For many reasons why the Pilot Superior is the choice of many Canadian Farmers. It is particularly well adapted to the requirements of the average farm home, and because of its unique construction has placed the convenience of a safe, sanitary and healthful furnace heat within the reach of these folk who fully appreciate its remarkable qualities. The farm house must have a cool cellar so that the perishable products stored there will not be spoiled. Furthermore the average farm homes are not constructed along lines that permit the installation of furnaces requiring a lot of network of pipes and registers.

The Pilot Superior with only one register and no pipes, its insulated casing, large feed door, properly placed to be the best warm air furnace for farm homes.

Prices range from $150 upwards according to size.

We also handle HECLA, SUNSHINE and other makes.

WHY FARMERS CANNOT AFFORD HYDRO

The system adopted in the construction of rural telephone lines could well be adopted by hydro. It was the farmers doing the line-work themselves, in their spare time, that the present splendid rural services were made possible.

The adoption of a common sense plan of line building, whereby the farmers in the neighborhood can do the main part of the construction of lines, would soon result in a network of rural lines throughout the rural parts.—Owen Sound Sun.

The large pile of flints still to be broken was a very large one, thought the stone-breaker, as he gazed at it disconsolately between his bites at a large sandwich of bread and cheese. A minister came along and gave him a cheery "Good morning," remarking afterward that he had a deal of work to get through with yet.

"Aye," said the eater, "them stones are like the Ten Commandments."

"Why so?" inquired the genial paragon.

"You can go on breaking them," came the reply, "but you can't never get rid of them."

RIGHTS ON BOARDS

... plan to write account on a state where they can be easily wiped off, or with a lead pencil on a rough board. A case at the recent Division Court here shows that it is better to make a memorandum of a business transaction in a book than on the boards of a weigh scale house.

Harvey Thomson of 17th Con., Elmerdale, bought five head of cattle this summer from a Mr. Barfoot, who is a butcher, farmer and cattle dealer in Kappel township. The cattle were delivered at Park Head Station and as the weights were called out Harvey put them in lead pencil in a book he carries for that purpose. Barfoot put them in lead pencil on the side of the weigh scale building. Harvey paid for 480 pounds and Barfoot accepted the check. Afterwards he claimed the weight was 5480 pounds and as Thomson would not pay him for the extra thousand pounds Barfoot entered suit. Harvey went to the trouble of going up to the scales at Park Head and he and the weigh-master decided the figures on the wall tallied with those on the buyer's books.

The case came before Judge Greig at the last sittings of the Division Court here, and was found in favor of Thomson, with costs against the plaintiff, who will be more careful in future about definite understanding of weights before he parts with his stock. C. J. Mickle was solicitor for Thomson.—Chesley Enterprise.

AUTOMOBILE RUNS WILD

Four local Oddfellows, Messrs. A. Ramsay, E. J. Madill, C. Crawford and Wm. Munson (Jr.) had a hair raising experience when returning home on Friday morning from Owen Sound after attending a meeting in that city. They left Owen Sound about 3 o'clock a.m. and only got over Christie's Hill when something went wrong with the car, and they were forced to return to Owen Sound. They started back down the big winding hill when the driver discovered that both the foot and emergency brakes were out of commission. The car was like a ship in the sea without a rudder, and commenced swerving from side to side and gaining speed every moment. Endeavoring to steady the car Messrs. Madill and Crawford got out on the running board and in the excitement the former fell off and slid half way down the hill. The car sped on and a man coming up the hill had a narrow escape from being run over. Evidently he was badly frightened as the last seen of him he was trying to climb the steep embankment on the side of the hill. However through good luck and good management the car reached the bottom of the hill without any further mishap, and was taken to the garage for repairs. Fortunately no person was hurt but they all express themselves as being unwilling to repeat the performance.—Tara Leader.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION AT GORRIE

About six o'clock last Saturday night the Gorrie Acetylene Gas Plant exploded, plunging the village into darkness and causing great havoc in the southern part of the village, windows in nearly every building shattered by the concussion. The public school, Presbyterian church and Township hall lost nearly every pane of glass while in St. Stephens (Anglican) church an expensive stained glass window was completely shattered. The frame building in which the plant was situated was blown to atoms and strewn all over the adjoining district. The west side of the building was blown against Mr. Milton Watson's residence wrecking it considerably. It was indeed miraculous that no one was injured as the road past the plant is usually a busy one. The northern part of the town also suffered loss from broken windows and the shock could be felt for miles around.

GUILTY ON ONE CHARGE

The trial of Frank Stanley, the Bruce Township farmer, charged with arson, two charges of perjury and attempting to obtain money under false pretences, was concluded last Thursday afternoon, after last large number of witnesses were examined. Judge Klein found Stanley not guilty of the arson charge. It was clear, His Honor stated, that Stanley had put articles which he had not lost, in his list of claims against the company. He therefore found him guilty of the fraud charge and sentencing for ten days. In the meanwhile Stanley will have an opportunity to bring in any recommendations as to previous good character from the people of his neighborhood. The perjury charges were left over until March 31st, and Mr. Otto Klein, who was presiding, said he would recommend to the Attorney-General's Dept. that these charges be dropped.—Telegraph.

We are all endowed with the most marvelous invention of God, a human brain, and if you train that brain to work for you, there is no limit to the things you can accomplish. But if you let your brain lay idle or put a lot of scum and rubbish into it you cannot expect to find anything but scum and rubbish in the wonderful things that are happening in the world every day.

THE WHISPERER

Did you ever meet the man who has a little scandal and gossip about some person in town? Just now he's running around and once he gets you in a corner he tells you "So-and-So" is having a pretty hard time making his business year come out anything but satisfactory. The bank is closing down pretty tight on him, and there will be something sure to break in a few days.

He notices there are far more men standing around on the street corners than formerly, and is sure there must be a lot of unemployment.

Yes, and did you hear that the Corner Grocer has shut down on giving credit to Mr. Blank?

Strange, you hadn't heard of any of these things.

And you pass on, wondering, perhaps, if things are not sort of heading for the bow-wows.

And your whispering friends wander along, dropping his little piece of doubt and suspicion here and there.

Nor can it be claimed that he is performing any good service. He is simply pouring his little bit of poison into the stream of business.

If you want to do your community a good service, show this chap where he can get a good job elsewhere.

BARELY SUCCESSFUL

A young man called at the house of a celebrated diagnostician and asked to see the doctor.

"Have you an appointment?" the office nurse asked.

"No, I haven't," the young man replied.

The nurse consulted the doctor's appointment list.

"I think I can work you in after the next patient leaves," she said, "so please go inside that room and take your clothes off."

"Take my clothes off?" the young man exclaimed. "What for?"

"The doctor has made it an absolute rule not to see anybody unless that is done," the nurse said firmly.

"But I don't want to take my clothes off," the young man insisted.

"Then I'm sorry, but you can't see the doctor," the nurse said.

"Well, if that's the case, I'm game!" the young man said.

A few moments later the doctor entered the room and found the young man waiting him, stark naked.

"Well, sir," the doctor said, "what seems to be your trouble?"

"Doctor," the young man replied, "I called to see if you would renew your wife's subscription to the Ladies' Home Journal."—Cosmopolitan.

MUNICIPAL MIX-UP

Here is the story of the municipal mix-up in the township of Glenelg, Grey County. First, Mr. Black, the township clerk, erred by placing farmer's wives and daughters on Part I of the municipal voters list; Second, the farmers wives and daughters erred, although unknowingly, when they voted; Third, at the nomination meeting, Messrs. Wm. Weir, retiring reeve, and Arch. McQuaig, as ex-reeve, were nominated. Weir was present, accepted nomination, and his name was then eligible to go on the ballot; Fourth, McQuaig was not at the nomination meeting, never filed his declaration of qualification, and the clerk erred again in putting his name on the ballot, and McQuaig erred in going to the electors without qualifying; Fifth, McQuaig elected; Sixth, Weir's friends protest on the ground of non-qualification; Seventh, Weir claim seat; Eighth, McQuaig's friends protest on the grounds of being elected by women's illegal votes.

SALTING DOWN GOPHERS FOR FOOD

In renewing his subscription to The Times, Mr. J. B. Fleming of Neepawa, Man., writes telling of the strenuous conditions in the West that are very hard on here, states Mr. Fleming on account of the dry, hot weather of July last which cooked our crops, and the wettest year experienced here in thirty years, which put the finish to them. We are not faring as bad, however, as those in some parts of Sask., where food. A Neepawa boy, who is manager of a Bank in Saskatchewan, wrote his mother here that he went out to see some farmers who were indebted to his Bank and found the farmers in such hard straits that they had gophers salted down to live on. The thermometer has been hovering around the zero mark here for the most part, but we have had a few days when it registered 30 below. We have very little snow just sufficient for sleighing.—Port Elgin Times.

FIVE CALVES IN A YEAR

Down on the second concession of Luther township is an optimistic and patriotic cow with a quantity of aristocratic Shorthorn blood in her veins. She believes that Great Britain will lift the cattle embargo and United States smash the Emergency Tariff. She evidently takes no stock in fears that increased production cannot be sold. In twelve months this cow has increased the herd of her owner, Ernest Dixon, by five head. They came in two litters, the two the first time and three the second time. One of the twins died from a chill, but that was no fault of the cow's. The triplets are normal and healthy.

COULDN'T SCARE THIS JAZZ BABY

A certain girl had a proposal of marriage and asked for a week to think it over. She went to all her married sisters. One who used to be a belle had three children, did all her own work, and had not been to the theatre since she was married. Another, whose husband was a professional musician, was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and the fourth was divorced. After visiting them and hearing their woes, got pen, ink and paper, and wrote an answer to the young man. You may think it was refusing him, but it wasn't. She said she would be ready in a month.

MAN'S TURN NEXT?

It is stated, though difficult to believe that anyone could positively know that men are to return to the wearing of knickerbockers. Yes, we will go back a full century. This return of knickerbockers for men would be the most fashion innovation of many years. No reasonable excuse can be offered for long trousers. They are wasteful, mussy and unsightly. Knickerbockers too are not without their defects. The band-bow-legged and skinny-legged fearfully exposed to a critical Men as a class, however, have to dread for our sisters similar defects have braved short skirts, and seem to like it.

A Spring Day Up in Muskoka

A Spring day in Muskoka, with sky and water vividly blue; the small pine, the song of birds in the air. On a sunny slope a girl gathered trilliums with eager hands. She smiled at the questioning stranger.

"I never picked wild flowers before," she said wistfully. "I lived in the city. Father died, and then mother of tuberculosis. I was all alone. I wasn't strong, worked too hard—and I got it. They brought me here to the Sanitarium on a stretcher."

"But, look at me now!" exultantly. The glow of health was in her cheeks. "It's the rest and care and good food and fresh air that saved me," and her eyes shone joyously.

Surely she was worth saving, the bonny, blue-eyed girl. Surely Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives deserves her gratitude!

RHEUMATISM?

Health is the Most Valuable Asset You Have. You cannot afford to neglect it.

Crofton, B. C.—"I was troubled for years with inflammatory rheumatism and rheumatic fever. I tried several cures for rheumatism, but did not receive any benefit from any of them. I had been in the hospital for months, being unable to walk. A friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. After taking the first bottle I began to improve, and after taking six bottles I had no more rheumatism. I think Dr. Pierce's Anuric is the most wonderful medicine that any one can take for rheumatism. I have recommended these tablets to several of my friends, and they too have all been benefited by them. Melville Collinson.

People are realizing that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on these organs any one would do well to get Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets which are to be had nowadays at almost any drug store or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ontario, for a trial package and write for free, confidential medical advice.

CROSS COUNTER

An American newspaper, not frightened to recount a story in which one of its country's great men comes off second best, tells a yarn about an Englishman who sat next to a public dinner in New York. During the course of the meal the Judge turned to the visitor. "You would be a long time in the Old Country," he remarked pompously, "before you had the honor of having dinner with a Judge." "Possibly," replied his fellow guest, "and perhaps you would be a long time in the Old Country before they made you a Judge." Neither troubled the other with the conversation after that.

auxiliaries emerged from the barracks at 6.15 o'clock in the evening and marched through the streets to the Western Row Station.

The withdrawal of the remainder of the auxiliaries will quickly follow and the evacuation of the army will begin in a few days. This action is interpreted as an earnest expression of the British Government in the faith of the Provisional Government.

Members of the Griffith Cabinet have discussed the advisability of policing the lines of march of the auxiliaries and it is inferred from a statement to the press that adequate provision will be made by a guard from the Irish Republican Army against any attempt at hostile demonstrations.

The King's proclamation of amnesty, announcement of the departure of the auxiliaries, and the resolution of the Sinn Fein Executive Council to summon an extraordinary convention February 7, to decide upon the future of the organization and its policy, after Eamon de Valera had predicted a split in the organization, were the chief developments in the Irish situation on Thursday.

Behind the Dail Eireann stands the Sinn Fein organization of nearly 1,500 clubs from every district in Ireland. It is responsible for the success of Parliamentary and other elections, and is regarded as the authentic popular voice by all Sinn Feiners. De Valera

NEWS FROM PARIS BREAKS UP MEETING

Supreme Council Adjourns Indefinitely on News of Briand's Resignation.

A despatch from Paris says:—Aristide Briand has resigned from the Premiership, and Raymond Poincare, former President of the Republic, will likely succeed him.

M. Briand's resignation came with dramatic suddenness in the Chamber of Deputies, for the Premier, returning on Thursday morning from his conference with the British Prime Minister at Cannes, had brought the opposing members of his Cabinet into accord with his policies, and, by a powerful speech in the Chamber, had apparently won over the great majority to his side. His blunt eloquence evoked a tremendous ovation and when he abruptly declared his intention of withdrawing from the Government, the members of the Chamber seemed overwhelmed.

Although the retirement of Premier Briand was unexpected, it was apparent from the beginning that he felt keen resentment against the many obstacles placed in his way in the important negotiations in which he had been engaged. He had the appearance of a man aged and physically fatigued throughout his entire speech.

Notwithstanding this, however, seldom has Briand risen to the high pitch of eloquence attained on Thursday, when in a voice trembling with ill-suppressed emotion, and facing his colleagues on the Ministerial benches, he said: "A statesman has no right to go to the post of battle if he has not the certainty that he shall not receive bullets from behind. He can face the bullets of the enemy, but he must not receive any from his own country."

The Ontario Legislature will meet on February 14.

conducted without the presence of Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, who will likely remain in London. James MacMahon, the Under-Secretary, who in the absence of the Chief Secretary, is the principal executive authority, will probably make the actual transfer.

The amnesty proclamation occupies a prominent position in the Dublin papers and has been the cause of great satisfaction. It had been feared that attempts might be made to discriminate between one political prisoner and another, but the sweeping character of the amnesty allays such apprehension.

Only one difficulty remains. At one stage there were incendiary fires and disturbances in England for which alleged Sinn Feiners were convicted. Amnesty does not include them. It is understood that their case will remain over for discussion between the British Government and the Government of the new Free State. With reference to offences committed since the truce, the Free State Government will have complete power to deal with all such cases in due course.

The first prisoner to be released under the amnesty proclamation is Dr. McConville, of Monaghan, who left Mountjoy this afternoon. Dublin Castle has issued a list of 370 prisoners for release Saturday. Five persons were liberated from Mountjoy and 38 from Limerick on Thursday.

of trade against her amounted to 2,500,000,000 gold marks. This could not be offset by decreasing imports, because Germany was now buying abroad only food and necessary raw materials.

So far as could be learned, the members of the Council were not favorably impressed by Dr. Rathenau's statement, asserting that it lacked precision and logic.

URGE RESTORATION OF WHEAT BOARD

United Farmers of Manitoba Urge Matter on Dominion Government.

A despatch from Winnipeg says:—The convention of the United Farmers of Manitoba on Thursday declared unanimously for the re-establishment of the old wheat board, under its former management, and with wide powers over wheat and other grains; adopted the greater part of a platform on which the association expects to contest the next Provincial election in Manitoba, and elected C. H. Burnell, of Oakville, Manitoba, president and W. G. Rathwell, of Beresford, Manitoba, vice-president of the organization.

The convention accepted the following resolution on grain marketing: "Whereas there is general dissatisfaction with the present system of marketing our grain. "And whereas the deplorable condition of our agricultural industry is such that it demands the attention of the Federal Government to the need for national marketing of wheat and other grains. "Therefore be it resolved that we urge upon the Dominion Government the necessity for re-establishing the Canada Wheat Board, under the former management with wide powers to sell wheat and other grains."

Conference is the Mother of Twelve Treaties

A despatch from Washington says:—Statements by American and British spokesmen revealed that there will be at least 12 treaties growing out of the conference. They will be: Four-power Pacific Treaty, Five-power Naval Treaty, Nine-power Far Eastern Treaty, Two-power Treaty on Shantung, Treaty on Fortifications in the Pacific, with the United States, Great Britain, Japan, and possibly France as signatories; and separate treaties on submarines, poison gas, Yap, Pacific cables, and revision of the rules of warfare.

FRENCH PREMIER RESIGNS OFFICE

President Millerand Requests Poincare to Form a Cabinet.

A despatch from Cannes says:—The Allied Supreme Council adjourned indefinitely on Thursday night following receipt of the news of the resignation of the Briand Cabinet.

Adjournment was taken when Walter Rathenau, German financial expert, had finished addressing the council, and no action or comment was made upon his remarks concerning Germany's default of her January reparations payment.

The news of M. Briand's resignation reached M. Loucheur while the Supreme Council was at tea and created an immense impression.

German reparations is the only subject that remains on the council's program.

The action taken prior to M. Briand's resignation, notwithstanding France's present defection, is regarded generally in conference circles as binding M. Briand's retirement, according to this theory, does not affect the Genoa conference or the International Corporation, plans for which have already been adopted with the outlines of a central company.

The Council, in adjourning indefinitely, after Dr. Rathenau had finished his explanations took no action; therefore, the question goes back to the reparations commission, which, after January 15, when the payment is due, will again call it to the attention of the Supreme Council.

Dr. Rathenau, at the close of his speech, said that Germany was able to meet the London terms of 500,000,000 gold marks in cash, and 1,000,000,000 gold marks in kind annually, but could not go beyond these figures. He explained that Germany's inability to pay was due to the disastrous exchange which had made it necessary for Germany to use marks to buy foreign currency, until the mark was a drugg on the market.

Germany's exportations amounted in the past year to only one-fourth of the exports in 1914, and the balance

A New University Course.

On Monday of this week the Short Course in Civics and Town-planning opened at the University of Toronto. Though only twenty-five students had been expected, forty-one enrolled on the first day, most of them architects and civil engineers. This is the first course of the kind ever given in Canada and is, therefore, something of an experiment. If town-planning is a science (and most people agree that it is), then town-planning should be taught; if it should be taught, the provincial university is the place to teach it. To judge by the numbers and the enthusiasm of the students, it may safely be predicted that this new course is the first of a series of annual courses on the subject.

Sixty-Eight Years in House of Lords.

The Earl of Ducie, who died in October, was the "father" of the House of Lords, having sat in that body since 1853, more than sixty-eight years. Although he was in his ninety-fifth year, he was not the oldest member of the upper House. Lord Halsbury is ninety-eight, but he has been in the House of Lords only since 1885. The Earl of Coventry became a peer in 1843, but as he was then only five years old he did not enter the House until 1859. The Earl of Ducie was remarkable not only for his age but also as a member of a large family. He was the oldest of ten brothers and four sisters. His title now goes to one of the brothers, who is eighty-seven years old and who has two sons and seven daughters.

There have been 1,400 logging operations in the province during the past two years, 340 sawmills, 100 shingle mills, six pulp and paper plants, all operating steadily. The output in 1920 was approximately 2,000,000,000 feet of wood products, and over 20,000 men were employed to produce this enormous quantity.

LEACH'S TROUBLES ARE OVER AT FIVE YEARS OF WORK AND ILL HEALTH OVERCOME.

Went for Days Without Eating and Even Sight of Food at Times Made Him Sick.

"I certainly am glad I stuck to Tanlac and gave it a fair trial, for since taking it I'm eating better, sleeping better and feeling better than I have in years," said Henry Leach, well-known citizen residing at 785 Pape Ave., Toronto, Ont.

"Ever since I had a spell of gripe some five years ago, I've been having attacks of indigestion and other troubles that gave me no end of worry. I used to go for days at a time without eating scarcely anything, and even the sight of food just made me want to leave the table. Even what little I did eat seemed to do me no good. Nights I often tossed with gas until my heart acted so queerly I dared not try to lie on my left side. Many times I got so dizzy it looked like I would surely fall. I had terrible headaches, and dizziness all through my body. I got scarcely any sleep and always felt tired and dull.

"At last my wife persuaded me to try Tanlac. I took three bottles before it seemed to help me. The next bit, but after that I improved wonderfully, and now I'm a well man, and I mean to say by that I don't get an ache or pain of any kind. I sleep like a log every night, and am always ready for a hearty breakfast in the morning and a big day's work. There's certainly nothing like this wonderful medicine Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

An Obvious Nickname.
 The following is a dialogue between mother and son:
 "Edgar?"
 "Yes, mother, what is it?"
 "What are you children doing?"
 "Playing aristocracy. I am a knight of the garter, and Edwin is Saturday."
 "That's a strange name for aristocracy."
 "Oh, it is just a nickname on account of his title."
 "What is his title?"
 "He's a knight of the bath."

 The druggist had stopped in the middle of putting up a difficult prescription and deftly removed from the woman's eye the clinder that had been causing her great pain.
 "Ah, thank you so much!" she gushed. "How much is it?"
 "Nothing at all," he replied courteously.
 "Oh, but you should let me pay you something—you really should! I'm sure it would be only right to pay you for your time. It took all of five minutes, though of course it wasn't really so long—and if your time is worth $5 a day—and really I think druggists should make that much, though of course they do not work so hard as carpenters or painters—why that would come to—let me see, why, nearly ten cents—or at least you will call it ten cents, though it would really be only about eight cents, wouldn't it?"
 "No, madam," the druggist replied firmly. "We are glad to do these little services for our customers, and I recall distinctly that you have bought most of your postage stamps here for a long while."

 The station master, hearing a crash on the platform, ran out of his room just in time to see the express disappearing around the curve and a disheveled young man sprawled amid several overturned milk cans and the contents of his traveling bag.

 "He did catch it," said the boy happily, "but it got away again."

A Substitute.
 The old gentleman tucked away his baggage, and then turned to his host's pretty daughter who had motored him and his son to the station.
 "Good-bye, my dear," said he, beaming upon her. "I won't kiss you; I have such a cold!"
 The son shot a sidelong glance at the girl.
 "I say," he said, "can I do anything for you, father?"

WINTER WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Our Canadian winters are exceedingly hard on the health of little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little one out for an airing. The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms; takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little one healthy. They are a mild, laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Dark-Skin Game.
 One ingenious if dishonest native of India turned his dark skin to excellent account. "One of the European examiners of Calcutta University," says Lord Frederic Hamilton in his book, "Days Before Yesterday," told me that there had been a great deal of trouble about the examination papers; by some means or other the native students always managed to obtain what we may term "advance" copies of his papers. My informant had accordingly devised a scheme to stop the leakage. Instead of having the papers printed in the usual fashion he called in the services of a single white printer on whom he could rely. The white printer received the papers early on the morning of the day designated for the examination and duly set them up on a hand press inside the building. He had one assistant, a coolie who was clad only in loin cloth and turban; by no possibility could he conceal any papers about his person.

In spite of those precautions, however, it soon became clear at the examination that some of the students had previous knowledge of the questions. "How had they managed it?" Eventually it appeared that the coolie, taking advantage of the momentary absence of the white printer, had whipped off his loin cloth, sat down on the "form" and then replaced his solitary garment. When he was obliged to strip on going out the printing ink did not show on his dark skin; and all that he had to do was to sit down on a large sheet of white paper for the questions to be printed off on it. Then with the aid of a mirror the students could easily read them. The Oriental mind is subtle.

His Helpful Maxim.
 "My motto is, 'Live and let live,'" said Sir James Cantlie, the famous British surgeon the other day. "It appears to me that it covers more ground than any other. For instance, it means health, physical fitness, and efficiency, and social well-being, and a determination to see that my neighbor enjoys like advantages. Incidentally, it applies to war. But it is not only a maxim of toleration and humanity, but applied to our physical well-being, it represents the ultimate aim and end of all remedial science."

Out of Gear.
 Dicky and Charlie were told by their mother not to play at the back of the school building, where there was a swollen stream and plenty of mud.
 When they returned home at nearly five o'clock that evening their shoes were covered with mud.
 The mother said:
 "Charlie, I do not know how your conscience let you go to the stream after promising mother that you would not go."
 Charlie answered:
 "I expect my conscience wasn't working just right to-day, mother!"

 When the watch was relieved the made sent for me and, after ascertaining that I could read and write, told me that I was to come to him every day when he was "taking the sun," for he wished to teach me navigation. I gladly accepted the invitation, and by the time we reached Buenos Ayres I was able to take sights and keep a dead reckoning.

When we had been about a week in port the mate left the ship; but before going he presented me with a sextant and his nautical books and, telling me he took a strong interest in my future welfare, begged me to continue my studies. Then, shaking hands with me, he walked over the side. That was the last I saw of him.

On our return passage the cook asked me whether I knew why the mate had been so kind to me. "Yes, I do,"
 I answered, "but I don't think I can care to talk about the matter."
 "Ah," said he, "you must think it was because he threw you off the main royal yard, and you said nothing about it. But that was not all. Last voyage he threw a boy off in the same way, and the poor lad was smashed to pieces!"

Wondering who could have been so kind as to have let me go the rope without warning, I looked down. There, close to the belaying pin, with the of the brace still in one hand, was the chief mate looking up at me. His face was as pale as a sheet, and there was horror and contrition stamped on every feature. He was too much artated to speak; but his looks convinced me that the act that had almost doomed me to a terrible death had not been inspired by any evil motive.

 dinary circumstances I should no doubt have availed myself of that priv-

Minard's Liniment for Garget in Cows.

Surnames and Their Origin

GARRISON
 Variations—Garretson, Garrett, Fitzgarrett.
 Racial Origin—English.
 Source—A given name.

It is possible, but not very likely, that in some instances the family name is of its origin. The name meaning "son" was in the period in which family names were first recorded, and an entirely different name is shown.

One of the names which was given generally in use in those days but which since has disappeared is "Garrett," or as it was more likely to be spelled in those days, "Garet." It is a given name not at all uncommon in the Norman records.

There is one entry, for instance, of "Garet Fitzgaret," the "fitz," of course, being the Norman-French corruption of the Latin "filius," meaning "son," the person referred to was simply "Garet, the son of Garet," or, as the Saxon element of the population of medieval England would have put it, "Garet Garetson."

The slurring of Garetson into Garrison is quite a natural development through a period of several centuries, as are the doubling of "r's" and "t's." Such family names as Garrett are instances of where the final "son" has been dropped again, bringing the family name back to virtually the same form as the given name from which it was developed.

CARTER
 Variations—Charter, Cartwright.
 Racial Origin—Anglo-Norman.
 Source—An occupation.

Here is a family name which has come down to us from a word now obsolete, but which is curiously tied up with a number of modern words. And lest the reader be misled by the variation of Charter, let it be stated that the family name has no connection with the word "charter," denoting a legal document, nor "chart," meaning a map or table of statistics.

The words to which it is related are "chariot," "cart" and "car." It is not generally realized, but these three words are really the same, being all derived from the old Norman form "Charet," which in the early Middle Ages usually signified a vehicle of much splendor, and not the chariot of ancient military use.

It was recorded of Helianore, who was brought over from France in 1394 to be the bride of Richard of England, that "she was tall, nobly well-versed of age, but she brought out of France xii chares full of ladies and domestics." The 1611 version of the English Bible uses the word "charjet."
 "Chareter," "Carettee," and "Charreter" were simply various spellings of the word which meant chariotmaker. "Cartwright" indicated the same. They must have ranked with the manufacturers of expensive automobiles of our day, for there is record of payment of £1,000 ($5000) to one "John le Charer" for making a certain chariot "for the use and behoof of Lady Eleanor, the King's sister."

Will your "Good Morning" last all day?

Easy to start from the breakfast table with zest and enthusiasm, but how easy is it to keep on? Does ambition last, or lag, as the day develops?

The afternoon "slump" is a factor to be counted upon, in business or social life.

Usually, there's a reason.

Nerves whipped by tea or coffee won't keep on running, and they won't stand constant whipping.

Many a man or woman who has wished the afternoon would be as bright as the morning has simply been wishing that the nerves wouldn't have to pay the natural penalty for being whipped with the caffeine drug.

Postum gives a breakfast cup of comfort and cheer, without any penalties afterward. There's no "letting down" from Postum—no midday drowsiness to make up for midnight wakefulness; no headaches; no nervous indigestion; no increase of blood pressure.

Think it over. There's full satisfaction in Postum—a cup of comfort for anybody (the children included), any time.

You can get Postum from your grocer or your waiter today, and probably you'll begin to love it better tomorrow, as so many thousands have had, who have made the change from tea and coffee to Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in time made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water). Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

His Helpful Maxim.
 "My motto is, 'Live and let live,'" said Sir James Cantlie, the famous British surgeon the other day. "It appears to me that it covers more ground than any other. For instance, it means health, physical fitness, and efficiency, and social well-being, and a determination to see that my neighbor enjoys like advantages. Incidentally, it applies to war. But it is not only a maxim of toleration and humanity, but applied to our physical well-being, it represents the ultimate aim and end of all remedial science."

Out of Gear.
 Dicky and Charlie were told by their mother not to play at the back of the school building, where there was a swollen stream and plenty of mud.
 When they returned home at nearly five o'clock that evening their shoes were covered with mud.
 The mother said:
 "Charlie, I do not know how your conscience let you go to the stream after promising mother that you would not go."
 Charlie answered:
 "I expect my conscience wasn't working just right to-day, mother!"

WINTER WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Our Canadian winters are exceedingly hard on the health of little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little one out for an airing. The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms; takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little one healthy. They are a mild, laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Cascarets" if Sick Bilious, Headachy From the Bowels

Get a 10-cent box now.

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or cascator oil? Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach of sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from liver and carry it out of the system all the constipated poison in the bowels. A Cascarets physic to-night will straighten you out by morning.

Couldn't Hold It.
 The station master, hearing a crash on the platform, ran out of his room just in time to see the express disappearing around the curve and a disheveled young man sprawled amid several overturned milk cans and the contents of his traveling bag.
 "Was he trying to catch the train?" asked the station master of a small boy who stood by admiring the scene.
 "He did catch it," said the boy happily, "but it got away again."

Cross-Eyed.
 Man who had an affliction of the eyelid that caused it to twitch visited Toronto, and stopped a native on Yonge Street.
 "Can you direct me to a good drug store?" asked the visitor.
 The native took a look at him, and responded promptly: "You're talking to one right now."

A Substitute.
 The old gentleman tucked away his baggage, and then turned to his host's pretty daughter who had motored him and his son to the station.
 "Good-bye, my dear," said he, beaming upon her. "I won't kiss you; I have such a cold!"
 The son shot a sidelong glance at the girl.
 "I say," he said, "can I do anything for you, father?"

Higher Plane.
 Father of the Family—"You girls are always talking about dresses. Can't you find a higher plane of conversation?"
 "Yes, pa. Now we are going to talk about hats."

An Obvious Nickname.
 The following is a dialogue between mother and son:
 "Edgar?"
 "Yes, mother, what is it?"
 "What are you children doing?"
 "Playing aristocracy. I am a knight of the garter, and Edwin is Saturday."
 "That's a strange name for aristocracy."
 "Oh, it is just a nickname on account of his title."
 "What is his title?"
 "He's a knight of the bath."

 The druggist had stopped in the middle of putting up a difficult prescription and deftly removed from the woman's eye the clinder that had been causing her great pain.
 "Ah, thank you so much!" she gushed. "How much is it?"
 "Nothing at all," he replied courteously.
 "Oh, but you should let me pay you something—you really should! I'm sure it would be only right to pay you for your time. It took all of five minutes, though of course it wasn't really so long—and if your time is worth $5 a day—and really I think druggists should make that much, though of course they do not work so hard as carpenters or painters—why that would come to—let me see, why, nearly ten cents—or at least you will call it ten cents, though it would really be only about eight cents, wouldn't it?"

UNION STOCK MARKETS
TORONTO
A slow trade with an easier trend was in evidence in the cattle section at the Union Stock Yards yesterday. The offering, while not a heavy one, exceeded that of a week ago by several hundred head and included quite a few unfinished animals. Trade was decidedly draggy all morning, not more than 200 head having changed hands at 11 o'clock. Early sales held fairly steady and were mostly made to the smaller butchers. The abattoirs endeavored to make their purchases 50c per hundred lower and were generally successful once they started to buy around noon. Early in the afternoon the market became listless, however, and although some purchases were made a large number of shipments were still unsold when the yards closed.
Cattle prices, generally, seemed to be too high for the buyers for the abattoirs and they were quite indifferent until they were able to lower values. Some of the best offerings were practically all unchanged but were easier. Earlier in the afternoon less than half the offering had been sold. Speculators were in the market all day and bought quite a few cattle. There was no export demand and few farmers were looking for stockers and feeders.
Choice heavy steers sold up to $8 per cwt., a load of 20 head averaging 1510 pounds bringing the top. A few other loads of quality almost as good as the top load sold at $7.50. A small lot of several head averaging 1040 pounds brought $8.15. Quite a few choice killers brought $7 per cwt. while nine head changed hands at $7.50. The rest moved elsewhere from $5.50 to $6.75. Heavy cows sold as high as $6, with the bulk from $4 to $5, while the top for bulls was $5.

Veal prices were little changed when the quality of the offering was taken into consideration. Most of the tops were at $12, with one sale bringing $12.50. The bulk of best shipments brought from $9.50 to $11.50. The early demand for lamb was light, but prices were generally steady. Packers were bidding from $11 to $11.50, with the top sale being made at $12.75. Two head brought this price, with most of the choice selling between $11.50 and $12.50. The holding up of prices in the lamb market was attributable to the demand from outside. A few sheep brought $7 and $8, with quite a few sales at $6.65, and the bulk around $5.75.
In the hog section a slightly stronger tendency was apparent but it is not thought it will hold for to-day's market. A keen demand was shown all the packers, as well as the outsiders, wanting a few hogs. Sales were made at $11.25 to $12 and $12 fed and watered. The price that prevailed last week is expected to again be in evidence tomorrow and this will mean $11 to $12.

Fenner and his wife, 1975, on hands and hearts at the Methodist parsonage, Paris, Ontario.
It seems a long step back to that date, but to-day, this worthy couple are celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the occasion in a manner worthy of the event.
The family gathered at their home in Carrick in the afternoon. Their pastor Rev. J. W. Hammett, opened the exercises by reading the twenty-third Psalm, and giving a short address reminiscent of life, and the blessings of the past fifty years, closing with prayer and thanksgiving for God's tender mercies during all these years.
Mr. Edward Fenner then came forward and read the following address:
"On behalf of your sons and daughters, I congratulate you on your Golden Wedding Day. We rejoice with you this afternoon in your fifty years of life together. We have a great many things to be thankful for, you cared for us from infancy, you saw us grow up into manhood and womanhood, and you always took a deep interest in our welfare. You have seen many changes in the past fifty years, you have seen times of prosperity and depression, through it all you have put your faith in One who has ever stood by you. This is a privilege which comes to few of us, and we felt, we could not let this opportunity pass without giving you some remembrance of this the fiftieth anniversary of your wedding. We ask you to accept these small gifts as tokens of our love and esteem for you, and we hope you may long yet be spared unto us." On its conclusion the worthy couple were presented with the following gifts on behalf of the family circle: To father, a gold headed cane, to mother a jewel case containing a gold brooch studded with pearls, and a beautiful bouquet of narcissus. Some appropriate songs were sung, after which an adjournment was made to the dining room where ample justice was done to an excellent and bountiful dinner.
Of a family of eight children six survive. They are Mrs. Ferdinand Wicke of Midway, Mrs. Thos. Hutton of Carrick, Mrs. Claude Hughes of Calgary, Alta., Edward at home, John (Rev. J. Fenner) of McLean, Sask., and Albert at home West and could not be present, was expressed by many.
Mr. and Mrs. Fenner are considered as among the older settlers of the Township, and are justly held in high esteem by a host of friends and acquaintances.
As members of Trinity Evangelical Church, they have nobly borne their share in years past, in sustaining the cause of Christ by their gifts and a godly life.

One of the big features of both the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments of Canada should be to purpose, plan and perfect ways and means to reduce the public debt. This may not be an easy task, but anybody can do the easy jobs and the success of curtailment of indebtedness and a refusal to continue to pile up will show real statesmanship. We doubt if there is anything more appalling than to be "head over heels" in debt and no serious thought given to get from under the load. Let us "Ye heave" for the debt-paying campaign has been on at the beginning of the year over the same issue and the "squaring up" at this season of the year will afford another evidence of the great desirability of following the scriptural injunction of "Owe no man anything," and "Provide things honest in the sight of all men." Don't be always on the job of trying to beat a man down in what may be a fair price for work well done. "Live and let live" but get out of debt as quickly as possible. If it can't be paid in one sum divide it up and settle by regular instalments—Brussels Post.
