SPRING OPENING

Thursday and Friday

OUR complete and authentic collection of Spring-wearing Apparel and yard materials is worthy of your critical inspection.

This Display Will Appeal to the Women Who Understand Dress!

French, English and American Modes in Millinery

The small hat is the notable feature this season. The decorative effects are both bold and striking. The bold shown patterns and colorings of the new Bulgarian order are very conspicuous. This is a most important feature, as the hat simply must have a dash of this bold color; if only a touch it must be there.

The Showing of Smart Gowns, Suits, and Coats Adds Greatly to the Opening Exhibit

Fashion, tiring of the straight lines, has chosen tunics and kindred effects to relieve this straightness. We are showing a most beautiful range of tunics and lace over-dresses.

There is a wonderful display of dress accessories, chosen from the latest and daintiest productions of leading foreign manufacturers. Beautiful new Blouses and Dress Fabrics, exquisite Silks and kindred soft materials, dainty new Laces and Embroideries, in fact everything.

Dressmaking

Miss Truesdale who has charge of our extensive Dress-making Dept. is now prepared, with a full staff of competent workers, to execute your orders for Spring Suits, Coats or dresses.

Fit, Style and Workmanship Guaranteed

FAMILY HELD HAPPY EVENT

Relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tisdale Gather on Unique Occasion.

"Oak Lodge," Brantford Township, was the scene of a family reunion on Saturday, March 1st, 1913, when about a score of the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tisdale foregathered to the old homestead past into other hands, Mr. Tisdale having recently sold the farm and will shortly take up his home in Brantford.

For upwards of three-quarters of a century "Oak Lodge" has been owned and occupied by the Tisdale family. The deed of the Lot—No. 10 and in the 2nd Concession—comprising the original homestead, was obtained from the Crown by the late Joseph Tisdale, of Vittoria, Norfolk County who transferred the property to his eldest son, Cleoden, the latter taking possession in the year before the MacKenzie rebellion. Being then a young man, Cleoden entered upon the task of clearing the bush with the sturdy characteristic of the early pioneer days, and in time had transformed his woodland lots into one of the best farms in this part of the province.

Coming from U. E. C. Cavalry stock, Mr. Tisdale took an active part in the suppression of the rebellion of 1837, and was subsequently gazetted as an ensign in the Canadian militia. For a time his sisters kept house for him, and in the early forties he married Rachel Carpenter of Grimby. A family of six children blessed the union, of whom five are living. The late Cleoden Tisdale died about 27 years ago, his wife passing away about ten years later. Since his father's death the farm has been in possession of Mr. Herbert Tisdale, one of the lots having been previously disposed of. "Oak Lodge" has long been noted for its hospitality and its present warm-hearted occupants are greatly respected in the community in which they reside for so many years and have taken an active part in its social life and progress.

Among those present at the family gathering under the old roof tree were—Mrs. Perley of Cincinnati, O., sister of Mr. H. Tisdale; Mr. and Mrs. Walker Tisdale of London, Ont.; Mr. Jaffray Tisdale of the O. A. C. Guelph; Mrs. (Dr.) Palmer and Miss Joe Palmer of Vittoria; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tisdale and daughter; Miss Edith, also Mrs. J. Tisdale, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. St. George Hawkins, Lowell, and Mrs. McMullen and son, Ernest, of Ancaster. An interesting feature of the gathering was the presence of representatives of four generations of the Tisdale family of whom Mrs. Palmer—a sister of the late Cleoden Tisdale—is the eldest and little Miss Edith Tisdale the youngest.

Though the family circle was not altogether complete, there being a few absent ones, those present appreciated to the full the opportunity afforded for congenial fellowship among their kindred and the recalling of many pleasant reminiscences of by-gone days. A number of snap shots were taken by Mr. Fred Tisdale, to embellish an autograph souvenir of the reunion. It was altogether a happy week-end house party, the only regret being that it will be the last gathering of the Tisdale family at "Oak Lodge."

Oxford Won

wearers of the light blue were figured to have a better chance than last year, not only because the men proved themselves better fighters during training, but also on account of the fact that the Dark Blues were said to have reached top form two weeks ago.

The Cantabs weighed slightly under four pounds less than their rivals and were pronounced by experts the best crew that had come up from the Cam. in the present decade.

For the first time in the annual race bridge rowed in a centre seated boat. As in the past the majority of the oarsmen both crews learned to handle an oar at Eton, but the Colonial Rhodes scholars are beginning to break into this last stronghold of English sport. Last year C. W. B. Littlejohn of Melbourne rowed seven, and to-day two Australians, H. K. Ward and C. L. Baillien, occupied thwarts in the Oxford shell.

The course was efficiently policed by the river authorities and the boats which followed the racing shells were regulated like street traffic. Great precautions were taken to guard against any outrage by militant suffragettes which might mar the race. The boat-houses were watched with great vigilance throughout the night and women were forbidden to stand on the bridges under which the racing crews passed. All boats along the course, too, were compelled to come to an anchor with the exception of the judges' launch and the steamers officially authorized to follow the race.

An endeavor was also made to keep women off the river during the contest, but this was found impracticable. The scenes along the banks of the Thames were animated. During the long hours of waiting for the racers to appear the spectators were entertained by all varieties of itinerant showmen. Many brought their lunches with them and at parts of the course the scene resembled a big picnic.

CAN LAUGH AT LIFE'S MINOR ILLS

SINCE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HER KIDNEY DISEASE.

New Brunswick Woman Tells How She Was Rescued from Ill Health by the Twin Remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

NEGUAC ALLAIN, P. O. N. B. Mar. 10—(Special)—Mrs. Jos. G. Savoy, a well known resident of this place, whose ill-health has been a matter of much concern to her friends, is telling of the cure she found for all her troubles in Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"My health is fine now," Mrs. Savoy says, in an interview. "The pains are gone from my side and back and when I go to bed I can sleep. Before I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, I could not eat anything heavy, such as meat, but now I can eat practically what I please with no ill effects."

Mrs. Savoy was in a generally run-down condition, and her cure came about by using the natural remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured and invigorated her kidneys, thus purifying her blood and improving the circulation. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets insured proper digestion of her food, thus furnishing the body with the nutrition it required. Women with healthy kidneys and sound digestion can afford to laugh at the minor ills of life.

Mr. Pugsley asked if the Prime Minister would take the responsibility for Mr. Churchill's statements.

"I take the responsibility of having asked for the information," replied Mr. Borden, "and I also take the responsibility for my belief that Mr. Churchill gave that information to me in a fair, just and sincere manner and with a desire to give this House and the country all the information he had at his command."

Mr. Pugsley said that he intended to criticize the information given by Mr. Churchill. Mr. Borden, he asserted, had got that information to use when necessary.

THE COAL SITUATION

Next Three Months Coal Will Be Cheap.

Now is the time to order your next year's supply of coal. The price of coal is lowest during April and May than any other time in the year. At present Buffalo harbor is clear of ice and railway companies are busy loading their boats with coal. This is being done to rush the coal to the West as soon as navigation opens on account of the supply getting very low in that section of the country during the past winter. This state of affairs will have a tendency to make coal a scarce article in Ontario. It will pay you to order your coal from F. H. Walsh before May 1st, as after that date all mine-owners advance the prices monthly.

Throughout the past winter several of the local dealers have been buying coal from independent firms in Detroit at an advance in price of $7.00 a ton over what Mr. Walsh has been paying; therefore, he is able to quote you a better price for April, May and June deliveries, especially for lots for employees of factories.

This coal is mined under the city of Scranton, Pa. (guaranteed), and no better coal can be purchased in the world. Mr. Walsh can quote a lower price than most dealers as he is under less expense than any coal merchant in the city. You get coal of quality and quantity, which is full of weight, worth and warmth, when you have Mr. Walsh fill your coal bins. He is already booking orders for next year's supply of coal at prices which will astonish you. If you are not already one of his many satisfied customers give him your next order and be convinced that he sells the best coal in the city and at economical prices and full weight.

He is also sole agent for Beaver Brand Charcoal, F. H. Walsh, Coal and Wood Dealer, Phone 345.

LIPTON'S CHALLENGE IS DECLINED.

New York Yacht Club Says It Does Not Conform With the Deed of Gift.

NEW YORK (March 13)—The New York Yacht club last night declined Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for a yacht race next year for the American Cup.

The reason for this action was that the terms of the challenge imposed the condition that the defending vessel shall not exceed 75 feet in length at the waterline. This stipulation would deprive the club of the right to enter a vessel of from 65 to 70 feet, as provided in the deed of gift.

Deny Rumor

Local Reformers deny the report that W. Lyon Mackenzie King would be offered the nomination of the riding of North Brant.

Local Licenses.

Applications for local liquor licenses have been called for by License Inspector Eacrett.

Indoor Ball.

H. Company of the 91st. Hamilton, are coming here for a game with the pick of the 38th on Saturday night.

Moving.

H. B. Beckett, the undertaker, has leased the property of Frank Johnson on Dalhousie street, opposite Hunt & Colter's, and will move his business there on or about the 1st of May.

Presented Account.

P. T. Laborde has sent in his account, amounting to $40, to the city clerk for preparing the illuminated address which was presented to H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught during his recent visit to the city.

Don't Like Change.

A number of residents in West Brantford do not like any too well the action of the Public School Board in transferring Principal Rowe from Ryerson school to the Dufferin.

Hand Cut.

William Uptgrove, 88 Emily street, had his left hand badly lacerated while working around a saw in the woodshop of the Cockshutt Plow Company on Monday morning. Dr. Secord, who was summoned, dressed the injury, and Mr. Uptgrove walked home.

Teachers' Lecture.

Prof. S. B. McCreedy of the O.A.C., Guelph, and a director of elementary agricultural education for Ontario, is to speak to the teachers and trustees of the rural schools in the court house Tuesday afternoon. His lecture will be on the subject of "School Gardening and Kindred Work."

Sabbath School Work.

The Executive of the Brantford Sabbath School Association met last evening in the Library room of the Wellington Street Church. It was decided to hold the annual meeting on Tuesday, April 1st. Several prominent outside speakers will be present. An afternoon and evening session will be held and a banquet will likely be arranged in connection with the affair.

Gas Well Struck.

Mr. Dennis, field manager of the Standard Gas Company, when seen at the court house this morning, stated he struck a large well of 1800 pound rock pressure on the farm of Russell Manning, Onondaga township. "This is the largest well struck by the company in some time," said Mr. Dennis. "We will sink two or three others in the vicinity, all of which will be piped to the city mains for the use of consumers."

County Schools.

Mr. Standing, county school inspector, stated this morning that the attendance at the county schools surpassed that of former years. "The teaching staff is at full strength. However, after Easter we expect to have to make some changes, as we generally lose a teacher or two at the time," said the inspector. "I expect to have my annual report ready for the County Council in the course of a week."

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Bert Griffin took place yesterday afternoon from the undertaking parlors of H. B. Beckett to Mount Hope Cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. George Islop, Thomas, John Pate, J. F. Van-Lane and C. Coles. Rev. R. D. Hamilton officiated at the services. The floral tributes included a wreath from the employees of the Adams Wagon Works paint shop and sprays from fellow-Englishmen.

Military.

The sergeants' euchre of four tables was held last evening in the mess room. Sergeant Coleman held his weekly officers' class last night. He spoke on "Camps and Bivouacs." Capt. Sutherland Brown, R.C.R., will give a lecture to Sergt. Coleman's class on Friday night next. The committee in charge of the Men's Mess have been considering for some time past the remodeling and refurbishing of the rooms, with the result that they have secured a new Brunswick-Balke billiard table, also a number of easy chairs, magazines, papers, etc., in order to make it an up-to-date club. The opening of the new mess will take place on Saturday night of this week, when all the men of the regiment are asked to be on hand. Sergt. Spaulding held his weekly Dragoon class last evening, which was exceptionally well attended.

Quarter of a Million.

Mr. T. T. Edwards, superintendent of the Mr. Pleasant Provincial Hatchery was in town yesterday and reports the prospects for the coming season very bright. He expects to have no less than a quarter of a million for distribution later on in the depleted inland waters. This is a record number for the hatchery.

Entertained Choir.

Rev. A. I. and Mrs. Snyder entertained the choir of Sydenham Street Methodist church most delightfully last evening at the parsonage. A number of the friends of the choir were also present. A most delightful social time was spent and Mrs. Snyder served dainty refreshments.

Bonal Franchise.

The first annual meeting of the Franchise Club was held on Monday afternoon in the Conservatory of Music Hall. After the routine business had been transacted, the president, Mrs. Secord, read an address covering the year's work. It was mentioned that Mr. Brewster, M. P. F., had promised to support the present measure before the Ontario House.

A Runaway.

A team of horses driven by Clarence Wheeler and attached to a buggy became frightened at a passing trolley car on the top of Workman's hill this morning, and ran away, upsetting the buggy and throwing Mr. Wheeler and his father out, and broke loose from the buggy, dashed toward the city and were stopped in front of Harry Baltzers' store, near the corner of Colborne and Murray Streets. The animals were only slightly scratched, but the harness and rig were pretty badly broken.

Police Court News.

In the police court this morning Bert Meates appeared to answer a charge of stealing a horse. The case was adjourned in order to give the police a chance to look into things. W. W. Ballantyne appeared on three charges of breach of the water by-law. On the first charge he was fined costs of court, and the other two were withdrawn. Martha Johnston charged her husband, G. W. Johnston, with assault. This case was also adjourned. Johnston was also charged with neglect and non-support. His young daughter also appeared in court. Mr. Axford says she is not being properly taken care of. These cases were adjourned till Friday.

OPENS UP CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD IN ONE MINUTE—ENDS CATARRH MISERY

Stops Nasty Discharge, Clears Stuffed Head, Heals Inflamed Air Passages, and You Breathe Freely. Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold in head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages, stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed, nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

And that reminds me, I hear Hamilton is to claim another of our popular Brantford girls as a bride in the near future—the engagement to be made public very soon now, and the wedding following very quickly.

The Courier is in receipt of the London (Eng.) Daily Telegraph of recent date. The following in reference to Peggy Webling's production of "Westward Ho!" will prove interesting to many of our readers:

"Westward Ho!" Aladdin's password never had more potency. The very words throw open for us the brave, hearty, "spacious" time of good Queen Bess and the sea-knights who served her; a world of doublet, and hose, and naked swords; of brave words and braver deeds; a time when men "swore" they loved nothing better than a good ship, a good weapon, a long drink, and, as often as not, a fair maid.

It is of this stuff that the new romantic drama founded upon Kingsley's famous story is made, in which Mr. Matheson Lang and Miss Hutin Britton elected to make their bow at the Palladium yesterday on their welcome return to England. Of no better material can romance and romantic drama be made, and the very cordial reception which was given to the popular actor and his wife, and also to the authoress, Miss Peggy Webling, at the fall of the curtain on the last tableau—there were three—must have been extremely gratifying to all three. To many people the plot of Kingsley's "Westward Ho!" may be but a faded, youthful memory. One dimly recalls that it deals with one Amyas Leigh and a band of young adventurers who take themselves off to the Spanish Main in quest of a kidnapped heroine, and that there were many thrilling adventures, in which some of the party suffered at the hands of the Inquisition. Despite the obliteration of detail, however, there remains the recollection of the noble framework—the sense of strenuous romance, changeful scenes, and the fearless deportment, outspoken speech, and high ideals of men who were the compeers of Raleigh, Drake, Hawkins, and Grenville.

It is in this preservation of something of the national ideal of Englishmen of all ages since the dawn of Empire that the fame of "Westward Ho!" lies, and it is because much of the same inspiring effect produced by the novel is found in Mr. Matheson Lang's new dramatic venture that it may not be rash to predict a big success for it. No one will deny the playwrighting wisdom of the authoress in making the ending happy, but the three tableaux with which the result is brought about, showing, first, the fight between the Return and the Madre Dolorosa, then the scene at night on deck after battle, and, finally the morning after, with Amyas Leigh in the arms of his Ayacanora, and Frankie's sigh comfortably recovered with the Rose of Torridge at his side, struck one as poor dramatic construction. The sea-fight was, nevertheless, a most stirring episode. Delightful, too, was the maypole scene at the end of Act I. As a contrast that of the Inquisition was even too effective in its realism.

Of the acting it is sufficient to say that Mr. Matheson Lang as Amyas was seen and heard at his best. Miss Britton has played stronger parts, but her Ayacanora was both pretty and pathetic. There is a large cast, all the individual members of which it is impossible to single out for praise. But Miss Marjorie Dane, the delightful child-actress (who will be remembered in "Where Children Rule" and "Alas Jimmy Valentine"), who plays Oxenham's daughter, Mr. Lewis Gilbert as Oxenham, Mr. Harry Ashford as Salvation Yeo, Mr. Halliwell Hobbes as Don Guzman, and Mr. Edward O'Neill as Fra Gerundio, deserve special mention for the able support they offered the principals. A piece will be played for the present at matinees only.

DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All you need is a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine"—Hair gets lustrous, fluffy and abundant at once.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.
A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and fading hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

7% SAFE INVESTMENT

The National Securities Corporation, Limited, now offer to the public their 7% Profit Sharing Bonds, which mature in five years, with interest payable half-yearly on the 1st of June and the 1st of December.

The National Securities Corporation Limited, acts as a holding company for several large and profitable manufacturing plants that have been built up by members of the Corporation in the past quarter of a century. The proceeds of these bonds are to be used in still further developing these plants—in acquiring another long established manufacturing plant which has shown large profits for years—and in purchasing well located timber lands. This latter should largely increase in value in the next few years.

All profits beyond bond interest and stock dividends are to be divided equally between the Bondholders and the Shareholders, and whatever profits are thus divided will be in excess of the 7% annual interest of the Bond.

These Bonds are amply secured by investments of the Corporation in these manufacturing plants, and in the value of lands, timber and mills which it controls, and will be further secured by the acquisition of other plants and timber limits.

The Bonds are offered to the public in denominations of $100 $500 and $1,000, and may be purchased either outright or by means of the periodical payment plan. In the latter case, an initial payment of 10% of the face value of the Bond will be required. Bondholders may withdraw all or part of their investments, with interest at any time after one year on sixty days notice.

Payments should be made to the National Securities Corporation, Limited, either by cheque or money-order.

A Great 39 Round Fight by Kaufman

His Opponent Was Barry Who Continued With Both Hands Broken.

Says Al Kaufman: Whenever a boxer goes 39 rounds to win under the present rules, his opponent is some tough guy, and that's why I pick my scrap with Jimmy Barry, the Chicago heavyweight, as the hardest one I ever took part in.

Barry and I fought at Los Angeles Dec. 30, 1908. The fight ended in the 39th round, when Barry's manager, Murphy, tossed a towel into the ring to prevent more punishment.

I wasn't punished so severely in this fight as I was by Philadelphia Jack O'Brien a few years before, when I was green. What that veteran handed me I'll never forget, but my fight with Barry was a different proposition. It was a battle of endurance, and several times I felt on the edge of Queer Street.

Not wishing to detract from Barry's showing, I'll state that it was reported he broke both hands punching me and certainly he had me stepping until the 37th round when I registered the only knockdown of the fight.

The bell saved Barry, but he failed to recuperate during the intermission and was an easy target in the 39th. How he weathered the storm and returned in the 39th I've never been able to understand. He showed wonderful gameness and refused to like a boob.

Billy Delaney, the great fight handler, seconded me in the fight and showed more than once a worried expression, especially during the early rounds when Barry displayed great ability to duck, making me miss like a boob.

The fight started tamely. Several times Barry rushed, ducking my short swings and hooks. I was somewhat discouraged over my failure to hit him, but Delaney kept telling me to stay with him until I landed.

Finally I resorted to the kidney punch and straightened him up. The blood trickled from my mouth and nose in the eighth, when I stopped five straight smashes with my nose.

Thanks to Delaney's coaching I began to pile up points in the 15th. From then to the 20th it was a series of clinches and short arm work, both working away at the belt, to weaken each other.

In the 34th I popped him a hard swing flush to Barry's mouth, bringing blood in great quantities. That punch rocked Barry to his heels and started him on the down grade.

In the 37th I knocked him down and he came up staggering. As if apparently realizing the hopelessness of continuing, Murphy threw a towel into the ring, when it seemed that Barry might suffer lasting injuries by continuing.

Many of the summer wraps have sleeves cut in one with the body of the garment. Such wraps usually are collarless and depend for their charm on the beauty of the material. The new broadcated worsteds and cottons are often used for such things.

First Round For Hill Cup Is Drawn up

The draw for the first round of the John Hill Charity Cup play was completed last night by the Football Association and is as follows:

S.O.E. v. Cockshtuts.
Dufferin Rifles v. Tutela.
25th Dragoons v. Y.M.C.A.
Holmedale v. All Scots.
St. Andrews a bye.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and it was announced that The Courier trophy will be played for at the end of the season the proceeds of the games to go toward the league. During the season the proceeds will be handed over to the Tuberculosis Hospital.

No Stage Life For Joe Rivers

DENVER, Col., March 13.—"You can put down one long mark for me—I ain't longing for any stage career, and this business of the 'white lights' may be all the velvet it wants to be for the other fellows, but I am hoping to make my star rise or fall inside the ropes.

"I ain't dodging anybody and if I fail to win the lightweight championship it won't be because I haven't hit straight from the shoulder and stuck to the fight game clear through."

This is the point Joe Rivers made to-day prior to his preparations to depart for the east to meet Leach Cross.

Incidentally, Joe admits that since last July he has taken down a little matter of $70,000.

Jim Thorpe Will Make Good With the Giants

Big Injun is Showing Great Form in Spring Training Camp.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Will Jim Thorpe, the Indian athlete now signed up with the Giants, make good as a major league ball player? is a question the fans all over the country are asking. Thorpe will probably be watched more closely than any of the youngsters with the Giants.

Since Thorpe attached his name to a valuable man. With Thorpe's experience as an athlete there is no question the Indian's ability as a national pastime. Some think he will travel the same route as many hundreds of rookies have done, while many look to Thorpe to develop into a valuable man.

That McGraw made no mistake when he signed the Indian up is verified by reports from the south where Thorpe played in the Eastern Carolina League with the Rocky Mountain League eventually resulted in the investigation that cost Thorpe his amateur standing and his Olympic honors. Men who played with Thorpe declare the Indian has all the earmarks of a major leaguer and only needs developing. One player who is sure of this is Jack O'Brien, who played on the Cumberland team as an outfielder. O'Brien has seen Thorpe play many times and declares that the new Giant will come up to expectations. In a letter to a friend here O'Brien writes:

"Thorpe is a natural ball player. He has the makings of a star, and if he don't make good I'll be very much disappointed. When he played in our league I had a good chance to watch him work. He is quick to learn and even now knows many fine points of the game. If he devotes his entire time to the game there is no reason why he won't stick in fast company."

"Thorpe has a great throwing arm. One day while Raleigh was playing Rocky Mount, at Raleigh, on the fair grounds, McCormick of the Raleigh team was on third, when the man at bat, I cannot for the moment remember just who it was, knocked one out to deep right. Thorpe made a beautiful backward run, catching the ball, and without a second's delay to balance, shot it like a bullet out of a gun, to the home plate, just in time to catch McCormick. I will admit that was on the coaching line. Kelly, who was on the coaching line, did not get McCormick started as quickly as he might have, but still McCormick was waiting for the ball to be caught or missed, ready for a dash for home.

"This will give a slight idea of the throwing ability of the man Thorpe, whom one of the scouts for one of the big league teams now says he does not think will make good. I want to say too, that Thorpe is an excellent batter. His one weak point is that he wants to knock the ball out of the lot all the time; but with training like he will have under McGraw I do not think there is a doubt but that he could be taught to bat scientifically, wait for his style of balls, and bunt or sacrifice when it was necessary. I do not mean that he had a poor batting average, but he always tried to make a home run instead of doing what would possibly be safer at the time.

"Thorpe will learn all the more quickly because he is not a bit swell-headed. He learns fast, and under an efficient manager, like McGraw, should become a cracking good, all-round ball player."

SPORTING COMMENT

By FREE LANCE

Highbridge is voted at 100 to 6 in the market established on the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase at the time the latest English mail left. A strong tip was out on Mr. M. M. Henderson's Blowpipe. He is an 8-year-old gelding by Bird of Paradise—Ballista, by Artillery. His dam was bred in America by J. B. Haggin and sold in England as a yearling for $150. Blowpipe was third in the Grand National Steeplechase a few weeks ago. He carries 158 pounds in the Liverpool. The latest transactions were: Grand National Steeplechase; to be run on Friday, April 4; distance four miles and 856 yards:—100 to 8 against Rathnally; 100 to 8 against Covercoat; 100 to 8 against Corsey; 100 to 8 against Ballyhackle; 100 to 7 against Blowpipe; 100 to 6 against Thowlpin; 100 to 6 against Highbridge; 25 to 1 against Melamar.

At the executive meeting of the Football Association last night the offer of the Courier of a trophy for competition among the various clubs was enthusiastically accepted. President Speechley was in the chair, and representatives were present from nearly every club. The expectations are that if Paris supplies two teams there will be eight clubs in the league, including the Dufferins, Y.M.C.A., Dragoons, Holmedale Tigers, Cockshtut United, All Scots, Sons of England, Paris, Eagle Place, and Paris Y.M.C.A. There is some doubt about Paris, but the success of the league is assured this season, as the president reported there would be no difficulty with the Parks Board.

Says Tom Watson, football writer: Every possible effort is being made in Britain to put a stop to the betting evil, and it is to be hoped that the association's appeal for legislation on the subject will be met with success. The convictions at Newcastle have been followed by similar convictions at Edinburgh police court against commission agents for conducting a football coupon betting business. Alexander Williamson, alias David Roberts, the principal of a commission agents' business carried on at 13 St. James square, Edinburgh, was fined £100, with the alternative of two months imprisonment. David Stewart, an assistant, was fined £50 or one month; and William Campbell, an occasional assistant, was fined £15 or ten days imprisonment. David Duncan, another assistant, who had been charged, failed to appear, and a warrant was issued for his apprehension.

The good old family cow has found a new use.

Pitchers who are holding out for an increase in salary and want to keep in trim while their team mates are sojourning down south, will please take notice of the doings of Mr. Ray Collins, the Red Sox south-paw, who has just ended his holdout for a hike and joins his teammates in California.

Collins feared he might lose his grip, and so, with the aid of Bossie—that's the cow's name—he is preparing his wrist, finger and forearm muscles to jump right in and take his turn in the box as soon as McAlcer—or Collins—changes his mind about that question of simoleons. He found the scheme working so successfully that he has secured the milking concessions for the family cows of 11 of his neighbors.

Thuswise has he developed such power in the twirling arm that he almost hopes to be able to curve the ball clear around the family barn and catch it himself. This would solve the problem of the one-man battery dreamed of by Cy Young in his palmy days when he read about the boomerang and predicted the day would come when teams could get along with eight men.

The ease with which corns and warts can be removed by Holloway's Corn Cure is its strongest recommendation. It seldom fails.

Manager Chance, Not Depressed
HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 13.—Manager Chance was in no way depressed to-day over the accident to Hal Chase. The big first baseman will be out of the game ten days, but in the meanwhile his place will be taken by Ralph Young and John Priest alternately. One of the other of these boys will be on third in the regular team, and they will substitute all right in "Prince Hal's" absence.

Favor Anderson.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 13.—Bud Anderson is a slight favorite over K. O. Brown for their 30-round battle here Saturday afternoon. Dan Morgan, Brown's manager, telegraphs he will arrive here Friday afternoon prepared to wager $500 on his protégé. He also anxious to arrange a return match between Pace-ke McFarland and Jack Britton, whom Morgan also manages.

Johnny Evers says the brother game won't work in baseball. Therefore brother Joe Evers is a member of Muggsy McGraw's squad of scrappy Giants down at Marlin Springs, Tex., instead of cavorting about under brother Johnny tutelage with the Cubs. The cry of 'teacher's pet' is as old as the hills, but we are inclined to think it wasn't so much the fear of that as the very opposite that made Evers prefer to have his brother cut his eye teeth as a big leaguer under somebody else's direction.

Johnny felt perhaps he would be too hard on the youngster in his determination not to play favorites. And if there is big league calibre in the boy, he knew he could bank on Jawn J. McGraw not to overlook the fact.

Mackmen Fail to Pity Business.
Truly there is no pity for the poor "bushers" in the hearts of Connie Mack's men.

They're practicing Ty Cobb stunts on the poor benighted Texas leaguer fledglings at San Antonio and Collins and Strunk pulled off a double squeeze on the local team that was probably the first time the folks down Alama-way ever knew there was such a play.

Barry was at bat, one out and the bases full of Athletics. Barry's bunt was perfect. Collins ambled home with ease and the San Antonio's thought that there was all to it as they tossed Barry out at first, but they woke up when they found Strunk streaking home right at Collins' heels.

Abe Attell is reported as getting peevish in his efforts to prove he's not a has-been.

Abe is training for a bout with Ollie Kirk, the St. Louis featherweight, who recently made him quite in the middle of a bout, and the New York scribes say the lack of "pep" is the most noteworthy feature of Abe's work.

Stung by these comments, the ex-king of feathers picked on a bantam boxer half a head shorter who was acting as sparring partner, and chopped him up something fierce for about two rounds. Then he took on a boxer his own size, and the bigger fellow, taking note of the little fellow's rough experience, fit into Abe and made him behave.

Manager Chance, Not Depressed
HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 13.—Manager Chance was in no way depressed to-day over the accident to Hal Chase. The big first baseman will be out of the game ten days, but in the meanwhile his place will be taken by Ralph Young and John Priest alternately. One of the other of these boys will be on third in the regular team, and they will substitute all right in "Prince Hal's" absence.

Favor Anderson.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 13.—Bud Anderson is a slight favorite over K. O. Brown for their 30-round battle here Saturday afternoon. Dan Morgan, Brown's manager, telegraphs he will arrive here Friday afternoon prepared to wager $500 on his protégé. He also anxious to arrange a return match between Pace-ke McFarland and Jack Britton, whom Morgan also manages.

THE INDIAN CANOE

Its Construction is a Matter of Great Skill and Patience.

When the Canadian red man of the old type wants to construct a canoe, he fells a cedar tree or else seeks a prostrate trunk of the dimension he fancies. In either case he proceeds to cut out a section of the desired length, peels off the bark, and hollows out the log, leaving a smooth surface upon the sides and bottom from end to end. Next the log is turned over and the outside fashioned.

The log is followed by burning and chipping. A fire is built on the top and is so carefully watched and so skillfully directed that when the burning is finished the big piece of timber is neatly hollowed, with wonderful symmetry from bow to stern.

The whole canoe, surface is left so recently and nicely charred that when the surface is worked down by the buckhorn adze there remains but little alteration to be made.

When the interior and the exterior of the canoe have been finished to the liking of the builder, his next step is to "stretch" it. Without this operation the craft would be entirely unseaworthy. To make the canoe seaworthy, it is set level on a firm solid foundation and then filled with water. A fire is then built and stones at a red heat are thrown into the canoe until the water boils.

The boiling is maintained until the sides of the canoe, which are more than an inch thick, become as pliable as sole leather and capable of being stretched to or more beyond their normal width.

The builder's attention is now turned to the adjustment of cleverly fitting staves in it transversely along the gunwale, increasing in length from the ends to the middle. By reason of these stretchers a cedar log of say, two feet and a half in diameter will furnish a canoe of three or four feet in beam. The width of the canoe varies, of course, with the length.

The sides of the canoe having been brought to the desired curvature, the water is then emptied out and the shell allowed to dry thoroughly, but without backing.

The finishing touches consist of a smearing, inside and out, with fish-oil, together with artistic decorations in brilliant colors.

Doctors are noted for disagreements, lawyers likewise, but the poets eclipse both professions in this respect. In going over the poetical works of the late Archibald Lampman, and of Charles G. D. Roberts, a careful student will note a wide divergence of views on the topic of poets and their pay—the divine afflatus and its relation to coin of the realm.

Rogers found financial recognition slow in Canada, and went to New York to sell his wares. At the time he wrote a little poem entitled, "The Poet Bidden To Manhattan," explaining his removal. This is one verse: "You're piped for those who will not pay. Till now, I trust, your wits are riper— Make no delay— come whither you may— And pipe for those who pay the piper."

Then turn to Lampman and list to his answer: "What do poets want with gold?— Grinding slaves and cushioned ease? Ay, not crusts and garnishes old— Better for their souls than these Who win?"

To Protect Forests. The secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association suggests that a number of forest fire protective associations should be formed all over the country to co-operate in guarding against fire. The limit holders in the St. Maurice valley formed a co-operative fire protective association last year, taxing themselves one-quarter of a cent per acre raised in the form of the erection of telephone lines. Look-out stations are to be erected next year, on the highest points throughout the territory. These will be connected by telephones, so that a force of men can be sent instantly if a fire is discovered. Similar co-operation on the part of lumbermen throughout the country would prevent waste of both labor and valuable property. The Canadian Forestry Association will take up the linking together of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec in the co-operative fire protective scheme and hope to produce good results.

A Merger in Glaves. Economy is a blessed thing when intelligently applied and an astonishing instance of its successful application was recently encountered by a traveler over what used to be the old Canada Atlantic Railway which runs through Algonquin Park. At one point on the line is a telegraph operator who has had the misfortune to lose his right hand; at another there is one who met with a similar catastrophe to his left hand. Now to both of these men a pair of gloves would be unnecessary; yet it is impossible to buy a single glove. These two friends have therefore formed a combination for mutual interest. They ordered a pair of gloves, one for the right hand one for the other left hand one. Or rather the buying is done in Ottawa by a tradesman on the train who when ever a new pair is purchased throws one of the gloves off the train as he passes one station and the other at the next. It is a large amount of the brakeman not to get them mixed.

A DOG-POLICEMAN

"Spot" Has Just Naturally Adopted the "Foorca."

In the centre of the busy street car intersection at College and Yonge streets, Toronto, stands six-foot-five of traffic policeman (counting his bushy) and a big black and white dog. This particular corner is about as dangerous as a rest for the sole of your rubbers at Toronto holds, since the imminent car threatens you diagonally with a cross between a head-on collision and a hit-you-in-the-back. But the big Englishman and the collie are as unconscious as though they were sitting on a park bench.

The Englishman you can understand. Even the Toronto Street Railway would hesitate to mow down the majesty of the law. But why the collie bears a charmed life is a mystery.

"No, sir," the officer tells you, "he doesn't belong to me, nor yet to the switchman. No, nor he doesn't live in any of the stores. Fact is, we don't know anything about him, except that he lands about eight o'clock every morning, coming from the east. He's here all day, and usually goes off daily about seven o'clock."

"We call him Spot," the policeman puts in, "don't know his right name, but that does. Say, he's the jolliest beggar you ever saw!"

The subject of conjecture extricates himself from under the wheels of a City Dairy cart to attend to his police duties, which consist in keeping all canine traffic on the move. Should a strange dog so much as show his foot-steps in the neighborhood of College and Yonge, Spot growls his "Move on, there," and the field is cleared.

"Every day we get bones for him at Davies'," the officer went on, "sometimes he goes in himself and barks for them. Everybody round here knows him—being coming regular for near a month."

The reporter's curiosity got the better of his breeding, and he determined to probe the secret of this dog, who the wanderlust, who came from the dawning and disappeared into the mist. It would be Sherlock to follow him to his hole. But it was much easier to tell him what a heart-smashing doggie he was until he raised his shaggy head and allowed one's fingers to get into the thick fur under his throat, where the city of Toronto has put a brass number on him, the corresponding name for which would be registered at the all-recording City Hall.

In the afternoon the reporter traversed what would be a fifteen or twenty minute dog trot to the south-east, and called at Spot's home, in B.C. name, of course, was only an alias, but we didn't want to strip the jolly fellow's secret to the bone, did we?

"He was as normal as could be till six months ago," said the wanderer's owner, who is very proud of him; "then he took to following policemen. He's been all over, though his head beat before this College one was down on Queen. He even goes after the mounted police. My own theory is that he must have been brought up with men in uniform, soldiers perhaps, and that now he's reverting to his natural state. I bought him three years ago in Montreal, and he must have been about a year old."

Another strange freak in the story of Spot is, that through the lead of the College beat at 7 or 8 he doesn't get home till 10 or later. Here is a problem for the budding Brucses. How does the clever collie put in his time between seasons? Another curiosity in canine psychology is the question of who orders him to change his beat?

Converts Always Enthusiastic. It is seldom that anyone attempts to tell a story in the Common chamber. Possibly the sight of Speaker Sproule grimly presiding over the destinies of the House dispels all thought of humor, and it's only the venturesome spirits like Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, who occasionally take up the role of humorist. In the recent debate on the bill concerning the West Indies, Dr. Clark twinkled Mr. Foster, who had charge of the bill, with deserting from his allegiance to the "home market."

It reminded the man from Red Deer of two Scotchmen who were out riding one day, and met a man whom they both knew. The Scotchman commented upon the strange circumstance, and his companion replied: "Converts are always enthusiastic."

Cup For Women Curriers. Apparently winter's indifference in Ontario to sporting enthusiasm has not had its counterpart in Manitoba, says The Canadian Courier. The bonspiel in Winnipeg is a leading excitement at present—and the women curriers are quite as keen as the men. Application made by the Ladies' Little Strathcona Club for representation in the open events was denied—but the Manitoba Curling Association has donated a special cup for women contestants—the ladies to compete among themselves. The Strathcona ladies were to enter several rinks and be representative players from different towns.

Prepare For a Million. Local shipping agents estimate that the immigration to Canada from the British Isles this year will be close to a million. Already the rush of settlers has started, and train after train passes through Montreal from Halifax and St. John with the newcomers on board.

Each ship coming into Canadian ports from now on will likely be booked up to its fullest capacity, as shipping companies have notified their Montreal agents that already all accommodations is sold up on westward trips till the end of April.

Labrador. Labrador has an area of 200,000 square miles and a population of 4,000.

THE CLERK'S LEAN

It is Always Well Represented in the Dominion House.

Take a poll of the directory in almost any Canadian town or city, and the Smiths, the Browns, the Robinsons, or the Joneses will have it by a generous majority. Take a peep at the delicately-scented social columns of almost any Canadian periodical, and the Smithson-Browns, the Robinson-Johns, or some other hyphenated combination is an odds-on favorite. But in Parliament from time immemorial the Macleans have had it. There is said to have been no less than seven of them in the House of Commons at one time. For many years there were five. And in the year of our Lord 1913 there are four. Two of them write it Maclean; the other two stick to McLean, that is, at any rate, in subscribing their signatures or on the record of the carefully-compiled Parliamentary Guide. It doesn't make much difference for the links of creed, which are broken and unfortunately seem to stand for so much in politics; weld them together. They all declare themselves to be adherents of the Auld Kirk. If the reader doesn't believe it, let him read the list, altogether blamed for his doubt—he is hereby referred once more to the red-bound official documents of which the Clerk's Lean is the conscientious and thoroughly reliable editor. It labels each of the four "Presbyterian," and it has it on the word of honorable gentlemen themselves.

Two of them sit on one side of the House, and two of them on the other. To the right of the speaker is the Hon. Angus A. McLean, the eldest son from the little maritime village of Prince Edward, and William Findlay Maclean, the never-silent exponent of all and sundry things in the province of Ontario. To the left are located Alexander K. Maclean, the cautious and canny financial critic of the Opposition, who hails from Nova Scotia, and Hugh Havelock McLean, the freer, eating militarist and Imperialist, from the neighboring province of New Brunswick. Any one of the four is capable of focusing the attention of Parliament on a McLean, and two of them have recently been doing it to their own credit—and incidentally to the discomfiture of the opposition of their party colleagues.

Forty Feet of Snow. The man with the snow shovel has been a recent visitor to the coast, the busiest little person in B.C. this winter. Citizens of Revelstoke are kept busy these days shovelling the roofs of their houses and other buildings while the city snow-plow is kept going almost continually in an effort to keep the sidewalks passable. Already over fifteen feet of snow has fallen in the city since the still coming down. This is a record snowfall for this city.

While fifteen feet of snow may seem like a record, it is not so compared with forty feet which is approximately the amount of snow which has fallen at Glacier since November last, and which is all there yet as there has been no rain or sunshine enough to melt any of it. The O.P.R. is having the time of its life attempting to keep its main line, switches and tracks open for business. An old-timer in the mountain railway service claims that he never seen an equal amount of snow on the ground.

Between Glacier and Rogers Pass, where is visible of the trains at many points but the smoke from the locomotive, and should the weather change suddenly, as is quite possible, many and large snow slides are looked for.

On the east slope of the Selkirk the snowfall has not been so heavy, but the weather is much colder.

A Mistake in N.E.'s. A good story is going the rounds of the lobbies at Ottawa concerning George Bradbury, the militant C.P.R. man, who on the Selkirk, and Dr. Clark, the irrepressible Free-trader from Red Deer. In the main entrance rounds of the buildings is an admirably executed model of the new steamship Albatross, now being built on the Clyde for the Allan Line. An engraved plate under the glass case, both knew. The fact that the vessel is being constructed at "Deauville" and on the Clyde for the Allan Line. A Scotch towns man has the initials affixed to their names. The genial medicus, Dr. Clark, said, "Look here, Bradbury, what do you fellows mean by arguing that we cannot build ships in Canada? Look at that plate."

George fell for it. Bradbury has a chin in a meditative fashion, he said, "Well, doctor, if for one didn't know they could build ships in that size and tonnage in England, I'd have had one son living in Canada. This is the Hon. F. A. Macnaghten, of Calgary. Mr. Macnaghten is an old-timer in the west, having come out from England some 25 years ago. He was interested in the cattle business, becoming a partner in the ranching firm of Sampson & Macnaghten, who owned a large ranch in the snow valley, close to Calgary. Some ten years ago they sold out to the Hon. William Beresford.

Since that time Mr. Macnaghten is reported to have made considerable money, associated with well-known Albertans, in large land deals.

Four-Mile Tunnel Through Selkirk. An estimated cost of over $12,000,000 the C.P.R. expects within a few years to have completed a two-track tunnel, four miles in length, through the Selkirk range of mountains, between Calgary and Vancouver. One object of the tunnel is to eliminate the ever-threatening possibility of interruption from snowslides, which, on the present line through Rogers Pass, have given a large amount of trouble. The tunnel will be operated electrically.

Samuel Barker Has Made a Study of Railway Affairs.

Samuel Barker, Conservative member for the constituency of East Hamilton, who has recently been created a member of the Privy Council of the Dominion, is among the most prominent figures in the Canadian House of Commons and was noted long before he entered political life for his ability and business integrity. He has made a deep study of transportation problems and was a recognized authority on railway and transportation matters long before he entered the popular chamber. Even while a member of the Opposition, his counsel and advice were often sought by the general administration, when questions dealing with the big transportation interests of the country were before Parliament.

The new Privy Councillor was born at Kingston in May 1838, and when quite a young man moved to London and was educated at the grammar school in that town and soon became actively identified with municipal politics in that city. He was elected to the aldermanic board and became chairman of the finance committee of the Board of Councils. He has since been years as solicitor for the Great Western Railway and as general legal adviser, and also for a time filled the position of secretary of the Board of Northern and Northwestern Railway.

The marked ability he displayed in connection with his duties in these offices attracted the attention of the directors of the Grand Trunk Railway and in 1885 he was selected by the shareholders to investigate into the bookkeeping methods and accounts of that company.

He first ran for Parliament in 1896, when he unsuccessfully contested Hamilton, but he was successful at the general elections in 1900, being at the head of the poll in East Hamilton, and again had the honor of heading the poll in 1904 and 1908. He has been twice president of the Board of Trade of Hamilton and during his term of office performed invaluable services for the mercantile and manufacturing community in that city. He is a member of the Church of England and a member of the Rideau Club, Ottawa.

Memorial For a Pest. At a recent gathering of distinguished literary men of Ottawa in connection with the fourteenth anniversary of the death of Archibald Lampman, the Canadian poet, it was proposed to establish a national memorial to the departed writer and the matter has been placed in the hands of a capable committee. It was suggested that the attention of the Dominion Government be called to the necessity of creating a hall of fame or pantheon for Canadian writers, and it was thought that it is intended to erect in Ottawa for the proper commemoration of Canada's distinguished sons.

A memorial of letters from Lampman stands high and his early death was a sad blow to Canadian literature. He was a nature of high order and his work is full of truthfulness, simplicity and sweetness. His love of nature found expression in a large number of poems of exquisite beauty and melody and his lyrics are so simple and have a charm possessed by few writers and many are surprised by none of his simple beauty of language and thought. He was master of versification and his kindly, wise and sympathetic spirit breathed through every word he wrote, was pure and noble, and his words are full of wisdom and a wise philosophy of content. In his Canadian home and should be prized by all who love their native land and admire all that is wholesome and good in literature.

Compliment to Sir William Whyte. A personal compliment was recently paid to the distinguished railroad man, Sir William Whyte, formerly second vice-president of the C.P.R. It is remembered that a year or more ago Sir William was called to an important post, but at the request of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and other members of the executive of that great central road retained a seat on the board. Recently he was appointed sole arbitrator between the Government of Canada and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway to determine what the latter should pay the Government for the use of that portion of the Transcontinental Railway which runs from Winnipeg to Lake Superior. It was the completion of the junction pending in the snow valley of the entire line from Winnipeg to Montreal. It is exceptional in the annals of railroading for a company to refer a question of this kind to a director of a great rival corporation, and it shows the respect and confidence in which Sir William is held.

Left Son in Canada. Baron Macnaghten, senior Lord of Appeal in Ordinary of the judicial committee of the Privy Council, whose death occurred in London recently, had one son living in Canada. This is the Hon. F. A. Macnaghten, of Calgary. Mr. Macnaghten is an old-timer in the west, having come out from England some 25 years ago. ## Lady Marjorie's Love

The Countess, watching her, was forced to a grudging admission that in her way—of course a perfectly everyday and insignificant way—the girl was pretty enough; perhaps to such as admired her taste or style, or wore stylish evening very pretty indeed. Lady Marlingford was not one of them; she had never been able to "see anything at all" in the looks of her stepdaughter. As for the information given, she made no remark upon it; it had not pleased her to remark at all upon these walks and strolls she chose almost to ignore them though whether from carelessness or policy she best knew. She did not pursue the subject therefore or ask any question upon it. But she did what she had halted to do. She slightly drew forward a chair and slowly seated herself in it. Since you are doing nothing, you can I suppose, spare me a few minutes, may I?

"Oh, of course Fenella." Marjorie turned about and sank down on the wicker seat. She felt a kindling of wonder and almost alarm as she looked at her stepmother's pale, cold handsome face. Fenella was always stately, dignified, impressive, to be so was natural—uncomfortably natural—to her, but there was something portentously suggestive in her aspect now, even the way in which she arranged herself in the chair. Something important must be coming if it needed such a familiarity of introduction. The girl folded her hands on her lap and looked up at her stepmother awaiting.

"If I dare say you have been expecting me to speak to you," the Countess resumed, slowly turning a ring on one of her white fingers and looking down at it. "But you have seemed very much occupied and I have been busy—and altogether I judged it best to let things remain as they are as long as possible. But now that all my plans for the future are definitely made and settled, I must tell you what they are."

Lady Marlingford paused; it may have been that she purposely did not look at the girl, but down at the ring which she was turning. "I am twisting Marjorie's cheeks had grown milk-white; she sat looking with large eyes. "I—we," she faltered, broke off and began again. "You mean that you are going away from Castle Marlingford?" "My dear girl, of course. What an unnecessary question. I cannot trespass upon Mr. Chadburn forever. I thought you entirely understood that when we spoke together last."

"Yes, I understood that," Marjorie said, but she wanted any explanation. It was obvious that Mr. Chadburn's property must shortly be left free for Mr. Chadburn's occupancy. Indeed I have written to him this morning thanking him again for his courtesy and saying that I hope to leave his house free in something less than four weeks from now. Delays and hindrances are so apt to arise at the last moment that I thought it wise not to mention any special day."

Marjorie gave a little shiver, her lips parted, but she said nothing and she was coming next. "As I believe I said when we spoke last night, I am going to the States for a year or so and taken you about. I might even have managed to get a good season in town. I dare say you would have married very fairly before long—you are pretty enough in your way, and although I have never been able to form your manners as I should like there are plenty of men who do not object to absence of style. It is really wonderful what excellent matches some insignificant little chits contrive to make."

"(To Be Continued.)" Glasgow Rangers attribute their defeat by Falkirk to the weakness of their defence, especially Hennessey in goal. They weary for the return of Lock. The gate drawings at this game amounted to $5,475, whilst an additional $1,675 was drawn at the stands.

Andy Richmond, late of Rangers, who has been reinstated as manager, has gone back to his old love, Queen's Park, but so far has only been playing with the Strollers team. King's Park mourn the loss of one of their best players, and the circumstances of his death have caused poignant feeling. Archie Harper, the left back of the club, was killed while engaged at work, a heavy fall from the roof of the working killing him instantly. Harper was only 26 years of age, and played some fine games for the Strollers club this year. Graduating from St. Ninians' Thistle, Harper joined Dundee, and afterwards went to Fulham, and he was subsequently with Aberdeen. He returned to his native village last season, and this year joined the Strollers club.

ley's only reply is "Nothing doing." O'Connell took a boat trip at Bridlington, and was so sick that rather than cross the Channel he gave up an international day to play for the Tigers against Heistol.

Fiji Island footballers average 7 feet in height and 13 stones in weight, and Everton are said to be booking a passage for one of their directors to the 'Gems of the Southern Sea.' Sheffield Wednesday have a bank balance of $50,000 to the good. Not bad.

Greenock Morton made an inquiry for Davidson, the 'Everton' outside left. The Goodison Park Directors stated their figure was $750.

Fred Pentland, who gained international honors as a right-winger, as a member of the Middleborough team, has been transferred from Halifax to Stoke.

Rochdale F.C. have a Crabtree in their ranks—at back top. What if he should turn out another James W? The Golden Cup—The English Cup is in the hands of a responsible member of the Middleborough team, has been transferred from Halifax to Stoke.

RAILROAD MAN HAD TO LAY OFF

Until He Took GIN PILLS

Buffalo, N.Y. "I have been a Pullman conductor on the C. P. R. and Michigan Central for the last three years. About four years ago, I was laid up with intense pain in the groin, a very sore back, and suffered most severely when I tried to urinate. I treated with my family physician for two months for Gravel in the Bladder but did not receive any benefit. About that time, I met another railroad man who had been similarly affected and who had been cured by GIN PILLS, after having been given up by a prominent physician who treated him for Diabetes. He is now running on the road and is perfectly cured. He strongly advised me to try GIN PILLS which I did—with the result that the pains left me entirely."

F. COMPANY'S FINE SUPPER

A Theatre Party and Feud Greatly Enjoyed by Dufferins Last Night.

Fighting "F" Company of the Dufferin Rifles, under their popular Captain, Henry McLean, held one of the jolliest social evenings that has taken place in Military circles for many a moon, and one that will linger long in the memory of those who availed themselves the opportunity of attending.

Assembled
The men of the Company assembled at the armories early in the evening and shortly after eight o'clock Captain McLean gave the order to "fall in" and the men took their places and then the order "quick march" was given and the Company marched to the Colonial Theatre.

Theatre Party.
Manager Ed. Symons greeted the boys with a broad smile and ushered them to the seats which had reserved. After witnessing the bill, which was very much enjoyed by all, especially the musical act, the soldier lads "fell in" and marched back to the armories, where they captured the men's mess and proceeded to make themselves at home.

The Lunch
Caterer S. Crumback had everything in readiness for the soldiers when they returned and Captain McLean issued orders to the effect that a charge was to be made on the good things which the proprietor of the Tea Pot Inn had prepared. The Company certainly executed the command to perfection. "There was an abundance of everything in the right of them. A huge boiler of coffee to the left of them; C'ears all around them. And how they went after them. The gallant quarter of a hundred." Captain McLean left nothing undone to make one and all feel at home and spared no efforts to keep the merry affair humming and made it his aim to see that everyone enjoyed themselves.

Short Programme
After mostly everything in sight had been devoured and it might be said right here that the boys (and officers too) brought their appetites with them and used same to good effect, Captain McLean, who acted as chairman, laid he made a capital one) called the boys to order. Captain McLean arose and in a few well-chosen words welcomed the officers, N.C. officers and privates, and issued orders that everything would be in formal and did not want any long drawn out speeches and his orders were strictly adhered to.

The Commanding Officer.
Captain McLean called upon Col. P. Howard to address the assembly.

and the ever popular Colonel was given a rousing reception.

Colonel Howard, on rising said "that it was a great pleasure for him to be present for "F" Company was his old company, which he joined in December 1888, then commanded by Captain Christie who afterwards was awarded a D. S. O. in the South African War.

Looking around the room the Colonel said, that he saw only one of the old "F" Company present, referring to Corp. S. Meats. "How about me?" said Captain G. D. Watt. The Colonel referred to the splendid work done by "F" Company in the past and paid a glowing tribute to the late Sergeant Builder and Corporal Sherritt, who gave their lives in South Africa, both being members of "F" Company, and also referred to Col. C. M. Nelles and Capt. Breda who graduated from the same corps. June Camp and Hamilton Trip. The regiment will go to camp in June from the ninth to the thirteenth was the good news which the Colonel gave out and also stated that there is a possibility of the regiment going to Hamilton during the week of August the 14th, to participate in the "Military Day" which is being held there during the summer carnival.

Secure Recruits.
Colonel Howard is anxious that first class recruits be induced to join the ranks as he is desirous of raising the strength of the regiment from 408 to 539, and asked the hearty co-operation of the officers and men to accomplish this end.

In conclusion Colonel Howard paid a compliment to Captain McLean and the men of F. Company. Corp. Tossell then favored the audience with a vocal selection.

Major Genet.
Major Genet called the attention of the gathering to the necessity of attending the rifle ranges and making every effort to improve their shooting, remarking that if a man cannot shoot he's not much of a soldier.

Major Genet referred to the service badge for the men and promised to look into the matter at once.

A Good Song.
Captain McLean then called upon "himself" for a song, which he sang in splendid voice, his accompaniment being played by Mr. F. C. Thomas.

Captain G. D. Watt.
The Paymaster, Captain G. D. Watt was called upon and in his opening remarks referred to the old days of F. Company back in 1891 (when the boys used to go to Ben Foster's for oysters) at that time he served as a Lieutenant in the company. Captain Watt gave out some figures in connection with money matters, pertaining to the regiment.

Men's Quarters.
Captain Watt said that he was pleased to give out the information that the men's quarters would be fixed up at once, when new furniture etc., would be installed and that the opening would take place on Saturday night.

Private Scarborough enlivened the affair with a song.

In Conclusion.
Captain McLean then announced that a swagger stick would be given to those who attended every turn out during the Spring drill. The jolly affair was then brought to a close by singing God Save the King.

Quick Firing
Colonel Howard—Have been connected with the Militia for thirty years.

Major Genet.—A man who cannot shoot is not much use as a soldier.

Captain Watt—Boost the regiment up to 539, it can be done.

For every man of F. Company who does not miss a Spring drill.

WOMAN DIZZY PARTLY NUMB

Doctors Did Her No Good—Testifies How She Was Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Zanesville, Ohio.—"Last fall I had female weakness very bad, and was nervous and run down. I was dizzy and had numb feelings and my eyes ached. I took doctor's medicines but they did me no good, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and now I feel stronger and better. I have told other women what Mrs. Pinkham's medicine has done for me and give you permission to publish this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. HULDA ERICKSON, 506 Maysville Avenue, Zanesville, Ohio.

More Proof.
Burlington, Iowa.—"For years I suffered a great deal from female troubles. I had awful pains and felt sick nearly all the time. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I heard that it had helped other suffering women so I felt sure it would do me good. Sure enough it did. The first bottle helped me and now I am a strong and well woman. I would not be without it in the house."—Mrs. ANNA HIGGINS, 1125 Agency St., Burlington, Iowa.

There need be no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to remedy woman's diseases. We possess every volume of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most sceptical. Why don't you try it?
