it, and in case of her death, the life lease would revert to her husband. In regard to his wife's death, Lloyd told Smith there was a mystery about it, and he did not think it would ever be found out. The place which Mrs. Lloyd had owned rented for $60 per year.

A Terrible Question. "And do you think," said Mr. Porter, "that Adam Lloyd killed his wife so that he could have that $60 a year for himself?"

The witness was silent.

"You might as well say it as think it," said Mr. Porter, "out with it."

"Well," said the witness, after a pause, "60 a year is better for one than two."

Doctor is Positive. Drs. Yeomans, Boyce and Mather gave medical testimony as to the nature of the wound, and that there were signs of the woman having been struck on the head with a blunt instrument, and that the clothing had been set on fire. Dr. Yeomans, who was severely examined by E. Gus Porter, declined to admit that the burns on the woman's body would as likely have been caused before death as after.

The investigation adjourned till next Saturday, June 24th.

MAY WARD STRANGLED.

Baby Young Saved Her Life by Struggling Against Wrappings—Murder in Nova Scotia Woods.

Halifax, June 18.—About 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Fred O'Neil, a 17-year-old lad of Digby, N.S., found little Tina Young in the scrub woods about a mile back from the settlement of Plympton, and an hour later his brother, Clifford, a boy of 12, came upon the remains of a year-old May Ward, about a quarter of a mile farther back. The children had been missing since 5 o'clock the night before. The lads were two of a search party numbering about twenty-five, who had been looking for the children for 20 hours.

When found, the baby, a beautiful child a year and a half old, was lying on its face, trussed hand and foot. Its mouth had been stopped with its own cotton hood, which had been rolled up and bound tightly across its face, covering mouth and nose, and with a faded orange hair ribbon. Its chubby hands had been bound up under its chin. In its struggles to free its hands, the wad of cotton which stopped the mouth and nose had been displaced, and suffocation was prevented.

May Ward, when found, was dead. In her case the hands and feet were not bound, but across the mouth and nose was a large burdock leaf, over this the child's hood had been tightly drawn, and around and around was bound a quantity of rope yarn. Suffocation must have quickly followed.

The parents of the children, possibly open to some question. The elder, May Ward, is said to be the child of May Ward, formerly of New London, Conn., later of Boston, where she died a couple of years ago, and who was a sister of Mary Hope Young, the woman who is bound to figure in the development. The baby is the child of this Mary Hope Young, who claims to have been the wife of Fred Young, a Boston lawyer, who died somewhat over a year ago. The man with whom she has been living as a housekeeper is Kingsley Melanson, a laborer.

Woman Dead, Man Arrested. Montreal, June 18.—A tragedy is reported from St. Louis de Mille End. A woman named Mary Quinn was found dead with terrible wounds in her head and body. A man named John Copley, having blood stains on his hands, has been held on suspicion.

Boy of 15 Confesses Murder. Winnipeg, June 18.—It has come to light that John Whitaker of Neelby, Assn., who was supposed to have been killed by a kick from a horse on June 1 was the victim of a brutal murder. Suspicion of foul play led to a coroner's inquest, and a post mortem shows death was caused by gun wounds. A young Norwegian, named Peter Nios, aged 15, was charged with the crime, and he has made a confession.

Dates of Election Trials. Toronto, June 18.—Judges MacLellan, Street, Teetzel and Mages have fixed the dates for the hearing of the petitions against the election of Mr. Kennedy for Port Arthur and Rainy River, and Mr. Smith for Sault Ste. Marie. The Port Arthur trial will commence on September 11 and the Sault Ste. Marie trial on September 18. The dates of the other election trials will be fixed later.

HAS RESIGNED

Esteemed Head of the Bank of Commerce Will Enter on Deserved Rest

Long and Valued Service Recognised—Still Retained upon Managerial Staff—Mr. Simon Succeeds

After twenty-two years of earnest service as the esteemed manager of the Chatham branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. J. E. Thomas has tendered his resignation, and is to-day engaged in turning over the branch to his successor, James Simon, late assistant manager at Victoria, B. C.

Mr. Thomas entered the bank as assistant inspector at Toronto in the year 1877. Subsequently he was appointed private secretary to the General Manager. Later he was appointed to the management of the bank at Lunenburg and Windsor, and took charge of the larger Chatham branch in 1883, building up a splendid business here.

It will be a source of great pleasure to their many Maple City friends to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will not be leaving Chatham. Mr. Thomas has been appointed to the staff of relieving managers and will go on the pension fund in a couple of years. While he is retiring from the active management of the bank here he still remains upon the managerial staff and will continue, for the present at least, to reside in Chatham. During his long term as manager Mr. Thomas has greatly developed the local branch of the bank and won for himself the high esteem and deserved popularity of the entire community, all of whom are rejoiced that he is remaining a Chatham citizen.

HEROIC ACT

Dick Fullerton Formerly of this City, Saves a Young Lad From Drowning in the River Yesterday

The Thames River will soon become famous for drowning accidents and narrow escapes from drowning. Several close calls have been recorded in Chatham already, with one fatality, and now the latest one comes from Chatham Township.

The present victim is the young 12-year-old son of Geo. Duff, formerly of this city, now residing on a farm on the 2nd concession in this Township. The little fellow was enjoying an afternoon swim in the river, which is very close to his father's farm, when he got beyond his depth and went down. There were several boys in the river with him, but neither he nor his companions could swim and, of course, none of his chums could do anything to save him.

A cry for help was raised and this attracted the attention of Dick Fullerton, who lives on a farm in that vicinity. Dick was passing the place at the time and hearing the boys calling for assistance he ran down to the river, jumped in the water and succeeded in pulling young Duff out just in the nick of time.

The boy was, of course, thoroughly frightened but is to-day none the worse for his adventure. Mr. Fullerton, the hero of the episode, is an old Chatham man, having at one time occupied the position of treasurer for the Canada Flour Mills Company.

A young farmer drove into the city last evening and tied his horse to a young colt in a tie post near Dr. Fleming's residence on Victoria avenue. The animal had not been standing there long before the flies and heat worried him and he made a dash for liberty. He was unable to get away but he succeeded in overturning the buggy. The owner was not far off at the time and after righting the vehicle he found that although the buggy was turned completely upside down nothing had been broken or damaged.

CRACK RUSS CAVALRY

Retreated in Confusion Before Persistent Japs.

Force of 5,000, With 30 Guns, Is Routed After a Series of Engagements—His Losses Are Reported to Be Great—Jap Casualties, 30 Killed, 185 Wounded—Lamsdorff's Defence in the Case of the Kilda.

St. Petersburg, June 18.—Although the way has been smoothed for a peace conference, the operations in Manchuria appear to be in full march toward a big engagement, the Japanese having pushed as far as Liaoyang-chungkong (Liaoyangwopeng), west of Liao River, thirty-three miles north of Pakoman. The Japanese have strong forces here as well as in the rear of Lieut. Gen. Linévitch's advance detachments near Changtufu, and even threaten the flank of the fortified positions at Sipingai, where Gen. Linévitch intends to offer battle, and from which he pushed far to the southwest during months of inactivity on the part of the Japanese army.

A detachment from the headquarters of the Russian army at Godzyadani describes fighting in the vicinity of Liaoyangwopeng from 3 to 8 o'clock on the morning of June 14. The Russian artillery at first forced the Japanese to retire along the whole line. In the meantime another force of Japanese turned the Russian right flank, compelling the detachment to retire from Liaoyangwopeng. At this moment a strong Japanese infantry column was observed approaching. The Russian losses, the despatch says, were only six wounded.

What Tokio Has Heard. Tokyo, June 18.—Reports from the Manchurian armies say: In the Kangpu district, at 1 a. m. June 16, our centre column, after routing the enemy's cavalry outposts at Tienchiawopeng, attacked the enemy's position at the southern end of Liaoyangwopeng, and to the eastward, between 4 and 6:30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock we completely occupied Liaoyangwopeng.

Enemy in Confusion. Our right column, after driving the enemy's cavalry before it, occupied Looshanpou, nine miles east of Liaoyangwopeng. This column shelled the enemy's cavalry, retreating to the southward, inflicting heavy injury. The enemy was finally thrown into great confusion.

The left column poured a fierce fire upon a thousand of the enemy's cavalry, retreating to the northwest of Liaoyangwopeng, and inflicted heavy damage.

According to prisoners, 5,000 cavalry, with twenty guns, forming part of the Lieut. Gen. Mischchenko's army, occupied Liaoyangwopeng. The main force retreated northward, and parts of it to the northeastward and northwestward in disorder. There are evidences that the enemy was panic-stricken and utterly confused.

Our casualties were 30 killed and 185 wounded. The number of the enemy's casualties is not certain. His dead left in front of the centre column, numbered eighty, and, therefore, the total Russian losses in all directions seems to be great.

DUE TO DISORGANIZATION.

Lamsdorff's Defence for the Sinking of the Kilda.

St. Petersburg, June 18.—Sir Chas. Hardage, the British Ambassador, has brought the case of the British steamer Kilda, which was sunk by the Russian auxiliary cruiser Dniester, June 5, in the China Sea, before Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, asking that reparation be made and that steps be taken to prevent the recurrence of such actions by Russian warships.

Count Lamsdorff replied that Russia's previous assurances still held good; and that this probably was an isolated case due to the present disorganization of the Russian naval forces in far eastern waters.

NO MENACE MEANT.

France Is Assured by German Prince Which Gives Details of Proposed Moroccan Conference.

Paris, June 18.—The improvement in the Franco-German situation took a more definite turn yesterday as the semi-official version of Saturday's conference between Premier Rouvier and Prince Von Radolin, the German Ambassador, became known. This version shows that the Ambassador asked France to accept in principle the plan of an international conference, leaving the details to be adjusted later. Premier Rouvier answered that he desired at first to be advised upon Germany's object in securing the conference, and the questions it would be called upon to consider.

As the result of instructions from Berlin, Prince Von Radolin responded to these inquiries and gave definite information regarding the German Government's ideas upon the conference. More particularly was he able to relieve the conference plan from any appearance of being a menace to France, or of being a preliminary step to override French prestige in Morocco.

With these explanations pour parlors will continue with a good prospect of a definite agreement.

Great Britain's Position. Premier Rouvier also conferred at considerable length with Paul Cambon, the French Ambassador to Great Britain, following the latter's conversations with Lord Lansdowne, the British Foreign Minister. These conversations showed that the British declaration to participate in the conference had been entirely free from the belligerent tone ascribed to it.

HAD THEIR SWIM

A Party of Three Chatham Young Men Went up the River for a Swim—Canoe Upset and They Escaped the Necessity of Drowning

Three young Chathamites—Chas. Chambers, Ed. Salisbury and "Bean" Chambers had rather a wet time up the river yesterday.

The party started out in a canoe early in the afternoon with the intention of having a swim up the river, the weather being excessively hot. They had their swim, but they had it rather sooner than they expected, and at a time when they were least prepared for it. When they got up as far as the O. P. R. bridge one of the young men commenced to rock the canoe and it didn't require much rocking until the canoe upset and the three of them were dumped into the water.

Fortunately all of them could swim and they did not experience much difficulty in getting to the shore, taking their canoe with them. Chambers had the hardest time of the lot, being the poorest swimmer, but he performed the noble feat of swimming to the bank without receiving any assistance from his comrades.

When they finally got in their canoe again they found that their shoes were gone. Chambers had a gold watch and $40 in money in his coat, which he had taken off and put in the bottom of the canoe. This, fortunately, was saved.

The boys forgot all about the swim they had intended having and returned to the city wet but cool. It is said they left Roberts to take up the canoe all alone, while they talked home through the back streets and changed their clothing.

DOMINION DAY

In view of the fact that Dominion Day (July 1st) falls on Saturday this year, civic arrangements should be made for the holding of the Saturday market on the Friday preceding. The fact that Saturday is the statutory holiday for government offices, banks, legal procedure, etc., precludes the proposition to hold the holiday Monday, not to mention the matter of the railroad rates. It would be well, then, to make early preparations for the holding of a big Friday market.

The real church is what is left after the service is over.

THE EVIL OF BETTING.

The betting evil is one which is all too common. The element of chance and the possibility of obtaining what one has not earned have an influence over the individual which is akin to skating on thin ice in the vicinity of the danger sign.

The Windsor Record draws attention to a despatch from Sydney, Australia, telling the melancholy story of the downfall of one of the prominent statesmen of Australia through betting.

Tom Slattery, of Sydney, who has just been sentenced to three and a half years' imprisonment for having misappropriated a large sum of trust money, was one of the best-known and most popular men engaged in Australian public life. He was a member of a legal firm of practitioners, a friend of Sir John Robertson, Sir George Debbis, Sir Edmund Barton and other men, who have adorned the highest positions in the land, a man who himself in successive administrations held important portfolios, a man of capacity, and whose reputation for probity stood so high that he would be readily entrusted with the investment of the fortune inherited by a lady from her kinsman, Sir James Tyson, the Australian millionaire.

This man confessed, before a judge who was his own appointment when he was minister of justice, that he misappropriated the money in order to make good betting losses.

Mr. Slattery's experience ought to act as a warning to the guided youth, as well as men of mature years in every country, who indulge in this form of gambling.

A healthy public sentiment is growing in this country against it—a sentiment which has been recognized by parliament in the abandonment of the bill that would have legalized gambling upon race courses and exonerated those responsible for the management of races from responsibility for allowing it to prevail at meetings.

A similarly healthy public sentiment has just found expression in the interesting experiment which is being tried on three of the large race courses in the Eastern States of America, where the managers have decided to debar bookmakers from the course, and to make up for the loss of receipts by raising the price of admission 50 per cent.

The public demanded the suppression of gambling on the tracks, and it is asked to make good the loss the management will incur by yielding to the demand.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RE-UNION

Members of the Evangelistic Band visited Bloomfield and Union Hall Sunday schools last Sunday and enjoyed very much the services with the bright, intelligent young people of these localities. They announced that the annual United Sunday Dominion day gathering would be held on July 2nd at 2:30 p. m., in Mr. Montgomery's Grove, 5th concession, Raleigh. This reunion has been a yearly gathering of the clans almost continuously since all the provinces United as the Dominion of Canada, and has come to be looked forward to with increasing interest and pleasure in proportion to the increase in the numbers and intelligence of the people. The Evangelistic Union will conduct the service. Their sheets of hymns, with good instrumental leading, and God's blessing will promote His praise and increase the interest of the occasion. Will all the Sunday schools, which, usually gather, and as many more as desire to do so, have it thoroughly announced next Lord's day and make provision to convey the scholars, teachers and officers of each school to the grove. The collection will be equally divided between all schools attending, or devoted to some inter-denominational Christian work, as the people desire. All who come will be made welcome.

Didn't Look It.

Sir Robert Ball, the noted British astronomer, went to a remote town in Ireland to lecture on his favorite topic. Arriving at the station he looked for the expected conveyance, but found none. After all the other passengers had disappeared a man stepped up and said: "Maybe you're Sir Robert Ball?" After receiving an affirmative reply the man hastily apologized, saying: "Sure, your honor, I'm sorry I kept you waiting, but I was told to look for an intellectual gentleman."

Sir Walter Parratt.

Sir Walter Parratt, "master of the King's music" at the British court, is 44 years old, and was a notable musician even in childhood. Sir Walter was a great favorite with Queen Victoria, who knighted him in 1892. He was an excellent chess player, and on one occasion won a game against two players without once looking at the board, remaining at the piano and playing compositions of Beethoven, Mozart and Bach during the whole time the game lasted.

DISTRICT DOINGS

DRESDEN

June 17.—The concert given Wednesday evening by the Canadian Jubilee Singers was well attended and was worthy in every respect of the large audience and the interest and appreciation evinced by the constant applause. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church, and is one more addition to the growing list of highly successful concerts given under the auspices of the Guild.

Miss Helen McVean took part in a piano recital in Chatham last Thursday evening. The recital was given by pupils of the Ursuline Academy.

Mrs. (Dr.) Webster is the guest of Dr. Webster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Webster, Hughes St.

Mrs. Weston, of Muir, Mich., and daughter, Miss Velina, are guests of relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Peate, of Chatham, were Dresden visitors this week.

Erna Baer, of Chatham, was in town Thursday on business.

The annual excursion of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church was held on Thursday, June 15th, to Detroit, and was more than usually successful. A large number took advantage of the opportunity for a day's outing, and all report a most enjoyable trip.

Garnet Wells, of the firm of Wells & Wells, is holidaying in Detroit and other points.

Herman Gatzke, of Wyandotte, Mich., called on Dresden friends Friday morning.

Alex. Tassie, of Woodstock, a former Dresdenite, was in town on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Osgood McVean were in Port Lambton yesterday making arrangements to take up their residence for the summer months at their Port Lambton summer home.

Promotion examinations commenced at the Public school to-day and will be continued next week. The entrance examinations will be held this year on Wednesday and Thursday, June 28 and 29.

W. Willoughby left yesterday for Sarnia to accept a position on a boat.

The Junior Mission Band of the Methodist Church paid a farewell visit to Mrs. Harrison last night and presented her with an address and an appropriate parting gift.

a grandmother's Hint About Gowns and Their Wearers.

"The way to be well dressed," said grandmother, "is never to have 'peg dresses.' That was my mother's rule, and I have always made it mine.

"What are 'peg dresses'? Why, gowns that hang in one's closet, are not often worn and get a little out of style. They are apt to be the 'best gowns' by which I mean those for dressy occasions. Most of us have but one, which is worn so seldom that it becomes a problem to keep it always in style, for there is a limit even to the changing of sleeves and alteration of the adornment of lace. When that is reached the owner must be firm with herself and discard the dress in its present form. For this reason I think it a good plan to have this gown of rather inexpensive material and let its beauty be in the way it is made; then when it must step down from its high estate we can put the scissors to it with better grace, for I have always found that it takes moral courage to attack a rich gown which is just too much out of fashion to wear. As this dress must be made over, I think it well to purchase a material that will afterward be suitable to go with the rest of the wardrobe either as fancy waist, trimming or perhaps as silk petticoat."

CUBAN DIARRHOEA.

U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know well this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon, as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacob, of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several doctors, but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him, and our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by All Druggists.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I beg your pardon. I—I never dreamt you were too old to marry."

Foreigners are Always so Very Polite.—Charming Hostess: Do have some of my cake. I don't believe you've ever tasted my own make? Delighted Foreigner (wishing to be polite): "Indeed—indeed I have, and I assure you I did not wish to eat anything else for days after."

Punch.—Agent: Would you like to buy any more blacking, mister? Young Wife (critically): Eh—yes. What colors have you got?—Comic Life.

At a Disadvantage.—Young Married Woman (to a circle of unattached ones): And you take my advice, dears, never marry a man so much taller than yourself that you cannot reach his hair.

Ally Sloper's Half Holiday.—Made Good Use of It.—"Is Mary making use of that new cookery book I got for her, Kate?" "Certainly; she lighted the kitchen fire with it this morning."

Sketchy Bits.—Bright Boy.—Father: If you're really big to Sunday school, as you say, it's very strange that you smell so fishy. Bobby: That's because the lesson was about Jonah and the whale—illustrated.

Under Reserve.—He: Darling, will you share my lot? She: Yes, Charlie, if it really does suit you.

Mistress: Do you love babies, Maud? Yes, mum; but not on eight shillings a week.—Illustrated Bits.

Feminine Amenities.—Mabel (not in her first youth): First of all he held my hand and told my fortune; and then, Eh?—I said: "I don't care for you so long, and said he could read my thoughts? Wasn't that clever of him, dear? Oh, I suppose he read between the lines, dear.—Punch.

Rival Beauties.—Mr. Nagrby: O, course, Mrs. Higson is not exactly pretty. Bobby: But it's wonderful how her face lights up when she talks to you. Mrs. Nagrby: Nothing wonderful in that. She's lantern-jawed.—Pick-Me-Up.

In Store.—Old Gen (to a young little boy who has been fishing): Don't seem to have caught much, my boy? Boy: An' don't expect to afore I gets emel!—Sketchy Bits.

Well, and what did your husband think of the new President of the League? "Eh? Well, Jack said he thought her bad taste in dress was simply irrepressible."—Judy.

Australian.—"What reason does he give for not paying his wife alimony?" "He says that marriage is a lottery, and hence alimony is a gambling debt."—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

Judge (after a heated discussion): What do you suppose I'm on the Bench for? Smart Counsel: Ah, your honor, you have the advantage of me there.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

A physician was driving through the street. A friend stopped him. "Doctor," said the friend, anxiously, "Have you heard that horrible story about 'Will Hammon'?" "Yes," said the doctor. "What story is that?" "A story to the effect that he was buried alive."

"Buried alive?" said the doctor. "Impossible. He was one of my patients."—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

"Is the house you now live in your own?" "Not now." "You have sold it?" "No; got married."—Melbourne Weekly Times.

She: I think a girl is very foolish to marry a poor man. He: Yes; but not half so foolish as the poor man who married that kind of a girl.—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

She: Did you appreciate the sermon, dear? He: Very much. I needed the sleep greatly.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

One of the greatest wonders in this world is what becomes of all the smart children when they grow up.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

Jobson: What a most unintelligent girl that wealthy old Mr. Johnson's daughter is? Why, she can only say "Yes" and "No." Wilson: Indeed! She said "No" to you, I suppose?—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

Dora: I hear your sister Maggie is happily married. Flora: Indeed she is. Her husband doesn't open his mouth in her presence.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

Miss Maude: Did you enjoy yourself on your vacation? Kodak idiot: I can tell you better after I have developed all the films I exposed.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

1,000 Monastic Houses.

Some remarkable facts and figures concerning the increase of monastic institutions in Great Britain are given in the current issue of The English Churchman.

Of the 1,001 institutions in England and Wales, 177—forty-eight for men and 824 for women—are in London. The majority—185—are on the north side of the River Thames; Lancashire, with 137 houses, heads the Provinces. Scotland, which only had one convent in 1850, has now a total of 65.

Edward the Shrewd.—Commenting on the fact that King Edward's father used to be referred to as "Albert the Good," a French writer says that the present Sovereign of Great Britain should be called "Edward the Shrewd." The writer added: "Since his accession to the throne King Edward has not made in international affairs a single mistake, which is more than can be said for his nephew and nephew-in-law of Germany and Russia."

Uses of Seaweed.
One common kind of seaweed seen on every beach is used for making soap, for lining boilers, for dyeing cloth, for making a size for ribbons and handles for knives. Ashes of seaweed are potash, or soda, and among the hundred uses for soda are the making of glass, soap and alum. The photographer would be as lost without seaweed as the doctor.

Fish glue makes the court plaster you want when you cut yourself, and two more of our seaweeds are delicacies of the first rank on the table of the Japanese Emperor.

Isinglass is made of it; also the gelatin which makes the blancmange you all like so much.

A BILIOUS HEADACHE.
Is one of the meanest things in the world. To prevent biliousness use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which keep the system clean and pure, regulate the bowels, give tone to kidneys and liver. You'll never have a headache, but you will have vigorous, bracing health by taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box or five boxes for one dollar.

Needed Encouragement.
"I remember," said an old naval officer, "hearing of an incident on board of a ship which was commanded by a religious captain who would not allow the mate to use profane language or violence toward the crew and where the work and discipline were carried on more by moral suasion than by force, with the result that things went very slowly. The men did not jump to the braces or ropes, and the general work of the ship was slow."

"While at anchor one day in the harbor of Rio two of the sailors, leaning over the rail, were watching work going on on board of another ship anchored close to them, where the opposite system prevailed. The air on that ship was lurid with the language of the mate, and the men were treated with a violence that was far from necessary, but the work went on quickly. The sails were furled and the yards braced in a smart and seamanlike manner. As they listened to the sublimated orders of the mate one of the sailors on the good ship remarked sentimentally to the other:

"Bill, d'ye see now what it is we want aboard here? We want a little encouragement!"

The knowledge of some people is about as useful as buried treasures.

Some men show the hypocrite that is in them by too much humility.

PROBABILITIES

Special per G. N. W.
Toronto, June 19.—11 a. m.—Moderate winds, mostly fair and warm today and Tuesday; showers in a few localities.

The following figures were registered today at 7 a. m. at Turner's weather bureau:

THERMOMETER

Highest yesterday, 90.
Lowest during night, 71.
This morning, 74.
Barometer, 29.34.
Direction of wind, southwesterly.

THE LOCAL BUDGET

Lawn mowers shagbarked at Briscoe's.

F. Mayhew, of Ridgetown, is in the city.

C. H. Belton, of Sarnia, was in the city today.

John Pleasence is spending the day in Detroit.

H. Dennis spent yesterday with friends in Ridgetown.

L. C. Howell, of Dresden, was a visitor in the city on Saturday.

Miss Eva Bass, of Marysville, is visiting her old home in this city.

Miss Gladstone, of Moraviantown, is visiting John Bennett, Murray St.

Mrs. Geo. Hayward leaves for Montreal today on a visit to friends there.

There were nine baptisms at the First Baptist Church yesterday morning.

Contractor Blight hopes to have William St. open for traffic by Saturday next.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Perry, Sarnia, spent yesterday in the city with their parents.

Miss McFadden, of Fletcher, is spending a few days with Mrs. Frank Christner, Emma St.

The Ida E. left port this morning. The New York is unloading ties for the Electric Railway Company.

Miss Ida Tobey, Lansdowne Ave., has returned home from Toronto, where she has been attending the Normal School.

Sunday next has been selected by the Oddfellows as Memorial Day, when the graves of all deceased members will be decorated.

H. J. Melville, of the Bank of Commerce, staff, is on his holidays and will leave on Wednesday on a trip up the St. Lawrence.

The concrete foundation work on the new armories was started on Saturday. The work will now be pushed along as rapidly as possible.

J. T. Maloney, H. O. Lovejoy and Wm. Lovejoy, of Buffalo, three prominent oil men, were registered at the Garner House on Saturday. They were prospecting for oil near Northwood.

Roger Philip and Thos. Gardner, trombone and cornet players of the Chatham Citizens' Band, leave this afternoon to play for the 80th Regt. Band, of Guelph, which is camping at London for the next 12 days.

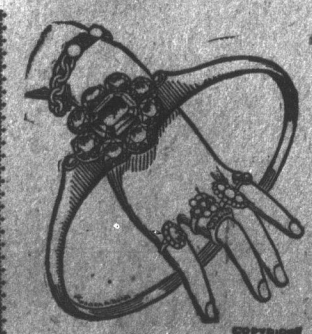

The steamer L. S. Porter arrived in the city this morning with a cargo of wheat for the Canada Flour Mills Company. This wheat was grown in this district and shipped to Kingston. The market for wheat is higher here than in Kingston, so it was shipped back here, where it will be made into flour and the product shipped back to Kingston again.

F. W. Thomas, travelling secretary for Canada for the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, spent Sunday in the city. He addressed the congregation in Holy Trinity Church in the morning and in Christ Church in the evening. His addresses were based on the work which is being done by this society and he spoke strongly in favor of forming a branch of this society in Chatham.

LAI'D TO REST

All that was mortal of Earl Mitchell was conveyed to Maple Leaf cemetery yesterday. At 2.30 Rev. Mr. MacIntyre conducted services in the apartments of the deceased boy's parents over the post office and the young boys and sorrowing friends took their last look at him who had been in life, so well liked. Shortly afterwards the funeral cortege, which was very large, proceeded to the cemetery, where the body was slowly lowered to its earthly couch to await the final day.

The numberless floral tributes, many being from a distance, spoke eloquently of the wide spread esteem in which Earl was held.

RINGS

LEADING JEWELLER AND OPTICIAN

ATTEND CHURCH

The Independent Order of Foresters attended divine service in Holy Trinity Church last evening, where Rev. J. W. Hodgins delivered an interesting and instructive discourse. During the service Miss Helen Thomas, one of Chatham's most talented and popular sopranos, sang a solo. The lodge marched to the music of the Citizens' Band. The parade was in charge of P. Dezella and R. A. Harrington. There were about 200 men in the parade.

Upon the return to the lodge room votes of thanks were passed to the rector, wardens and choir of Holy Trinity Church for courtesies extended.

PARIS OLD BOYS

A meeting of the Paris, Ont., old boys in Chatham to arrange for the Paris Old Boys' Re-union to be held there in August, will take place in the Garner House Thursday evening, June 22nd. It is hoped that all ex-Parisians will attend, as the election of officers will take place and other important matters will be taken up.

The following names are a few of those in charge have so far obtained: Joseph Turner, Jerry O'Brien, W. F. C. Turnbull, John Flanagan, Chas. Newman, Wm. Ball, James Bailey, Rev. Mr. McCosh, Marshall Whitley, John Morton, W. E. Rispin, Alex. Edmunds, Mr. Blaisdell, Jr., Mr. Blaisdell, Sr., Harry Ball, F. W. Clark.

POLICE COURT

Morris Harding, a colored man, was tried on the charge of perjury at the Police Court this morning.

In the Division Court on the 4th of May Harding was a witness for Rhodes in the case of Brown vs. Rhodes. His evidence was very damaging in the case and Brown lost.

In giving his evidence, it is claimed, Harding swore that he did not see Rhodes for two months before the trial and it was proven that he did see him the day before the trial. Brown is the complainant in the present case. Judgment was reserved until Monday. W. G. Richardson, prosecutor and J. G. Kerr defended.

The man Defour was found guilty on two charges of being drunk and disorderly and fined $15 in all. He paid.

The Indian woman, Jane Seward, was fined $6 in all for being drunk and disorderly.

Killed by a Baseball.

White River, Ont., June 19.—Chauncey Stevens, 9-year-old son of H. B. Stevens, C. P. R. train despatcher, was struck on the head by a baseball during the progress of a game here on Saturday, and died yesterday morning from compression of the brain.

A MISSED FORTUNE.
Early in the sixties a foreign inventor offered the secret of a new explosive that he had discovered to the British Government. He asked for it an insignificant price, something under $200. After he had been kept waiting three months, and had made repeated applications for a decision, he was informed that his offer was declined with thanks, as neither the War Office nor the Board of Trade saw anything in his invention. The foreigner was a Swede, by name Alfred Nobel. His invention was dynamite.

My friend has only too good cause to remember the incident, for Nobel had offered him a half share in the profits if he would finance him to the extent of 500 kroner. Unfortunately for him, my friend was young, and still cherishes illusions as to the wisdom of governments and their officials, and the consequence was that when he learned the views of the British experts he also declined the offer with thanks. But for his simple faith he would today be a millionaire.

Marconi, "Wireless Wizard" Confident.
The new Marconi station at Glace Bay is almost completed. About twenty miles of underground wires have been laid. The aerial wiring is finished, the towers rebuilt and most of the machinery has been set up. It is expected that by the first of the week messages will be received from the Foidhu (Cornwall), station, which has been much improved. The old station was successful for sending messages, but not for receiving from great distances. This was attributed to the town electric light station, which were very near to the old towers. This difficulty is entirely obviated at the new towers, where numerous changes have been made and a much greater amount of wiring has been done. Mr. Marconi is still at Glace Bay, and has bent all his energy to improving the receiving apparatus. He asserts that there will be little or no difficulty in communicating with Foidhu.

A WRECK

A C. P. R. Freight Meets with an Accident—Two Cars Derailed—London Auxiliary Called—Track Now Clear.

A slight wreck occurred on the C. P. R. about eight o'clock last evening near the G. T. R. crossing, about five miles west of the city. Number 52, a fast freight, was running at a good rate of speed when one of the journals on the fifth car from the rear of the train broke, resulting in the derailing of two cars. Fortunately their contents were not spilled and the actual loss will be very slight.

Great difficulty, however, was experienced in clearing away the wreck. The auxiliary was called from London, but the ground was so soft that the jacks would not work properly, consequently it was not until eleven a. m. Sunday that traffic could proceed. The passenger trains from the east and from the west transferred their passengers and returned the way they had come so that no inconvenience resulted.

FAST DRIVING

"Sooner or later," said Ald. Potter this morning, "there will be a serious accident occur on Queen street as a result of the fast driving along this pavement. On Sunday nights especially young fellows from the country owning fast horses use this pavement as a speedway to the peril of other drivers and pedestrians, especially small children. If the police were to station themselves along the street some Sunday night and, by flashing lanterns upon these brazen horsemen, learn their identity, it would be found that the sport would not be quite so popular."

ITALIANS STRIKE

A gang of about 25 Italians, who have been working for the Electric Railroad, unloading boats, etc., stopped work this afternoon and asked for their money. The company refused to pay them until the 15th of the month, and the whole gang proceeded down to St. George's office to see what could be done. The men claim that the work is too hard for the amount of money they are getting. It is supposed they will go to work again in a few days. The hot weather has evidently made them discontented with their work, which is very heavy. It was with difficulty that Mr. Arnold made out what they really did want to do. "They don't talk much English," said Doc, "and my Italian has become rusty of late."

It is expected that by the first of the week messages will be received from the Foidhu (Cornwall), station, which has been much improved. The old station was successful for sending messages, but not for receiving from great distances. This was attributed to the town electric light station, which were very near to the old towers. This difficulty is entirely obviated at the new towers, where numerous changes have been made and a much greater amount of wiring has been done. Mr. Marconi is still at Glace Bay, and has bent all his energy to improving the receiving apparatus. He asserts that there will be little or no difficulty in communicating with Foidhu.

Marconi, "Wireless Wizard" Confident.
The new Marconi station at Glace Bay is almost completed. About twenty miles of underground wires have been laid. The aerial wiring is finished, the towers rebuilt and most of the machinery has been set up. LOST CHILD

Pete Dezela found a little baby boy on King street Saturday who had evidently strayed away from home. The big officer took him in charge and tried to find his parents. The little fellow could not tell who he was and Pete was on his way over to the Central school with the boy to see if he could be identified by any of the children. They had not gone far when King street when they met the mother, who was in a great state of excitement over her lost child. The boy was restored to his mother, who was greatly relieved to have her boy once more in her arms. She was a woman from St. Thomas who is visiting here.

REDCOATS AT CHURCH

The 24th Regiment attended the Park street Methodist church yesterday morning and heard an excellent discourse from Rev. Mr. Cobbedick. The musical service was also much enjoyed and included an exquisite solo by Miss Gerie Potter, the talented daughter of Ald. Wm. Potter, and a delightful duet by Misses Dolson and Hill. The Regiment was headed on parade by the two splendid bands, which rendered inspiring music throughout.

On return to the drill hall Colonel Cobbedick, on behalf of the Regiment, presented a letter of commendation to the soldiers and bands on the creditable inspection, passed before Lord Aylmer and particularly on the magnificent turnout, the Regiment on the night of inspection being considerably over strength.

HELD UP

City Engineer Jones will Not Allow the Raleigh St. Pavement to go on Until the Company Complies with his Specifications.

The pavement on Raleigh street is being held up by City Engineer Jones. After it was settled that the electric road would run along Raleigh street a petition for a bitulic pavement was circulated by an agent of that company. The petition called for a bed of concrete four inches in depth. Engineer Jones refuses to allow any further pavement to be put down where the concrete is less than five inches thick—hence the deadlock. When seen this morning Mr. Jones said: "There is only one pavement in the city having a four-inch foundation—the one on William street, from the creek bridge along the park, and that was put through without my knowledge. I insist upon a five-inch foundation for the reason that the strength of concrete increases according as the square of its depth increases, the square of four being sixteen and the square of five twenty-five, it will easily be seen that the extra inch doubles the resisting power of the pavement at an increased cost of only 12 cents a square yard. I do not feel safe in going over a four-inch pavement with a steam roller, and to do my work throughout the city I shall soon have to use the streets for this purpose."

Fred Sheldrick, son of A. Sheldrick, of this city, who has been attending college in Columbus, Ohio, has accepted a position with the Westing House Electrical Company, of Pittsburg, for practical work during the summer.

A TIE GAME

The football game between Chatham and Darrell on Saturday resulted in a tie, no goals being scored on either side.

This was the last game of the eastern series of the Peninsular League, but now another game will have to be played to decide the draw. The standing of the district now is one game apiece and two draws. It has not been decided when the next game will be played.

The game Saturday was a good one from the spectators' standpoint. The play was very evenly divided and several times the play around the goals was very exciting. Robert and French were both called upon several times to save the day and they both played faultless games. The play started off with a rush on the Chatham goals and during the first half of the game Darrell had things pretty much her own way. During the second half, however, the Chatham boys rallied and put up a good strong game, but neither side was strong enough to score. During the first half the most brilliant play was made by Courtney, who kicked the ball from the mouth of the goal.

The players on both teams deserve great credit. It was a warm day to play football, but they stood it well.

The following were the teams:

CHATHAM.

Goal—Robert.

Backs—Asher and Courtney.

Half backs—Griffin, Flowers and Piggett.

LORD RUSSELL AS PROMPTER.

A Time When the Great Irishman Helped Willard in His Lines.

Mr. E. E. Willard's house at Bantam commands a distant view of Bantam Downs, and the road along which the annual pageant and mixed vehicles makes its way to the Derby. When he is at home in the season, Mr. Willard drives across on Derby Day in a dog-cart just big enough for himself and a friend. His last trip in that way was when King Edward's (then the Prince of Wales) entry won the Derby for the first time. The crowd, always great, was uncommonly large, and after the races the crush of retreating vehicles of all kinds was almost too great for the control of the police. Mr. Willard and friend, in their dog-cart, naturally had to be wary of the heavy drags, coaches, wagoons, etc., that principally made up the stream, and were finally brought to a full stop where their road led into the main stream. The policeman seemed incapable of making a break to give the cross line a chance and the small horse and dog-cart could not be used to force a way. After an interminable wait, Mr. Willard, "on the point of pulling out and seeking a round-about way, when a full voice with the faintest tinge of an Irish flavor called out behind him: "Wait a bit, Willard! I'll see you through." Mr. Willard looked back and received a friendly nod from Lord Russell, chief justice, who sat on the box of his private "Omnibus" behind a pair of superb black horses. "Pull aside a little and let me come up," Lord Russell came up smartly and then called out to the policeman "Hey there, Bobbie!" The policeman approached. "What the devil do you should to let this line have a chance?" The policeman made some attempt at excuse. "No words about it! break that line at once or I'll drive into it!" The line was promptly broken and Lord Russell drove through, looking back to call out to Mr. Willard, "Come along, Mr. Willard!" And when ever you get stuck in your lines again just call on me!" There was a laugh from the crowd and a cheer for Willard.

Romantic Woman Hermit.
With only an old bacon box as her shelter, a woman has lived a hermit's life for more than two years in a lonely spot in Derbyshire, says the London Daily Chronicle. The other day the police visited her retreat, and compelled her to seek a new "home."

The woman's name is Alice Grace, and she is forty years of age. She is a simple, harmless woman, who is said to have been once well-off, but has experienced many changes of fortune. She has been living on a triangular piece of waste land about five yards square, in the beautiful Derbyshire district known as the Cox Bench Valley.

Along one side runs a stream of pure water from a neighboring spring, whence she got her water supply. The retreat is in a secluded by-road leading to the woods and hills which form the end of the Pennine chain between Cox Bench and the Derwent Valley. Her belongings on this little plot consisted of an old bacon box, in which she crouched in winter, an old iron bedstead and a few bedclothes, a three-legged stool, a table without legs, cooking utensils, three buckets, and a bowl. She had three chests, in which she deposited such things as she wished to keep from exposure to wind and rain.

It was her popularity which resulted in her removal. At one thought of interfering with her until she was recently discovered by an exploring photographer, who took her portrait. Since then she has figured as a romantic hermit on picture post cards. In consequence she received a visit from hundreds of people, and was given considerable sums of money. Recently someone laid claim to the piece of land on which she lived, though it is not known whether it is private or public property. The hermit was visited by the police, who told her that if she did not depart in three days her goods would be confiscated and she would be locked up. Choosing an old disused quarry a few hundred yards away as her future home, she moved to her new quarters—a task which occupied her from 7 o'clock until midnight. Many people have visited her new quarry home, and much sympathy is felt for her, but she once lived in a work-house, but declared she will never enter one again.

Souvenirs of Notable Women.
The Duke and Duchess of Westminster have lent Grosvenor House for a sale, combined with a historical loan exhibition, to be held in aid of the Indian and Colonial work of the Girls' Friendly Society.

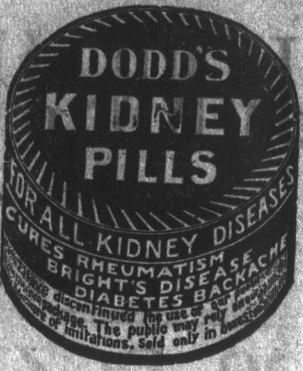

The Princess of Wales is lending a portrait of the late Duchess of Teck to the "Notable Women" Exhibition at Grosvenor House to be held at the same time as the sale. Miss Mary Williams and Miss Lily Fyfe are the organizing secretaries, and have collected souvenirs, many of which are unique, of upward of three hundred famous women of all times.

These include a set of baby linen made by Queen Elizabeth for her sister Mary, and similar garments from the nurseries of Henrietta Maria and of the Cromwell family. Among other historical garments there is the gold brocade train worn by Princess Charlotte of Wales at her wedding, the bonnet left behind at a farm house near Berlin by Queen Louise of Prussia on her flight from Napoleon, and shoes of Queen Elizabeth and Queen Anne.

Among other Royal exhibits are drawings and etchings by the late Queen Victoria, an ivory patch box and lace belonging to Marie Antoinette, memorials of Queen Adelaide, Queen Anne and beautiful lace once the property of Mary of Modena.

A collection of the casts of seals belonging to famous women from earlier times is original and unique, while the section devoted to portraits, miniatures, etc., is a large and most representative one.

The secretaries have also obtained the loan of interesting souvenirs of famous women writers, including the manuscript of Mrs. Gaskell's "Wives and Daughters," Jane Austen's unfinished tale, "The Watsons," an relics of Mrs. Somerville, Miss Edgeworth, Mrs. Oliphant and Frances Ridley Havergal.

Warrant Clause Passed.
Ottawa, June 17.—The Senate yesterday went into Committee of the Whole, on the bill to amend the Companies' Act. Hon. Mr. Scott explained that the object of the bill was to allow companies to issue warrants, if they so pleased, as is the custom in Great Britain and other countries. The warrant clauses finally passed.

The Charge Withdrawn.
Toronto, June 17.—H. D. Smith, the chauffeur of the automobile which fatally injured Lenton Williams on College street, was released from custody yesterday morning on the application of Crown Attorney Curry. The charge against him was withdrawn.

TOOK A SEVERE COLD.

It Settled In The Kidneys.

Pain In The Back The Result.

Catching cold and having it settle in the back is often the cause of Backache—the primary cause of kidney trouble. When the back aches it is a warning that the kidneys are liable to become affected. Heed the warning; check the Backache, and dispose of any chance of further trouble.

If you don't, serious complications are very apt to arise. Mrs. R. Williams, Hamilton, Ont., caught cold, and it settled in her kidneys. She used and is thankful for the immediate relief they gave her. She writes us as follows: "It is with pleasure that I add my testimony in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. Some time ago I took a severe cold, which settled in my kidneys. The soreness and pain in the small of my back bothered me greatly. After suffering for some months, and finding numerous remedies fail, I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received immediate relief from my sufferings."

Doan's Kidney Pills may be procured at all dealers, or will be sent direct by mail on receipt of price—

50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.50.

Self-Protecting Plants.

Plants protect themselves much the same as insects. One of the uses of the movements of the sensitive plant is to frighten animals. A venturesome, browsing creature coming near it is afraid to touch a plant which so evidently is occupied by spirits. The squirting cucumber of the Mediterranean alarms goats and cattle by discharging its ripe fruits explosively in their faces the moment the stem is touched. The cucumbers contain a pungent juice, which discharges itself into the eyes of its opponent, and the smarting sensation which results is hard to bear. The dairy grass of Parana is beautiful but dishonest. It is a bog herb, has glossy green leaves and pure white blossoms and is supposed to be the poet's flower. Its milk white flowers are lovely, yet they are deceivers. The drops of honey which bees and insects fancy they see inside the petals are solid, glassy imitations of honey, which fool the bees, which are lured in this way that they may carry off the pollen to other blossoms and are held fast until they die.

Fine Cut Facts.

The average amount of illness in human life is estimated at nine days out of the year. It is strange that in Asia and Africa where grass will not grow, the most beautiful flowers and shrubs flourish to perfection.

One of the books of etiquette published during the fourteenth century advised the man of fashion to wash his hands every day and his face "almost as often!"

CRIME INCREASING.

Ontario Inspector of Prisons Says the Prisoners Have Too Easy a Time—Jail Methods Encourage Crime.

Not only is crime on the increase in Ontario, but some of our jails are in danger of becoming harbors of refuge for the idle and criminal classes. This latter evil is due chiefly to neglect on the part of the jail officials to provide work for those who fall into their custody.

Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons and Reformatories, whose annual report has just been prepared, is responsible for the above statements. He charges the jailers with being too lenient. "Custodial care," he says, "is too often looked upon as the whole duty of those in charge. In consequence there is tendency among the culprits to look upon a term in jail with little dread. Just as long as prisoners can spend their time in idleness with opportunities for having a sociable time together, jails will be looked upon as refuges where the inmates are reasonably well fed and housed. To remedy this, work should be provided at every jail. The rules and regulations for the government of the jails of Ontario not only distinctly specify that work must be provided, but direct that when work cannot be provided on the jail premises prisoners may be employed at extra manual labor carried on under the direct control of the Government of Ontario, the County Council or the City or Town Council. There is surely sufficient latitude then to provide some form of labor in or convenient to every jail in the Province. In several of the jails I have visited I have found able bodied men spending their time in idleness, and on inquiry I was told that the only work these prisoners had was in looking after their Little wonder then that culprits have any fear of being sent to jail when such conditions prevail.

There may be instances where it is impossible to provide labor at some of the smaller jails, and when that is the case, I would suggest that district jails might, with advantage, be named where facilities for hard labor might be provided and the work of the prisoners utilized with advantage to the Municipality. Let it once become known that every prisoner committed to jail would have to work, and let those in charge understand that labor is an imperative condition of jail residence, and I venture to predict our jails will cease to be harbors of refuge where the migrant and victims are made comfortable."

His report states that the commissioners appointed to investigate the admission of insane people to Ontario prisons unhesitatingly condemned the whole method of admitting this class of cases to the jails. The statute enacts that only dangerous lunatics, who cannot be otherwise provided for, shall be sent to jail. Lunatics, as well as vagrants, are admitted. The latter of the commissioners point out, are first admitted on a charge of vagrancy, but under the Vagrancy Act, they can only remain in jail a limited period. To overcome this objection some jail surgeons after the charge to insanity and the person is again committed as a lunatic, and may be held in jail for an indefinite period. In one jail they found a person charged at one time with vagrancy, and later with insanity, who had spent fifteen years consecutively in jail. Another under similar conditions had spent twelve years in jail, and they were both harmless at all. Attention is also called to the fact that friends of alleged lunatics often send them to jail in order to escape the expense of sending them to an asylum.

Acting on the report of the commission, the Department issued instructions to each sheriff in Ontario to send in a report on the first day of each month, giving the name and full particulars of each insane person confined in jail, together with a certificate from the jail surgeon certifying to the insanity, and declaring that such insane person is a fit subject for asylum treatment and could not be cared for in a House of Refuge. The sheriffs are also instructed to make a similar monthly return to the medical superintendent of the asylum in the district where the jail is situated. In this way the Department will be as short as possible. It is also by those returns expected that those persons who should be cared for in a House of Refuge instead of an asylum will be transferred from the jails to the refuge.

During the last year 324 more males were committed to prison than in the previous year, although the number of female criminals was 39 less. The totals were 2,944 males and 1,187 females. The commitments for drunkenness were 4,530, an increase of 508.

Of the total number of persons committed, 7,273 were in temperance and 1,576 could be neither read nor write.

In criticizing the government of the jails the Inspector says the two main factors to be ever kept in mind should be to secure and uphold: 1st, Influence that will deter those outside; 2nd, Influence that will have a tendency to reform those inside.

A Curious Document.
A curious document has been received by Archivist Fraser at Toronto. It is a parchment issued by Sir Edmund W. Head in 1869, granting Royal permission to W. D. Moodie, sheriff of Hastings, to hold a "fair or mart" in Stock. The document abounds in legal phraseology, which appears to have been necessary in those days to have a fair could be held. It begins: "We of our special grace, certain knowledge and mere notion, have given and granted," etc. Lieut.-Col. Ponton sent this curiosity to the Provincial archives.

PHYSICAL DEBILITY
The Latest Method Treatment is a heaven-sent boon to nervous sufferers. There are scores and hundreds of persons suffering from severe nervous disorders resulting from overwork, hurry, worry, business and domestic cares, overexertion, etc. To them life is one continual round of misery, while peace, comfort and happiness are impossible. They suffer from headache, loss of memory, mental depression, strange sensations, dizziness, weakness, trembling, heart palpitation, cold limbs, after fatigue and exhaustion. In this class of cases almost immediate relief is afforded by my treatment. The use of narcotics and poisonous stupefying drugs is done away with, and permanent cures accomplished.

I Cure Nervous Debility, Varicose, Stricture, Early Decay and Waste of Power, All Nervous, Chronic, Blood and Skin Diseases.

Ways of the Descendants of Mutineers of the Bounty on Pitcairn Isle

—An Extraordinary Patois.

Reports to the British Colonial Office just issued include one on Pitcairn Island, the lonely home in the Pacific of the mutineers of the armed ship Bounty who landed there in 1789. The islanders number 77 males and 92 females, including the children.

They are hard working and more or less healthy, but exhibit certain vicious tendencies which religion has been unable to eradicate. Many are narrow-minded and unstable. They have adopted an extraordinary patois derived from the language of the Tahitian women who accompanied the mutineers to the island. They employ this patois in conversation among themselves, although most of the adults can speak English fairly well, and in some instances very well, considering the circumstances of their environment.

There are persons of ability among them, but some few appear to be lacking in intelligence. The children are comparatively numerous, and if properly cared for should be useful members of the community.

In regard to the morals of the islanders, in the aggregate, little that is favorable can be said. Illegitimate children, petty thefts, brawls and the use of bad language are common. Fortunately the people do not use intoxicants. The laws and regulations which deal with the above named offences are seldom enforced.

No deformities are noticed, but the front teeth of most of the islanders are bad. This is the only visible result of intermarriage. The people are Seventh Day Adventists, and observe the Sabbath scrupulously. They are exemplary in their attendance at week-day prayer meetings and church gatherings. Nevertheless vulgar stories and obscene songs are not unknown.

The Pitcairn Islanders contribute 10 per cent of the produce of the place and any moneys that are received in the church, and they subscribe to Sabbath schools and other religious funds. The produce so contributed is sold and proceeds, with other cash collections, are forwarded to the Foreign Mission Board of the Seventh Day Adventists in America.

An official who visited the island in May says in a report that he found that the Government instituted in 1896, which consisted of a president, vice-president, a judge and seven members of a Parliament, was not working well, so he made certain changes.

The expansion of hot water in the heater causes circulation. If the water heats at the bottom first, it cannot circulate till the water in the upper sections is also heated. Most heaters heat the bottom water first.

The "Bison" heats the water at the top first.

That is why it gets almost instantaneous circulation of hot water into the radiators—it is one of ten reasons why the "Bison" is the best heater.

THIS VETERAN GIVES REASONS

Why he Pins his Faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills

Worn Out With Chronic Kidney Disease—The Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Banished His Pains.

Acadie, Siding, Kent Co., N. B., June 19.—(Special).—Calixto Richard, J. P., one of the most highly respected men in this part of the country, has joined the great army of those who pin their faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills. As usual Mr. Richard has good reasons for what he does and he states them as follows:

"I have been troubled with Kidney Disease for forty years and the result was I found myself a worn out man at seventy-two. But after using two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I find all my pains are gone and I can employ all my days with the best results. I cannot let the opportunity pass of letting the public know the great good Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all rheumatic pains by removing the cause—Uric acid in the blood. They put vigor and energy in place of the pain.

Three Kinds of Dressers. A clever woman has summed up her sex who succeed in the art of dress in three classes this wise: The good dressers, the clever dressers and the intellectual dressers, but of these last there is a hopeless minority. Intellectual dressing depends on one's power of imagination, and of this inward and spiritual grace there is a sad deficiency. The lady should add to this the fast pocketbook, which alone makes it possible to employ the "dress artist" to think for her client and keep her in the intellectual path.—Boston Herald.

HOW TO GET CONSUMPTION.

Ninety per cent. of the "lungers" contract consumption by allowing power of resistance to fall so low that a favorable condition for the development of the bacilli is provided. In a healthy system consumption can't take root. But where there is weakness and debility, there you find tuberculosis. For developing strength and building up the weak, nothing equals Ferro-China. It makes the blood nutritious and the nerves enduring. The way it converts food into nutriment, the appetite gives is surprising. Just what the man verging on consumption needs—that's Ferro-China. If tired and weak don't put off. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty tablets—at all dealers.

Baked Beets. Baked beets will save those who are fond of this vegetable in other forms. After boiling till soft slice and lay out on a butter. On each slice place a bit of butter and salt to taste, next a little paprika dusted lightly over the whole. Upon this place another layer of slices and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven, basting carefully at intervals. Minced parsley is to be sprinkled over this dish just before serving.

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questioning, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to true modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly private and answered by plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as "a God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

Wireless in Britain. Recently the British Government so far recognized the importance of the wireless system as to permit wireless telegrams to be handled through the postal telegraph offices of the United Kingdom. Commenting upon this, The London Daily News says there could hardly have been a more brilliant opening for the scientific side of the new year than lies in the simple fact that from the smallest British country village the word "Lucania" will be a sufficient telegraphic address for a vessel that is plowing the Atlantic.

DRINKS OF THE WORLD

MANY AND WIERD ARE CONCOCTIONS OF THE DRINKERS.

Emil Necaire Has "Listed" 843 American Drinks, But There Are 11,704 Which Have Never Been Served in the United States—Characteristic of the Beverages of Many Peoples—Ten Drops a "Jag."

Emil Necaire, "mixologist," for 31 years the most famous bartender in New Orleans, has compiled a book in which he sets forth the drinks of the world. The American who has run the gamut from sice gin balls to poets' dreams, imbibed everything from a Tom Collins to a Bourbon with a dash of bitters, is merely an amateur drink compared with the array of drinks that are served to the nations of the world.

Necaire has listed 843 American drinks—or naturalized drinks—that are worthy of place in his book, whereas he has an array of 11,704 mixed and straight drinks that, so far as he can find out, have never been served in the United States.

Every Drink Except Two Injurious. To add to the value of the compilation—which has taken twenty-six years of work and research, of correspondence with governments, with travelers, with bartenders in other countries—Necaire adds a note in which he says that every one of the drinks he describes is injurious to the greater or lesser degree and each one aids in the degeneration of the peoples who use them—except, possibly, a fermentation of goat's milk found in northern Siberia and a wild honey fermentation discovered in central Australia. The others he declares are positively harmful to the drinker and, to support his argument he records seventeen races of men among whom alcoholic beverages are unknown and proves, to his own satisfaction at least, that these peoples are the happiest and healthiest on earth.

The compilation of drinks is a remarkable one. Necaire awards to the Russians the doubtful honor of being the greatest drunkards and the most cosmopolitan drunkards, and to the Swedes the distinction of having invented the most drinks—and the best tasting drinks. He declares the drinks of the Germans (that is, having no drinks) are the most harmful, and he declares brandy the worst drink, outclassing whisky, beer, or wine in extent of evil and in results.

Russia a Nation of Drunkards. "Russia," says Necaire, "is the greatest drinking country in the world. The Russians drink more violent spirits than any other nation, and they have a greater tolerance of drink, despite the fact that vodka supplies the place of wine, beer, whisky and brandy with the great mass of the population."

"But the Russians must yield to the Georgians—their dependents—in amount drunk per capita. The Georgian is never sober, and he brings death and manages to keep in this condition on wine. Men and women are always befuddled, caused mainly by a mixture of ether with light wines."

Iceland follows as a nation of drunkards. They drink everything known, importing from Sweden and from America and England. Fermented vinegar, sweetened with sirup, with a dash of brandy, is one of the favorite drinks. The Icelanders have a drink concocted from the glands of the whale that is terrific in its effect, although only ten drops are used in a glass of sweet wine or sweetened water.

The most delicious drink, which the New Orleans "mixologist" awards the prize, even over his beloved absinthe, was sent to him in a bottle by a correspondent who found it in central Australia, where it was used by the natives who dared the unknown quantities of their home "booze without becoming afflicted," as he poetically writes it. The Australians are an example. They swallowed the honey-peppermint decoction in immense quantities, went all to pieces under mead from New South Wales.

"Berbers, in northern Africa, have learned this lesson," he writes. "They drink great quantities of delicious home made wine, made from grapes, but refuse and become true Mohammedans when offered foreign drinks. They drink a mixture of sour wine with fermented goats' milk which is said to taste better than fish sounds."

Knockout Drops in Africa. One of the greatest drinks Necaire found was among the Uganda natives in Africa, called "wine," which, like cider, or an Indian, is good only for a few days. The bananas, whole, are placed in a hole in the ground lined with green leaves and tramped. Then water is added, the hole covered and left for a few days, when hay is mixed into it. Then it is placed in a wooden trough and water is added and the mass stirred. The liquid drips into pans, and for twenty-four hours is delicious, then it ferments and becomes a rival of the famous "dynamite" of London slums, made of other mixed with wine or beer.

"Mubla," which is the Uganda drink, is declared worse than the bino of the Philippines, which the natives have learned to mix with gins.

"The Bulgarians," says the bartender, "would make ideal customers. They drink light sour wines, mixed with water. At festivals they drink freely but never fight, row, quarrel, or sing."

"The queerest drinks in the world are participated in by the Koriaks and the Kamchathans of northeast Siberia. Whole tribes numbering hundreds of men and women, get drunk and stay drunk weeks at a time on the fly mushroom. They need no mixing of drinks. Either to eat the mushrooms or to drink the water in which they may be boiled means one glorious round of pleasure for a week or more."

Vodka in a Dozen Ways. "The Burials of Siberia acquire their passionate love of drinking from the Russians. They drink from the cradle—vodka, diluted in a dozen ways. They drink also fermented goats' milk, something like kumys, which they mix with intoxicants. The children smoke at 6 years and drink before that."

"One drink, which has been imported into England as a medicine, is the famous drink from the root of the pepper tree, made by the Fijians and used at their great festivals, where everyone gets 'soosed.' This drink is hot and not unlike the red pepper and celery drinks found among Spanish-Americans. It is sold as a stomach tonic in England. The Fijians also have a wine from a vegetable like the tomato, and a bread fruit drink."

The cordials open a new line. The most delicious is the Yorkshire Violet, made from the crushed flower, home brewed. It is mixed with liquors and holds the delicious flavor of the flower. The cordial brewed from wild honey in Abyssinia is also delicious. The Abyssinians make the best mead in the world from barley and wild honey. They live on the other side of the earth, so perhaps, everything is backward there—at least the temperance cranks rave about the drinking of milk and coffee, and forbid it by law, and the lips of any native who smokes are cut off."

The Admiralty Islanders know nothing of intoxicating drinks, the nearest they come to them is a coconut milk mixture, served in carved tortoise shells, beautifully mounted on tridacena shells. The contrast is furnished by the Apone tribe in French Congo, which uses huge quantities of palm wine. These people drink, quarrel and fight, and give huge quantities at which everybody "gets a beautiful bun on."

The palm wine is made by cutting the leaf stems of the palm trees, and catching the drippings, which are allowed to ferment. The natives squeeze lime juice into the wine, making a kind of ricki.

"The tribes of India," writes the bar keep historian, "all drink." There are 173 different drinks given in the British reports besides those imported.

Ten Drops Means "Jag." "The most deadly drink on earth that is used commonly as a beverage is isohyaline, used in fatal. It is sixty-two times as strong as any known alcohol and ten drops means a 'jag.'"

"The Todas—the supposed Jews of upper India—drink neat brandy out of mugs and the Samoyedes, in Siberia, swallow brandy by handfuls. The Moros, whose national drink is a tea made from grapes and dates—all being mildly intoxicating. Opium is added to some of the drinks. The natives of New Guinea, since civilization arrived, have learned to make beverages from yams and sugar cane and mix the sugar cane drink with a cordial made from the flower like the honey suckle."

The Katos of India are all drunkards, making an excellent palm wine. The Ishegos, in French Congo, make a fermented drink from palm sap and excellent plantain wine. The Mongols drink grape wines and brandy made from fruits and milk. The New Caledonians, besides their native wines, are addicted to French drinks, especially absinthe. The Moros in the Philippines drink bino and palm wine. There are fifty-three different kinds of millet drinks known in Africa and all or most of them are mixed with honey, palm or banana fermentations.

"The best use of drink I have found," concludes the bartender, "is of the heusine, made by the Niam-Niams in equatorial Africa. This is mated into an intoxicating beer, used to drive devils and goblins away from the towns. I received from a French explorer one quart of heusine and can guarantee it to serve the purpose."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED. By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

SIR JAMES WATSON'S OPINION. He says that the commonest of all disorders, and one from which few escape is Catarrh. Sir James firmly believes in local treatment, which is best supplied by "Catarrhazone." No case of Catarrh can exist where Catarrhazone is used; it is a miracle worker, relieves almost instantly and cures after other remedies fail.

The diseased parts like Catarrhazone because it goes to the rescue of the trouble along with the air you breathe. Catarrhazone is free from cocaine, it leaves no bad after-effects, it is simply nature's own cure. Accept no substitute for Catarrhazone which alone can cure Catarrh.

Apples and Milk. "The diet of apples and milk is most wholesome and well balanced, says The New York World. The potato contents of both are high, and they yield nutriment for brain, bone and muscle, having a soothing effect upon the nerves. The apples should not be pared, as the ash contents of the skin are valuable to the human system."

HAVE YOU HEARTBURN? It's quite common with people whose digestion is poor. Immediate relief follows the use of Nerviline. Stomach is strengthened, digestion is made perfect, lasting cure results in every case. Use Polson's Nerviline once and you'll never be without it because every type of stomach disorder is conquered by a few doses. One 25c. bottle of Nerviline always convinces. Sold everywhere for the past fifty years.

"Black Snow." A strange phenomenon has been witnessed recently in the snow region about Colire, in the Swiss canton of the Grisons. The wide stretch of snow has suddenly been transformed into a vast sweep of jet black. This is owing to the sudden falling upon the country of enormous swarms of a small black insect, without wings, but provided with two long legs that permit him to move after the way of a grasshopper. These insects fall in such clouds that the people of the Grisons call them "black snow."

DOWNEY—CHAMPAGNE

The sun shone brightly this morning on the celebration of the nuptials of Miss Julia Ellen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basco Champagne, Brockville, who was united in marriage to John B. Downey, an esteemed resident of Chatham, Ont., and first cousin of Joseph P. Downey, editor of the Guelph Herald and M. P. for South Wellington. The happy event took place at 9:30 a.m. at St. Francis Xavier church, which was well filled with relatives and friends and acquaintances of the contracting parties. Rev. Dean Murray officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, carried a white prayer book in place of the regulation bouquet. She looked pretty in a costume of cream crepe de chene with applique trimming. Her hat was cream chiffon decorated with a large white ostrich plume. The bridesmaid, Miss Mary E. Downey, of Chatham, niece of the groom, was costumed in cream silk, trimmed with chiffon and applique and hat to match. Miss Downey carried a magnificent bouquet of cream roses. Alfred Champagne, brother of the bride, was the best man. Returning to the home of the bride's parents, peace street west, a large number of invited guests dined sumptuously at the wedding breakfast. The toast to the health of the bride was gracefully responded to and a merry time was spent until the afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. Downey left for the east on a honeymoon trip to Montreal, Quebec, St. Anne's and other points. Returning they will make a short visit here before settling in Chatham, where the groom has a cosy home in Redcliffe. Mrs. Downey will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends with whom she was very popular, evidences of which were shown in the number and quality of the wedding gifts. Mr. Downey, M. P., sent a handsome present, as did also relatives and friends of the bride and groom in Brockville and other points of Ontario. The groom is connected with the S. Hadley Mfg. Co., Chatham.

Among those at the wedding from a distance were E. J. Downey and Miss Longman, Chatham, and Miss Mary Downey, of Brussels, Brockville Times.

Happiness often hangs on a thread that is exceedingly slender.

CANNOT DEPORT ALIENS

Labor Law Ultra Vires of the Dominion Parliament.

Judge Anglin Gives Judgment Which Cannot Be Appealed Upholding the Appeal of the Threatened Pere Marquette Railway Officials—Question of Territorial Jurisdiction—Deportation Involves Extra-Territorial Constraint.

Toronto, June 19.—The Pere Marquette men cannot be deported from Canada, and the alien labor law is ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament.

Such was the opinion handed out by Judge Anglin on Saturday morning after fully considering the evidence brought out at the hearing of the appeal of Everett E. Cain and James Gihula for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Anglin based his judgment on the ground that the Canadian Parliament had no power to deport aliens by force to foreign territory.

The order for the discharge of Cain and Gihula has not yet been issued, and they may not be formally released until this week. In order that Col. Sherwood may not be liable to prosecution by the prisoners, a special clause will probably be inserted in the judgment.

The judgment is final, says Judge Anglin. There can be no appeal, as might have been the case if the writs had been made returnable before a divisional court.

The text of the judgment is as follows:

Text of the Judgment.
Because no appeal lies from the order which I find myself obliged to pronounce, I regret that counsel were unable to argue, or to suggest, made upon the application for the writs of habeas corpus, that these writs should be returnable before a divisional court.—R.S.O., Chap. 51, Sec. 67.

Numerous grounds were urged in support of the motion, but in the view which I take of the matter it becomes unnecessary to deal with any ground other than that upon which I am about to dispose of it.

As amended by 1 Edward VII. chap. 13, Sec. 3, the sixth section of the 10-10c, Chap. 11 (d), reads: as follows:—

"The Attorney-General of Canada, in case he shall be satisfied that an immigrant has been allowed to land in Canada contrary to the prohibition of this act, may cause such immigrant, within the period of one year after landing, or entry, to be taken into custody and retained in the country whence he came, at the expense of the owner of the importing vessel, or, if he entered from an adjoining country, at the expense of the person, partnership or company violating Section 10-10c, Chap. 11 (d)."

This statutory provision contains the sole authority for the issue and enforcement of the warrants above set out. Its validity is impugned by the applicants upon the ground, inter alia, that inasmuch as it purports to authorize the Attorney-General, or his delegates, to deprive persons of their liberty without the territorial limits of Canada, it transcends the powers of the Dominion Government.

Territorial Restriction.
By the 11st section of the British North America Act the Parliament of Canada in relation to all matters not for the peace, order and good Government of Canada is empowered to make laws in relation to the classes of subjects assigned exclusively to the Legislatures of the Province; and it is by sub-section 25 given "exclusive legislative authority" in regard to "laws and naturalization."

In many judgments the Privy Council has declared that our Parliament "has and is intended to have powers of legislation as large and of the same nature as the Imperial Parliament itself," the language of the British North America Act being "apt to authorize the widest discretion."

But that the area within which the powers so conferred may be exercised is restricted to the territorial limits of the colony to whose Legislature they are granted, is equally well established. The language in which its jurisdiction is conferred, without an explicit bestowal of extra-territorial powers by the Sovereign Parliament, no colonial Legislature may enact legislation to be actively enforced beyond the boundaries of the colony.

This is but one of the several restrictions necessarily flowing from the inherent conditions of a dependency. Counsel for the Attorney-General was, therefore, well advised in conceding at bar that if the return of the immigrant to the country whence he came, as provided in the sixth section of the statute, would necessarily involve his detention or subject him to constraint by the agent of the Attorney-General without the territorial limits of Canada that provision is ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament, giving full effect to the argument of the learned counsel that, if at all possible, the statute should receive a construction consistent with jurisdiction, not desiring "to attribute to the Colonial Legislature an effort to enlarge their jurisdiction to such an extent as would be inconsistent with the powers committed to a colony."

I have striven to discover some means for the performance of that which the warrants to the commission require him to do, viz., to take into custody the applicants and return them to the United States of America, whence they came—that would not involve an assumption of extra-territorial jurisdiction. In this I have failed.

Disagrees With Shepley.
Mr. Shepley argued that the requirements of the statute must be deemed satisfied if the "immigrant" to be deported is "put in the course of return" to the country from which he came. I cannot so read the words "return to."

If the constraining force of the officer acting under the Attorney-General's warrant ceases before the subject of it is within the territorial limits of the foreign country, I cannot understand how he can be said to be returned to that country by virtue of the warrant. If such force ceases, the subject is not in the course of return to the territory. His extra-territorial exercise cannot be denied.

Law Stops At Line.
In effecting the return of an "immigrant" to the United States, it is suggested that the officer charged with that duty may take his subject in custody to the imaginary line forming the boundary, and then, remaining himself on Canadian territory, may push his prisoner across the line and into the United States. But were it possible for the officer to effect a resending without risk of projecting any part of his own person upon United States soil, in my opinion, the application of the propelling force operating upon the person of the alien while wholly or partly within the foreign territory is an extra-territorial constraint of such alien by the Canadian officer, and such constraint is authorized by the Dominion Parliament.

Again, counsel suggests that the officer may select such a point as Windsor for the deportation and may discharge his duty by placing his alien prisoner upon a ferry boat, crossing the river to Detroit. Here the alien is upon Canadian territory until the middle of the stream is reached. If the custody ceases when the alien is placed upon the ferry boat, it cannot be said that he is returned to the United States by the officer charged with the execution of the warrant. If the custody continues until the ferry boat reaches midstream, apart from the difficulty of determining the precise moment at which the boat crosses the imaginary line, beyond which any constraint by Canadian authority is admittedly unwarrantable, and the danger of an involuntary violation of United States territory, it is impossible to say that the deported subject is not under actual constraint imposed by Canadian authority until the boat reaches the Detroit docks. He is upon the ferry boat, not of his own volition, but because Canadian power has placed and kept him there. In theory his imprisonment may cease at the instant his body is carried over the border; in fact, he is not carried to the border, but to the City of Detroit, in United States territory, by compulsion of Canadian law.

The difficulties of returning "immigrants" to countries separated from Canada by the high seas without exercising extra-territorial constraint are even greater. The statute extends to all foreign countries which have enacted and retain in force laws or ordinances applying to Canada of a similar character.

"In so far as they possess legislative jurisdiction, the discretion committed to the Parliament, whether of the Dominion or of the Province, is unfettered. It is the proper function of a court of law to determine what are the limits of the jurisdiction committed to them." Discharging that function I have reached the conclusion that the provision of the Dominion statute, 10-10c, Chap. 11 (d), for the return of certain "immigrants" to the country whence they came is ultra vires.

Deportation and Detention Wrong.
Neither may that statute be invoked to justify the custody in which the applicants are held. While Canada has custody is merely a means to an end, that end being deportation. The applicants are not in custody for any other purpose. Their apprehension is authorized by the Legislature only as something subsidiary to their return to the United States.

If the return itself cannot be legally effected the detention for that illegal purpose is unwarranted.

The applicants are, therefore, in my judgment, entitled to an order for their immediate discharge, and that order I accordingly pronounce.

PUTTING ON BOOTS, IS SHOT.

Farmer Hung Gun on Wall and It Went Off—May Die.

Barrie, June 19.—William Reynolds, a farmer of Craigvale, about 53 years of age, was accidentally shot in his house about six miles from here on Friday morning.

Reynolds had been hunting ground hogs on the previous evening, and on his return home hung a muzzle-loading shotgun, still cocked, by the trigger guard on the wall in his kitchen, placing his boots below it.

The following morning, as he leaned against the wall to put on his boots, he touched the gun and the whole charge lodged in his back.

Three ribs were severed and he is now in a serious condition.

SUNK IN COLLISION.

Steel Freighter Etruria New At the Bottom of Lake Huron.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 19.—During a thick fog which has prevailed on the Upper Lakes for a week, the steel freighter Etruria and the American Stone-collider yesterday ten miles off Presque Isle light in Lake Huron.

The Etruria was damaged so that she sank within a few minutes, the crew narrowly escaping with their lives. The Etruria was struck on the starboard side. Many of the crew were asleep in their berths but were awakened by the crash and reached the deck in time to escape.

Collier Runs Aground.
Montreal, June 19.—The Norwegian collier Agnar, 984 tons net register, went aground at 1 o'clock Saturday morning on the channel bank, to the south of the Longue Pointe Shoal. The vessel went into the clay bank at full speed, and is securely stuck. She will be lighted off about 200 tons of her cargo of coal. An investigation will be held.

Sir Charles Tupper Quite Ill.
Halifax, June 19.—Charles T. Hilsen of Amherst, N. S., has received a letter from his uncle, Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., who is in England, which contains the news that the aged statesman is in poor health. In fact, he is quite ill, as when the letter was written he was confined to his bed, with three doctors in attendance.

Fear Renewal of Massacres.
Baku, June 19.—Great alarm is felt here, especially among the Armenians, as it is feared that in the street fighting massacres may commence any day. Great numbers of Armenians are fleeing from Baku.

BOY HERO IN REAL LIFE.

Alex. Osler Loses His Life In Endavouring to Save His Comrade Harry Mowson From Drowning.

Toronto Junction, June 19.—Little nine-year-old Alex. Osler lost his life in the deepest hole in Black Creek Saturday afternoon, and if ever there was a boy hero in real life it was Alex. Osler. He lost his own life in trying to save that of a comrade, Harry Mowson, of 113 Sydenham avenue.

Boy Drowns in Shell's Lake.

Brampton, June 19.—The nine-year-old son of Walker Wilkinson, a "blacksmith" at Shell's Lake, near here, was drowned in Shell's Lake Saturday evening. In company with some other boys, he had been out boating. "Stop ping on to the wharf, a plank gave way and he fell into four feet of water and lost his life.

Drowns at Kingston.

Kingston, June 19.—James McCormack and James Robinson were out rowing near the mouth of the Rideau when the boat capsized. McCormack went down, but Robinson was rescued by two soldiers. The dead man was 40 years old and married. He lived in Portsmouth.

Brown From Canoe.

Carleton Place, June 19.—James Ody Blanche, moulder, aged 21, was drowned here about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the upsetting of a canoe in which he and Harvey McDonald, had just started up the Mississippi River. The deceased and his father came here three months ago from New Brunswick. He was to have been married next Wednesday.

GEN. GOMEZ IS DEAD.

Fought For Cuban Liberty and Was Almost Defeated.

Havana, June 19.—Gen. Maximo Gomez died Saturday evening. El Caudillo (chieftain), as the leader of the Cuban revolution was called by his countrymen, expired just as the sun was sinking across the gulf, in the presence not only of his weeping family but also his old-time friend, Estrada Palma, President of the republic. The dying man was unable to recognize anyone. His real illness extended over forty-six days, although his health had been failing for some months prior to this. Gen. Gomez originally suffered from debilitation of the heart and liver. Later an abscess developed in his hand, which was operated on after his arrival at Santiago. Gangrene appeared, and he underwent a second operation.

The admiration of the mass of Cubans for Gomez amounted to almost idolatry. His death admittedly is a severe blow to any political interest to which he was allied.

Gen. Gomez leaves a widow, five sons and one daughter. He was born at Bari, Santo Domingo, in 1826, and came of a Spanish family which had settled there.

BAD RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

At Least 18 Lives Lost in a Wreck Near Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., June 19.—At least 18 people are believed to have been killed and a score or more injured in a wreck on the Western Maryland Railroad Saturday night, near Patapsco. Passenger train No. 6, west-bound, was running at a very high rate of speed when it crashed into a doubleheader freight running east. All three of the engines were reduced to scrapiron, the express and baggage cars of the passenger train were smashed and a number of freight cars splintered.

The passenger coaches sustained little injury and almost without exception their occupants escaped with nothing worse than a bad shaking up. The crews of all three engines were killed. The bodies are all believed to be under the wreckage of the engines.
